HARD, TOO PLEASED

I am Barbara Dare's most loyal black fan, and her photos in the August '88 issue of HUSTLER made me her "biggest" fan. Damn! I buy anything that has her name on it, and she never lets me down—in more ways than one. My fantasy is to suck out her butt-hole and come in her mouth, doing everything in between. I hope we'll be seeing more of "Yva Dee: Wild Horses" real soon (like her back door). Her tongue photo was worth the price of the whole magazine. James Baes's work on Dana Lynn's tiny, tongue-teasing dirt chute made my eyes tear up. Finally, the Beaver Hunt beauties were even better than usual. Beth, Barbara and Sweetpea are all 10s that made my dick tense. These ladies take me back to my days in the Navy—they bring out the semen in me. —J. H.

HEAVY READER

I can describe Anthony R. Lovett's article, "Requiem for a Heavy-Wadd" (August '88), with one word: awesome! I found the article very informative and well-written. I have been getting your magazine for years, but about three months ago I became a subscriber. If you guys keep cranking out articles like Mr. Lovett's, and of course the hot pictorials and fiction, I'll never let my subscription run out. Who says nobody reads the articles in skin magazines? —T. C.

YAHOO FOR MOUNTAINEER MAMA

Loved your July '88 issue of HUSTLER. It's great! And your centerfold, Jay, wow, what a gal. I'd love to have been her photographer. Another reason I'm writing is my love for the Beaver Hunt section. Being a photographer, I've had my share of photographing young gals from our local colleges. I just never could convince them that they should send their photos to a men's magazine. That's why I'm proud to see a local gal in HUSTLER. Tonya—from Big Stone Gap, Virginia—we all love your fine photo-spread! Your boyfriend did a good job with the camera too. Oh, and by the way, Tonya, there is plenty of action in our area; it's not known to all, but with the right contacts you can meet singles and couples who like to swing. Best wishes to Tonya, and to HUSTLER for the great work you all do. Maybe you can do a photo-feature of Tonya or another local girl. —D. P.

All That Jizz

SINGING HIS TUNE

Thank you! Your article "Banned on Your Walkman" [July '88] about music censorship is just what the public needs. Groups like the PMRC need to be exposed for exactly what they are: uptight, finger-pointing, upper-middle-class white busybodies who draw conclusions, not from fact, but from their own preconceived prejudices. If children kill themselves, it is so much easier to blame it on a defenseless cassette than it is for a parent to take the blame. Speaking from personal experience, music has done nothing but help my friends and I. It was music that helped me through my mother's death when I was 18. In fact, music is one of the things that I hold dear in life. For me, it is as important as family and friends. —P. M.

CREAM 'N' COOKIES

I have seen a lot of pussies and assholes, but "French Vanilla" [July '88] has the most perfect asshole I have ever seen. I would give $1,000 to eat, then fuck her ass. I got such a hard-on, I jacked off three times, and my dick was still hard; so I got the girl two doors down to come over, and we fucked twice more before I was able to look at the magazine without getting hard. —Hot Tongue

HOW CORNY

I really enjoyed your July '88 issue. I have always enjoyed looking at pretty, high-arched feet, and I get especially hot when a model sheds all her clothes except her shoes. Your models have gorgeous feet ("Juicy Jay" and "Stacked Deck" both rate extra-special merit). HUSTLER almost always has a barefoot model. I look forward to seeing your upcoming issues. Feet are beautiful, and what's it gonna hurt to have more close-up shots of bare feet? —D. B.

A PARADOX OR THREE

Your June '88 issue was kinda' funny. The male model in "Holy Rollers" looks like Ray Victory. Your magazine is pretty good, but the paradoxes are also pretty good. I would like to know how I can get back issues. —W. J. Jr.

VIRGINIANS FIGHTING CENSORSHIP

HUSTLER has the distinctive quality of being as iconoclastic as Larry Flynt says it is. I like HUSTLER because it shows lots of human flesh, and I like the expressions on the models' faces. Here in Virginia, HUSTLER has disappeared from several stores. I remember the loss of freedom I experienced as I drove my car from one store to another, unable to find any sex publications. I can easily get a wrestling or detective magazine showing blood spurting from someone's head. If we allow ourselves to be intimidated by government or anti-obscenity groups, it is easy to have freedoms taken away. For this reason I support HUSTLER and the rest of the porn industry's fight against censorship. —M. R.

SEE WHAT DEVELOPS

I am the adventurous type and have posed for nude photos of myself with my boyfriend, as well as alone. The problem is, we can't seem to find a place that will develop them. I previously used an outfit called Spectra Photo, but now I can't locate their address. I've looked through CHIC and HUSTLER hoping to find a place that would do this. Do you, by chance, know of a place? —S. W.

SWEET ON HONEY

My wife and I enjoy your magazine very much; and it has enriched our lives in many ways. We were wondering what happened to the cartoon Honey. It has been a while since she was featured. Is she coming back, or is there some way to secure back issues with her in it? We have always thought Honey was a good cartoon, and we would like to see a whole magazine dedicated to her. You put out a good magazine of adult entertainment. Please keep up the good work. —J. Y. M.

America's favorite sexual adventuress, Honey's comic strip is so missed by HUSTLER readers that Larry Flynt has demanded a worldwide search for an artist and script-writers who can produce this section up to HUSTLER's high standards. You'll see the results soon.

SEEKING SEKA

I would like to say that HUSTLER has the best-looking girls of all the magazines. EDUCATION, NOT INCARCERATION

The newspapers will not print my letters; I wonder if HUSTLER will. At the public library in my neighborhood, I read two books on drugs. One was by the San Diego County Sheriff's Association, and the other is called Inside China Today, by E. Grey Dimond, M.D. As to children and drugs, both books agree that the police should go into the neighborhoods and re-educate parents and children. The Chinese got rid of drugs without putting anyone in prison and without court actions. In the sheriff's book, however, the recommendation is for increased police authority—more money so they can make more arrests. This will not work, because putting people in prison will not eliminate the cause for crime, and prisons are a terrific burden for the taxpayer. The San Diego police officers have treated me excellently. They responded extremely well when I dialed 911. But our prison system is no good. —I. K.

AGGRESSIVE WOMEN: NEW SEXUAL DEMANDS

Fear and hypocrisy have repressed sexual awareness, leading to the ignorance that spreads disease and creates violence, in addition to hindering our natural enjoyment of sex. This series opens the door to current sexual knowledge and expression, and improved lovemaking.

Let me introduce you to my neighbor Deborah. At 34, she is happily divorced and a devoted key account executive clawing to the top of her chosen field, marketing. A curvaceous honey-blond with an Amber Lynn smile, she drives a Porsche, owns real estate and is always clad in designer threads.

Often as not, when Deborah's in the mood for pleasure, she calls her hometown boyfriend, a 28-year-old handyman who over the years has been capitulating in and out of her bed. Yesterday Deborah invited me over to see a hotel brochure outlining the delights of a surprise romantic trip she's planning for her handy lover. For pleasure her boyfriend will be treated to a picturesque adult auberge, complete with an octagon waterbed, Jacuzzi and swing, while Deborah picks up the tab. "He will pay me back in other ways, I'm sure," she said in a sassy whisper. Yet just last week Deborah was in the Caribbean on a business trip, and there a cultured male colleague was drawn to her forward way. Thus, within hours his tongue was driving hard between her thighs, giving Deborah exactly what she wanted—for the night, anyhow.

In 1986 the percentage of executive, managerial and administrative jobs held by women was 36%, according to the U.S. Department of Labor. As more women continue to gain power in the work force, are they growing more sexually aggressive—like Deborah?

To begin with, many psychotherapists dislike the term aggressive women; some suggested I use the word assertive. Yet in Webster's Thesaurus the synonym for aggressive matches the second definition for assertive, which is "aggressive, assertory, militant, pushy, self-assertive." In an issue of Cosmopolitan, however, writer Robert Karen writes in his article "Do Men Love—or Fear Aggressive Women" that "an aggressive woman is one who is forceful about her views, who pursues what she wants, who does not step timidly aside at the first negative sign and who takes bigger-than-average risks. She calls me before I call her, lets me know what she's feeling, takes the lead in sex." To me, this is a working definition of an aggressive woman in the '80s, not a mind-fuck of two related words.

Jeff Hylton, a psychotherapist from Burlingame, California, who sees a lot of high-achieving women in his clinic, says people are aggressive when they don't really trust their own power. "I think that women are being aggressive now," he claims, "and they're being so out of anger." Then are aggressive, career-minded women today attempting to take away male power, which is likely a new-age term for ballbusting?

Well, perhaps some women in the '80s are consciously or unwittingly "mega-ballbreakers." Many sex therapists and clinical psychologists agree that some men are threatened by high-achieving women, which can indeed cause these men to have sexual problems. According to a widespread research survey by Phillip Blumstein, Ph.D., and Pepper Schwartz, Ph.D., authors of American Couples: Money, Work, and Sex, when a women starts to inch past her male partner up the ladder of success, the man's sexual interest may start to dwindle. So "they [women] don't get much!" exclaims Dr. Paul Walker, a San Francisco sex counselor who has seen many male clients who are intimidated by educated and successful women.

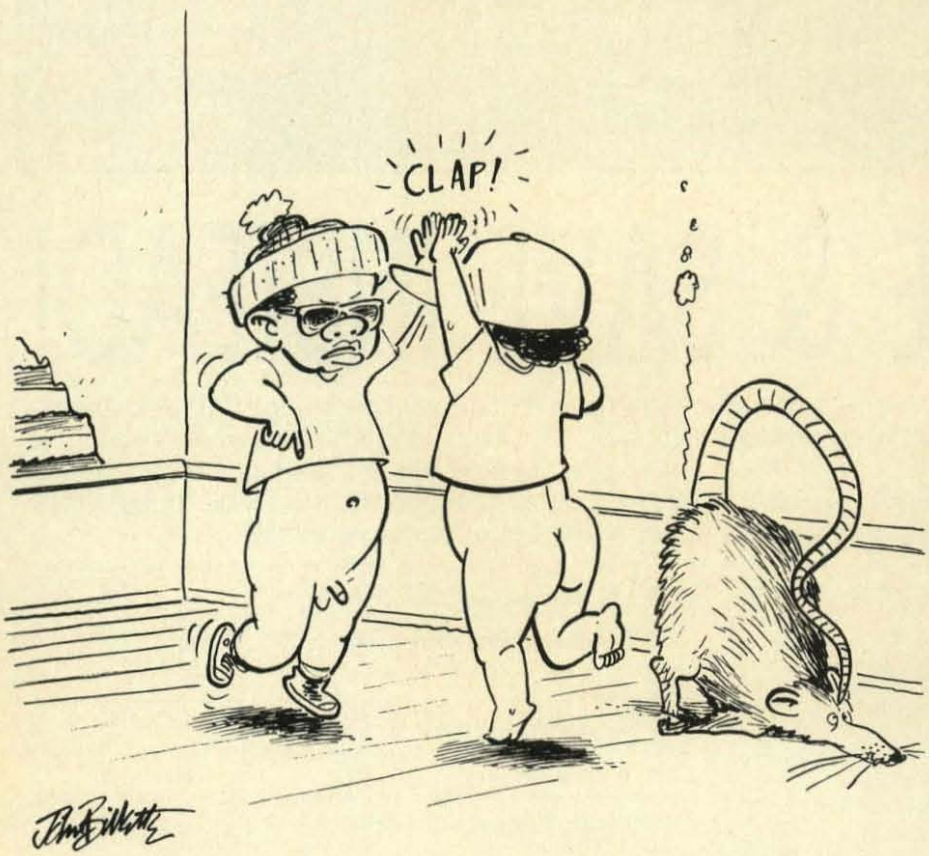
On the other side of the coin, many men find dominant women attractive, and prefer aggressive women in bed. Still, according to 3,499 Savvy magazine readers—professional, well-educated American women—who responded to the September 1986 questionnaire, men were usually more sexually aggressive (42%). Ironically, 32% of the women confessed that they had had an extramarital affair!

Likewise, working women are having more affairs than homemakers because they have more opportunities to meet men. One woman, mentioned in an article about yuppie love in Working Woman, is a 36-year-old editor-in-chief who has a strong sexual drive and wants intimate relationships; yet she readily admits that her career gets top billing. Her husband resents her being away so much; plus, their sex life isn't what it used to be. So, to fulfill her sexual desires, she has turned from her marriage to a lover.

Another woman, a 46-year-old who is a high-pressured bank loan officer, enjoys a six-figure salary. She told me that she would never be able to devote as much time to getting ahead if she had a husband to deal with. She admits to teasing the men at work, young and old; however, she dates only the younger breed, seeing them at her convenience. She believes that they are quite turned on by her aggressiveness.

"I like that control," she admits, "but if they can't give me a multiple orgasm in bed—forget it!"

Just how demanding are other career-minded women in bed? Women, especially those who work outside of the home, report that the missionary position is fine, but no longer the only way they want to have sex, according to American Couples: Money, Work, and Sex. The woman at the top of a corporation is likely to be on top, and enjoy a greater variety of sexual acts. Also, in an issue of Cosmopolitan, writer Jerry Gillies reports results from his survey involving 100 men about what turns them on. Eighty percent of the men said they get the feeling from a very sexually open and assertive woman that she may demand too much from them in the way of sexual performance.



"Yeah, that's right! We bad! We bad!"

Do women who demand satisfaction call escort services that advertise "male escorts for the discriminating VIP?" Actually, today it's not commonplace for ladies to hire men to impress their clients or for their personal pleasure. One reason is the rise in STDs.

Yet in the workplace more cases are appearing on record where female bosses demanded sexual favors from male subordinates. Experts claim that this reveals sexual harassment for the power play it is. Says K. C. Wagner, director of the Working Women's Institute at Cornell University, New York State School of Industrial Labor Relations: "I think it's internalizing the male power model in a nutshell."

Furthermore, the 1986 Savvy survey indicated common hostility toward men on the job and the belief that men are an impediment to a woman's success. For example, Randy Stephens, an Antioch, California, attorney, has one client, a male nurse who was working at a hospital in the Pacific Islands where his supervisor, a female R. N., sexually harassed him repeatedly. "If he was walking down the hallway, she'd come up and push him out of the way. One time she committed battery on him," says Stephens. "From our perspective, a man would never get away with slapping a female employee." There are other men who were also sexually harassed by the same R. N., who admitted openly she doesn't like male nurses.

