DEPARTMENT OF BEAVER STUDIES

Regarding your July '88 issue, one of your best yet, I've got to comment on two things. The photo of Juicy Jay on the contents page—subtle, real subtle. I know my pants pelican had the same reaction.

I'd also like to find out if I qualify for lessons from Beaver Hunt entrant Anna, who said she'd like to "teach a few well-hung high-school studs a thing or two." I graduated from high school in 1943, and drooling over this perfect young girl has had me feeling more like a stud than I have in many years. Where do they build girls like that? If you've got any more Anna pix, please don't hold out on me.

—J. B.
Brooklyn, New York

Your July issue will be under my mattress for a long time to come. My fetishes include big nipples, long legs, soft feet and really tight young assholes. A pretty face is important because head is my all-time favorite activity. Also, on white chicks, tan lines get me rock-hard. July supplied all of the above. French Vanilla's suckable clit and asshole poses were some of your best. The life-size clit shot is a perfect pillow partner. I can almost taste it. The legs and feet in "Stacked Deck" made it a real foot-lover's fantasy. Juicy Jay! Where do you find these babes? I really dug the "open up and say ah" photo in "Let's Do Lunch." I also have to say that the chicks in Beaver Hunt were real nice this month. Patrice and Tracie are foxy as hell, but Anna—wow! Shit! Motherfucker! If I could spend the evening with one white girl—no, make that any girl—I'd ask Anna what she'd like to eat for breakfast, because I know what she'd be eating tonight!

—R. M.
Brooklyn, New York

issue and got so turned on that I can't sleep. It is now past midnight, and I have already come three times and am still horny as hell. All those delicious cunts and assholes! This note will be short because I have to get off again. I want to thank all the girls who send their photos to Beaver Hunt. All of the magazine is terrific, but lately I really appreciate the women who get us off by sending in their succulent photos. I hope they get off as much as I do, such as with Janette from Texas. I came once just looking at her big knockers. Thanks to Patrice, too, who also got me off!

—P. L.
Beckley, West Virginia

I am an 18-year-old high-school senior, and my friends and I all dig your Beaver Hunt entry Anna. She is one fine young lady. If she ever wants to come to Dickingston High, we would show her a good time, and she could teach us guys a thing or two. She's got some fine white titties. If she ever wants a black man, we would love her. I keep her at home, but some dudes have her hanging in their lockers. She is my sexual fantasy.

NUTS FOR TITS

Your June '88 HUSTLER, featuring "Chantal and Marianne," just makes me come in my pants. There's nothing more breathtaking than seeing two beautiful, hot-loving women sucking on those firm, shapely tits and those hard, erect nipples. I'm a tit man through and through and would give my left nut to suck on all four of those tits. Seeing them tongue each other's pussy says and shows it all. How beautiful and sweet it is! I've been reading HUSTLER for years, and I love every issue. And to Matti Klatt, a further comment on your photography: It looks so sweet, I can almost taste those juicy pink pussies.

—R. V. G.
Lakewood, California

MISSING THE MESSAGE

I recently picked up the June '88 issue of HUSTLER and thought the centerfold and Tammy Facker parody were excellent. How about more articles on where to get laid in different countries, states and cities? How about articles on escort and massage services and swinger magazines?

—R. H.
Chicago, Illinois

I was very tired today and had planned to go to bed early, but I received the July HUSTLER SEPTEMBER

It helps to be a subscriber to HUSTLER (see the ad on page 11), so you don't miss out on such stories as our "Guide to Sin Cities" in the July 1986 edition, "Prostitution '87" and "Cathouse Etiquette" (April '87), "B&D on the Run" (November '87), "Scandinavian Sex Scene" (May '87) or "D.C. Sex: Capital Cruising" (February '88). This issue includes a look at the swing scene (see page 32), and the October '88 edition will look at the Korean Sex Scene for Olympics visitors.

CALLING ALL COCKSMEN

I'm a fan of all porn, and I enjoy reading about the performers in adult entertainment. I'd like to know how to get into a full-time career of posing for photographers and making adult videos.

Macon, Georgia

Pick up the September '88 edition of CHIC, our sister publication, on sale now, for an in-depth report on the long and short of becoming a porn stud.

BRIGET OVER, TROUBLES WRITER

Please say it ain't so! Briget Monet will never again grace the big blue screen ("Hot Spot," June '88)? Alicia Monet might use the same last name, but she'll never compare with Briget. Indeed, it seems almost sacrilegious to mention this upstart's name in the same breath as the fabulous Briget. Who can forget her ass/pussy-licking lesborama with Linda Shaw in Sorority Sweethearts, or the way she boldly stared directly at the camera while Lisa Deleew munched her pussy in I Like to Watch, or the meltdown intensity of her masturbation scene in Talk Dirty to Me, Part 2? Briget Monet is the hottest brunette ever in porn. —M. A.

Diamond Bar, California

Let's just see how Alicia Monet compares—she receives full HUSTLER-style exposure beginning on page 35.

EXERCISE YOUR MANLINESS

Until reading "A Doctor's Guide to Better Orgasm" in the April '88 HUSTLER, I didn't know about male genital-muscle exercises. Ever since, I have been doing the exercises every time I see a desirable female (live, in print or on television). I can increase the movement to 20 times, and with a great deal more thrust. Since childhood, I have observed women crossing their legs and wiggling one of their legs. My girlfriend tells me it is a PC-muscle exercise that results in sexual pleasure and often orgasm! —O. O.
Orlando, Florida

NOT IN THE RACE

I just bought a copy of HUSTLER, like I do almost every month, and wanted you to know that I was impressed by the June '88 centerfold. One problem with this issue, though, is that I can't stand "Negroes" in my favorite magazine (especially the ones I pay $4.50 for). Interracial sex ("Holy Roll") is disgusting. Niggers are dirty and live off my hard-earned tax money. Please don't have any more nigger layouts.

—T. H.
Portsmouth, Virginia

SMOOTH TALKER

I have been a reader of HUSTLER for about three years now, and I must say, I think it is the best magazine on the market. I have a fetish about shaved beaver, but you do not have many layouts with shaved puss. I know that I would enjoy your magazine even more if you put more of this sort of smut in it. —P. C.
Greencastle, Indiana

FAIR TRADE

No other magazine in the world entertains like HUSTLER. Its hard-hitting articles and fine women really turn me on. Keep turning me on every month, and I'll keep up the support. —R. J.
Spartanburg, South Carolina

BIBLE STORIES

A serpent, the devil, told Eve to cover her vagina with fig leaves (Revelations 20:1-3). Adam and Eve were very good when they were nudists (Genesis 1:28-31, 2:25). People who trust in God should not be ashamed (Psalms 31:1). American money is marked "In God We Trust." God bless America (Psalms 33:12). Jesus told us lilies do not wear clothes. We do not worry about clothes: "Seek first the Kingdom of God." Saint Paul said one part of the body is as good as another. Unto the pure all things are pure. When Christ comes back to rule the world, He will have nudist angels and make the world a Garden of Eden, a paradise with liberty and justice for all. Vanessa Williams, ex-Miss America, is a nice girl. The Statute of Liberty is a bad girl: She forces us to wear the devil's fig leaves.

—Name Withheld
New Haven, Connecticut

I definitely pack a Bible to promote truth and freedom. II Corinthians 3:17 reads: "Where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty." Genesis 2:25 says: "And they were both naked, the man and his wife, and were not ashamed." Pictures of naked people should be published more widely than in just adult magazines. Children can read such words as "foreskin," "circumcision" and "uncircumcision" in the Holy Bible! Such should be viewable in books, newspapers and on television. BLUE PLATE SPECIAL

One night not too long ago I decided to be a nice guy and give one of the waitresses I work with a ride home. She was closing and—this being Saturday—wouldn't get off until two in the morning. The wee hours dragged on until quitting time arrived. We met at the back door. She jumped into my truck, turned to me and said, "Thanks for the ride. How about a coffee? I'll buy."

With that she moved across the bench seat and kissed me. Our lips met in a heated embrace. We sat there in the parking lot for a few minutes exploring each other's mouth. Then we drove across town to the only coffee shop open that time of the morning.

Driving was difficult as, with Jeannie's body pressed tightly against mine, I was quickly losing control of the situation. Upon arriving at the coffee shop, Jeannie moved back across the bench seat from me to straighten her uniform.

After we ordered our java, we sat looking at each other for a long spell without uttering a word. Finally, Jeannie spoke up and said, "C'mon, let's go to a hotel. I don't want to go home tonight."

We checked into a Motel 6 as Mr. and Mrs. Smith (it works in the movies). While I was trying to unlock the door, Jeannie came up close behind me. Her hands came around to clutch my cock through my pants, making the door extremely difficult to open.

At last the door popped open, and as soon as Jeannie and I entered, we fell onto the bed. Lips covered each other's mouth, hands roamed and groped savagely until we both had to stop for air. Jeannie then straddled my chest while simultaneously taking off her uniform. Her erect, hard nipples were now visible through her bra. Jeannie quickly shed that garment, tossing it to the floor, so that I could get my salivating mouth all over her tender tit flesh.

Completely hot and bothered, Jeannie straddled my hips in order to take my shirt off, then bent over to kiss my neck passionately. We rolled over so that Jeannie could lie flat on her back, enabling me to take her buoyant boobs wholly into my mouth. These are Jeannie's best asset: her round, swaying tits. They're beautiful. I began a tender nibbling on her hard nipples, digging my teeth in softly while my hands busied themselves between the sexy waitress' legs.

Pulling down her uniform—which was bunched around her waist—I began moving slowly down Jeannie's curvy frame, kissing her chest, then her flat stomach as I ventured closer to her pubic area. The young lady soon began to moan in deep pleasure. As my tongue snaked out to tantalize her soft clit, her loud moans made me even hotter.

I removed my pants quickly, frantically. While I continued to run my tongue around her hot box, Jeannie rolled around to where she could orally manipulate my member. Her hands were soft and knowledgeable when it came to working with beef. The slender redhead caressed my balls and quickly swallowed my shaft whole, causing her to gag slightly in the process.

Jeannie wanted it all deep in her throat as she sucked long and hard. Her mouth literally swallowed my cock whole, then pushed it out, never once losing that terrific rhythm of hers.

As Jeannie busied herself with bone, I buried myself in a box lunch. Licking and nibbling that hot twat, I bathed Jeannie's jewels with my deep-probing tongue. With warm droplets of her muff moisture making me crazy, I tried to stuff my whole face up inside her quim. Approaching climax, Jeannie grabbed my head and began to fuck my face with her cunt, using my ears to steer my features in a rapid up-and-down motion.

Even as her hands guided my face and tongue movements, Jeannie's mouth never left my cock. With an intensity I hadn't felt in years, my dick twitched, spurted, then pumped a mouthful of cum between the viselike grip of Jeannie's teeth and lips. The redheaded waitress desperately tried to swallow every salvo, but my spume proved too plentiful, and soon cum dribbled out of the sides of her pretty mouth.

Trying to keep up my end of this oral coupling was tough. With my cock exploding, I lost my concentration for a short moment, but I came to quickly after spilling my load and started in again on Jeannie's cunt. I kept licking, but I couldn't get enough. With two fingers buried in her super-tight bunghole, I tongue-fucked her flame-haired quim. Jeannie was beside herself with pleasure, and she now wanted to fuck.

Those gorgeous tits looked like twin pink-capped peaks as I moved atop Jeannie again. Grabbing my cock, I started to get into position for a tit-fuck, but Jeannie wanted to play hide-the-sausage at that point and wanted no part in any more foreplay. She wanted to fuck—now!

My cock slid easily into her hot, wet cunt. It almost made me come again when I felt those tight cunt lips wrap themselves around my pulsing hard-on. With a slow, easy tempo I began moving in and out of her steamy gash. Jeannie's muscular twat seemed to grip me of its own volition, then push me out only to grab me again with more urgency.

It didn't take long before the poke pace sped up. With both hands free, I was able to make glove-love to those quivering snow cones. Jeannie's moans could probably be heard in the next room—or the next county, for that matter—but we were well past worrying about anyone else. With a nipple in each hand I really cranked up the speed. Gyrating my hips, I harpooned Jeannie's snatch as her nails dug into my ass cheeks.

With a full body shudder my prick popped again, spewing hot sauce into her spasming pussy. We both collapsed in a heap, sweat clinging to every inch of our bodies. A few minutes later Jeannie sucked my cock back to life, and off we went again on a magic-carpet ride.

Utilizing the whole room, we rutted on the hotel rug like two wild dogs, then in the shower for a solid half hour, with a thick cloud of steam enveloping the entire room. Finally reaching the bed at around six, Jeannie told me she'd have to go home and added that she'd see me at work the following day.

The sexy, saucy redhead hasn't asked for a ride home lately, though we have rendezvoused at the motel on many occasions.

PUT UP OR PUT OUT

In body harness and gagged with a slave hood, I was forced to take from behind an older, wealthy mistress dressed in pink crotchless tights and four-inch high heels. Ordered and commanded by the society lady, Mistress Robin, I fucked her in the ass. Then I was made to suck my cum out and swallow it.