An article about women raping men in Psychology Today noted the case of a 37-year-old married man who was accosted by two women with a handgun, forced into an abandoned building, undressed and tied up. He was compelled to have intercourse and oral sex, and was then abused genitally and rectally until he fainted. Sex therapists Phillip M. Sarrel at Yale University and William H. Masters of the Masters and Johnson Institute in St. Louis had only identified 19 cases of men traumatized by sexual molestation by women in 1983; however, they admitted, "There must be a hell of a lot more than we know."

There is hard-hitting proof of where women currently go to let off steam. According to David Levi, who manages the Los Angeles male strip club Chippendales, 70% of its patrons are suit-and-tie ladies. "It's their fantasy night out, away from men, to go and see a male show," he says. Yes, Chippendales' female customers do, in fact, scream, initiate sexual advances and solicit the beefy dancers for their phone numbers.

Yet for the most part the ladies merely enjoy the show, then return to a reality in which perhaps they are more sexually aggressive, if they're in the mood.

AIDS WATCH

Concern about AIDS has led many of us to think about the consequences of having an accident, needing an operation and ending up in the hospital for a blood transfusion. Or, as conscientious citizens who believe in giving blood to the Red Cross, we may wonder if there are risks involved. What are our chances of contracting the deadly AIDS virus or, for that matter, any other serious blood-borne disease, like syphilis or hepatitis, from donating or receiving blood?

To clear up the misconceptions, HUSTLER approached the American Red Cross, the nation's blood-banking leader, which furnishes whole blood products and plasma derivatives to two-thirds of the country's hospitals each year. The Red Cross collects over 6 million blood donations annually—half of the nation's entire blood supply.

AIDS AND THE SAFETY OF OUR BLOOD SUPPLY

by Ron Chespesiuk

"The risk of getting AIDS from a blood transfusion has always been small," explains Dr. Terry C. Gautier, a spokesperson for the American Red Cross's national headquarters in Washington, D. C. "The Red Cross can't say that it [the blood supply] is totally safe. However, very few defective donations slip through the system."

By mid-December 1987, the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) reported 1,185 cases of AIDS associated with blood transfusions (1,089 adults/adolescents and 96 children), representing approximately 2% of total AIDS cases. At risk were approximately 3.5 million transfusion recipients per year (35 million people have received transfusions since 1977). This translates to a mere 3.4 cases per 100,000 transfusion recipients.

But, Dr. Gautier says, the Red Cross and the medical community can't guarantee the blood supply's complete safety because of what the doctor describes as a "window period." "Say you had a risk exposure to AIDS last week and you donated blood this week. Your body would not yet have had sufficient time to develop antibodies to the AIDS virus. When antibodies to a specific organism are found in a person's blood, they indicate that the person has been infected by that particular organism. The AIDS-antibody test cannot detect the disease during this window period. We believe we've narrowed the period to within a six-week span. Hopefully in time it will disappear, as the antibody test increases in reliability."

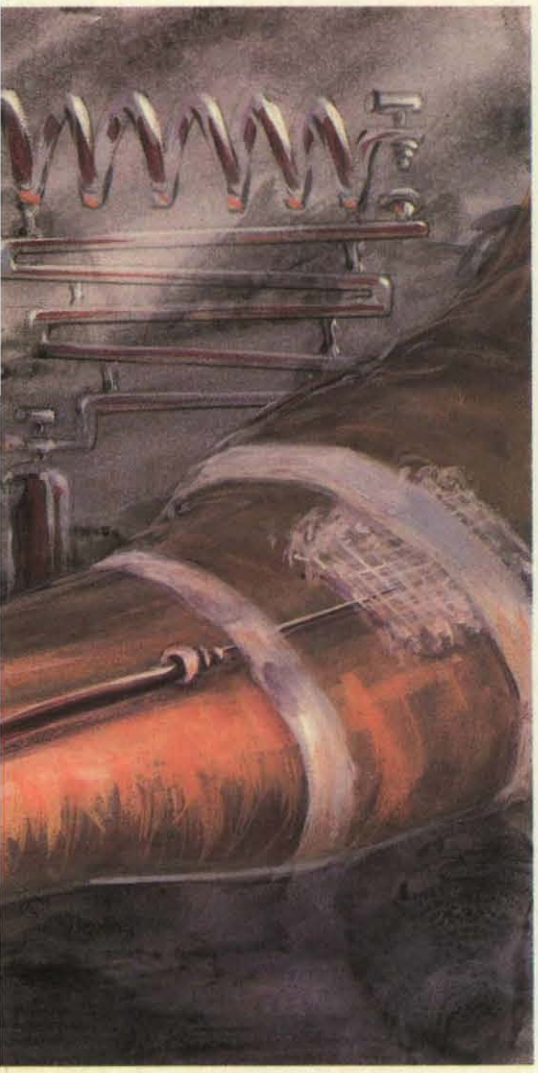

Illustration by Frank Howa

The American Red Cross stresses that no one should be afraid of contracting AIDS from donating blood or plasma. A new sterile needle is used for each donor and then destroyed.

The increasing public concern about AIDS has also spurred the Red Cross and other blood-banking organizations to refine procedures so as to ensure that no contaminated blood enters the banking system. Dr. Gautier continues, "The cornerstone of our blood-transfusion safety efforts rests with educating potential donors so that they recognize whether they themselves may have been exposed to the AIDS virus."

Before donation, all prospective donors must read a pamphlet that clearly spells out the activities that may have placed a prospective donor at risk for AIDS exposure. The reader may then leave the donation site without explanation to protect their confidentiality.

Since most of the blood is collected from the donor's place of work, the Red Cross realizes that people may experience peer pressure to donate blood even if they are at risk. Other safeguards have been devised to defer donors at risk.

A trained Red Cross nurse will review a prospective donor's health history in a confidential interview in which the individual is asked questions regarding possible exposure to the AIDS virus.

Two additional opportunities are provided for donors to identify their blood donations as ones that should not be released for transfusions. They can mark a ballot containing two boxes, one labeled, "Yes, my blood may be used for a transfusion"; the other, "No, my blood should not be used for a transfusion." The ballot, which has a unit number for the blood and not the donor's name, is then sealed and deposited in a closed box.

As the donor leaves the donation site, he is given a card with his donation's particular number and the blood center's telephone number. The blood providers are encouraged to call if they have any reason to believe their donation should be removed from distribution. "We protect the confidentiality of the donor throughout the process," stresses Gautier. "It allows the prospective donor several opportunities to back out if he or she feels they are a potential risk. All of that, of course, takes place prior to testing."

Testing for the presence of AIDS antibodies in all blood donations is another important step in maintaining a safe blood supply. The AIDS-antibody test has been in use by blood-collection centers since 1985. If your test for AIDS antibodies is positive, in most cases it means that you have been infected by the virus.

"We don't only give the test once," says Dr. Gautier. "Occasionally a person may have a positive test result even when not exposed to the AIDS virus. This is called a false positive reaction. So we administer the test twice. We have great confidence in the reliability of the AIDS-antibody test."

The Red Cross will notify a donor if he is carrying the AIDS virus, or the presence of any other blood-borne disease detected during testing. When a donor has finished donating blood, he can sign a card indicating that he wants to be notified about any abnormalities. "We notify the donors if we find any," says Dr. Gautier. "But only the donor will know. The Red Cross has a great record for confidentiality. We have been notifying people for years about hepatitis and have never had a violation."

The Red Cross says it is the public that is the most important element in the blood-banking system's ability to ensure supply safety. "We can't take a natural resource like blood from your body and make it completely safe," says Dr. Gautier. "We will do everything we can. But what can make the blood supply completely safe from AIDS contamination is to have healthy people with no-risk profiles take on the responsibility of stepping forward and donating blood. Of course, those at risk should not."

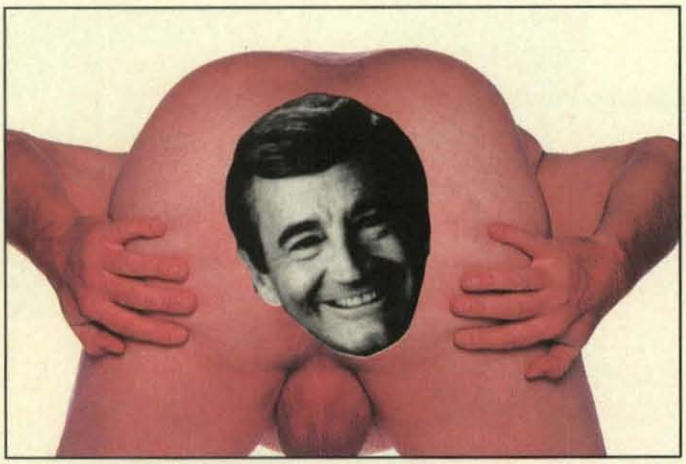
BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

D. James Kennedy



D. James Kennedy is a Fundamentalist fanatic preacher using First Amendment rights to promote action against its doctrine of separation of church and state, and to make money behind that as well. He's also Asshole of the Month.

Kennedy mails to his sucker list misleading letters that ostensibly discuss moral issues, but actually are encouragements to impose Fundamentalist beliefs through the political process. What's more, while the preacher talks politics, he slips in some begging. Recent letters have included political petition forms, with pleas for church donations on the back!

A letter and petition/donation form about school prayer blatantly crosses church-state lines, lacking "moral fiber" because it uses falsehoods and even implies that sending a donation to Kennedy's Coral Ridge Ministries shows that followers "remain faithful."

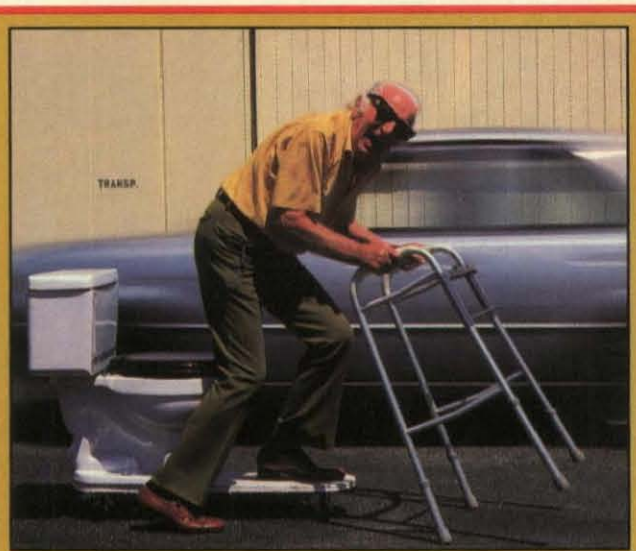
The misleading language of the petitions to Republican and Democratic party platform committees obviously puts presidential candidates in the uncomfortable spot of either endorsing this emotionally charged issue or taking a stance that could be viewed as "immoral." Kennedy writes, "It is criminal that access to God is denied our children in their classrooms and on school property," and adds that at issue is "allowing our children to pray."

We wonder if Kennedy means that God isn't everywhere, or that mere politicians could grant or deny access to Him. We are certain that children are allowed to pray in schools. The U.S. Supreme Court ruling did not ban school prayer as a private, individual choice, but prevented students from being forced to pray as part of school routine. Nor can prayer (or any form of free speech) disrupt school activities, as in the case of the street preacher's children who harangued schoolmates and disturbed classes with hateful remarks based on Biblical quotes they couldn't explain in their own words.

Kennedy blames the lack of mandatory school prayer for "abortion, pornography, crime, sodomy, drugs, teenage pregnancies, [and] AIDS"—all signs to this dung vent of the "total collapse of the nation's moral fiber." More likely, Kennedy sees the lack of school-enforced Christianity at the heart of his allegedly dwindling finances. Allowed to choose, many people opt not to fill the coffers of simpleminded fanatics with narrow, repressive viewpoints, or to fund broadcasts of such drivel.

In his petition drive, Kennedy blurs over the issue of church-state separation by telling his sheep that Christians should lobby politicians if "gay rights and women's rights radicals" are. These groups have never masqueraded as religions.

Unfortunately, Truth isn't a citizen with the right to sue for libel for the kind of false and malicious statements this column is careful never to make. But Truth catches up to everyone, and we hope it plugs this dripping human sewer by pulling the wool from his sheep's eyes and drying up his funding like the old turd Kennedy is.



Johnnie Walker

At last there's a device that gives senior citizens the freedom they had when they were 18. No need for frequent pit stops in the golden years, when the Johnnie Walker lets the elderly and incontinent cruise the streets in style, with bowel mobility to boot. This is one gift for Grandpa that's sure to bowl him over.

Foreign Exposure

From Average Gals to Colbys Star, Far-Off Rags Don't Blush at T&A

For those who believe that the greatest press freedoms are found in the good old USA, take a look at these samples of what appears in British daily newspapers available at any newsstand to any citizen, regardless of age.

Not only do folks across the big pond accept that grown women have tits—and that they're nice to look at—but the women themselves often see such exposure as a stepping-stone to better things. For example, Jenny Blythe, exposed in Britain's popular The Sun, hopes to boost her modeling career, and even appears as the "page 3 girl" in a rival rag, The Star. In fact, Jenny's appearances were not only for readers' enjoyment, but to promote Basque Week in one case, and as a plug for former rock 'n' roller Roger Daltry in another.

A more famous page 3 girl is rock star Samantha Fox, who first came to public attention posing topless in The Sun.

Perhaps more daring is Britain's News of the World, which recently published the photo at left of Stephanie Beacham, Sable on The Colbys, a prime-time soap opera. The shot accompanied a kiss-and-tell story by her former lover, Dennis John, who confessed to such things as a threeway with Stephanie and Dennis' best friend, marijuana and LSD sex trips they took together, and how Stephanie got the nickname "Eight Times a Night," all of which occurred during their three-year affair.

The News quotes John as saying, "Jerry and I shared Steph because we knew it was the only way she would have us." He also told News writer Maria Raymond: "On another occasion we had two other couples over for drinks. As usual, we ended up stoned on marijuana. . .and we all ended up in the bedroom. [Stephanie] rubbed her body against mine until we both climaxed. She was turned on by the fact that other people were there."

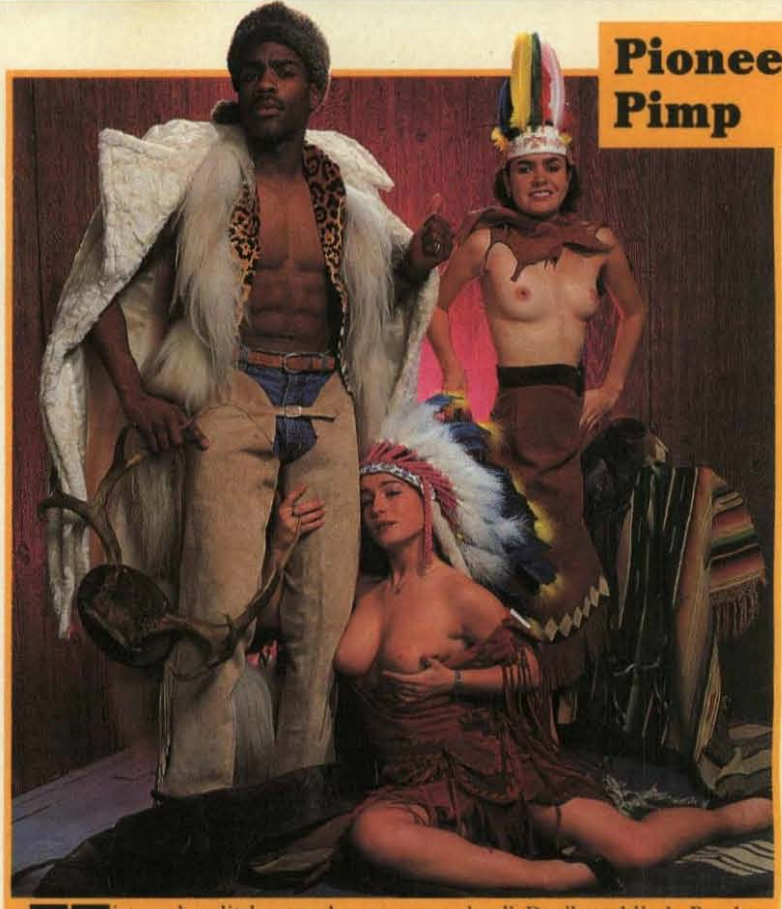
Although one might suggest it's male bragging, John stated about one occasion, "We made love eight times. . .three times on the couch and twice on the floor. Our passion carried us to all corners of the sitting room. . . . Then we went to bed and made love another three times."

Imagine reading about the intimate sex life of your favorite star—accompanied by a topless photo—in The Daily Bugle of your hometown, or merely getting a chance to see an upcoming model/actress like Jenny Blythe displaying a couple of her talents. Yeah, sure. Until then, you can always turn to HUSTLER each month, since America's Magazine talks with an international accent.

Under Her Skin

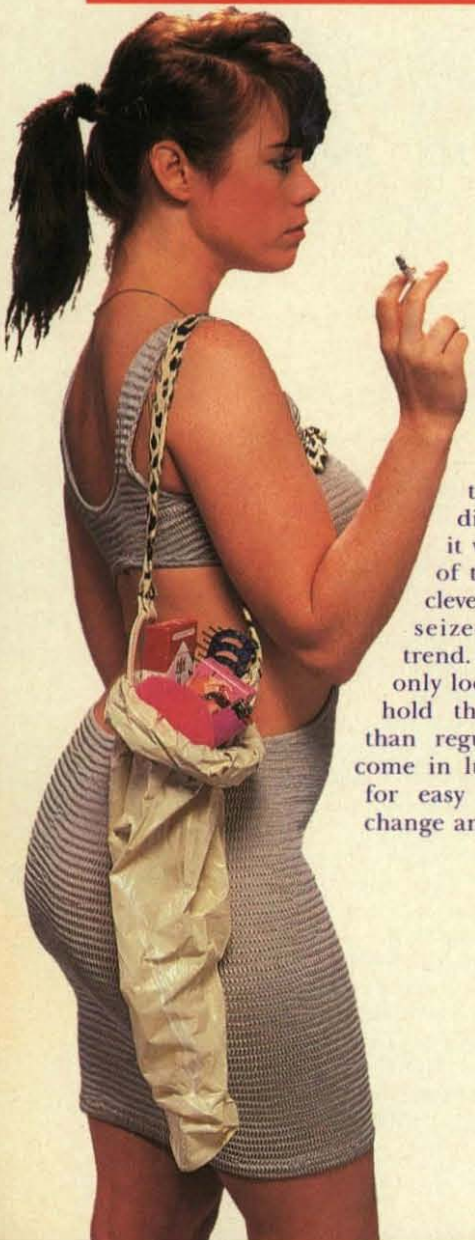
Tarts titillated by twat toys will turn on to the Family Jewel, the closest thing to a real prick since Edwin Meese. This distinctive feels-like-real blue-veined wonder—available in a choice of colors, sizes and vibrator options—is the kind of meat substitute that can whet a girl's carnal appetite. See the ad from Playhouse Products on page 114 for further information.

Pioneer Pimp



History has little noted nor long remembered Dan'l Coon, kingpin of the wild frontier. A born procurer, he filled a bar when he was only three, offering Pilgrim pussy to Catholics from Maryland. His vision grew until he discovered the Cumberland Gap, a slit in the mountains far from the camps of the brothers of the squaw squack ol' Dan'l peddled. By the time settlers erected log houses in Coonsborough, Dan'l headed south, leaving a trail of tearful whores and discarded bits of outlandish clothes he'd outgrown. He met his maker at the Alamo, but not until he showed the Mexican army a better use for their sisters than hauling beans to the barracks.

Scum Bag



Now that condoms have made their way from the back of drugstore shelves to the family-fun displays at K-mart, it was only a matter of time before some clever fashion designer seized on the new trend. Scum Bags not only look great, but they hold three times more than regular purses, and come in lubricated models for easy access to small change and car keys.

Great Moments in Politics

Paparazzi capture the private Michael Dukakis while he waits for his usual costume as a charismatic liberal technocrat to come back from the cleaners.

Sex News Bits

Sisters in Sleaze

A Brownsville, Texas, jury awarded a man $1.5 million for losing his wife—to a nun. Steve Woolverton sued the Catholic Diocese of Brownsville and Sister Mary Kregar after he alleged that Kregar and his wife, Mary Woolverton, engaged in a lesbian relationship, thus ending his marriage to her of 12 years. The distraught husband accused Kregar, who has since left the Franciscan Order due to her inability to lead a strictly celibate life, of seducing his wife, and he claimed the church did nothing whatsoever to prevent Sister Mary from teaching the other Mary how to find heaven on one's knees.

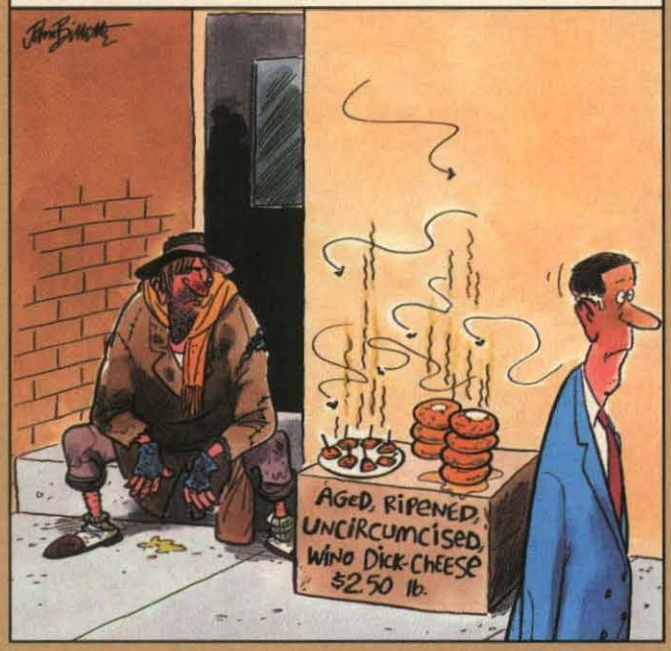
Show-and-Tell Makes Class Clown of Tawdry Teacher

It's not easy preparing teenagers for a world full of perversion and depravity, but if today's high-school graduates aren't ready for what's out there, don't blame Sarasota, Florida's Teacher of the Year, David John Schram. The Booker High School instructor faces a variety of charges after having five 17-year-olds dance topless for him in his dance-and-drama class. According to the affidavit, Schram asked the girls "to take off their tops, then instructed the students to dance in place while he walked around viewing their performance." The teacher was so moved by one girl that he allegedly held her breast, an act which earned him a charge of battery. Schram, 34, has been suspended with pay.

Easier to Sex Chickens Than Germans?

In a world of confusion, some talents are more coveted than others. Take a Red Chinese woman of 22 years who's made a name for herself by studying the genitalia of chicks—baby chicks. According to reports, this poultry prober took a bird's-eye view of 100 hatchlings and determined the correct sex of all of them in an astonishing three minutes and 33 seconds. The industrious woman took her chicken-sexing talent on the road, where she's gone into business as a consultant to farmers and poultry companies. She might also think of doing some freelance in Denmark, where the work is easier, and probably more fun. A West German couple recently stopped at Aabenraa, Denmark, to get married, but were refused permission to tie the knot before police could take the groom's trousers down. Explained the mayor, "He [the groom] looked very feminine and was heavily made up." Fearing an imminent honeymoon gash-grind, the authorities forced the pretty boy to flash the goods, which he did to everyone's satisfaction. The wedding went on, but such prenuptial peep shows will be obsolete in Dane country—a new law will take effect in Denmark soon that will allow members of the same sex to marry.

Most Tasteless Cartoon



It's a Small World After All

An Allegheny County jury recently convicted a dwarf for having sex at parties with a ten-year-old retarded boy whom he dressed as a girl. Pittsburgh's Ronald "Denny" Smith, 33, was found guilty of involuntary deviate sexual intercourse, corruption of minors and indecent assault—a kind of Triple Crown of sex crimes. According to the prosecutor, John Zottola, the boy testified that he was forced to dress in women's clothing and that Smith would also adorn himself with a blond wig and feminine attire. An added perverse twist to the case was that the retarded child's mother arranged for the sexual high jinxs with Smith as entertainment at parties. Snow White she ain't, but it's the dwarf who faces the consequences: 13½ to 27 years in prison.

A Flash and a Scam

An odd variation of the now-you-see-it-now-you-don't trick is popping up in Cologne, West Germany, where tourists are being greeted by lusty frauleins who bare their breasts and pull up their skirts. Sounds mighty friendly, but police say that though happy onlookers might have something extra throbbing in their trousers, they're also likely to be without something once the flash is complete—their wallets.

Getting to the Bottom of It

How do you talk 50 women into giving you their underwear? David Sanders, 38, accomplished this feat by phoning women and telling them he needed their panties to put on an inflatable doll as a trick on their boyfriends and husbands. The Peoria, Illinois, resident knew enough about the women to convince them to surrender their lingerie for his gags, but instead of jokes, Sanders used the garments for his own personal jollies. He's been fined $500 for his panty raid, and ordered to have psychiatric treatment.

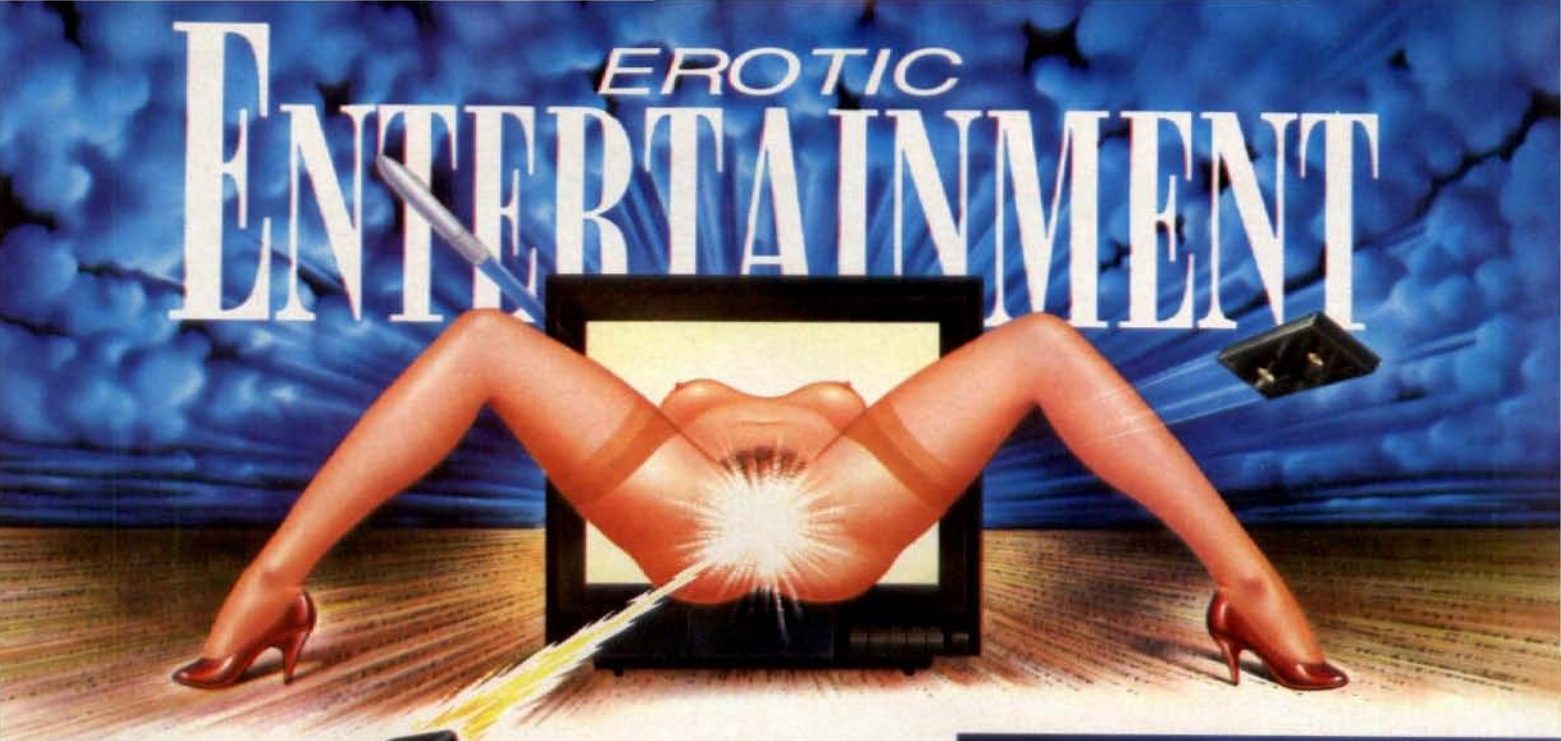
EROTIC ENTERTAINMENT



With more than a thousand hard-core movies being released each year for the home audience, viewers, increasingly confronted by seductive advertising and slick packaging, are often at a loss when it comes to selecting an X-rated tape worth watching. HUSTLER is committed to serious, no-bullshit criticism designed to accurately inform readers of XXX-cinema offerings, and to spur the adult-entertainment industry to better productions. Despite their drastic decline, there will always be adult theaters, and we'd never leave a film buff in the lurch: If a review says a production was shot on film, it's probably playing on a big screen somewhere–all you have to do is find it.