But my humiliating treatment had only begun. I had yet to perform for a younger, prettier friend of the aristocratic madam, Mistress Jill. An attractive girl of about 20, Jill had me dress up in a blue silk teddy and long silk cocktail gloves. When they finished cross-dressing me, the two women chained me to a bed and shoved a butt plug up my ass. The younger lady then proceeded to rub my cock with a pair of silk panties.

The girl was a bleached blonde dressed like a real rock 'n' roll slut: leather skirt, no underwear, leather bikini jacket with nothing on underneath save for a white lace push-up bra. The older woman released me from the bed only to snap a studded leather collar around my neck.

Walking me like a dog and stepping on me with her high heels, Mistress Robin passed my leash to the girl, who was far more interested in playing with my dick and asshole. I was warned, though, that if I came before I was told to, the two women would give me a golden shower.

When the blonde straddled my face with her cunt while sucking my cock, I could hold back my orgasm no longer. As she licked and nibbled at my throbbing erection, I came in her mouth—which annoyed the older woman.

Taking my effeminate clothing off, the two women marched me to the bathtub, strapped me to the faucet and began a lewd, seductive striptease.

Without allowing me to savor the sight of Mistress Jill's beautiful blond quim, they both let go as soon as they could, urinating on my erect penis and bare body. When they were finished, I had to lick their wet pussies clean with my tongue.

Each of my mistresses then donned a strap-on dildo, and I was led back to the bedroom. They looked so wonderful with large prods protruding from their vaginas. As I dressed back into my tights, heels, hood, harness and gag, the two women took turns inserting and slowly removing different-size anal beads from my pink rectum. This practice was to loosen my anus for the imminent invasion of their plastic prongs.

On all fours I was made to lick and suck the cunt and asshole of my senior mistress while my anus got a reaming from the younger lady.

Then Mistress Robin lubricated my cock and gave me a vigorous handjob to see if I would come. The tight feel of the slick handjob the mistress administered and the anal stimulation I felt from the younger woman caused me to spurt thick, hot loads of cum onto Mistress Robin's leather glove. She quickly pulled Mistress Jill from my ass, had me lick the ejaculate from her glove, then whipped my ass with a riding crop.

A moment later I felt Mistress Robin's gloves around my waist. She hoisted my hips up in the air and violated my asshole again with her rubber dildo. After additional servicing of both women's cunts, they outfitted me in a half-length body suit made of a tight neoprene-like material, complete with hood. A harness was attached, as well as a cock ring.

Pantyhose and knee-high patent-leather boots were given to me to put on,

OLDER MEN, YOUNGER WOMEN

I started going with her right after I divorced my wife. Julie was 19 and a waitress at the local Sizzler," 32-year-old John Cronin says. "She looked great—a super-tight body—and boy, did I love screwing her. At first, I just brought her up to my place. She still lived with her mom; so around midnight she went home. I didn't even have to deal with her in the morning. Then she started hassling me about taking her out on 'real dates'; so I took her out to eat. When she ordered a drink, I was sure the waiter was going to card her. He didn't, but I felt like everybody in the restaurant was staring at me. Suddenly I felt very old and dumb. It was our last night together."

Teenage girls—and we are talking exclusively of legal teens—are the tenderest fruit on the tree. Their bodies are spectacularly firm—no cellulite, no stretch marks, no cesarean scars. Their sexual curiosity is mammoth, as are their sexual appetites. They are the stuff that wet dreams are made of. But a date with a teen is not necessarily a bed of rosebuds. Amid the strong attractions offered by that nubile, beckoning teen, there may be rugged thorns.

Of course, there are men who've dated teens and found it everything they'd fantasized it to be. Tom Freehan, a 29-year-old Culver City, California, car salesman, is among the lucky ones. "It was closing time, and I was the only salesman on the floor when Tina, this juicy little 18-year-old UCLA coed, came in to buy a stripped import. I started talking with her, mainly admiring that terrific body in hot-pink halter top and shorts. Impulsively, I told her I stood to make our store's minimum commission on the deal, 75 bucks, and why didn't I spend that cash on drinks and dinner for us. I'll tell you,

BY ROBERT MCGARVEY

Many areas in the sexual world have remained hidden for too long behind the doors of fear, ignorance, inexperience and hypocrisy. In keeping with HUSTLER Magazine's belief that the repression of any and all sexual information is physically and emotionally damaging, we present this series of revealing articles to keep your sexual knowledge current, to lessen your inhibitions and—ultimately—to make you a much better lover.

after a steak and a couple frozen daiquiris, she gave me a real workout in the sack. I never went out with her again, but I don't think Tina wanted that either. We were two horny folks who wanted to connect for one night only. It was great!"

Bob McCarthy, a Linden, New Jersey, construction worker, has an unhappier tale to tell. "I met Linda down at the local supermarket, where she was a cashier. I was 37, and she was 18. At first, I really dug her enthusiasm. Everything was new to her—going to decent restaurants, spending a weekend at the shore. A lot of the sex was totally new to her too. Trouble was, I was getting run ragged. I started hoping for a home-cooked meal and a night watching the Mets on the tube. No way with Linda. That was boring stuff she'd have plenty of time to do when she was old. Me, I am old."

Although nice restaurants and weekend getaways may be new and exciting to the typical teenage girl, today's teen has considerable sexual experience below her belt. According to Cosmopolitan magazine's study of the sexual habits of its readers, 21% had gone all the way by age 15. Virtually all, about 90%, shed their virginity while still teens. However, in most cases only conventional screwing is practiced by teens with any regularity.

Cosmopolitan, which surveyed more than 106,000 women to generate its findings, also discovered that 90% prefer older lovers, usually five or so years their senior. Many women recommend older men when it comes to selecting a partner for losing one's virginity.

In today's society also, there are few restrictions against dating much younger women. Some men, like John Cronin, may imagine they are finding disapproval in public places—but it's rarely true. "An older woman who herself wants a man and can't find one may tsk-tsk a May-December romance," reports a Redondo Beach, California, psychotherapist. "An older man who's grown bored with his wife may also. But in general, I haven't found much public reaction pro or con. The man who dates a teen and thinks he's running into disapproval is probably projecting internal guilt. I suggest taking it as a sign that it's time to do some self-analysis."

"Dating a teenager often is the best remedy around for mid-life blues," adds a Santa Monica, California, Reichian therapist. "It's especially true when a marriage has recently ended. Afterward, most men have some self-doubt about their adequacy as men and as lovers. The right teenager, who's overflowing with enthusiasm and her own sexuality, can get that man on track in no time. Those relationships usually last no more than a few weeks or months, but I've seen them lift many men out of depression."

Obstacles to the development of a more permanent relationship, according to the same therapist, include family and peer pressures and, more importantly, cultural issues. Boston cabdriver Tim Furillo can tell about both. "I picked up Jamie at Logan Airport. She was 19 and a stewardess based out of Boston. We got to talking as I drove her home one night, and we clicked. We detoured to my place. We had a great night—the hottest sex I'd had in a year. We got together a few more times, but little things started coming up," laments the 34-year-old Furillo. "I'd pop the Rolling Stones or Creedence Clearwater in the stereo, and she'd ask if I had anything by Danzig or Lizzy Borden, groups I'd never heard of."

"But," Furillo continues, "the real problem was our friends. My friends treated her like a kid. Her friends treated me like I was an old man. One time I walked into a party with Jamie, and her friends tried to hide the grass they were smoking. When I met her mom—who's around 40—she started flirting with me. When it ended, after three months, we were both relieved. My new lady is 30."

"The reasons an older man will be attracted to a teenager are usually obvious," says the Santa Monica Reichian therapist. "Aside from her body, she has high energy and substantial interest in men. She likely will be simpler, if only because she hasn't been beaten up in a bad relationship. She isn't shopping for a husband. And the man gets to experience the joy of being a teacher without the fear of being criticized."

The bigger issue, according to this therapist, is why the teenager will be attracted to an older man. "Most bodies at 28 or 38 aren't what they were at 18. But not that many women are looking for a body. They're looking for a man who will treat them decently, like a lady, and an older man often is more skilled at that. He's probably also a more skilled lover."

The bad news, says this therapist, is that she's probably also "looking for a father figure. Maybe Dad was absent when she was growing up. Or perhaps he was a bad father—a drunk or a child abuser. These are hard issues for a trained psychotherapist to deal with. There's no way an ordinary male, even a mature one, can successfully deal with them. If they come up—and they might when age gaps are large—my advice is to bail out of the relationship ASAP. The fun is over, and the drama is about to begin."

True as that counsel may generally be, it's not always on the mark. Los Angeles writer Lou Gilliam, when 35, took up with a 19-year-old he met when teaching a college class in creative writing. "Anna was a terrific student and a good writer. She wanted personal attention, and I gave it to her. At first it was just professional, but after a while, we started grabbing lunch or coffee together. The relationship progressed from there. We've been together four years now, and neither of us thinks much about the age issue anymore. It was a big deal. It isn't now."

That's not exactly how Anna Cohen sees it, however. "The age thing isn't that important," Anna says, "but it's there. You can't forget it. I want to have a child, and how will Lou react to being a father past 40? How will we be when he's 50 and I'm only 34? A lot of issues can come up. A lot have come up—the friends and relatives thing, for instance—and we've handled them all. We take care of something when it comes up, but try not to worry about it beforehand."

Laura Blacker, a 19-year-old waitress at a trendy Chicago, Illinois, restaurant, has another point of view on dating older men. Laura explicitly is not looking for a long-term relationship. "If the guy is polite, and he asks me out on a real date to a real nice restaurant, I'll probably go. He's treating me like a lady, and I don't get that from boys my age. After dinner, maybe we'll go to bed; maybe we won't. It pretty much ends there for me. But it's always a nicer night than I'd get with a boy my age, who wants to hit Burger King, a movie and the sack, in no particular order."

Jeff Thompson, a 30-year-old who is on his third teenage romance in as many years, echoes Laura's views one hundred percent. "There's one key to having fun with a teenage girl. With a teenager, what you see is what you get. Don't try to make more of it than what it is—fun, no-strings-attached sex."

demanding by ignorant politicians hopping on the AIDS bandwagon in an election year.

Radical AIDS-testing proposals are popping up across the country. The "Show Me" state, Missouri, wants to test anyone who is turned in by an anonymous telephone tip. The state of Virginia would like every citizen over the age of five tested. And the supposedly progressive California state government may test every newborn baby and pregnant mother. Illinois and Louisiana require AIDS tests for all marriage applicants. In most states there are legal battles taking place over the issue of required AIDS tests to secure employment or to acquire health and life insurance. If you want to join the U.S. Armed Forces, Job Corps or the foreign service, you must pass an AIDS-antibody test.

But one of the problems with AIDS-antibody tests is that it takes anywhere from four to six months after contamination for the infected individual's body to create antibodies to the virus. If a person became infected recently, the test won't show it.

Thank God for Ann Landers. She has published letters in her column about the biggest problem of them all with AIDS testing—they are inaccurate! Thousands of false positive test results have created havoc in innocent people's lives, leading

LOOPHOLES IN TESTING

Bill, a Santa Monica, California, automobile salesman, was selling an excited young woman her first car. They went on a long demo ride, and Bill pulled over to show Sally how the backseat folded down, creating enough room for two people to make love.

She smiled at Bill's proposition and reached into her purse. "Here's my license," she giggled. "Now show me yours."

Dumbfounded, Bill stared at her "AIDS-FREE SINGLES CLUB" badge that certified that Sally was not an AIDS carrier. She'd paid $500 to join and $90 for her first test, plus $90 every four months for additional testing. But Bill didn't get fucked because he had no proof he was "clean."

* * *

Bill's story reflects the stunning paranoia surrounding AIDS that almost all new lovers face today. A recent Gallup Poll showed 61% of the American public consider AIDS the number-one health problem.

With no cure in sight, people think that testing for AIDS is the solution. Mandatory testing of the entire population is being some to suicide. One reader relates a horror story of being tested twice and informed he had the AIDS virus, then going through "months of pure hell awaiting AIDS symptoms to appear." Finally the individual sought another test at a different clinic and received a clean negative test result, which was confirmed as correct.

The federal Centers for Disease Control (CDC) has stated that the AIDS-antibody tests are 98% accurate. That's great for Larry Bird's free-throw percentage, but when projected to a theoretical testing of every employee at Chrysler, the result is more than 2,200 hysterical workers registering false positive AIDS results.

Most people don't realize that AIDS-antibody tests are not tests for AIDS the disease. If your body has been infected by the human

A new AIDS-antibody confirmation test called HIVAGEN has been developed, which has been hailed as more accurate than the manually performed Western Blot. The HIVAGEN is fully automated, but is not yet widely utilized by labs.

BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

Two-faced conniving screen slut Nora Kuzma (alias Traci Lords) is Asshole of the Month.

Because they accepted her fake identity, three men who made a porn film with the notorious Teen Tart are turning on the spit of legal action. Meanwhile, the cold-hearted scum-bucket has tried to launch a career in "legitimate" films. Her debut in a poor remake of a class-B clunker stinks up theaters as much as does her sickly sweet denunciations of her former fuckdoll career. At least we don't have to guess who Nora fucked to get into films, since it's obvious in all but her most recent outing.