Night Before: Randy West and Rachel Ashley in the house of blue lights.

THE NIGHT BEFORE

Shot on Video

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by John T. Bone; starring Keisha, Rachel Ashley, John Leslie, Rachel Ryan, Randy West, Vanessa Cole, Joey Silvera, Billy Dee, F. M. Bradley and Renee Summers. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

Whether it be Broadway musicals, Hollywood movies or the lowly jerk-off fodder of the X-rated video, show business loves to do shows about show business. John Leslie, playing a man very much like himself, is a porn producer whose latest project is beset by numerous and sundry difficulties. By the time The Night Before is over, Leslie and cast succeed in convincing a dubious audience (yours truly) that screaze-mongers have a tough and vital row to hoe, and they talk a lot on the phone too. Aside from calamity and conversation, presidential candidate Joey Silvera is wanked into the palm of smut starlet Rachel Ryan; prospective adult actress Renee Summers is scared away from the jizz-biz by a filtered, lambent, fantasy-ambient Randy West/Billy Dee/F. M. Bradley dingus dumping; Keisha and Leslie's secretary, Vanessa Cole, slobber on Arab financier Billy Dee's dong; paid prick West climbs the chest of Rachel Ashley, Leslie's wife, in an imagined imbroglio; wife Ashley ditches Leslie, her flaps defecting to the mouth of Keisha; and secretary Cole puffs her facial lips for a direct hit of Leslie's dick spit. Good pacing and mobile, focused camerawork make The Night Before something to stay up for.

SEX SCENE

IN THE PINK

In our July '88 item on the X-Rated Critics Organization's annual awards bash, we mentioned a performance by the Pink Ladies Social Club. The Pink Ladies are, of course, the new support group for women in the adult-film industry, and we just thought we'd add that, since the awards, they've proven they can do a lot more than dance. For one thing, Keisha, Barbara Dare, Candida Royalle, Annie Sprinkle, Ryapatia Lee, Ginger Lynn and Shanna McCullough are among the many sex-screen sirens who have joined the ranks of founding members Porsche Lynn, Angel Kelly, Jeanna Fine and Nina Hartley (shown here because we inadvertently failed to mention her in the July issue). In addition to holding meetings, the Ladies are publishing a newsletter, which contains information on employment opportunities, industry scams to be wary of and advice on AIDS and other significant health threats. The members of the Social Club are aware that their existence may be causing concern among porn producers, who ask, "What'll they do next? Unionize, for God's sake?" So, in their founding statement, they hasten to point out that "the P.L.S.C. has no adversary intentions toward anyone in or connected to the adult-film business. We look forward to a long, cordial and healthy relationship with our colleagues in this industry." Brava, Ladies, and more power to you.

ONLY THE BEST OF WOMEN WITH WOMEN

Shot on Video and Film.

Half Erect. Starring Shanna McCullough, Channel, Regine Bardot, Candy Samples, Heather Wayne, Jacqualine Lorians, Gina Carrera, Rikki Blake, Summer Rose, Candida Royalle, Laurien Dominique, Angel, Kay Parker, Ali Moore, Christy Canyon, Amber Lynn, Honey Wilder, Debra Lynn, Arcadia Lake, Katie Keane, Aurora and Joanna Storm. Videocassette by Cal Vista.

Considering the thousands of adult films and videos in existence, this compilation is a little weak to be called Only the Best. Only the Best of What We Have is more like it. Of the 12 scenes comprising Women With Women, only about half are compelling enough to watch at regular speed. Rikki Blake and Summer Rose manage to whip up some passion—Rose in particular throws herself into the encounter with her trademark slutty butt-girl eagerness; Arcadia Lake and Katie Keane's scissor-style pussy-rub benefits from an atmospheric look and soundtrack; and the Hot Rackets Candida Royalle/Laurien Dominique sequence has close-ups you can slide into. The real raves, however, go to two Alex DeRenzy-directed clips from Wild Things (Ali Moore, Christy Canyon) and Wild Things II (Shanna McCullough, Channel, Regine Bardot). These two scenes are overwhelmingly erotic, thanks mainly to exceptional camerawork. No one shoots sex like DeRenzy, and a look at these sequences is recommendation enough to run out and get the movies they're lifted from—movies that set new standards of post-Golden Age heat.

SEX LIES

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Jim Travis; starring Angela Baron, Barbi Dahl, Amanda Tyler, Brandy Wine, Nina DePonca, Robert Bullock and Peter North. Videocassette by Fantasy Home Video.

Few stories are so sad as that of a squeamish pimp who cannot stomach his whore getting fucked. Yet, he needs that easy, sleazy money. So what's a ponce to do? Of course, no one with any regard for libel laws would call Perry Ross a pimp. Ross is a producer of adult videos. Nor, in polite conversation, is Ross's wife, Angela Baron, a prostitute. She is an actress in adult videos. Despite this distinction in terminology, Ross and Baron seem to have stumbled upon the classic solution to the dilemma of the delicate procurer. Just as an emotionally attached panderer and his trollop will lure an unsuspecting john into a disreputable hotel room and there deprive him of wallet and consciousness, the viewer of Sex Lies is drawn by the implied promise of voyeuristically dicking Angela Baron, to be relieved only of the expense of the video and his good faith. Other than lesbian group scenes with Nina DePonca (whose full octoroon moon sets on Peter North's face) and two blue-stripe bimbos (each of whom also engages in heterosexual hanky-panky), Baron's bod goes unsullied. To add insult to oversight, the final scene is a tease of Angela, mouth stretched wide, descending toward the stiff prick of Robert Bullock, only to stop short of touching it. Sex Lies is a cheat. The smart man will keep his money in his pants.

—Christian Shapiro

Angela Baron gets as fucked as she's going to in Sex Lies.

VIDEO OF THE MONTH

AMBER LYNN'S PETER METER

Shot on Video.

Half-Erect. Directed by Edwardo Dinero; starring Amber Lynn, Randy West, Tish Ambrose, Tom Byron, Melissa Melendez, Scott Irish, Brittany Stryker, Steve Drake, Lori Lovitt, Kevin James, Nina DePonca, Steve Powers and Marc Wallice. Videocassette by Neon Video.

It doesn't take a marketing genius (though the folks at Neon Video certainly have one) to figure out why Amber Lynn's name appears in the title of Peter Meter. In the world of boff-video, Amber is what passes for box office. In this collection of scummy scraps from the past, Lynn's single pairing with Randy West has the big-eyed blowjob pout and sleek raised buns that have endeared Amber to the wallets of porn producers California-wide. But Peter Meter could as well be Lori Lovitt's, Brittany Stryker's, Tish Ambrose's, Nina DePonca's or Melissa Melendez's. Ambrose fingers her sopping slot as Tom Byron's just-fired cock fills her face, imperious and impervious Melendez lowers herself to the level of Scott Irish's prick, Stryker double-parks Steve Drake and Steve Powers in her side-by-side slots, DePonca shares pussy and face with Stryker, and Lori Lovitt squeezes milk from her organic jugs onto Kevin James's throbbing rod, then lasciviously licks her lacteal discharge away. Peter Meter is scuz by any name.

—Hakim Whithers

HOTTEST PARTIES

Shot on Video and Film.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Edwin Durell; starring Taija Rae, Rachel Ashley, Alexis Greco, Nina Hartley, Kari Foxx, Keli Richards, Lois Ayres, Kristara Barrington, John Leslie, Tom Byron, Shantell Day, Paula Labelle, Tigr, Lisa George, Troy Tannier, Joey Silvera and Francois Papillon. Videocassette by VCA.

Hottest Parties is a compilation reel coupling combustive quality with conflagrative quantity, a selection of the most torrid threeways and igneous orgies of director Edwin Durell's long, steamy career in lensing sexual magma. Once the first molten load shoots onto a semen-seared ass and penis-parched face, there are no cooling-off interludes in Hottest Parties. The incendiary clips of blazing group balling burn one into the next, a sizzling vision of inflammatory women and inflamed men. The sultry, sweltering sluts of Parties meld pyromania with nymphomania, swarming like convergent erotic flames to lick along flushed lengths of comburent cock, flaring pricks boiling over like burst thermometers, spewing concupiscent curds of liquid fire. The fervent female flesh is all of a high degree, broiling, blistering babes capable of singeing any candescent carnal candle put to them. Hottest is sure to leave a smoking trail of smoldering smut lovers' scorched dicks fuming from friction. Parties could melt the hinges from the gates of hell. Everybody's invited. Y'all come and sweat sperm.

—C. S.

Taija Rae displays her wares.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by Beni Floriani; starring Ebony, Gail Force, Tami White, Laurel Canyon, Marc Wallice, Blake Palmer, Tiffanie Storm, Kathleen Jentry and Robert Bullock. Videocassette by Essex Home Entertainment.

The copy line for this boring, poorly shot look at the world's smallest prison camp (which seems to have one guard for every prisoner) reads: "They're young and beautiful with only one thing on their minds. . .!!!" If these four female prisoners have anything on their minds, it's to get out of this film fast. . .something they will share with their unaroused audience. Tami White and Kathleen Jentry act as if the ugly garb they wear will be able to hide their non-interest in an overweight Gail Force and an overly aggressive Tiffanie Storm, who attacks their muffs like a hungry pup in perpetual heat. Robert Bullock brings a little humor to his roles and sex scenes, but even he acts like he made the movie on a lost weekend. Only tough guard Ebony and warden Laurel Canyon get any real action going, although nothing either of them could get arrested for. Be aware that if Campfire Girls is your idea of an erotic outing, this tape announces (warns?) that a sequel has already been shot.

—Greg Gentry

DOUBLE PENETRATION 2

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by John T. Bone; starring Alicia Monet, Keli Richards, Cheri Janvier, Tanya Foxx, Peter North, Francois Papillon, Tom Byron, Buffy Davis, Marc Wallice, Jennifer Knoxt, Sahara, Dick Rambone and Tony Martino. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

Considering its title activity and Alicia Monet's prominent display (four full-length body shots) on the box art, it's only logical to assume that Monet will be butt- and cunt-humped during the course of Double Penetration 2. Step right up, sucker. After the rube lays his money down, Double Penetration 2 treats him to fragmented splices of past Western Visual vaginal/rectal simul-screws. Many scenes are so chopped, they conclude prior to the climax of the participants, well before the chump consumer has been able to consummate his own forlorn orgasm. Most of this material will look familiar to clear-eyed pigeons: The Dick Rambone/Tony Martino anus-and-pussy plug of Keli Richards, for instance, has been seen as recently as The Grecian Formula: Honeybuns II, another compilation rerelease tape from Western Visuals. Still, hope springs infernal, and where there's hope there's a dope; so no doubt some dumbo dreamer out there in Patsyville will watch bait-and-switch vehicle Double Penetration 2 to its end, rewarded with a crass and cynical faking of a Monet dual dicking in the standard DP position. Let the buyer beware. Only the purchasing public gets doubly screwed by Double Penetration 2.

Billy Dee rear-ends Nikki Knights in Intruder II.

RACHEL RYAN'S ANAL INTRUDER II

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Tina Marie; starring Rachel Ryan, Ray Victory, Nikki Knights, Dana Dylan, Dana Lynn, Frank James, Marc Wallice and Billy Dee. Videocassette by Coast to Coast Video.

Though she's part of the title, Rachel Ryan's appearance in Anal Intruder II is limited to one plowing of her oft-packed pooper. Fanatics of Ryan's dick-fucking fanny will savor Ray Victory's turd-colored crowbar prying slow and torturous into Rachel's crapper after she's licked his plum-tipped ebony stick into fighting shape. Victory caps his rim ream of Ryan by spitting up thick globs of black-snake venom on her fleshy white buns. Rachel's devotees who abandon the tape at this point forsake Billy Dee recklessly riding Nikki Knights to a facially glazed destination, Marc Wallice forgoing Dana Lynn's pretty pair of pussy lips to forge a fuck in her prettier butt, Frank James jamming Dana Dylan's dump depot, Dee reprising with a reckless ride in Lynn's pristine pudenda, and Victory making white-trash goulash of Dylan. The storyline of a bar/brothel combo (a product of Tina Marie's fecund imagination) is nonexistent, as is direction (also attributed to Marie), but the fucks are full-view and sweaty, if at times under-inspired. Rachel Ryan's Anal will intrude into stroke-time rotation.

PARTY GIRLS

Shot on Video and Film.

Half Erect. Starring Christy Canyon, Heather Wayne, Bunny Bleu, Kim Carson, Eric Edwards, Dan T. Mann, Billy Dee, Roxanne Roland, Sheri St. Clair, Tom Byron, Debra Lynn and Michael Jefferies. Videocassette by Masterpiece Video.

Obviously having gathered cobwebs on some shelf for a while, Party Girls gives us yet another last chance to see the tremendous twats of retired porn princesses Heather Wayne, Kim Carson and Christy Canyon in action. They're all involved in a silly story about some women who gather together to discuss fucking. Naturally, the girls do more than discuss, as a generous ten carnal couplings unfold, with Heather Wayne popping the most pints in no less than four feverish fuck scenes. Everyone's favorite button-nose, Kim Carson, shows again why she's a sorely missed slit, burning up Eric Edwards and Michael Jefferies in semiscorching slammings. Her pole in the hole with Tom Byron is a bit of a letdown, but there's enough quantity here to make up for lacking quality. Gorgeous Roxanne Roland makes quite an impression as she gets plowed and labia-licked by Wayne and Dan T. Mann in the film's hottest, wettest scene. Technically, the film's marginal at best, and really looks thrown together when it switches from film to video, as a hump with Heather and Billy Dee is sandwiched in, no pun intended. Still, this proves to be a hearty enough Party to recommend.

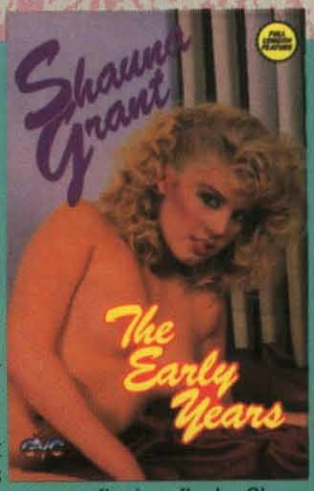
SHAUNA GRANT: THE EARLY YEARS

Shot on Video and Film.



One-Quarter Erect. Directed by John Shubert; starring Shauna Grant, Eric Edwards, Tom Byron, Ron Jeremy and Richard Pacheco. Videocassette by Gourmet Video.

Considering that Miss Grant died prior to reaching her mid-20s and graced the slime screen in a career that spanned only a few years, this package of outtakes might less deceptively have been titled Shauna: The Early Weeks. But deception is the name of the scuz-marketing game. Cut in with a condescending interview of the departed Miss Grant by convicted cocaine abuser Bobby Hollander are Shauna's face in otherworldly transport as Richard Pacheco lies astride her (though no penetration is shown); two cocks protruding from clouds of soft-focus to drop loads on Shauna's then-living lips; Shauna catching Ron Jeremy's jizz; Tom Byron uncharacteristically popping off immediately on Shauna's firm, flexing flesh; Shauna in the clutches of an amazed Eric Edwards; and some guy who never comes, though he sticks his big meat into Grant from behind. Passing off this pastiche of cutting-floor slops as an insightful tribute and memorial is indicative of a way of doing business that may not have killed Shauna, but sure didn't do a fuck of a lot to save her life.

DEEP INSIDE TRADING

Shot on Film.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by L. Vincent Revane; starring Krista Lane, Rick Savage, Sheri St. Clair, Tara Blake, Scott Butler, Damien Cashmere, Siobhan Hunter, David Morris, Randy Paul, Rugby Rhodes, Brett Simms, Cara Lott and Rachel Royce. Videocassette by Arrow Films and Video.

While porn pros unquestionably possess the requisite veneer of sleaze and avarice to convincingly portray scummy denizens of the stock market's esurient underbelly, blanket typecasting does nothing to forestall the crash of Deep Inside Trading. Credits to the arousal account of Deep are limited to Rick Savage's dick in Krista Lane's hair-ball slit, a modicum of cum dribbled on a blond bush in a stalled elevator, Damien Cashmere's cock sticking out of a cheap three-piece suit to deliver spoot, Savage lunching on labes, Lane hand-jobbing Randy Paul, and Sheri St. Clair climbing and sliming on a hospital patient. Dick-deflating debits include but are not confined to a one-joke gimmick (talking on the phone while engaging in sex) that diminishes erotic buildup; two implied oral imbroglios with a delivery boy, neither shown; Lane savoring and slavering Savage's schlong only to have the camera cut to a hospital room, cut to a skyscraper, then back to Lane on the phone with no trace of wang; Siobhan Hunter unconvincingly humping a chump, with no visible penetration or wad; and a general briefness to the fuck scenes that do include sex. Deep Inside Trading is shallow and should be swapped.

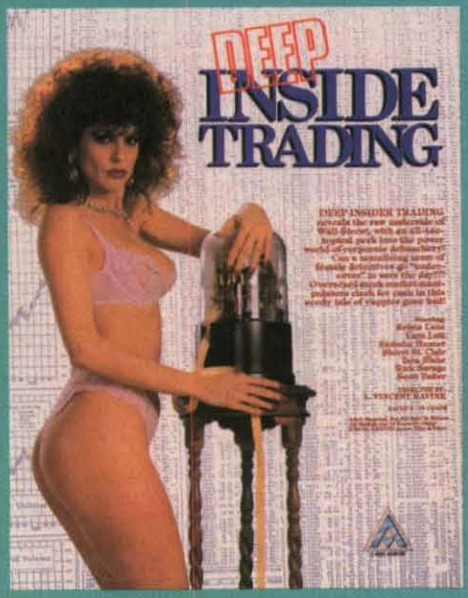
HOT SPOT

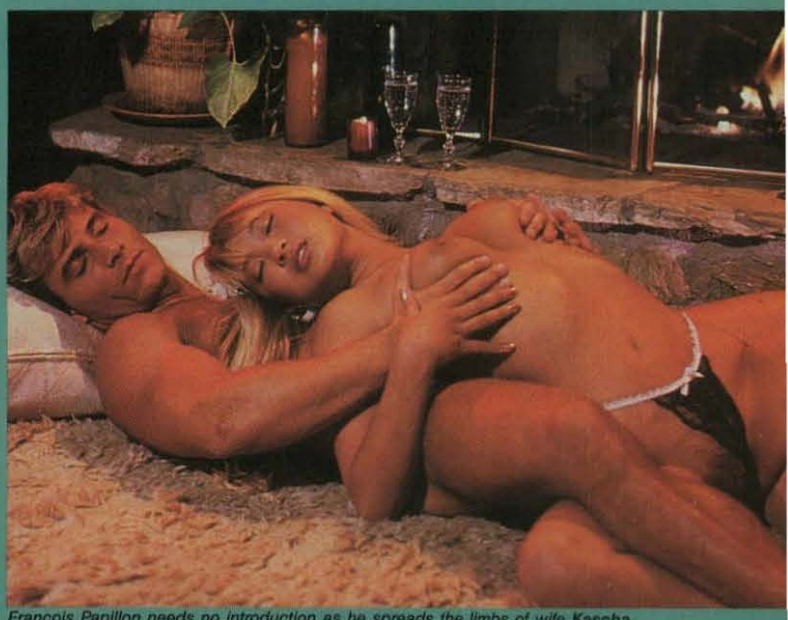
KASCHA

Marriage hasn't been all daytime TV and microwave entrees for newlywed carnal kitten Kascha, not when hubby is buffed-out expatriated Belgian porn stud Francois Papillon. In a show of gratitude to his adopted homeland, Francois is displaying his lubricious wife's sleek and unique sensuality through a series of roles in showcase hard-core videos. A toned and tanned piece of bleach-blond trim with pop-up tits and bobbed buns, Kascha is the end progeny of a subtle blend of Scandinavian and Hawaiian bloodlines. Though neither she nor her beau speaks English with any command, both are fluent in the language of blowjob, slit-lick, nose-to-bunger 69, thighs-high cunt slice, power ram and spume to chin. The couples' extended honeymoon can be seen so far in the Cinderella Video vehicles Fatal Seduction and Introducing Kascha: The One to Watch, with many more promised to be on the way. We can all imagine the stress smut work must place on connubial relations. Such a shame if the lovebirds should succumb to the pressure, and Kascha starts fucking onscreen with men other than Francois.



INTRODUCING KASCHA: THE ONE TO WATCH

Shot on Video.



Francois Papillon needs no introduction as he spreads the limbs of wife Kascha.

Half Erect. Directed by Don Turner; starring Kascha, Francois Papillon, Brandy Wine, Amanda Tyler, Tanya Foxx, Blake Palmer, Ray Victory and Jan Sanders. Videocassette by Cinderella Video.

There's no arguing with Kascha's subtitle. An exotic, hybrid miracle of genetic engineering, Scandinavian-blond, Hawaiian-eyed Kascha is beyond doubt The One to Watch in this debut showcase. However, the strategy of saving her sole pairing for the last porking of the proceedings is, to put it mildly, questionable. Preceding Kascha's unveiling is a parade of three blue-screen bimbos, each generic, one greatly overexposed. In contrived sexual situations lensed with scant imagination or fervor, Tanya Foxx and a set of bedsprings creak under the penile onslaught of Jan Sanders; Ray Victory drips a necklace of jizz on Brandy Wine's clavicles; Wine and Amanda Tyler are observed from across a room, lying atop one another; Wine splits her legs like nutcrackers so Sanders can crack his nuts all over her face; and Blake Palmer fleetingly stiffs the asshole of fetchingly whimpering Tyler. Finally, Kascha arches her back and sticks her tail up like an estrous she-cat for real-life beau Francois Papillon, who curve-dicks her savory slit, spins her around and glazes her toothsome chest cupcakes. Kascha and Francois have all the makings of another Blondi B. and Tony Montana. Let's hope Introducing isn't the first installment of history repeating itself.

CHEEKS

Shot on Video.

One-Quarter Erect. Directed by David Powers; starring Laurel Canyon, Elle Rio, Jessie Easton, F. M. Bradley, Sade, Ona Zee, Frank James, Tiffanie Storm, Don Fernando and Ray Victory. Videocassette by Hole in One Video/Coast to Coast Video.

A special stupidity is required to undermine an anal compilation tape. Cheeks opens with Ona Zee, thank God in a nonacting role, wringing six lavages of load from four dorks, using up every hole her body has to offer and about a third of the tape's elapsed time. Smoky, sultry, seldom-seen Sade eats up Frank James's cock; he slips into her brown sugar shitter and shoots slime on her Hershey Kiss tits and leering liver lips. In a scene sacrificed to ill-advised atmosphere lighting, Elle Rio's asshole inhales Ray Victory's pole, and Laurel Canyon lies still for a one-position poke of her pooper, shot from behind Victory's butt. But imbecility beyond the customary is the mainspring of Cheeks. Big buck Victory is misidentified as two separate people on the box's plot synopsis, Cole Fury and Chanel Price. (Chanel Price, every simpleminded turkey-neck twister knows, is a large white woman-thing who, though she may take black dongs up her ass, does not herself possess the dark horse dick alluded to in the promo copy.) Further idiocy is evidenced by a feeblebrained narrator, misrecorded chucklehead dialogue, and a Victory/F. M. Bradley teaming on Tiffanie Storm during which the screen goes completely blank, staying that way until the scene ends. Cheeks will take a meat-mauling, drooling moron and make the dumb numb.

HUSTLER'S OLYMPIC-GOER'S GUIDE TO KOREAN SEX

by Jun Kanda

GUIDE TO KOREAN SEX

The casual Western visitor to Seoul will be astonished to find armies of big-titted, strapping young whores.

The Korean government is running scared.

Already the Korean people have been the hapless recipients of the largess of a tiresome progression of invading armies, Chinese, Japanese and, lately, American and U.N. "peacekeeping forces." The invaders have bequeathed such terrific mementos as urchin gangs of rape-spawned half-breeds and pernicious mutant strains of the clap. Now Korea is the beneficiary of another invasion, the crowd of camp followers drawn by the 1988 Summer Olympics. Over a quarter-million foreign visitors are expected in Seoul, South Korea's capital, and the government there is a little nervous.

That nervousness takes the form of a peculiar anxiety about public—specifically sexual—hygiene. Authorities in Korea seem convinced a plague is about to descend upon them from abroad, and given the country's history, it's an understandable fear. With all the vicious microbes at large in the world, there was actually talk of having every visitor to the Olympics take a blood test. Simple logistics put the kibosh on that proposal; so now the geniuses in Roh Tae Woo's administration have come up with the idea of distributing free condoms in the Olympic Village.

Why all the fuss? Is there some inkling that Korean women are, shall we say, receptive to foreign visitors? That it's a given that foreigners and the willing suck-maidens of the capital will mingle microbes? Can't the men of Korea control their native cunts?

The truth is, centuries of foreign domination have produced a society where prostitution is an ingrained institution. The casual Western visitor to Seoul for the Games will be astonished to find armies of big-titted, strapping young whores who enthusiastically propose his reaming, steaming and sexual dry cleaning for what is still, in today's meat market, a bargain price—about 15 bucks, give or take a few dollars as the balance of trade tips in favor of the Koreans. The horny male tourist will be dazzled to discover cooze-infested back streets, where the sex secrets of the mysterious East will open to him like magic. He can have it all, if he just knows where to look.

To unlock the pussy paradise of modern-day Seoul, there is no better authority than Jun Kanda, sexual adventurer and the moving force behind Far East Video. Kanda has made extensive tours of all the playgrounds of the Far East, from the fleshpots of Bangkok to the nickel-slice-of-raw dives in Manila. His favorite prey are the Seoul sisters of Korea. According to Kanda, not only are these women "the supreme cocksuckers on the globe"; they just may hold the sexual secret of preventing the spread of AIDS.

Kanda was interviewed several times, mostly over luxurious dinners in a private dining room off a Korean club in Manhattan. He held forth on his latest video tours of Asia, and gave advice on how the Olympic tourist in Korea might take home a few gold medals in that unscheduled athletic event, fucking a Seoul sister—a rigorous exercise in eroticism that combines equal parts of acrobatics, gymnastics, diving, wrestling and the good old in-and-out. Gentlemen, on your mark!