Although this smut whore still plays the part of victim, the fact is, she tenaciously promoted her own dick-filled career, while there's no evidence that anyone but Kuzma created her false "Lords" identity and obtained back-up documents from a passport to a driver's license. Her whine that all the adult industry cares about is a fast buck will no doubt be part of her upcoming book, just another fast-buck opportunity for this commercial cooze.

So far, throwing willing, wanton fucks on film is the only screen talent she has displayed. Her fellow performers also avow that her unbridled squealing passion was as genuine as the porn strumpet's baby-fat features. Even so, she got by with using only two-thirds of her potential talent: She never took it up the ass for viewers' pleasure, although this self-proclaimed victim eagerly jammed her tongue up Tom Byron's asshole and, in keeping with her nature, liked pushing her own rectum in co-stars' faces.

Kuzma couldn't be accused of being a dumb toy of seedy pornsters. She claims they'd accept ID from a candy box, but she went to the trouble to obtain someone else's birth certificate as a basis to get valid legal documents. Some insiders suggest that the FBI didn't press charges against Kuzma because it would have meant showing how the State Department and California licensing bureau could be taken by the scam, while porn producers were supposed to spot the fake identity.

Conjecture says her "cover" was blown as a ploy to raise her prices with notoriety. Instead, the pariah was treated like someone who scam-fucked her way through an industry, leaving everyone she touched subject to arrest on delinquency charges, like Wadd Holmes fucking porn stars after he knew he had AIDS.

This mercenary cunt has every right to make a living off her body, even if she lies like a politician to do it. But when it comes to being "used," ask the men facing serious legal hell who is the victim, and who is the Asshole.

SAFE SEX

Not everyone has the right idea about what sort of precautions to take against AIDS. This couple wants to protect themselves, but all they're doing is shielding the rest of the world from their stupidity. Set that time lock for 1999, Sherlock.

Hounded for Safe Sex

It seems like singles clubs will bark up any tree after a new way to attract swingers in the age of AIDS. Taking a tip from the DEA, some clubs have stationed disease-sniffing mutts at the door to help ensure no carriers of deadly venereal infection will pass the portals. Some individuals have turned up their noses at the practice, claiming that it's an invasion of privacy, if not of their privates. Others aren't willing to risk ending up in the terminal doghouse, however, submitting to the pooch probe in hopes that their next pickup won't be their last.

PARODY: Not to be taken seriously. Celebrity's head stripped in on our model's body.

Sushi Bra

The new rage in women's underwear from Japan serves two purposes. These edible underthings provide a tasty, convenient snack during those long rides on the bullet train. Moreover, they distract one from the considerably fishier smell below.

Write On!

For fans of HUSTLER Hot Letters who can't get enough erotic correspondence, we've improved the already popular HUSTLER LETTERS Magazine with an updated, flashy design; hot girl pictorials; more color photos and sex advice; and a new how-to column, Carnal Knowledge, which elaborates on little-known sexual techniques for enhancing your sensuality. All this as well as steamy, unusual erotic fiction, plus the HUSTLER moniker that guarantees reader satisfaction. It's still the same low price, only $3.95, or see the subscription form on page 112.

TV Evangelist

Poor Jimmy Swaggart has still more sins to account for. In this exclusive photo, we see another of the fallen preacher's foibles revealed—the man is a cross-dresser, and a tacky one at that. On the other hand, perhaps he's ushering in a new era of transvestite evangelism. God only knows, and He or She isn't saying yet.

Oral Sax

Clarance Clemons hasn't got anything on Dusky Jones, the man whose quivering saxophone solos have creamed the jeans of white chicks in jazz clubs throughout the country. His patented technique is also being used to teach music appreciation to the deaf. Blow, big man, blow!

Caesarean Salad

Combining his surgical skills with the training he received at France's prestigious Academy of Culinary Arts, Dr. Pierre LeDreck delivers a healthy 2-pound, 6-ounce baby boy while simultaneously whipping up a nutritious appetizer. For those of you preparing this dish at home, a simple oil and vinegar dressing will suffice, and don't forget to wash the placenta before garnishing.

Scrotum Pole

Native American Indian tribes routinely erected crude depictions of spirits that helped them survive, and none rises higher in the primal consciousness than Onanwacka, or "Spear With Blue Veins." A hard spirit to please, old Blue-Veiner requires regular rubbing with a certain slick lubricant, accompanied by the famous Plains chant: "Ooh, ah, ooh. Ooh, ah, ooh, ooh. Great Spirit, I'm coming." And you thought Catholics had silly rites.

Great Moments in Entertainment

Moviegoers debate the merits of Colors after a recent Los Angeles screening.

Stuffed Turkey

This Thanksgiving, try our unconventional way of getting extra protein into your family's meal. Tom won't mind, and who knows, it might prove to be a more satisfying place to stuff your turkey neck than the old lady's non-holiday spread. Watch out for those giblets, though.

Breast-Feeding

The wild mammary is becoming increasingly rare because humans have overdeveloped its natural environment, where these meaty critters were free of fetters, strange piercings, tattoos and silicone implants. Trying to preserve those remaining few requires constant scientific supervision; that means lots of attention, no bras and, most importantly, no between-meal snacks.

Foxy Footwear

Foot-fetishist femmes, prick up your ears! Now there's a sassy sneaker that's designed with you in mind. Lacy, leather-soled Dykees with the velvety pink interiors will have you walking on air. Suitable for all indoor sports, Dykees are for those with an attitude of lezzy-faire.

Porn From the Past

over old smut in the closet. Straighten out the mess and possibly get $150, which is our thanks for each old photo we use. Send to Porn From the Past, HUSTLER Magazine, 9171 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you want your photos returned.

Pussywhipped

Some guys get no respect. But once your old lady has toned up her cunt muscles to this extent, you're in real trouble. Keep her away from sharp instruments and blunt objects, and whatever you do, don't stick your dick in there!

Anti-Smut Crusaders' Hands Caught in Nookie Jar

Self-righteous anti-pornography activists keep following in the foul footsteps of patron saints of hypocrisy such as Jimmy Swaggart and Jim Bakker. Take Michigan state trooper Robert Beadle, who regularly traveled his jurisdiction to warn, in speeches to various communities, of the horrors of child abuse. Apparently, Beadle knew more about the subject than he was willing to admit. The lascivious lawman was recently arrested in Lapeer, Michigan, for sexually abusing two young girls. In two separate incidents, occurring in 1986 and 1987, Beadle allegedly forced an 11-year-old and a 13-year-old into his car and molested each one. Obviously, his warnings never reached the girls. Meanwhile, there's the case of Newton Estes, whose vigilant anti-pornography stance was punctuated when he decked Supreme Court Justice Byron White for not taking a stronger legal stand against smut. The 62-year-old Estes was jailed for ten days as a result, and now the Kaysville, Utah, resident is back in the news for a different X-rated assault: He was arrested for fondling an 11-year-old girl to whom he allegedly showed pictures of naked people, then removed the girl's clothes and requested her to assume poses. So the next time someone wants to lecture you on child abuse, grab your kids and get away from them quick.

Twisted Sister

It's usually a routine process, but Episcopal Bishop-elect Frederick Borsch will have to mull over Joanna Clark's application to become an Episcopal nun. The extra scrutiny is because Ms. Clark's been on both sides of the pew—in other words, she used to be a man. The open-minded church official explained that she's still in contention, but the sex change will be a factor in his decision.

Pattern of Failure

According to the Association of Sexual and Marital Therapists in Britain, there was a reported case of impotence caused by the terrible fear of . . . wallpaper. For some reason, this victim became limp after his wife changed the wall covering in their bedroom. It was only after hypnosis that therapists discovered the source of the sexual angst: The man had once been surprised by a girlfriend's husband while making love to her in a room with identical wallpaper. Luckily, the man was cured of his fear through hypnosis, enabling him to get it up without the walls coming down.

Whale of a Workout

Hefty honeys tired of fitness salons full of slim dollies who snicker at full-figured femmes now have a place to exercise in peace. Woman at Large salons, based in Yakima, Washington, are designed exclusively for tubby tarts who shy away from spas that feature tough-talking instructors and intimidating men. They've become extremely popular and have expanded their operation to 13 locations. One reason for WAL's success could be the absence of another feature common to most health clubs: mirrors.

Color Guard

The Swedish army has proved that since American missiles pulled out, European armies have to be extra-well prepared. Sweden's 45,000 troops are equipped with condoms in camouflage colors. Says Army Surgeon-General Ebbe Linder, "Our conscripts' knowledge about condoms is rather limited. They have benefitted from the joys of the birth-control pill." Though Linder didn't comment on why the rubbers had to be camouflaged, he did reveal that the soldiers "will now get five condoms to look at or to test." We'll bet they choose the latter option.

Most Tasteless Cartoon

"Hey, Mom, have you seen my maggot farm anywhere?"

Thrilla in Manila

As if there wasn't enough trouble in the Philippines, now it appears that a large segment of Manila's labor force is planning a massive protest march—in the nude. Responding to the government's threat to shut down the tourist-district nightclubs, about 60,000 Filipino bargirls plan to hit the pavement au naturel. "We will not carry placards," says one of the movers and shakers. "We will write our protests on our nude bodies." According to the government, the reason for the planned crackdown is because the bars are "havens of immorality." Well, isn't that the idea?

Feminist Fuckhorse Rates Global Rods

Well-traveled feminist Germaine Greer recently divulged her ratings of lovers from around the world, and the winners are: Italian men. Greer gives them the nod—or is it the knob?—for their ultra-amorous attentions, which she believes they pick up from their adoring mothers.

Lowest on the list were Arab men, but she insists the Brits and Aussies are "basically homosexual." And Americans? "They're frightened of women," says the bed-hopper. "But they're terrific lovers because they try so hard." Shoulder to the wheel, nose to the . . .

EROTIC ENTERTAINMENT

With more than a thousand hard-core movies being released each year for the home audience, viewers, increasingly confronted by seductive advertising and slick packaging, are often at a loss when it comes to selecting an X-rated tape worth watching. HUSTLER is committed to serious, no-bullshit criticism designed to accurately inform readers of XXX-cinema offerings, and to spur the adult-entertainment industry to better productions. Despite their drastic decline, there will always be adult theaters, and we'd never leave a film buff in the lurch: If a review says a production was shot on film, it's probably playing on a big screen somewhere—all you have to do is find it.

THE ELEVENTH COMMANDMENT

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Paul Thomas; starring Krista Lane, Randy West, Jamie Summers, Erica Boyer, Tom Byron, Megan Leigh and Alicia Monet. Videocassette by Wave Video.

You don't see too many sex tapes these days that feature religious references beyond, "Oh, God, baby, you fuck so good," but this well-crafted offering from director Paul Thomas pulls it off. Randy West, in a brief, schtickty stint as Moses, forgets to take the tablet with the eleventh commandment ("Thou shalt not neglect thy wife") from the man upstairs. Then, in the present, West plays a politico who violates said commandment. Krista Lane is the wife neglected, and she goes in search of sexual sacrament in four of the five fuckings. The tone is set during a double-dork party in which Lane really wants it, the guys really give it to her and the camera is down in the muck to capture the heat from several unusual and interesting angles. Lane joins theater patron Megan Leigh and her date for a steamy threeway that features some super-heated simul-sucking. Erica Boyer and Tom Byron also excel with Lane in a gay-bar bathroom boff. While the quantity of sex is off par, the quality is uniformly high. If that sounds good, go forth and see it. —Rob Peters

ONLY THE STRONG
CONNIVE

Okay, it's a slow news month, so let's see what the latest developments are in the never-ending saga of Samantha Strong (seen here giving a heck of a performance in Backside to the Future II). Samantha, as you may recall, broke off her contract with John T. Bone and Western Visuals in order to sign up with Zane Entertainment. Zane had a bit of trouble controlling the impetuous young girl: She was a notorious no-show at several scheduled functions during January's Adult Video Convention in Las Vegas. Moreover, after a several-month hiatus in Rochester, New York, when the time finally came to shoot, Samantha decided she'd rather be dancing topless at a club in Niagara Falls. Goodbye, Zane Entertainment, hello... Vivid Video, which was the next production company lucky enough to sign the talented tart. However, no sooner was the ink dry than we received word that Samantha had broken her Vivid contract for a role at Vidco. Seems Strong will take over the part made famous by Amber Lynn, becoming the new Jane Bond in Jane Bond Meets Thunder Thighs. The flighty femme may be hard to hold, but it's nice to know she plans to keep working... for somebody.

EBONY HUMPERS 3

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Bill Blackman; starring Purple Passion, Ebony Ayes, Jeannie Pepper, Liza Anne, F. M. Bradley, Ray Victory and Frank James. Videocassette by Video Exclusives.