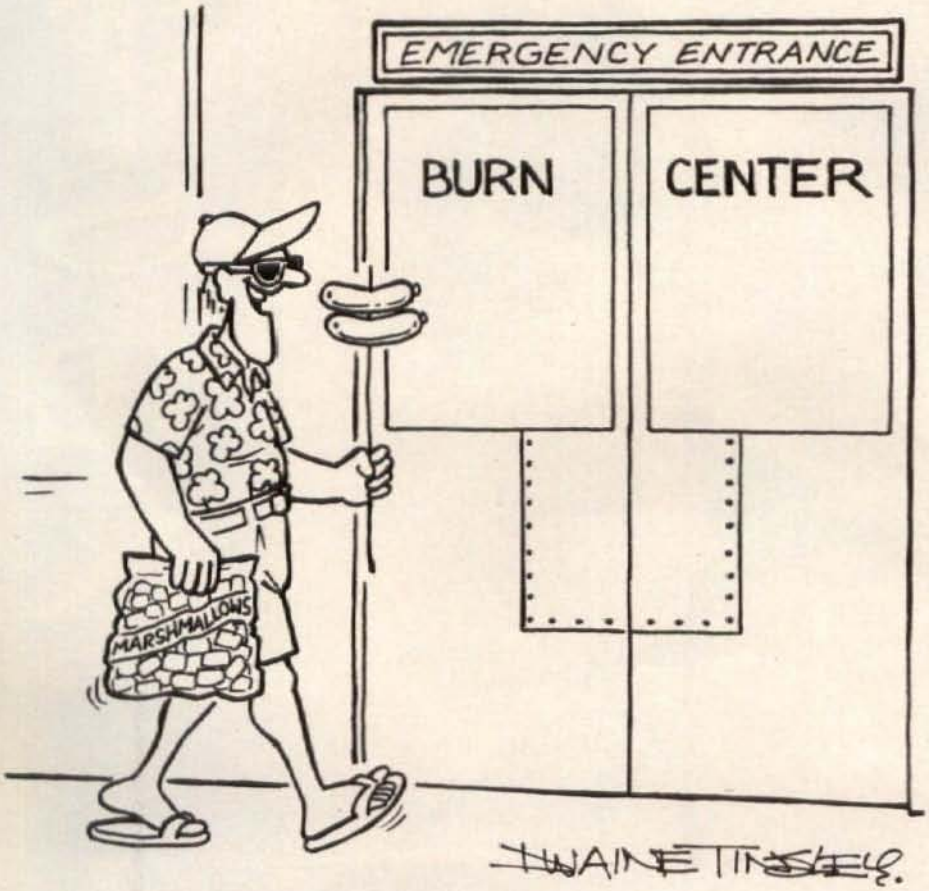
Seoul is one of the only places on Earth where the women pick up the men. I learned this soon after my first "scouting" visit to South Korea, looking for young models to appear in my video productions. I always told the girls that I was making cassettes for a sailor friend who was about to go to sea for six months, bereft of female company. He would need something to jerk off to. The sympathy dodge always got the girls' cooperation.

I was cruising the Itaewon, the red-light district of Seoul, in search of a specific girl who had promised to meet me but didn't show. In a bar, innocently sipping a lukewarm O.B., the national brew of Korea, I was suddenly confronted by Jamie. She strode out of the bar crowd and literally grabbed me by the arm. Jamie—at least, that's how I understood her name in her fractured English—was huge. By huge, yes, I mean built like a rocket launcher, but mostly I mean tall. She belied the idea of diminutive Orientals by standing at least a head taller than me. With a huge halo of black, ringletted hair framing a pretty, exotic face, she looked like an Asian Amazon. I forgot all about the model I was looking for and let Jamie lead me through the strange, darkening streets of Seoul.

It was winter and brutally cold, perhaps 20 degrees. At that time, Korea still had a midnight curfew; I would have to finish my business by 11:59 and be in for the night. Itaewon is built on the southern flank of Mount Namsan, the low saddle-backed peak in the middle of Seoul. I struggled to keep up with the long-legged strides of Jamie as she headed uphill to her apartment. It was an odd second-story place, three rooms, with one given to her drum set, and almost as cold as the outside. In the choppy, quick-talking style of Koreans everywhere, she let me know her plan of life: marry a GI, move to the U.S., set up as a drummer in a heavy-metal band.

With businesslike quickness, Jamie stripped off her Danskin to reveal her taut, athletic body. I observed something



"Hey. . .you told me I had to be in the house by 11:00. . .right?"

GUIDE TO KOREAN SEX

She farted twice, damned the cabbage she had eaten for dinner and yanked me into bed.

I would realize again and again on every trip to Korea: The women there are in incredibly good shape physically. Calisthenics is part of the country's school regimen, and the low-fat diet takes it off and keeps it off. Even in the chilly room, I felt my dick rise to the challenge of Jamie's smooth, hard-nippled tits and her generous, inviting crotch. But she was all business. Still chattering in half-intelligible English, she squatted over a basin of ice-cold water and splashed at her cunt. It made me freeze to watch her, but she didn't seem to notice. She farted twice, damned the cabbage she had eaten for dinner and yanked me into bed.

It was my initiation into the joys of Korean cocksucking. I couldn't imagine where all her saliva came from, but it greased my pole like love oil and lubricated her pump-suck frenzy like a dream. All I felt was my crank entering and retreating from some warm, soupy cave, and looking down at my crotch, I had the incredible vision of Jamie's cute, almost college-girl face practically swallowing my lap. She sounded like a suction machine, but was blissfully unembarrassed about it. Her slurp-slams brought me to the edge four times before she let me unleash, and then she smiled and took it full-face. That's funny, I thought. You don't have to die to go to heaven after all.

It was just a beginning. The curfew was on, but there was no question I was in for the duration. Jamie's unquelled enthusiasm literally sucked me dry, and then she climbed on board and rode my drained cock like a banshee. When she finally rolled over and presented her gaping maw for the piston-finish, I felt like General MacArthur wading ashore at Inchon. I figured the fuck had taken at least two inches off my dick. Exhausted, with Jamie still bubbling and bouncing beside me, I withdrew into my cigarette and had a nice long think about . . . Korean history.

Somewhere in the murky depths of time, say maybe a half-million years ago, a particularly gross group of pre-Mongolian tribesmen got kicked out of the communal yurt due to their predilection for smelly foods. During their southern migration to the Korean peninsula, the group developed a culture dominated by women. Despite thousands of years of Chinese and Confucian indoctrination to the contrary, the Koreans have always accorded independence to their women, probably due to their matriarchal heritage. Even today, a Korean bride keeps her family name after marriage. The real power in the country is concentrated between the dewy thighs of Korea's proud vagina owners.

Fast-forward to 1945, when a battle-bitten corps of weary American GIs liberated Seoul from the Japanese and found out a well-kept secret guarded by the Nips during the whole of their 60-year occupation: Korean women are the horniest, lustiest, most fuckable females on earth. Whatever she is like in the "outside world," bring a Korean female into close proximity of a cock, and her passions take over. Another war (the "police action" of the '50s), another 30 years of an occupying army (this time "peacekeepers"), and the Korean tradition of the kisaeng, or geisha, was effectively updated to modern times. American servicemen saw to it that the Korean hooker was schooled in American ways, from pop music to cocksucking, from Motown to mojo. The end result is that a huge cadre of the country's females are today sexual enthusiasts of the first order. They are available to all comers, black and white, foreign and domestic, whether hung like horses or like hamsters.

The place to look is Itaewon, the sprawling, hilly district in south central Seoul. Itaewon feeds like a parasite off the huge Yongsan Garrison, headquarters of the American Eighth Army. Itaewon Street, which bisects the fenced Army base, bisects the neighborhood also, a garish, neon nirvana of bars, discos and shops. There are few whorehouses per se; the women simply work out of second-story apartments located on back streets or in the hills above the strip. They stand by the low walls that front all the houses and actively solicit passersby. Many a time I have headed off on a specific errand, only to get waylaid by one of these sexy Seoul sirens.

Itaewon is also conveniently located near the Olympic sports facilities of southeast Seoul, separated from them only by the Han River and connected by Subway Line 3, one of the four gleaming new subway routes of the city. With massive numbers of tourists, athletes and foreigners pouring into town for the Games, the support group of girls has risen also, until Itaewon is bursting at the seams with cooze. A walk down the strip is a march through a sexual free-fire zone, with the peculiar, old-lady shills for the girls constantly hissing and grabbing at you. Halmoni these women are called,

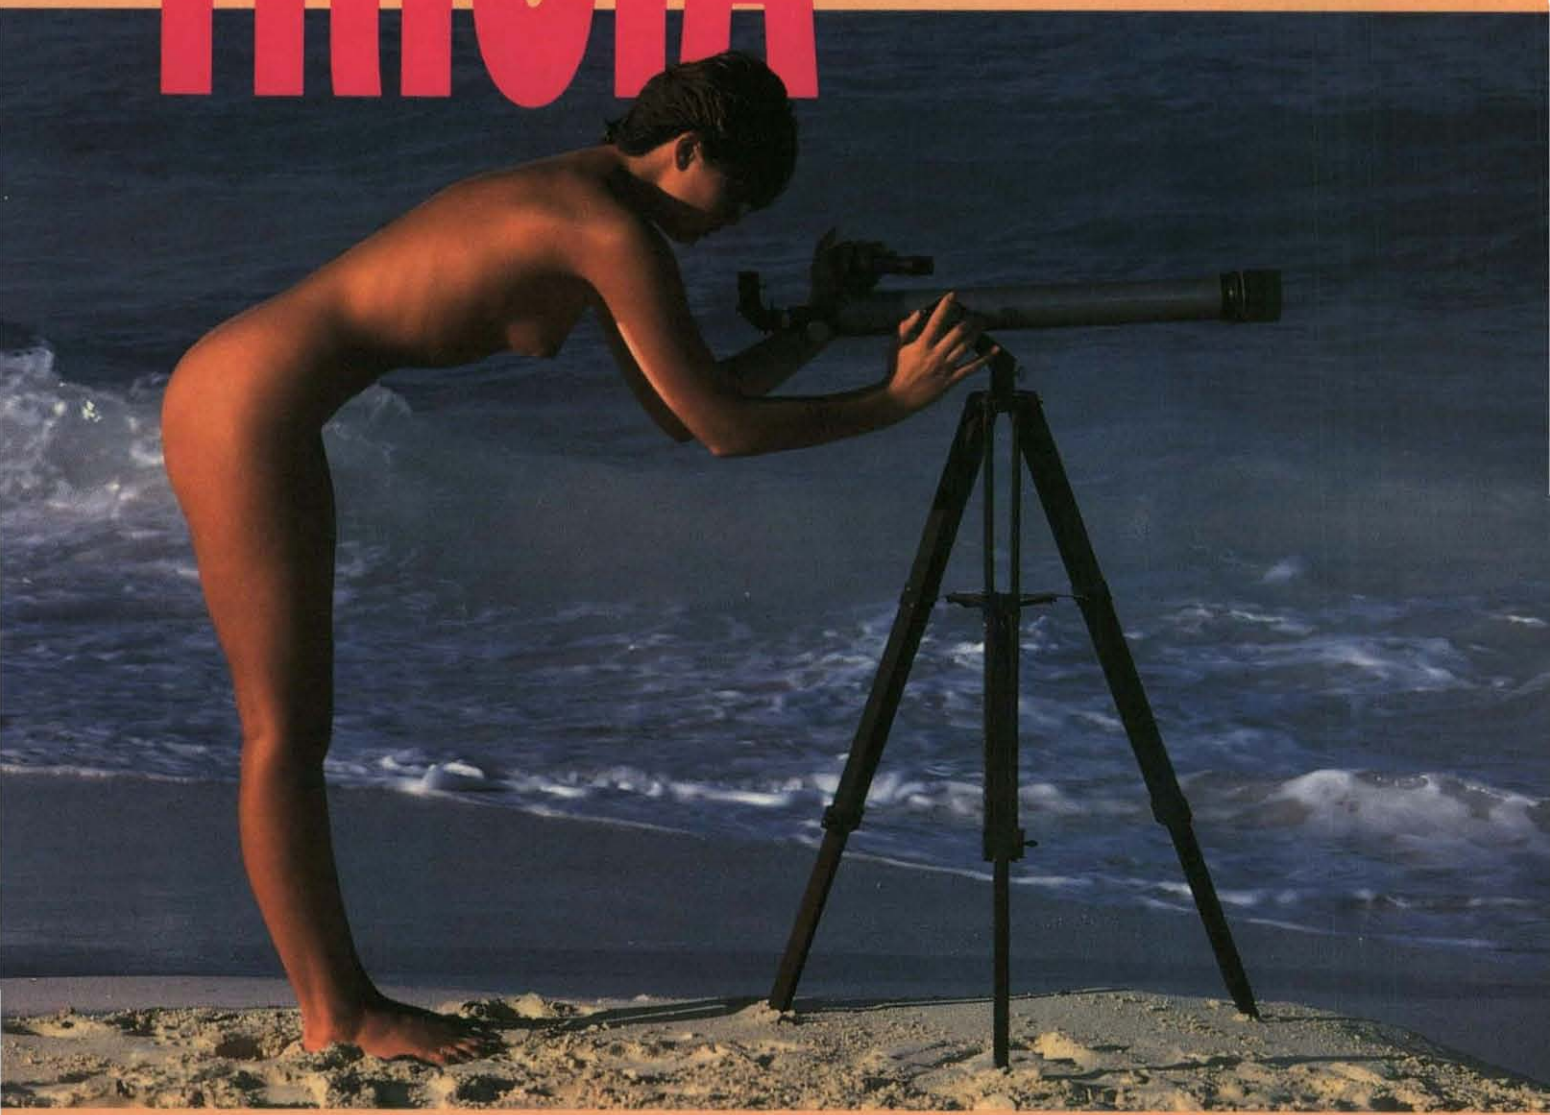
TRICIA

WAITING FOR GOOD DICK



Cum-craving beachcomber Tricia takes time from her cocksucking activities to get a little sun, but even alone on the beach, this bronze bimbo has to have her hands on something long and hard. After looking through her telescope for well-hung sailors, Tricia waits for her ship to come in by getting a full-bodied tan, but being the seamen-loving lust-bucket she is, Trish begins a clit-diddling selfprobe to pass the time. Little do the impending dockers know that they are about to land on the best beachhead they'll ever have the pleasure to encounter.

Four or five girls in a row and you have to knock off, lest your wang turn into a swollen blob of flesh.

for "grandmother," and they usually know only a few words of English—few, but necessary: blowjob, great fuck, you come like the dickens. With handkerchiefs around their heads and heavy quilted jackets, these women make a hilarious picture, spitting out their spiels like slant-eyed Polish immigrants hawking off their sisters. They will lead you off the strip into the quieter side streets of the district. It is usually an uphill trek—finding a girl in Itaewon is not for cardiac patients or gimps. You will pass Korean groceries and vegetable markets displaying bizarre, evil-smelling foods, nasty enough to give even the iron-gut Koreans pause. I've seen vats of pickles stewing with what looked like a purple sweatshirt thrown in for flavoring, as well as huge bowls of insects and crates of some of the ugliest sea creatures imaginable.