Ebony Humpers 3 extends a 200-year-old American policy of assigning blacks to thankless positions of drudging, unimaginative exploitation. With a total of seven performers and two sets (one the rug-strewn area in front of a fireplace, the other a bed with a brown spread and shellacked headboard), imagination and elapsed time aren't all the 75-minute Humpers is short on. The sex is almost continuous, and all but the concluding glob lob of Frank James onto blond slattern Liza Anne (he just jerks off on her, foregoing any slit churning) are chocolate-chocolate dick dips. Of course, none of the black ballings stand out. The five bloods featured have become so familiar to Negro-nookie nuts that all their couplings tend to look alike. At the risk of stereotyping, any crotch-fodder consumer who's seen Ebony Humpers 1 and 2 will feel as though he's already seen 3.

OUR DINNER WITH ANDREA

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Ona Zee and Frank Wind; starring Ona Zee, Sharon Kane, Shanna McCullough, Robert Bullock, Mike Horner, Jeremy Logan and Richard Pacheco. Videocassette by Caballero Home Video.

The legions of carnal cognoscenti who've been anxiously awaiting a screaze pic patterned after a talky, pretentious art film need look no further than Our Dinner With Andrea. A talky, pretentious plop of slop, Andrea is a windy couples tape (in the most disparaging sense of the term) promulgating the philosophy of love, sex and life as seen by Ona Zee (who shares credits for writing, producing and directing this cancer on the body of sleaze). Zee's general beliefs, concepts and attitudes—a motley of Taoist, tantric, '70s open marriage and stale hippie precepts and rationalizations—apparently include lifting her skirt apres-meal to writhe, airing her cunt, on the living-room floor while her dinner guests sit awkwardly, obviously craving a cup of coffee and dessert. Fascinating as all this isn't, Dinner is a sex tape, with fucks every bit as spellbinding as Zee's prattling. Robert Bullock again plays Zee's husband, slipping a standard screw into her as, across town, Shanna McCullough receives a regulation ream from Mike Horner, both couples ending with bogus internal orgasms. Richard Pacheco later bones McCullough, with no evidence of spume, penetration or hard-on. "I love you," says Zee following the closing threesome with Bullock and Sharon Kane. "I love you," they echo. "I love you." Love this, bitch.—Hakim Whithers Shanna McCullough is on the menu in Our Dinner With Andrea.

WITH LOVE FROM SUSAN

Shot on Video and Film.

Half Erect. Starring Susan Hart, Peter North, Harry Reems, Jesse Eastern, Tom Byron, Marc Wallace, Paul Thomas, Athena Starr, Craig Roberts. Videocassette by Hollywood Video.

She might not be a gorgeous gash like Angel or Ginger Lynn, but Susan Hart is salaciously slutty enough to give rise to the most particular of peckers. Whether she deserves to have an entire tape devoted to her is doubtful, but there's enough good porn poundings going on in this collection to entice and arouse. Culled from cumfests Layover, Wings of Passion and Slumber Party, Peter North hosts the various segments, drooling on in a faggy voice about what a great slam Susan is. Hottest scenes range from a royal ream by Harry to a semi-acrobatic tooling by Marc Wallace, who lifts the brunet bone-box 45 degrees in the air before spewing across her entire torso. There's definitely no paucity of pussy in this loop group, with a generous nine bonings thrown. Tom Byron takes the stud's share of fucking in this dong-a-thon, appearing in four scenes, including back-to-back headers he gets from Susan. Most of the clips look pretty fuzzy, but what can you expect from recycled raunch? With Love From Susan makes for a decent enough one-night hand-on-the-gland stand.

Shot on Film.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Leon Gucci; starring Nicole Blanc, Karen Summer, Joy Merchant, Kristara Barrington, Nick Niter, Francois Papillon, Shone Taylor and Dan T. Mann. Videocassette by VCA Pictures.

Nicole Blanc, Karen Summer and Joy Merchant play a trio of anchor-twats on WSEX TV, Channel 69. Shot on murky, grainy film with a muffled soundtrack, Flashes has a few humorous moments and a suprising quantity of sex, but hardly any of it is hot. To cram over 20 wet

CONFLICT

Shot on Video.

Fully Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard and Bruce Seven; starring Alicia Monet, John Leslie, Sharon Kane, Robert Bullock, Shanna McCullough, Nina Hartley, Nikki Knights, Joey Silvera, Tom Byron and John Doe. Videocassette by Vidco.

Conflict is more than a porn video about making a porn video. It's about making two porn videos. It has a subplot of spurned love and revenge. It has John Leslie as an unsavory character. It has smut sirens portraying smut sirens who want to be smut producers. It has directors Henri Pachard and Bruce Seven starring as themselves. Transcending self-parody, Pachard and Seven incorporate all their trademark fixations to craft nut-busting carnal nuggets as prurient as anything of their careers. Nikki Knights is a debased delight in Pachard's requisite toilet scene. Lying back with her head dangling into the abyss of the commode, her handcuffed wrists up under the seat as Tom Byron milks his meat onto her cum-lit countenance, Knights's radiant features are ensconced in a porcelain halo. Shanna McCullough is the recipient of Seven's standards: hanging with her hands trussed to a dungeon ceiling, lying dominated with candle wax dripping onto her torso, focal point for a three-tart dildo tryst and boff-bullied by Sharon Kane and John Doe. Filling out these fucks are a Robert Bullock/Alicia Monet/Knights frenetic frolic, a Bullock/Monet/John Doe/Nina Hartley pooling of fuck fluids and a spiteful John Leslie toe-jamming of Kane. The only Conflict will be where to rewind to first.

—Kurt Blume

shots into 80 minutes, the sex scenes have to be over fast, and Flashes resorts to lifting 'gasms from other Gucci product to supply the goo. A bevy of bone blasts do not add up to erotic entertainment, and the remaining scenes are so carelessly thrown together that only the most desperate dork will be stirred from slumber. If one ignores the film and looks only at the girls, a few treats can be gleaned. Ms. Blanc, while no great beauty, does have a perky, good-time-girl face and a cute pair of titties. Kristara Barrington (billed here as China Lee) is around to display her Oriental orbs to good effect. If poorly lit views of wisecracking slatterns interspersed with speedy spewing is what ignites your man torch, you ought to check out Hot Flashes, but it left me still looking for a warm tingle.

BOOM BOOM VALDEZ

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard; starring Keisha, Ona Zee, Alicia Monet, Nikki Knights, Joey Silvera, Robin Lee, John Leslie, Robert Bullock, Peter North and John Martin. Videocassette by Caballero Home Video.

Just as she overstuffs every bra she ever wears, Keisha amply fills the title role of Boom Boom Valdez. A grand-gland ecdysiast guilt-tripped by her mother (Ona Zee), Keisha resolves her conflict of conscience by inducting sister Alicia Monet into the spume-rich environment of strip-bar culture. The balls start rolling with Joey Silvera plumbing Keisha's plush gash (there's no money-shot, so you know Silvera's in love). Next, take a break for some mother/daughter/sister kibitzing. Move on to John Leslie's penis poised over Ona Zee's face, shutting her up with a copious cum-drop directly on her lips, a streamer of scuz smearing the side of her mouth. Next, take a break for some psychoanalytical talking. Move on to Keisha grazing in Nikki Knight's fertile crescent as Robert Bullock's orgasm is indicated by a close-up of his face. Next, take a break for a sisterly chat and barroom banter. Move on to a pool-table porking with John Martin chalking his cue in Robin Lee's stinky pocket. With little further ado, Keisha and Alicia whip synchronized pairs on Peter North, bringing his squack thermometer to a frothy boil. A few more such blasts, and Boom Boom would have been a knockout.

THE BITCH IS BACK

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Paul Thomas; starring Angela Baron, Randy West, Ona Zee, Siobhan Hunter, Stephanie Rage, Damien Cashmere and Nick Frenier. Videocassette by Fantasy Home Video.

The essential appeal of any Angela Baron vehicle is Angela Baron, and the appeal of Angela Baron is essentially anatomical. Nevertheless, The Bitch Is Back is festooned with inessential gags and schtick that imperfectly mask a shortage of salience. Stripped down to fuck facts, The Bitch has Baron and anorexia poster child Stephanie Rage, after giving head to opposite ends of a cucumber, locked in a 69, assholes fluttering beneath quivering nostrils; Damien Cashmere launching his log's load onto jizz-bag Ona Zee's chest because she asks him to; Siobhan Hunter fielding Nick Frenier's dick while she eats out of Baron's ass crack; Hunter and Rage carefully refraining from waking Randy West (or rousing any viewers) as they orally manipulate fish and stick; and West in a long, steady, numbingly repetitious quiff pack of Baron that's been edited with repeat sequences, if not actual repeat footage. The bitch of it is that Angela should have come back for at least one more.

—K. B.

For Your Love: John Leslie and Isabell Rovetti doing what comes naturally.

plays the wife of Robert Bullock, both of them thinking the luster has gone out of their lusting. Naturally, they begin to wander, only to wind up back together. Monet's mouth-watering moments come in a blistering fourway, where she is mauled by Billy Dee's meaty member. Her leadoff dorking with Bullock pales by comparison, and it's up to the rest of the cast to pick up the dwindling sperm count. Isabell Rovetti does her ball-burning best in her two scenes, including a funky underwater carnal coupling with Don Fernando. She also lays waste to Peter North's wicked warhead in an adequate snatch slam, but one that's not quite enough to light a decent crotch fire. Production values are standard with an annoying canned music score, making For Your Love only something marginal for your time.—S. L.

DAYS OF OUR WIVES Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by John Shubert; starring Stephanie Rage, Cara Lott, Frankie Leigh, Amanda Tyler, Chad Sanders, Jay Serling and John Wright. Videocassette by Gourmet Video.

Whatever John Wright's talents as a stud, they are virtually overshadowed by his truly embarrassing acting performance in this attempt at a soap-opera takeoff. The shots of Wright standing there, script in hand, reading his lines expose a new depth of unconcern for quality by this tape's producers. A silly script and bewildering plot further undercut Days of Our Wives' enjoyability—for those to whom these things matter—but the girls are fairly fresh (okay, Cara Lott's been around since video was invented, but hair extensions and new tits make her almost a new woman), and the sex is okay. There are seven sex scenes—eight if you count Amanda Tyler's bout with a vibrator—but only the blowjob Tyler bestows on Chad Sanders in the finale, and their subsequent screw, rise above the level of humdrum. Days is only for that night when everything else has been rented.

—Gore Duval

DY*NASTY Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Beni Floriani; starring Nina Hartley, Shanna McCullough, Tami White, Kathleen Jentry, John Leslie, Jamie Gillis and Robert Bullock. Videocassette by Essex Home Entertainment.

*Dy*Nasty's* box is labeled "comedy/fantasy, recommended for couples," a double kiss of death. *Dy*Nasty* is a porn parody (a redundant term) of a TV show that has parodied itself for years—another kiss of death. Not only is *Dy*Nasty* afflicted with protracted stretches of "adult" humor (typified by the clever title pun) during which sex performers remain fully clothed, thus obscuring their primary appeal (yet one more kiss of death), but the humor pretends to social commentary, also a kiss of death. While the fatally bussed *Dy*Nasty* will probably kill only a few viewers, it will give many more narcolepsy, sudden attacks of deep sleep negating the rousing effects of Tami White arching her back, her cunt fondled and fretted by power cunt Shanna McCullough; lissome and lubricious Kathleen Jentry (is her English accent faked or dubbed? A source of endless discussion as the horny viewing couple awaits the next sex scene) lying down for Jamie Gillis' goop on her chin and breasts; Robert Bullock bouncing off the unburst bubbles of Nina Hartley's buns; and John Leslie's penile pudding shooting up to splatter McCullough's asshole and drip down onto White's face. *Dy*Nasty*, with its flat jokes engendering flat pricks, makes living clean an attractive option. —Hakim Whithers

HOT SPOT

KATHLEEN JENTRY

This long-legged sexual animal was the star of August's video of the month, The Cat Woman. Although her eerie resemblance to Joan Collins could not entirely redeem a lesser vehicle like *Dy*Nasty*, her fans will agree that a limber power-fucker like Ms. Jentry deserves the spotlight much more often. Her well-toned yet tender young body is capable of erotic athletics most pornholes wouldn't dream of. Jentry shows some of her best stuff, including that impossibly wide leg stretch, in Cinderella's Barbii vehicles, Spend the Holidays With Barbii and Barbii's From Rags to Riches. You may also want to check her out in Wild in the Wilderness, Goin' Down Slow, Lethal Woman and Peek-A-Boo. Even in second-rate productions, this gorgeous gash is worth waiting for.

DECADENCE

INVASION OF THE LUST SNATCHERS

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Mark Arnold; starring Tanya Foxx, Whitney Prince, T.J. Swann, Rodney Lucky, Shena Heindborg, Shawn Nelson, Sinbad O'Conner and Blondie B. Videocassette by 4-Play Video.

Something about seeing a bunch of substandard sluts being given sloppy schtups by a gang of sloblike studs soothes and fluffs the critical viewer's ego. It is edifying to reflect that one is not reduced to paying the rent by fucking girls who have problem skin, bad dye jobs, droopy muscle tone and off-scale fat-to-body-weight ratios. On the other hand, if one is engaged in boning such women, here is visual documentation that someone else is doing it too. On a third hand, if one's only mate is in one's fantasies, one may take solace and adopt an air of superiority in the assurance that one's dream date is far more comely and edible than any of the less-than-plain-wrap wad sops of Snatchers, with the exception of Blondie B., who appears momentarily and inexplicably to fondle herself alone in a bed, leaving as

It would be tempting to just say, "Forget the story and concentrate on the sex," but the two are so inextricably entwined that if you don't like the one, the other isn't going to save it for you. Director Richard Mahler has a reputation as a deep and brooding filmmaker whose cold eroticism is not for everyone. That's a pretty fair assessment, though pretentious is not a bad adjective either. Whatever, Decadence doesn't quite live up to Mahler's earlier Corruption and Midnight Heat, and packed as it is with self-reference, unfathomable visual images and a storyline that ricochets off real time, flashbacks and dream time, it's even less accessible. For those undaunted by challenge, there are rewards: Cassandra Leigh being filmed by Jack Hammer as she masturbates to instructions from Tish Ambrose; Leigh humiliating a bound Hammer, commanding him to lick her boots and to try to get his dick up—then the reverse with Leigh suddenly bound, Hammer's cock in her mouth and George Payne shouting unpleasanties at her; and Joey Silvera really going at it with Carol Cross. Overall, however, Decadence is for the adventuresome only.—G. D.

abruptly and unfucked as she arrived. The sex of Lust includes a cunt/bunger boff of pear-shaped Tanya Foxx; a trio of jerkoffs pulling pud over gap-toothed Shena Heindborg as she perches on a toilet; Foxx, Heindborg and rapidly deteriorating Whitney Prince gulping trash gash; and some unsavory one-on-one gonadal grinds. Evade this Invasion. —C.S.

DISCLAIMER: STINK OVER SWEAT

It has come to our attention that the video boxes for Plum Productions' Sweat 2 bear the following endorsement: "Kinetic carnality. . . Sweat 2 blazes! A winner!" These lines are credited to "Michael Ferris, Hustler Magazine." While the first two words are lifted, out of context, from our August review (which was written by Kurt Blume), the rest of the quote is pure fabrication. We wish to stress that HUSTLER does not endorse this thoroughly mediocre sex vid. This crass maneuver on the part of Plum to cash in on our name seems particularly sleazy, even for the porn business. We would probably resent it a great deal more were it not for the fact that it gives us the opportunity to repeat a particularly apt truism: Sweat stinks.

THE SWAP AND THE PENDULUM

SWINGING COMES BACK BIG

Report by James N. Goode

SWAP-MEET

Illustration by Terry Robinson

THE SWAP AND THE PENDULUM

A deep moan escapes from Kathy's lips, and Ben knows that his wife's G spot has been found by Sam's fingers.

Diana is on top and in control. Impaled on the spit of Rick's prick, she undulates slowly as her husband gently thrusts from below. On the bed next to them, Bill settles between Debbie's upraised legs and inserts his considerable tool into his wife's delicious pussy. Diana watches in fascination as Bill thrusts it to the hilt and then slowly withdraws before plunging again. Cupping Diana's breast with one hand and Debbie's with the other, Rick signals Bill with a deliberate nod. As he picks up speed, Bill's hand slides down the valley of Diana's ass and begins to coax her into a fuck rhythm that matches his own. Tonight they will reach their goal. They'll all come together.

Across town Jill, Sam, Kathy, Ben and Christy are creating their own magic. In fact, Ben has his tongue buried in a piece of heaven called Jill. At the same time Christy, a vivacious 22-year-old single, is expertly pumping his dick. Each time Christy bends forward to relubricate his shaft with her tongue, Jill bears down firmly on his mouth. From somewhere across the room, a deep moan escapes from Kathy's lips, and Ben knows that his wife's G spot has been found by one or more of the three fingers Sam has buried in her cunt.

Linda and John are winding up a quiet evening of candlelight and wine at home. Their anticipation is focused on the padded envelope that arrived in the day's mail. Dressed in pearls, three-inch heels and nothing else, Linda removes a video-cassette from the envelope and inserts it into the VCR. After pressing PLAY, she walks to the sofa and lies across John's lap. There are no titles or credits at the beginning of this production. Instead, the camera pans across a now-familiar bedroom and halts as the image of a voluptuous blonde named Wendy fills the screen.

For the next 40 minutes Wendy and her husband Alex progress from seduction to unabashed foreplay to raunchy fucking, specifically for the benefit of Linda and John. As Alex caresses Wendy, Linda opens her legs to the urging of John's hand. She eases the knob of John's prick into her mouth at the same time as Wendy begins feeding on Alex's. Adding to the excitement of the evening is the possibility that Wendy and Alex, at this exact moment, are viewing the video Linda and John sent in exchange.

Any of these participants could be your neighbors, friends or co-workers. Ben might have repaired your loose cavity last week. That loaf of bread on the kitchen counter could have been baked by Rick and delivered by Sam. Kathy might have written the computer program that tracks your checking account at the bank.

Aside from being doctors, bricklayers, delivery drivers, lawyers and clerks, these folks have one common interest—pleasure. You may have the same intense interest, but your love life probably pales when compared to these couples and singles. Therein lies the difference. All of these sexually free people are swingers. They're involved in a swinging lifestyle that may well count its members in the millions in the U.S. today.

Instead of playing cheating games with their spouses and lovers or adding the stress of relentless affairs to their lives, they openly exchange partners in an atmosphere of permissiveness. As they have matured (the average member is in his/her 30s), so has their lifestyle.

Tom was into swinging when the word lifestyle didn't apply. He and his wife Ann are owners of Music City Socials (P.O. Box 8336, Nashville, TN 37207), a swing club that they created, and have managed for some 15 years. Twenty years ago Tom began swinging while in college. He remembers "the old-time wife-swappers club, which is exactly what it was. Those days were not swinging as we know it today.

"There really were situations where you got together in peoples' homes and drew numbers or names, or threw keys into a hat. You invariably ended up going to someone's home with someone you didn't like or had nothing in common with. It was a disastrous time for the swinging lifestyle."

Many of the uninitiated still view swinging in just that way. In a word-association quiz, they will respond with terms like wife-swappers, key clubs and orgies to describe swingers and their sensational, forbidden activities. Actually, swinging has turned from the wife-swapper image into an organized way of life, with structured clubs, publications and conventions on a local and national scale. An estimated 80% of active swingers are now associated with an organized club.

Sometimes the stars who shine brightest are the ones they call naturals: That's why we predict rising comet Alicia Monet will soon be the featured frill of Sexviddom. Of course, a lot of her success stems from her long-legged, limber body actively participating in her onscreen sex scenes. But the natural quality of her moans and physical responses in such films as Boom Boom Valdez, Divine Decadence and The Main Attraction turns on the real heat. How often does that kind of sizzle come from a beauty whose natural hair color glows gold on red? Or whose firm, full-size pups are as natural and accessible as her taut tush? Okay, so we like Alicia—that should have been obvious from the way we've wrapped her in lamé and tied her up with a bow, just for you. Go on, go for the gold.

sociation (NASCA) acknowledges that "the trend in swinging is the private-membership club." From its headquarters—P.O. Box 7128, Buena Park, CA 90622, (714) 520-4127—NASCA keeps members nationwide in communication through newsletters and affiliated clubs. Its annual International Directory of Swing Clubs and Publications lists 249 clubs spread across virtually all 50 states, 14 swinging sodalities in Canada and 44 organized groups in various foreign countries.

Robert L. McGinley, Ph.D., serves as president of NASCA, in addition to heading a wide variety of swinging-related organizations and activities. His Club Wideworld is the oldest organized swing club in the country, and The Lifestyles Organization hosts the world's largest swing convention in Las Vegas each year. Doctor Bob, as he is known by those in the lifestyle, also coordinates the activities of Lifestyles Tours and Travel. This travel agency sends swingers to Southeast Asia, Puerto Vallarta, Hawaii or Mazatlan with other sybarites desiring an exceptionally pleasurable vacation.

For the really adventurous, a stay can be arranged at the Hedonism II resort in Jamaica, where the swimming pool becomes clothing-optional after midnight and the disco has windows looking underwater.

The structure and activities of local swing clubs vary according to regional atmosphere. Even clubs in the same city will have different rules and diverse activities. Music City Socials currently has some 600 couples on its membership rolls. It hosts monthly social evenings that may be attended by 100 couples. The event begins with a cocktail hour. Couples and singles meet and mingle. Afterward, a theme dance, such as "Toga Night" or "Country and Western Night," complete with a live band, will continue until around midnight. When the dance begins, sexism is the rule—single females are welcomed, whereas single males are excluded.

As Anne, co-owner of Music City Socials, explains it, "We welcome single males—but not to socials without a date. We do allow single females because we never have the problems with single females that we have with single males."

The exclusion of single males is common among organized swing clubs. "Over 90% of our members are couples," Tom continues, "and if we allowed single males, we would eventually have ten couples and 5,000 single males at our events."

Any stranger who happens by the dance will find nothing but an awful lot of people having a good time—no naked bodies, no orgies. Music City Socials is an "off-premise club." No sexual activity takes place as a part of its organized activities. Couples meet, socialize and make further arrangements for sex away from and after the social. The "on-premise club," where couples actually participate in sexual encounters, conjures up visions of orgy rooms, hot tubs and hot-and-cold-running vibrators. These largely commercial establishments, however, are now virtually nonexistent because of rampant AIDS hysteria.

Nothing has tempered the swinging lifestyle more than the AIDS threat. Club owners across the country found their membership in a deep dive during 1985 and 1986. These were years of panic, fear and mistrust. Some swingers halted their participation in the lifestyle entirely. Others wanted to retain the close friendships they had established in the clubs. Like Rick, Diana, Bill and Debbie, many now participate only in "soft swing" encounters. Watching and touching others is permissible, but they stop short of exchanging partners. Advanced technology and lower prices have allowed the video camcorder into the bedroom. Couples such as Linda, John, Alex and Wendy prefer the exchange of letters and videotapes to swapping spouses.

The rest of the world might have expected this at-risk group of voluptuaries to totally shut down their sharing of each other's bodies. Instead, swingers as a group became careful and motivated students. Naturally, high-risk activity such as passive anal intercourse was eliminated from shared activity. Many clubs had harsh anti-drug rules long before AIDS became an issue. But the free exchange of sexual partners remains a major activity.

Unlike many segments of society that fed on stories of a cataclysmic pandemic, swingers actively sought the latest information on the disease and its control. Condoms became the most popular party favor in many clubs. In others, lubricants, foams, jellies and contraceptive sponges impregnated with non-oxynol-9 became favorites for safe sex. This spermicide has been in popular use since the mid-'30s and is thought to curtail a variety of sexually transmitted diseases, including AIDS.

A merasian Kascha still feels the primal instincts of the Orient for lawn sports and kite flying, and recently got to introduce her British friend Evelyn to this new slant on fun. Being caressed by the warm desert breezes soon has the girls hungry for another pastime—beach-blanket poon picnicking. As the kites flutter in the wind, the girls dive into a feast of folds. Their loving leg-lock involves a snatch snack of trim treats that soon leads to an orgasmic melt. Evelyn just can't keep a stiff upper lip, and even Kascha forgets to be inscrutable.

Before the sun can bake their whiskered clams, they head for home, since the trip takes an hour, and they've already got a taste for one another again.

ease and its transmission increased, so did club memberships. Club managers, who had witnessed attendance drops of 30% in recent years, welcomed a considerable rise in 1987. When Robert E. Gould, M.D., clinical professor of psychiatry, and clinical professor of obstetrics and gynecology at New York Medical College, publicly announced "that there is almost no danger of contracting AIDS through ordinary sexual intercourse," there were many sighs of relief. 1988 could be a banner year for the return of old members and the welcoming of many new couples into the lifestyle.

Doctor Gould's statement not only caused a flurry of controversy in the popular media; it also prompted more than a few knowing nods from longtime members of the sensualist lifestyle. Many had long suspected that the AIDS panic was largely the result of various groups feeding their own special interests.

Swingers have long possessed the most effective protection against AIDS or any other sexually transmitted disease. They know their partners. Swinging was once haphazard, but such activities as the "key-club boogie" could turn into Russian roulette today. In the past five years, swingers have relied on the close friendships formed within the organized clubs. Liberated and open sex is still the main reason for becoming a part of a club, but a surprising twist has emerged.

Joe has been swinging since he was 19. As he expresses it, he "played with the lifestyle" for a number of years with several female partners. Swinging was another pleasurable activity, much like golf, bowling or tennis. When he began dating his current partner, Liz, and introduced her to swinging, not much had changed.

Then, while attending a major swinging convention, he and Liz discovered a highly emotional side of the lifestyle. After sharing experiences over the convention's three days, they sought the privacy of a hotel room to consider what had happened. Overwhelmed by the true friendship, openness, trust and caring of others he had met there, he "paced the floor, looked out the window for long periods and finally cried." Later, when he and Liz returned to the hotel lobby, others seemed to immediately know that "they'd found it." Joe admits that the episode sounds like a religious experience. In a sense, it was probably more vivid and real.