All of which leads to the delicate question of the particular odor of Korean women. I've fucked Seoul sluts who've smelled as fresh as a spring meadow in May, but the majority of them smack of some funky pong you'll come to know well. The Japanese derisively call Korea "The Land of the Garlic Eaters." Although some foods the Japs eat are no day at the beach either, the tag is appropriate. Kim-che, the national dish of Korea (breakfast, lunch and dinner) is a dangerous garlic stew. Cabbage is another common culprit. The whole mix can cause an incredibly heady stench to light up the air, until you are not sure you are dizzy from her thighs or her bouquet.

Which is not to say you must have your nasopharynx removed in order to survive a Korean holiday. The women are scrupulously clean, and most of them don't smell beyond a delicate, single-clove whiff. Besides, you yourself are eating Korean food, and getting numbed thereby to the complicated odors. There are Wendy's, McDonald's and Kentucky Fried Chicken franchises on the strip (as well as a huge, brand-new Pizza Hut), but you will inevitably face a bowl of kim-che yourself. Common experience will lead to sympathy for the girls.

There is a curious spin-off to the funky Korean diet which may make it worth all the heavy nosers it provides. Korean women have a very high acidic ph in their cunts, which make those deep, dark, dank regions of female plumbing particularly inhospitable for alien microbes—specifically the AIDS virus. According to an official at the Green Cross, one of Korea's leading medical companies, the reason Korea has such a low incidence of AIDs is that the native cunts refuse to harbor it. This is, of course, unverified, and I would nevertheless avail myself of antibiotics and condoms (after all, these girls have seen the Eighth Army before you), but the intriguing possibility remains: Kim-che may kill the AIDS virus.

It just might kill you too, but that's small price to pay for sexual paradise. Another by-product of the weird chemistry of Korean cunts is that after a few fucks, your dick begins to feel molten as hell. The limit is about four or five girls in a row before you have to knock off a day, lest your wang begin to turn into a swollen blob of what once was flesh. Some of this trauma is due to the incredible enthusiasm of a Korean fuck, but more is directly attributable to the high acidic level of the Korean department of the interior.

You can knock off your Itaewon rounds for a day or two and maybe even see some of the Games, or perhaps take in the sights in other parts of Seoul. Daehangno, or University Street, is nicknamed by the Koreans "street of the teeny-boppers" because of the high number of fresh young coeds who hang out there. Take the No. 4 line to the Hyehwa stop. Or you might want to experience the dubious prickteasing glories of the Korean form of the geisha house, the kisaeng. There's just too much tradition here for me, but if it's your kink, there's a whole section in central Seoul, near the Insa-Dong antique and art-gallery district, that caters to this taste.

Inevitably, you will come back to Itaewon. It has long been the "foreign" and "Western" district of Seoul (the Korean Housing Corporation erected Western-style houses there), and the Army base is a huge Westernizing influence. Almost all shopkeepers and hookers speak at least a smattering of English; most know the language well. A rank crew of "English teachers," horny fuckers from around the globe attracted by the women, have settled in and make their living by what amounts to an English-for-pussy barter. Some of these gone-native types are sorry spectacles indeed. You can throw them up as an example of what would happen if you gave in to your urge to take up permanent residence in this sexual paradise.

A good headquarters for a short stay in Seoul is the Crown Hotel (34-69 Itaewon-dong, Yongsan-ku, 797-4111), op-

HONORABLE Discharge

During these Reagan years, coming home from military action isn't what it used to be, but luckily for Lieutenant Kip Goodwin, there's more than just an indictment waiting for him, as Kip returns home to his own personal foxhole, Dawn. Before he can say "Fifth Amendment," she's lowering her succulent snatch toward his eager tongue.

Soon both patriots are buck naked, and Kip begins his encroachment on his lover's moist American pie.

After chomping and sucking her snatch, the soldier rams his throbbing weapon deep into his target with wild, twisting thrusts. As the orgasmic wrenching intensifies and the cum boils and bursts from Kip's rod, even the thought of Swiss bank accounts is far from his mind. If only it felt this good to screw Congress.

Don't be surprised if she doesn't ask for money—most of the squack in Seoul comes free of charge.

posite the Army base anchoring one end of the strip. The Seoul Capital (794-0778) and the classy, mirrored Hyatt Regency (798-6953) are also near the action of Itaewon, if a little pricier—$80 to $100 per night, as opposed to the Crown's $40, although some price-gouging may go on during the Games. Most classy hotels have discos located right on the premises, which makes picking up squack a breeze. Xanadu, in the Westin Chosun Hotel (87 Sogong-dong, Chung-ku, 752-1443), and Rainforest, in the Hilton (395 5-ka Namdaemunno, Chung-ku, 754-2510), are just two of these. While the Crown doesn't have an on-premise club, right next door is Rumors, a great pickup joint.

Just up Itaewon Street from the Crown is the busiest, most action-packed club in Seoul, Sportsman's, smack in the middle of the district. This is to Seoul what Hotel Continental was to Saigon—a place where everyone goes, from bar girls to diplomats, businessmen to shoeshine boys. The place has a thriving Third World looseness about it, as if Ingrid Bergman was about to walk in and Bogart was going to tell Sam to play it again. Sam would have to play it to a rock beat, however, since the booming speakers seem capable of handling only the latest chart-toppers. There are two floors, with the first floor mainly businessmen and GIs, and the second more Korean, students and young disco junkies predominating. The word here is "do what you want," and if you see a girl you are attracted to, it is expected you will immediately go up and talk to her. Don't be surprised if she's a freelancer and doesn't ask for money—much of the squack knocked off in Seoul comes free of charge.

The strangest new development of the huge U.S. military presence (there are 40,000 American troops in Korea) is the increasing gender integration of the Army. Women GIs—just as drunk, twice as horny—abound in Seoul, watching forlornly as their men pair off with Korean girls, leaving them unserviced. Meanwhile, the Air Force jocks are living their Top Gun fantasies, a bar girl or two on one arm and an O.B. in the other hand, aviator glasses sent askew by their last drunken whoop. Since the U.N. sends an international force to Korea, there are also British, Australian and sundry other nationalities present and accounted for. In Sportsman's, it would not be all that strange to see a limey from Liverpool sweet-talking an American black girl from Phoenix while a big-titted bar girl from Pusan plays pocket pool with a California sergeant next door. Korea is the new melting pot of Asia. The Koreans have accepted all foreigners, adapted to them all, sucked them all off and sent them home with perhaps a little faucet-drip to remember them by every time they change their skivvies.

Korean bars and the girls themselves seem to specialize, and there is a heavy traffic in black clientele throughout Itaewon. It is very strange, thousands of miles from Watts and Harlem, to walk into Time Off, say, or No Man's Land, or any of the black clubs. Keith Sweat is pounding off the walls, or even Salt 'n Pepa. Bloods with 'do-rags wrapped around their heads nurse malt liquor and idly talk up the girls, who all have decided to specialize in black men, whether from taste or simple opportunity. A red, black and green flag of liberation hangs above the bar. Many American blacks have decided to chuck all the hassle of living in Honkeyville, U.S. Ofay, and opted instead to slide by right here.

The famed Korean clap, which resulted from a mutation when an Asian strain met an American one, has been mostly quelled now. Antibiotics are available over the counter in any of the numerous drugstores dotting Itaewon, with Doxycycline being the current favorite. It may not hurt to take a preemptive dose before entering into any fevered fluid exchange with your local Korean doxy. The danger of infection, however, is perhaps oversold. In a half-dozen forays to Korea, it is my personal testimonial to the national hygiene that I have never picked up anything unwanted.

On my last go-round of Seoul, early this year, I was on a video scout with Ken, a Canadian barrister, ex-MP and uptight Westerner fatally fascinated with the Korean sex scene. He had once hired me to take him on a guided sex tour of Thailand, and his life has not been the same since. "I just can't concentrate when I'm at work," Ken told me. "I keep having these visions." I took him on as an unpaid assistant for the Korean trip.

We set up at the Crown and hit the streets. It is easy to get around in Seoul—you just yell "Hannamdong," "Yongdong," "Itaewondong" or whatever neighborhood you want to passing taxi drivers. Around Itaewon especially, U.S. greenbacks are the medium of exchange; you don't even have to change your money. The Korean unit of currency, the Sara isn't mean; she just likes her point understood—like the fact that she can make any man salivate at the sight of her magnificently built body bursting out of her black one-piece; or that she has the tightest, juiciest buns ever ground into a crotch; and that her huge, firm breasts with perfect areolas make for the best tit-fucking chest your cock will ever ram. And just because she hangs out in a white fortress with a snarling guard dog and sometimes people hear men screaming inside her walls, don't get the wrong idea. "I'm not a dominatrix," contends the beauty. "Though I am built like a brick shithouse and wear black, those men aren't screaming in pain. It's not my fault they can't control themselves when my cunt muscles milk their rods dry while I squeeze their chests into my big tits. I just like to fuck; that's all." Point well taken, Sara.

HUSTLER HUMOR

When a novice angel mistakenly took two men to heaven before their time, God offered to send them back to Earth for two weeks as anything they wished. The first wanted to be President of the United States. With a snap of God's fingers, he vanished. The second smiled rakishly. He wanted to be a stud. With a snap, he too vanished.

Two weeks later God ordered the angel to bring back the two men.

"But how will I find them, Lord?"

"The first should be easy," God replied. "He's in the White House."

"What about the second man?"

"That's going to be a little tough," God admitted. "He's on a dog collar somewhere in L.A.'s gay district."

A man stood before the judge's bench. "Okay, Mr. Gordon," the judge intoned, "why don't you tell the court what happened on the day in question."

"Okay, Yer Honor," the man answered. "Well, my girl Patty and I were on a bench in the park, minding our own business, when that crazy old biddy sitting there suddenly came rushing at us swinging her purse."

"Were you struck?" the judge asked.

"Yes, Yer Honor, right in the nuts—I mean scrotum."

"That's a serious accusation," warned the judge.

"That ain't the worst of it, sir. The purse hit Patty so hard, she damn near bit my prick off!"

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines the Twilight Zone as: the time period the President's in.

Two congressmen sipped their cocktails while waiting for their dinner table. "Have you seen that hot little redheaded page roaming the house floor?" one fellow muttered.

"I sure have!" his peer answered. "I'd love to have some of that!"

"Well, it just so happens, I flew her up to my lodge to do a bit of fishing."

"You old dog, you!" the congressman gushed. "By the way, did you catch anything?"

"I'm not sure," the first man said. "The blood tests aren't back yet."

A concerned father demanded that his daughter's date, Ricky, have his pretty teenage daughter back from the homecoming dance before one o'clock. Sure enough, at five minutes to one a very drunk, thick-lipped, disheveled teen staggered in the door.

"Come in the den a moment, Debby," demanded her stern, bathrobed father.

Debby weaved her way into the room to confront her father. "Yesh, Daddy," she gurgled.

"I know you've been drinking," he said, "but I want you to tell me, did you and Ricky have sex tonight?"

"Daddy!" she blubbered. "Of course we didn't! By the time the football team had their turn, Ricky had to drive me right home!"

Question: Did you hear about the man who was half-Polish and half-Italian?
Answer: Yeah, he made himself an offer he couldn't understand.

A little white boy and a little black boy, next-door neighbors, were engaging in the verbal battle of little boys everywhere.

"My father has a better job than your father," exclaimed the white boy.

"You're probably right," replied the black.

"We also have more money than your family!"

"I don't doubt that," responded the black kid. "But I'll tell you one fuckin' thing: My family lives in a worse neighborhood than yours!"

"How the hell do you figure that?" asked the white boy. "We live in the same duplex."

"I know," returned the black kid, "but my family has to live next door to a bunch of fuckin' assholes."

Question: How do you know when you've eaten pussy?
Answer: You wake up in the morning and your face feels like a glazed doughnut.

Joe was out golfing and ran into his buddy Ralph. Ralph said to Joe, "How you doing, Joe?"

In a very hoarse voice, Joe responded, "I'm fine."

Curious about his buddy's throat ailment, Ralph asked, "What happened to your voice, Joe?"

The older fellow replied, "I was golfing with Mrs. Brown, and she hit her ball out of bounds and into a cow pasture. I looked all over the pasture, but I couldn't find it anywhere. The only thing in the pasture was a cow, so I lifted up the cow's tail, and sure enough, there was Mrs. Brown's ball. So I held up the cow's tail, and I yelled to Mrs. Brown, 'Hey, does yours look like this?' Then she hit me with a nine-iron."

STREET GANGS

Local Toughs Turn Into Global Drug Thugs

It was the usual hustle and bustle of a Saturday night in crowded Westwood, an affluent, predominantly white and Jewish section of Los Angeles, California. A mixture of high-schoolers, college kids and yuppies were out for a good time, shopping, dancing or going to dinner and a movie.

Several black teenagers, members of rival street gangs, began taunting each other. ''It was obvious they were separated by an invisible line of some sort,'' says a local merchant who saw the confrontation brewing.

Shots were fired, and Karen Toshima, 27, fell to the pavement with a gunshot wound to the head. People ran into the restaurants for cover. Police yelled and chased gang members down alleys. Karen's companion stood over her body, stunned, watching her life flow into the gutter in a large pool of blood.

Twelve hours later Karen Toshima was taken off life-support systems and pronounced dead at UCLA Medical Center.

STREET GANGS

"A gang may live in South-Central L.A., but there are cars and freeways, and there are no safe enclaves."

"She's the last person in the world who should've gotten it. She was so nice," laments Don Anderson, her boss at the advertising agency where she had worked as an art director.

Karen Toshima was the victim of a gang-bang—not the sexual kind, but the type where members of rival street gangs face off in ruthless gun battles over controlling turf for drug-dealing, burglary and robbery purposes.