Swinging is not without its problems, and swingers are the first to admit it. The most consistent advice is that "swinging is not the cure for a troubled marriage." If a relationship is bad before the couple joins the lifestyle, it's likely to become worse. Conversely, a good relationship may become even better.

The absence of pressure in swinging situations is stressed to prospective members. The most common scene is one in which the husband wants to swing and applies subtle pressure until his wife relents. Experienced swingers strongly advise against anyone being forced to accept their way of life. Within the clubs, the simple phrase of, "I'm sorry, but no, I don't want to," is accepted at face value and without question. When they first try the lifestyle, many women are pleasantly surprised at this. On the "outside" they're accustomed to constant pressure to perform. Among swinging friends, they're never placed in threatening situations, and many discover the wonderful freedom of being in control.

Major conventions provide opportunities to renew old friendships and to meet new friends-to-be. Over a three-day weekend, however, conventions tend to resemble enrichment and educational opportunities. Seminars and workshops are popular, and their subjects reflect the current concerns of swingers. "What to Tell the Kids," "Handling Your Own Body Rejection," "What to Say After Hi" and "Swinging and AIDS" are current topics in vogue. A perennial subject is "Dealing With Jealousy."

Of all the lifestyle problems, jealousy may be the most difficult to overcome. In the straight world, any attempt by a third party to make sexual advances toward your spouse or lover is a threat. Such confrontations cause arguments and even violence. In swinging, jealousy wears a different mask.

As Liz puts it, "I'm especially jealous of Joe when he's partying with a really attractive woman. But I also know that she's a friend and isn't trying to take him from me. When it's time to go home, Joe goes home with me. And there's nothing like home."

For newcomers, jealousy can be tough. A man has no problems picturing himself involved with a bevy of attractive and sexually aggressive women. When he's confronted with the reality of his wife or lover in the arms of a strange man, the old double standard may cause him to ex-

Jesse Jackson and a black friend were in a fast-food hamburger joint one day when Jesse's friend nudged him and said, "See that bro? I think he gonna rob the sto!"

Jesse glared at his friend and raged, "That is exactly what is wrong with America today! Racism has become so institutionalized that even you, a black man, believes that any brother who walks into a store with a gun and a stocking mask is a criminal!"

Question: Do you know what sends a lesbian right up the wall?

Answer: A crack in the ceiling.

A furious general called his military and household staffs together and barked that if his wife's stolen jewelry wasn't returned in 24 hours, the whole lot of them would be court-martialed. Hours of investigation proved fruitless. The desperate staff members finally picked up a drunk loitering outside the general's quarters and demanded that he tell them where the jewels were. When he denied knowing anything, they lowered him headfirst into a well. Pulling him up, they asked him again. The gasping drunk waved no. Again they lowered him into the water, leaving him in longer this time.

"For the last time," an aide demanded as they pulled the fellow up for air, "where are the jewels?"

Coughing and sputtering, the drunk replied, "You guys better find yourselves another diver, 'cause I can't find them."

Man, my kid's got girls hanging all over him," a construction worker boasted to his buddy on the job site. "I don't know how he has the energy."

"They say a guy reaches his sexual peak at 17, you know," came the reply.

"Yeah," the worker sighed. "And to think mine slipped right through my fingers."

My wife and I split up because we have too much in common," a solitary drinker confided to his bartender.

"Is that so?"

"Yeah, we both like to eat pussy."

I met the kinkiest producer at lunch today," a Hollywood agent told his wife. "He spent most of the meal bragging about the conquests he makes on his sets."

"What's so kinky about that?" his wife questioned.

"This guy makes nothing but animal pictures."

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines Yentl floss as: Jewish pubic hair.

A nervous yuppie paced the delivery-room waiting lounge while nearby a big black laborer sat calmly reading the sports page.

"Pardon me for acting like this," the young man stammered, "but this is our first baby."

"No shit," the black dude said without looking up. "This be our 11th."

"Gosh! Well, maybe I can ask you a question," the yuppie said, plopping down on the couch next to the large laborer. "How soon after the delivery can my wife and I, well, you know... have relations?"

"When can you fuck?" the black said. "That depends, boy, on if your bitch is in a ward or a private room."

A young boy and a man were ice fishing side by side one cold winter day. After watching the boy catch fish all morning long, the man asked him his secret. The boy mumbled a reply that the man couldn't understand, and when he asked again, he got the same garbled response.

The third time the man asked, the boy spit out the contents of his mouth and said, "You gotta keep the worms warm."

The Millers were a kinky couple. Mr. Miller particularly enjoyed eating another man's cum from his wife's pussy. Just as he was leaving the office one day, his phone rang.

"Hurry home, dear," his wife said seductively, "I'm keeping a fresh load warm for you!"

Miller couldn't drive home fast enough. He burst into the house, tearing at his clothes. He found his wife lying naked on their bed. Diving between her legs, he began to slurp away furiously.

"Oh, honey," he gurgled, "who was it? The milkman? The mailman?"

"No," she said coyly.

"Oh, please," Miller pleaded as he lapped up the goo, "you gotta tell me! An encyclopedia salesman? That delivery boy from the market? Who? Who?"

"Well," she said slowly, "you know that cute German shepherd next door?"

GRINGO IN PARADOX

Finding a place to stay in any garrisoned town is no problem. Where there's soldiers, there's bordellos.

"I happen to believe that when an American citizen, anyplace in the world, is unjustly denied their Constitutional rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, it is the responsibility of this government to restore those rights."

—Ronald Reagan
New York Times, 4/22/87

I was dragged, handcuffed, out of my cell on the morning of August 29, 1986, and led to an office, where I was turned over to a smartly dressed blonde and two burly, armed Latino stereotypes packing .45 caliber automatics in the waistbands of their polyester double-knit trousers. They then forced me aboard a Lacsa 727 dusting off from the airport of a small, well-known Central American Republic de Cafe. I ended the ordeal in the terminal of Costa Rica's Juan Santamaria Airport, exhausted, shaken and foul-smelling.

I first journeyed to El Salvador in the winter of 1984, after graduating from a small east Texas university. At that time, Jose Napoleon Duarte assumed office as the first "honestly" elected president of that nation's history.

I returned to El Salvador in July of '86. An agreement in my pocket from a small Austin, Texas, weekly authorizing me to send copy justified my presence in Central America.

Owing to a relative calm and general burnout of interest, the international press had drastically cut back their staffs. The massive infusion of U.S. military aid had taken its effect. The rebels fighting under the umbrella organization, the FMLN (Faribundo Marti National Liberation Front), were bounced back to their enclaves running along the mountainous eastern and northeastern borders with Honduras to lick wounds and carry out small hit-and-run attacks against the military and civilian economic targets.

The heavily fortified U.S. Embassy in San Salvador took pride in telling reporters of "significant reductions" in death-squad killings. Of course, they were using the strongly biased Salvadoran media as their source. The last Salvadoran editor recognized for accurate reporting of killings attributed to the extreme right was found with his photographer along a deserted road—both had been brutally hacked to death.

I first ran into Luis Escobar Tagle, a Peruvian in El Salvador to do background for his latest novel, at a boarding-house near the uncompleted cathedral dedicated to the assassinated Archbishop Arnulfo Romero. The boardinghouse, catering mainly to foreign nationals and the few stray backpackers, was infested with large cockroaches and secret policemen. The secret policemen, clad in smudgy white dress shirts halfway unbuttoned to expose strands of gold necklaces, always wore mirrored, polarized sunglasses when they joined us at the table for evening meals. They looked like recent graduates of the J. Bodeen School for Doubleknot Spies.

Luis, the Peruvian writer, told me he also covered the situation in Nicaragua as a correspondent for the Peruvian equivalent of People magazine. Since I spoke Spanish, and Luis had received his university diploma in Milwaukee, we had no trouble communicating. After paying $25 each for our Salvadoran Press Corp Association credentials, we set off to cover the turbulent situation in the Salvadoran countryside.

A couple of wire-service reporters told us of a mad evangelical Treasury Police colonel commanding the government garrison at Chalate, Chalatenango, 35 miles east of the capital.

Chalate had the distinct air of an occupied zone. Armed soldiers patrolling in heavily armed, aluminum-tracked personnel carriers raced recklessly through the streets. Young, nervous government troops fingering the triggers of M-16s stood at every corner. The town is thought to be seeded with phantom warriors of the FMLN. The guy next to you may be waiting for the Army commander's jeep with a fragmentation grenade in his pocket.

As always, strangers are greeted with suspicious looks from both sides. We walked down from the bus terminal, and people ceased talking to cast uneasy glances in our direction. Finding a place to stay in any garrisoned town is usually no problem. Where there's soldiers, there's bordellos.

At night I had trouble sleeping due to Luis sharing a cot with a girl who swore she had never slept with someone south of Honduras before. In the room's corner, a sow was nursing sucklings. Excusing myself, I went outside to observe the bordello as it filled rapidly with what the U.S. Army calls "highly motivated" troops.

A boy soldier, about 16, was guarding the cathouse. The guerrillas love to rocket the joint while his comrades-in-arms are in no position to fire back. The young grunt rested his Armalite assault rifle across his shoulders. "All the machos in this fucked-up town support the FMLN."

Morning saw the soldiers and hookers vanish, taking the rats and cockroaches with them. The Peruvian and I breakfasted on the usual Salvadoran meal of pupusas and horchata.

After the meal Luis decided it was time to visit the colonel. After a quick frisk for weapons, a corporal left us off at a steel door deep inside the fort at Chalate. The door clicked, then opened electronically. Screwing up our courage, we ventured into the inner sanctum of the Fundamentalist Treasury Police colonel.

At the end of a poorly lit corridorlike office, the broad, meaty colonel slowly rose from behind a sheet-metal desk. The fact that he was smiling pleased us immeasurably.

"Call me Jesus," said the colonel as he extended a vise disguised as a right hand.

Along his office walls hung plaques and proclamations presented to the camouflaged evangelical by grateful televangelists in recognition of his efforts to bring the Message of Christ via the miracle of satellite hookup. To my left rested a photo of the colonel with Vice President George Bush.

Lieutenant Colonel Jesus Navidad Caceres' unnerving steely eyes lit up like a kid with a new pony when Luis plugged in the cassette recorder. The colonel's responses to just three warm-up questions filled an entire 90-minute tape. I had to remind myself that the man in front of me, according to human-rights groups and the press, was a sadistic torturer.

The smiling policeman expressed a desire to paint the entire town of Chalate white "to signify Christian purity." Later we found out the colonel owned the paint distributorship. The colonel quacked on about the love he shared with his people. He held up several poems and letters and swore they were fan mail. We were not permitted to inspect them.

Three hours of the colonel's monologue was plenty. We thanked him and took long strides toward the door. The colonel took the hint and let us out. Luis uttered an expletive. Turning around, I saw the flaky colonel dressed in battle kit heading in our direction with three stone-faced torpedoes.

"Got film in that camera?" asked the colonel hopefully.

"Uh, yeah," I said.

The colonel beamed with delight and pointed to a Jeep CJ, telling everyone to get in. Seeing the torpedoes stroking their weapons, we decided to accept the officer's invite.

Colonel Jesus gunned the juiced-up vehicle, and we jerked back violently in our seats. Jesus, roaring with laughter, raced passed the post's checkpoints.

Caceres took us on some sort of PR blitzkrieg. The jeep would stop suddenly, the colonel would jump out to bearhug a startled peasant, and I would snap a photo, dive into the already moving jeep and look back at a confused campesino scratching his head as we left him in a cloud of choking red dust. I slunk down into the bench seat, my leg resting on a cache of fragmentation grenades. Caceres drove us back to the post. "See, the people here do love me," the colonel said to the backs of our heads as we headed off to the bus station at a half-trot.

The greater the distance between the crazy colonel and his armed, robotlike torpedoes, the better we felt.

Luis and I separated when I climbed a hill "to duck behind a tree." I was almost finished taking a dump when I heard my friend call out. Sliding down the slope, I just caught a glimpse of Luis in the back of a civilian pickup loaded with farm workers. A couple of long hours later I caught a bus carrying campesinos with miserable-looking fowl tied to their belts next to razor-sharp machetes.

I didn't get 200 yards before Army checkpoint troops hauled me off the bus to present me to a cadet commanding a log-cabinlike structure surrounded by barbed wire and land mines. Since I didn't have the proper permits, he would have to call the Army press center, COPREFA, in the capital. After checking with the press center and the Fourth Brigade headquarters at El Paraiso, I was permitted to pass. The cadet told me to report to the La Palma garrison commander as soon as I arrived there.

I finally reached La Palma about six in the evening, much too late to make it back to the capital. The town commander took my name and passport number down in a small notebook.

The town was constantly being fought over by the rebels and government troops, as evidenced by the demolished houses. Brass shell casings were so common, peasant kids quit collecting them.

"Puff" could spray 6,000 bullets a minute, turning the town into a heap of rubble and hamburger.

The town was defended by a reinforced company of about 150 to 200 Salvadoran Special Forces troops. I didn't realize that we were near a major FMLN stronghold, Miramundo Mountain.

In the morning I began to press Luis to go, hardly noticing the increasing number of helicopter gunships hovering around the mountaintops.

"Where's the bus? It should have been here an hour ago," I fumed.

"You know us Latins," Luis retorted, "no conception of time. I'll go speak to the old campesino." The old man pointed in various directions, gave Luis the typical Latin shoulder shrug and stumbled off.

"What did he say?"

"Outside of the fact that the rebels are blockading the road, threatening to fire up all traffic, and that they have the town completely sealed off, not a great deal," said Luis as he picked up his rucksack and started back toward the hotel.

We tried to find out what was going on from the town commander, Hembert Alfredo Marroquin, cadet, Geraldo Barrios Military School. "Yeah, they moved in last night," the cadet stated offhandedly as he tried to ring up someone on the field phone. "What's the problem?"

Marroquin seemed astonished that we desired to leave, taking it as an affront to his professionalism. "I thought you guys would love to stay and write about how the Special Forces handle the subversivos!" I was willing to cover the story, just not firsthand. The disgusted cadet excused himself to direct some soldiers unloading crates marked "81mm Mortar, High-Explosive Ammunition" from a troop transport. Two low-flying A-37B Dragonfly jets screeched overhead looking for targets, hot-loaded with air-to-surface rockets strung under the camouflaged wings, beside the fuel pods.

Sitting inside La Palma's poshest restaurant, a single-folding-card-table affair, Luis announced that he was setting off to join the guerrillas. "This attack, especially from the insurgent point of view, would lend substance and texture to my book," the writer said. He disappeared out of the cafe.

Cadet Commander Marroquin was suspicious about Luis' disappearance. He advised me to keep my boots on when I went to sleep, as the Army might be forced to pull out during the night. A C-47 "Puff the Magic Dragon" gunship was on alert. "Puff," with its Vulcan Gatling guns, could spray 6,000 bullets a minute, turning the town and everyone in it into a heap of rubble and hamburger.

"Don't worry. We have huevos; they don't," assured the solemn commander. I had heard this expression many times from both rebel and government troops.

"They are old ladies," said Marroquin. "If they touch you, they will have to answer to me and the Fuerzas Especiales [Salvadoran Special Forces]." He softly patted his M-16. "In my town you are safe, amigo. I promise that." The gallant Marroquin prudently assigned three Special Forces troopers to look after me, or report on my activities—I was never certain of which.

At night in my hotel room I watched the floating parachute flares light up the perimeters of La Palma. I pondered my situation: The rebels think I am some sort of adviser; the Army doesn't like journalists of any stripe; and if they decide to pull back without notice, as they've done countless times, I could be here alone to face "Puff." I felt totally isolated.

On the fourth day I contacted the press regarding Luis and myself. Chris Norton of the Christian Science Monitor in San Salvador advised me to wait two more days before letting word out about Luis. He'd heard about the tense situation here and offered his empathy.

Two days later the prodigal Peruvian straggled in, bone-tired after an 18-kilometer walk, followed by a soldier. "I have to go with the Army for a while," Luis mentioned as he turned on the shower to find there was no water.

"That's great," I said. "We can talk the Army into flying us to the capital. I never want to see a pupusa again."

"The Army only wants the Peruvian," Marroquin said in uncharacteristic brusqueness as he and Luis exchanged cold stares.

A shot-up U.S.-supplied army transport pulled up. Some of the bullet holes and ricochet marks were old and rusted; others were fresh and still very shiny. The soldiers in the transport were armed with an M-60, assault rifles and grenade launchers.

Rifles were locked and loaded, grenades were dropped into the breeches of stubby M-79 launchers, and a soldier fed an ammo belt into the M-60 as the gunner snapped back the bolt. The transport's throaty Detroit diesel opened up full throttle down the guerrilla-controlled highway into the mountain valley. All jungle hats were off to enable the grunts to scan the precipices better. The road was a convoy commander's nightmare. I had doubts about going along with my friend Luis.

With the aid of two soldiers, we were seized, had our cameras taken away and were tossed into a stockade.

We pulled into the same checkpoint I was pulled off of eight days before. The transport stopped next to a sandbagged hacienda surrounded by concertina wire, mine fields, machine-gun nests, and 81mm mortars set up in a battery commanded by a .50 caliber heavy machine gun. Luis and I were led to a room, told to watch TV and ignored.

A soldier came in to fetch Luis; I tagged along. Marroquin told me to accompany him back to La Palma, but I refused to leave Luis. This turned out to be the last time Marroquin attempted to save my life. The next truck was loaded with armed troops, mortar tubes, ammo, and soccer balls. Luis crouched in the transport with the rest of the troops and stayed that way until we reached the Salvadoran Army base El Paraiso.

At the base we were taken to a reception area. We sat down for an eternity. Three or four obese officers wearing berets came out to observe us at a distance.

Two cadets, one dressed in U.S. camouflage fatigues, the other clad in a black SWAT-type uniform, wearing berets with a U.S. Seventh Special Forces flash and aviator's sunglasses, walked up to Luis. The camouflaged one asked Luis if he would like the Army to place a call to his embassy or press affiliation. The soldier in black only grimaced. Luis replied that if he was in some sort of trouble, yes, he would like to speak with his embassy. It was a trap question. The cadets were able to safely assume no one knew of our presence at the fort. With the aid of two soldiers, we were seized and had our notes and cameras taken away. I told them of my desire to notify our embassies; they said nothing and tossed us into some sort of stockade.

I lay in one of the filthy bunks. I lifted up a pillow. It was soiled with grease and a rusty-orange spot. "Man, the guy who slept here must have had a hell of a nosebleed," I remarked.

"Look at the other ones," Luis said quietly. All the pillows and most of the sheets had the blood stains.

Luis was taken away for a couple of hours. He returned pale and very anxious. "Relax," I told him with an air of confidence. "I mean, they aren't like they used to be."

"We're in trouble." Before the Peruvian could explain, a sergeant escorted by two guards took us out and told us to line up against the barracks wall. Luis and I exchanged glances. The sergeant pulled out a Polaroid camera, but hopelessly jammed it trying to load it with film.

Barging out a barracks door, a loud young man dressed in a soccer uniform strolled out barking orders to a group of soldiers wearing berets and black uniforms. The soccer-playing cadet ordered us to get into a new brown four-wheel-drive Toyota pickup. The truck had civilian license tags instead of military ones. The men returned dressed in civilian clothes, but retaining their M-16s and Army web-gear. The unit, I learned later, is known as the PRAL. It is trained extensively in Panama by the Green Beret and CIA.

Four of the PRAL got into the truck bed. A faded purple bag with binder's twine, nonmilitary Sony walkie-talkies and other strange paraphernalia was placed between the legs of a PRAL sitting in the truck. A .38 or .32 caliber rusty revolver was given to a soldier sitting in the passenger seat. I asked the driver to see a copy of his traveling orders. He ignored me. I recalled how the church women and many others were murdered by soldiers dressed to resemble FMLM members. "Luis," I said in a soft voice, "get out of the truck, slowly."

As I climbed out of the vehicle, the PRALs shouted and grabbed their rifles. "I want a reasonable explanation," I said as I jogged to the reception area. The soccer-playing cadet ran over to me, looked at his watch and demanded to know why I got out of the truck. I asked to speak to the base commander or the officer on duty. "They're all gone to San Salvador," said the cadet. "Now get back into the truck."

Behind me I heard bullets being chambered. I told the cadet I didn't believe any commander, especially in a war zone, would leave a multimillion-dollar base housing 1,300 soldiers under the command of a military student. I suspected they were hiding in their offices so that in case something went wrong with the plan to murder us, they could cover their asses by saying our deaths were the result of the overzealousness of a cadet—standard Salvadoran Army procedure.

The cadet went berserk. He stepped into me with his left foot in order to kick me with the right one. But the blow never came. Two dozen Salvadoran Special Forces troops—some I knew—came around the corner to see what all the commotion was about. There were too many witnesses. The cadet called me a Communist bag of shit who should not be left with life. As he went to get some handcuffs, I told him if we're to die, then it's to be here, and for him to go fuck himself.

Colonel Jesus Caceres wasn't smiling. Apparently he was to command and direct our assassination.

A U.S. Special Forces adviser appeared on the scene. I asked the U.S. officer, whose name tag identified him as Taylor, where the hell he'd been the entire five hours we were on the base.

"At the rifle range," said the tall officer.

The soccer-dressed cadet, seeing the game was over and that there were too many witnesses, tried to cover himself by saying the Salvadoran Army doesn't kill civilians, and that he was trained in the States, so he knew what "fuck you" meant.

Taylor refused our requests to call our embassies, saying the phones were in restricted areas, but that he would place the calls himself. I asked for an Army truck with soldiers that looked like soldiers to take us into the capital. Taylor complied.

From the bed of an Army pickup I observed the base one last time. At about 6 p.m. the truck cleared the main gate. A white Toyota pickup, civilian registration, was waiting to follow us. The driver, dressed as a campesino (as were his men), closed in on our vehicle. I looked at the driver and froze: Jesus Navidad Caceres. The colonel wasn't smiling. Apparently Caceres was to command and direct the assassination.

The colonel must have guessed that something had gone wrong by the way the troops were dressed. After taunting us with some wild bumper tag, the colonel and his goons turned off onto a dirt road. I heard later that the Fundamentalists enjoyed carving a cross on his victim's chest after skinning the hapless person alive with the sheath knife he always wore strapped to his pistol belt.

The Salvadoran troops have a saying: "Keep the wind at your back and the sun overhead." Wind was no problem; the truck we were riding in could have been mistaken for a low-flying jet. The Army vehicle was in desperate competition with the sun, which was quickly disappearing into the volcano San Salvador. Our guards anxiously wanted to "clock out" before the FMLN, the night shift, "punched-in" and mauled us.

We entered the capital as the streetlights clicked on. The driver ran every traffic signal and stop sign to pull into the Army headquarters at the Estado Mayor garrison. I jumped out of the truck. The Estado Mayor military policemen, who were apparently expecting us, aimed their rifles and threatened to open fire. A couple of troops tackled Luis. A station wagon drove into the space, cutting off my escape but forcing the MPs to hold their fire. I stuck my head into the car and asked the driver if he was the American embassy representative that Taylor said he'd call.

The American identified himself as Major Quinn, U.S. Army, assigned to the U.S. Embassy. I told the officer that I was here under protest: Would he accompany us inside? "Sure," said Quinn.

I knew by Quinn's prompt arrival that Taylor had contacted him. Advisers are under strict orders to notify the U.S. Army attache immediately in case anything unusual happens in their jurisdiction. A government death squad preparing to kill two journalists, one an American citizen, would qualify.

I told Quinn that I wanted an embassy representative to be present at all times. Quinn, who had more than enough authority to honor such a request, ducked out of the fort, abandoning us to the tender mercies of the Salvadoran Security Forces.

The Army placed us on a concrete apron next to the wall running parallel to Avenida Escalon, warning that if we moved, the guards would kill us.

Hours elapsed. A Salvadoran Air Force captain and several armed troops "helped" us into a dark, smoked-glass Jeep Cherokee. We had escaped the "death" bed of a Japanese import only to find ourselves inside the death-squad vehicle of choice. Inside the Cherokee were four secret policemen. The two seated beside myself and the Peruvian were armed with an UZI and a .45 caliber automatic. We drove into the dark, wet, largely deserted streets of downtown San Salvador. I recited the Lord's Prayer and other latent prose that all the Sister Mary Anginas I ever knew had drilled into me as a schoolboy. The prayers seemed to work. I calmed down enough to realize that we were listening to Casey Kasem's countdown of the American Top 40 on the Cherokee's radio.

The Cherokee stopped short of a floodlit, medieval-like castle. The driver rolled down his window to permit a hel-plode or, worse yet, wilt.

Such problems are minor compared to the difficulties of ordinary life for most of us. In time, jealous anxieties can be overcome, as illustrated by the sheer number of satisfied swingers. Some years ago swinging climbed above being a fad for the young and experimental. When asked to express what the lifestyle means to them, the overwhelming majority of swingers speak of friendship, trust and caring companionship before mentioning sex. But, of course, they always mention sex.

Bill and Rick, each deep in his respective wife, exchange a look of charged recognition. Diana, squatting and humping on Rick, and Debbie, squirming frantically under the onslaught of Bill's descending rod, also feel the energy peaking. The women move deftly, flying into position under their husbands' bulging wands. Rick and Bill moan in unison, glazed eyes transfixed by the spectacle of spume launched from their twitching pricks, showering down upon their wadwalling wives.

Across town, Ben's groans of ecstatic agony mingle with those of his wife. As she rides Sam's bucking bone in front of the fireplace, Ben lies back on the sofa. Christy kneels before him, her lips tracing saliva paths along his slick shaft, a finger massaging his clenched, spit-lubed asshole. Ben gulps for air, lapping the heady effluence of Jill's moist muff, perched mere centimeters above his gaping mouth. Christy slides her fingertip into Ben's puckered sphincters, and Jill grinds her swollen clit onto his straining tongue. As Sam finds his depth in the warm, liquid confines of Ben's wife, both men launch streamers of molten ecstasy, then fall back exhausted. The women turn to themselves to extend their pleasure.

On the other side of the country, Wendy and Alex pick up the pace of their undulations to match the synchronized writhing of Linda and John on their TV screen. Simultaneously, in their own home, Linda and John race toward climax, spurred on by the video images of Wendy and Alex. Separated by several states, but united by the miracle of visual technology, the two couples break into orgasms one after another, their carnal convulsions mirrored and intensified in the cathode-ray tubes.

With these three visions of united release and rapture, it is as if the whole world is coming together. 🌐

meted National Guardsman to blind us with a powerful flashlight. When my eyes adjusted, I could pick out police and National Guardsmen walking around in their green tailored uniforms and black leather puttees. We were in the central garrison of the Treasury Police, said to be the bloodiest place in Latin America by the press and various human-rights groups.

Two guards pulled us out to blindfold us. We were taken hurriedly into a cell block. The small cell was humid and dark; it was everything a place with the reputation of a slaughterhouse was expected to be. Reading the verses scrawled on the walls by decades' worth of tormented souls brought on the reality that our lives could be simply snuffed out like the thousands before us.

I busied myself by wadding up and eating papers and business cards containing the names and addresses of Salvadorans I'd met. Soon after gulping down the last friend, a jailer banged on the steel door to demand our clothing and belongings. Three heavysset bruisers wearing jungle hats and T-shirts embossed with "Kill 'em all. Let God sort 'em out," slogans handed us some documents to sign, saying it would speed up our release.

The documents contained questions such as place captured, weapons recovered and terrorist unit. Under the blank where our signatures were to go, a long space was reserved for "comments" the prisoner made during interrogation. Luis and I handed the confessions back unsigned. The furious jailers stated we would never leave this place.

At night, I heard pistol shots and howling dogs. I stiffened. It wasn't my imagination or the wind. Doors were being opened, prisoners dragged out, beaten and shrieking. Later I heard helicopters flying in and out of the prison courtyard.

In the morning Luis was handcuffed and taken out for an interrogation lasting many hours. An officer asked me why I was being so "difficult." I told him I wasn't going to sign any confession, that I was a journalist, not whatever they accused me of being.

"If this is true," said the officer, "then why didn't we find any press cards?"

"Ask Major Quinn and the officers at the Estado Mayor garrison," I said. "They took them from us."

Three hours later he came back. "We were led to believe you were Comunistas internacionalistas," the man said quietly.

"I registered with the U.S. Embassy and the Salvadoran Army Press Center," I

Sitting in my cell, I began to suspect that if my "accusers" spoke Spanish, it was as a second language.

said. "Now, you tell me, what Communist mercenary would do that?"

The next morning I was roused out of my cell, handcuffed and taken to the prison administration office.

She has to be an American, I thought, seeing an attractive, stylishly dressed, light-complexioned woman, probably in her early 30s. At the moment she was the most beautiful woman I'd ever laid eyes on. She had to be from the embassy to get me out of here. I told the woman how ecstatic I was to see her.

"Mr. Robinson," said the woman, not looking up at me. "Mr. Timothy Edward Robinson?"

"Yes, yes!" I screamed with joy.

"They tried to kill me at El Paraiso," I blurted out, "and—"

"It's a democratically elected government," said the woman who told me her name was Michelle Williams, vice consul, U.S. Embassy, San Salvador, as she took a deep breath. "They can do whatever they want with you." The woman informed me that the Treasury Police were miffed that I didn't "cooperate" and that the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service regularly beats Salvadorans, so she reasoned it was only natural that they do it to me.

"Huh?" I responded weakly in utter disbelief.

"Why didn't you sign the releases?" demanded the vice consul.

"They were confessions. If I'd signed, I would be murdered here later on," I told her quietly. Williams knew that fact well, but I felt that she would have preferred my signature. A survivor of a death squad, based at a fort run by the U.S. Army, could have many rolls of damning film unaccounted for.

"We're showing this government how to conduct itself," said the U.S. vice consul, "and people like you, Mr. Robinson, get in the way."

"You appear to have broken a few laws, Mr. Robinson," Williams handed me a stack of papers a half inch high.

"Your visa is expired, and you were captured in a restricted zone without knowledge or consent of the military. You are also suspected of being a Communist terrorist mercenary," said Williams. "I could leave you here for up to 150 days, or until your trial comes up."

"I would like to speak with the embassy press officer and the press," I said, knowing I was fully entitled to do so.

"You will talk to no one," said Reagan's apparatchik as I tried to tell her of my friends who worked in the State Department.

"I demand to know who's accusing me of this crap," I said. "Maybe an agreement can be reached."

"Your accusers do not wish to be identified at this particular time," said Williams.

I began to suspect strongly that if my "accusers" spoke Spanish, it was as a second language. "I have to leave now," said the vice consul, obviously pleased with herself. "I will be back shortly." Shortly meant 24 hours later. Sitting in my cell smarting over the crass sellout my "friends" had performed on my rights not only as an American citizen, but as a human being, I began to believe what some reporters had been saying all along: that the U.S. government is behind many of the killings in this country. There had been an attempt on our lives; to avoid an explosive situation, they were going to cover it up. We had stumbled onto something over our heads. Probably the unit that tried to murder us in order to incriminate the FMLN had been in operation for quite some time.

"Your accusers are in a generous mood," smiled Williams the following morning, after another sleepless night listening to prisoners being "questioned" by the Treasury Police. "You are to be deported ASAP."

All my belongings were returned, except a pocketknife I had since I was a Boy Scout leader. The vice consul said the knife constituted a "weapon of war." I suspect the real reason was that the blade had my name inscribed on it. If I proved difficult, a body could be produced with my knife sticking in the ribs. I asked Williams, as a fellow American, if she would permit me to shave, bathe and change, since I hadn't done so in nearly two weeks. "Denied," sniffed the vice consul, warning me that if I didn't come along peacefully, two men would be glad to "assist" me.

If Williams' refusal to permit me to cleanse myself of the horrible odor I carried was calculated to humiliate me, then she got splendid results. When I stepped aboard the plane, my unruly hair, fuzzy beard and awful stench caused appropriate commotion. I whisked by a shocked tourist group to sit by a pleasant-looking Oriental lady who looked less pleasant when she realized my intention to join her.

I hadn't gotten much sleep in the past two weeks. I collapsed in my seat and slept all the way to Costa Rica.

Airport security greeted me before I made it off the ramp. They demanded to see my money and were surprised at my $2,000 in traveler's checks. Taking no chances with a man who looked like Charles Manson's favorite nephew, the security people towed me to a ticket counter to buy an open ticket out of Costa Rica. I thought it prudent not to mention the fact that I wasn't a tourist, but a suspected terrorist released from prison not one and a half hours ago.

I wasted no time in speaking to press people I knew lived in Costa Rica. At first no one dared believe the fact that I had survived not only a death squad, but one operating out of a base controlled by the U.S. government. Agence France Presse and the respected English-language newspaper The Tico Times investigated the story, found out everything checked out and ran articles and news broadcasts in Costa Rica and the world.

Due to the growing interest in our story, the U.S. government declared the incident "under investigation" and refused to comment.

Most of the U.S. media, ABC, CBS, NBC, UPI, AP, REUTERS, Newsweek, Time and major American newspapers refused to investigate the story, and many often treated me in a hostile manner. When I fled to Nicaragua, I experienced the same: cooperation from the Europeans, contempt—even scorn—from the Americans.

"We heard about your story," said a female assistant producer at the NBC office located in the luxury hotel Intercontinental in Managua, "and we don't want to get involved. Now leave." I turned on my heels to exit the office when I heard a young girl ask who I was. "Just some guy the embassy tried to 'off' in Salvador," said the assistant producer. At least CBS gave me a Coke and let me borrow some paperbacks.

On my way to file my story with my own paper, The Austin Chronicle, I dropped in on the Salvadoran consulate. Fearing they would be tipped off to who I was, I used the pseudonym B. H. I told the lady I wished to visit her beautiful country on vacation. She showed me a tourist pamphlet that said visas were issued in 30- to 90-day increments. I asked her if one was to overstay the 30- to 90-day limit, would they be risking a prison sentence or expulsion. "My dear Don H," said the consul, "don't believe what the sensationalist journalists say about my country. Things like that just don't happen."

MATCHED SET

I have been reading HUSTLER for a year now, and I can't put into words how much I love your magazine. I and my dick would be eternally grateful.

HARD-ON FOR HUNG HONEYS

As a licensed labia lover, I have been on a quest for a number of years to find, and hopefully nibble on, the world's largest clit. No magazine, including HUSTLER, has been able to depict this miracle of the female form for me. Are some of your models embarrassed by the size of their love buttons because it might make them appear too masculine? There's no way in hell any of your models could be considered masculine. If it's possible, give us labia-lickers a treat and run an issue on giant clits. Some guys like big tits. Others like big butts. I like clits.

GERM OF STERILITY IDEA

I am 29 years old, childless and have recently been sterilized. The decision was the most important and hardest of my life. I would have found it of immense help to read about how others felt when deciding, but unfortunately, I could find nothing that discussed the emotional aspects. I want to change this situation by producing a book covering the fears, questions, regrets and joys surrounding this issue. If the issue of sterility/vasectomy is important to you and you feel that others may benefit by reading about your views, please send them to Dorothy, P. O. and a butt plug and leash were attached again. The two women then took turns leading me around the house, making me perform any task they desired, on command. If I performed to their approval, I was allowed to massage each woman's nude body with black satin cocktail gloves. After the completion of the massage, Mistress Robin had me anal-ly penetrate Mistress Jill.

This was an extremely exciting event, making all the evening's humiliation worthwhile. I mounted the slender blonde from behind, with the skintight, sensuous feel of my pantyhose making my erection feel even larger than it really was. Mistress Robin pulled my hose down, and my cock slipped into the blonde's ultratight, puckered rosebud.

Mistress Jill screamed and bucked wildly, and my dick went in and out of her gripping asshole. Mistress Robin stood in front of her, teasing and pinching her lovely swaying breasts while bringing on her own self-induced orgasm. Then Mistress Robin ordered me to come in Mistress Jill's ass.

As Jill moaned and groaned in total ecstasy and Mistress Robin squealed with orgasmic delight, I unloaded a thick, squirting jet of semen into her young, tight rectum. I removed my cock from Mistress Jill's now-red anus, whereupon Mistress Robin ordered me to suck my own salty cum out of the young blonde's asshole. I was warned not to spill a single delicious drop.

Pushing my face into her gorgeous alabaster ass, I hungrily sucked and licked her cleanly shaved crack for all I was worth. I swallowed every wet drop, then sucked Mistress Robin's well-coated fingers clean.

For doing a good job as their sexual servant, I was allowed to forage through the lingerie closet and select a new outfit to model for my mistresses. The ladies allowed me to rest until they were horny again. For a well-hung 28-year-old white male who enjoys the company and the financial benefits of being a sex slave for wealthy older women, this isn't a bad way to live.

As is the case with Mistress Robin and her young counterpart, Jill, I am sometimes privy to prime, tight and pretty cunts along with the matriarch's muff. Hell, this isn't a bad way to make a living at all. In fact, I get off on it.

HUSTLER

October edition on sale August 16, 1988

HONEYS TO FALL FOR

Ripen your nuts for winter and bid goodbye to the beach with a sand-sprawling siren whose water wings will get your periscope up. Then, coming home for one serviceman means a wet and wanton greeting. Luscious lezzies trade a night on the town for clit-licking orgasms in their high-tech hideaway. Finally, you'll meet a bone-popping centerfold honey whose busty build will have you sweating. Stoke your autumn fires with the October HUSTLER—a real ball-burner.

SEOUL SISTERS MADE EASY

Forget the Olympics; the real games in Seoul, Korea, feature aggressive Asian tarts who are boning up on their gold-medal cocksucking and rutting skills in anticipation of penetration by foreign invaders. Sexvid entrepreneur Jun Kanda's firsthand report on Korean cunt, HUSTLER's "Official Guide to the Korean Sexual Olympics," will have you calling your travel agent and going for the gold.

THE GANG'S ALL HERE

They're taking over major cities, wielding sophisticated weaponry while dealing billions of dollars' worth of drugs, willing to take down anyone who gets in their way. Jeff Jackson's "Street Gangs" examines this threatening new phenomenon with glimpses at the inner workings of some of the most notorious gangs.

BAD BLOOD?

Are you safe getting a blood transfusion? Stop worrying and read October's AIDS Watch, "AIDS and Our Blood Supply," by Ron Chepesiuk. Only HUSTLER explores all the facts of this life-and-death matter.

FUN, FLESH AND FANTASY

Flannery Todd describes the new breed of boardroom bitches in October's Sex Play, "Aggressive Women: New Sexual Demands." Then, laugh along with Bits & Pieces, aim your love rifle at Beaver Hunt, stroke along with the raunch reviewers of Erotic Entertainment, and just try not to soil the pages of Hot Letters. Buy the October HUSTLER—you have nothing to lose but your own jizz.