"It's a war out there. If you compared it [gang warfare] to Chicago in the 1920s, we certainly have much, much grosser conduct. You think of the blazing guns, but since when in Chicago did they have such figures?" asks Deputy District Attorney Michael Genelin of Los Angeles.

"People are becoming frightened everywhere," says Los Angeles District Attorney Ira Reiner. "A gang may be centered in South-Central Los Angeles, but there are cars and freeways, and there are no safe enclaves."

Street gangs across America are growing so rapidly through the control and sale of illegal drugs that they are turning into powerful organized-crime operations. A federally funded study of 900 U.S. cities estimates there are some 105,000 gangs, with close to 1.6 million members. Gangs have become the predominant crime factor in almost every major city of this country.

More than 100 gangs in Boston are believed responsible for more than 20% of that city's crime. Officials in Los Angeles County estimate that in excess of 350 gangs account for at least 50% of their crime. Miami's Jamaican posses (gangs) and their crack have been traced all the way up to Kansas City, Missouri, where they were linked to 14 out of 30 drug-related murders in 1986. The Crips and the Bloods gangs in Los Angeles have reportedly started gang drug-dealing franchises in Denver, Colorado; Phoenix, Arizona; Portland, Oregon; Las Vegas, Nevada; and Shreveport, Louisiana. The face of American crime hasn't changed this drastically since the era of prohibition gangsters.

"We aren't talking street gangs here," claims Lieutenant Robert Ruchhoft of the Los Angeles Police Department (LAPD) Gang Activities Section. "We're talking about the developing stages of organized crime."

"Ethnic gangs," professes David Leroy of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA), "appear to be the new trend in crime." With the influx of immigrants into the U.S., there has been an upsurge in Korean, Chinese, Japanese, Chicano, Filipino, Jamaican, Vietnamese, Cuban and Colombian gangs.

In New York City, the Mafia—with beginnings in Italian-immigrant inner-city enclaves—has lost a major portion of the largest heroin market in the world. From 1970 to 1980 the number of Chinese flooding into this country, primarily through New York City, jumped 85%, from 435,062 to 806,027.

"What we began to see at that time," purports James Goldman, a special agent with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS), "was the appearance of a young, bold, street-smart type of criminal from the major industrial centers [of China]."

The United Bamboo, the syndicate of Chinese gangs, is run primarily by adults, who utilize teenagers as street soldiers. From 1984 through 1987 Southeast Asian heroin, which United Bamboo controls, jumped from 3% of the total supply in New York City to about 40%.

"It's a stunning change," avows Robert Stutman, DEA special agent. "It means that the Mafia has effectively been supplanted as the leader in the heroin trade.

"They [United Bamboo] keep very tight control of their people," says Stutman. "People are killed on the suspicion that they might be talking to police."

"Any town where you see a Chinese restaurant," says gang member Chih-yi, "you walk in and tell them you are with United Bamboo. . .they will take care of you."

If Hollywood and the West Coast are forerunners for future trends in the U.S., then watch out.

"With no sense of pride, we're No. 1," says Los Angeles DA Ira Reiner. "We are the gang capital of the U.S. in terms of numbers, in terms of violence, in terms of its overall impact on the entire criminal-justice system."

"These are mean streets," understates Deputy DA Genelin, head of the hard-core gang unit. "Compare it to a war zone. There are so many shootings, so many guns, that people have to be frightened any time they walk the streets."

Los Angeles recently rang up the highest annual gang death toll in its history. Gang members killed 287 men, women and children and maimed 708 others in L.A. County in 1987. Statistics show 1,148 gang-related weapons violations, 340 more than the previous year. In addition, police made 12,217 gang-related arrests in 1987, almost 500 more than in 1986.

"It was safer on the beaches of Normandy than it is some days here," states Richard Goodman, a World War II veteran and a senior citizen who sleeps with a shotgun at the foot of his bed.

Alma Lee Washington, 67, liked to maneuver her wheelchair into the front doorway of her home in South Central Los Angeles, where she would watch the neighborhood children play. An Oldsmobile Cutlass gunned its big V8, speeding down Alma's street. Her grandson, Don Shepherd, knew what was happening by the sound of that engine. He sprinted for the front door. A hail of bullets strafed Alma's house, coming from the carful of Denver Bloods gang members. A slug went in Alma's right eye and lodged in the back of her head. Don went down with a gunshot wound in the leg.

Within two hours, Don Shepherd's gang, the Raymond Avenue Crips, shot up a house a few blocks away, where they believed the alleged killer, Darrell Lamant Moore, known as Scrap, lived.

"Starting in the latter part of 1986, we noted a tremendous increase in violent gang assaults," says Sergeant Robert Snowden of Inglewood's (California) homicide division. "A gang attack and a retaliation and a retaliation to the retaliation . . . it just goes back and forth. A lot of it is territorial disputes over the distribution and sale of narcotics. Others are acts of vengeance by rival gangs."

Most gang-related homicides are drive-by shootings in which heavily armed youths spray bullets at anyone and everyone standing in the vicinity of a rival gang's hangout. Paranoid gang members tend to change locations quite a bit, leaving fearful relatives behind wondering if their house might be the next mistaken target for a rival gang. "We wanted to put up a billboard saying he doesn't live here anymore," declares the relative of a Bloods gang member.

Drive-by shootings in L.A. jumped from 208 in 1986 to 283 in 1987. "The sad part is," avers L.A. Police Chief Daryl Gates, "60% of those killed by gangs are innocent bystanders."

"Guns are more important than women . . . I never go to sleep without my gun on my chest and my finger on the trigger," swears Trevor, a Jamaican gang member in Miami. "If I want to get some good sleep, I go to a hotel . . . . You can't trust nobody."

Entire neighborhoods are in the grip of terrorism. In one 26-block neighborhood just an errant tennis lob away from Beverly Hills, the residents feel they are hostages of the Playboy Gangster Crips.

"I feel like I'm jailing my tenants to protect them from the gangs," maintains one apartment-building owner, who has doubled the height of the fence surrounding his property to 12 feet.

The Playboy Gangsters sell rock cocaine from the street corners and alleys of this neighborhood, which is conveniently close for affluent businessmen/drug addicts from nearby Beverly Hills and Hollywood, who cruise through in their Porsches and Rolls-Royces to score.

Just as a ruthless tycoon buys out a company, "Often drug-related murders are a matter of business. In gang terms that means rubbing somebody out," contends Lieutenant Willie Pannel of LAPD's gang unit.

City attorney James K. Hahn has tried unsuccessfully to get the courts to force an injunction on the 200-plus Playboy Gangsters that would ban them from associating with each other or leaving their homes between 7 p.m. and 7 a.m.

"I can't stop, I won't stop, I refuse to stop, and nobody can make me stop," asseverates gang leader Wendell "Big Tuttt" Thompson, 20, who bears a huge gunshot scar across his stomach.

Indeed, it seems impossible to stop urban-guerrilla cocaine retailing. Lookouts, posted everywhere, whistle when police approach. Mazes of escape routes are cut through fences and bushes.

"I hate to say it, but the Playboy Gangsters control this area—I mean, that's the only word for it," one L.A. officer rues.

"I've rarely, if ever, seen a neighborhood where the gang operates with such openness and with such tight control over the territory," admits 12-year police officer Mark Furhman.

"I want to be able to walk the streets at night," complains one resident. "My mother was mugged three times in broad daylight, and my father had a gun held to his head."

Playboy Gangsters have been involved in six killings in 1987 and 14 disappearances since mid-1985. One 16-year-old disputed a "short count" from a Playboy Gangsters drug dealer. As he drove off on his motorcycle, a hand signal by the dealer brought an armed Gangster out from between apartment buildings, and the complaining youth ate the short end of a shotgun blast.

After a hiatus from the flesh industry, video vixen Trinity Loren has come back for yet another dazzling display of the glories that lay betwixt her supple thighs, but the seasoned slut wasn't convinced to return until she met her eventual slit-lick partner, Tracy. Though the shoot was a wet success (check out the slides behind the babes), the old pro thinks the sexy youngster needs some extra pointers on how to munch snatch and perform an expert muff-dive. So Trinity, playing teacher, mashes her enormous tits into the girl while plying her folds. Then, after lessons on how to tongue a clit to orgasm, Trinity demands head from Tracy until both models are entangled in a mouth-to-cunt 69 slurp. Yes, school is a grind—especially if you get the right teacher.

One 21-year-old gang member, "Way Out," owns four cars—a Rolls, a Corvette, a BMW and a Mercedes.

"The root causes of gangs are societal: one-parent families and no-parent families, no jobs and a high dropout rate . . . young people with no support system but the street gang," explains Edward C. Pleines of the Chicago police.

Gangs offer an underprivileged kid just about everything he wants. Besides a sense of identity through gang dress, colors and a nickname, a gang member gets respect (albeit fearful) from people. Fringe benefits include money, drugs and sex.

"You'd spend most of your day sniffing coke and sipping champagne, getting mellow and talking to connections," dreams Miami gang member Trevor. "If a small dude come in with no money, you'd give him $500 or $600 and say, 'Go get clean.' And he'd get silked down to the bone."

About 5% of the gang population is female. Most gang girls are victims of broken families, drug abuse and incest. In the reality of ghetto life, gang membership looks a hell of a lot better than life with a junkie father who pimps her out. Initiation rites sometimes include fucking up to 20 members of the gang.

"That rock is bad stuff," reveals Marianne Diaz-Parton of L.A. Youth Gang Services. "Girls in the projects do anything for a $25 piece. They lose all self-respect."

If you find yourself being seduced by a sultry 13-year-old with tattoos across her knuckles, you're on the edge of danger. Female gang members bait johns into mugging traps. They also scout burglary locations.

"First I hide," delineates Loca. "Then I jump the person and pull out my switchblade. Sometimes I feel bad. They could be my mother. But then I think of my two kids. I have to buy food and clothes for them."

Loca, a member of the Sheridans gang in Hell's Kitchen, New York City, reports that most men won't report her to the police because "men are embarrassed to say they were hit on by a woman."

"People in gangs have very little respect for life," says Lieutenant Willie Pannell, LAPD. "They take pride when someone dies."

In nine out of the ten biggest cities in the U.S., murders have skyrocketed in the past five years. "Coke is not a peacemaking drug. It's an excitant, an irritant. People who use cocaine are much less placid than somebody who uses another type of drug," says Detective John Swanson, LAPD.

Today's street gangs, ironically, are living the American Dream—to make as much money as possible. LAPD recently made the largest street-gang drug bust in its history, seizing $102,000 in cash and more than $1.5 million worth of narcotics (3½ pounds of cocaine, 6½ gallons of liquid PCP), while arresting five gang members holding fully loaded UZI submachine guns.

"This is the kind of money that has been financing [these] miserable little rotten hoodlums," growls Police Chief Gates.

"When a kid can make $3,000 a week selling drugs, why would he take a job at McDonald's for $4.10 an hour?" asks Gwen Cordova of the church-based South-Central Organizing Committee. "These kids go in and buy a car in the blink of an eye, when it takes their parents months or even years to make such a purchase."

LAPD's Lieutenant Ruchhoft tells of one 21-year-old gang member, known as "Way Out," who owns four cars—a Rolls-Royce, a Corvette, a BMW and a Mercedes-Benz. He paid cash for three, but could only put down $30,000 on the Rolls. Ruchhoft says Way Out hasn't missed any of his $2,400 monthly payments.

"The profits and the level of rivalries from the narcotics trade feed the fires of violence," claims L.A. Deputy Attorney Bruce Coplen. "The drugs release people's inhibitions."

"I'll kill anybody, but I'm not into cutting them up," stated William Beattie, an informer who testified at the racketeering trial of eight members of the Westies, a gang in New York City's Hell's Kitchen. Beattie described the cold-blooded murder of a loan shark, Charles "Ruby" Stein, to whom Jimmy Coonan, the boss of the Westies gang, owed $50,000. Lured to a local bar, Ruby was shot by Coonan and dragged into the bathroom.

"Jimmy cut his head off," Beattie testified. "I turned away. . . that's not my bag." Jimmy dismembered Stein with a jagged-edged kitchen knife and put the body into six trash bags.

"We call it jointing," reports Trevor, the Jamaican gang member. "They dump you into Dempsey Dumpsters all over town. All the parts never get found."

Migration patterns of the gang disease have begun to emerge. In Riverside County, 100 miles east of L.A., a deputy sheriff was shot twice when he stopped

"This way. Watch your step, please."

STREET GANGS

A leader advises gang members, "They ain't got no evidence! The evidence is you, fool!"

a car containing three members of the Palmer Block Crips gang out of South L.A.

"Gang members have told us that this area is virgin territory," relates Riverside County Sheriff's Deputy Michele Amicone. "They can make double or triple their money on cocaine out here because they don't have as much competition from other gangs as they do in L.A." L.A.-based gangs have been traced as far as Louisiana and Oregon.

Another type of gang has evolved into organized crime. "Motorcycle gangs are an up-and-coming criminal force in the U.S.," says Sean McWeeney, head of FBI's organized-crime division. "These are very powerful groups." The Hell's Angels, with 60 chapters in the U.S., are still the main force in biker gangs. Recently 38 Hell's Angels were arrested in five states on charges of drug dealing, murder and possessing explosives.

Amazingly, the bikers and the street gangs have avoided major conflicts, primarily because the bikers are even more ruthless and organized, often serving as enforcers and hitmen for the Mafia. Motorcycle gangs have found their niche between the Mafia's big businesses and the street gangs' main commodity, cocaine. The bikers specialize in the manufacture and distribution of "garage drugs," which consist of speed and PCP.

"There is big money involved," alleges FBI agent James Oppy. "The gangs [bikers] are into drugs, and that brings big money. They specialize in amphetamines, the pill trade."

Biker gangs also control most of the truck-stop whores across the nation's highways. In Tampa, Florida, five members of the Outlaws motorcycle gang were convicted of running an interstate prostitution ring, and three others were indicted on drug-trafficking charges.

The Atlantic City, New Jersey, Citizens Crime Commission estimates that the Pagans motorcycle gang controls 70% of that city's narcotics trade.

"It's not like the old days, when they used to ride their bikes and wear their colors," recalls FBI agent Robert Pence. "There's more money to be made by not being so visible. The only time you see them in their colors is at a gang funeral."

Like the Mafia, motorcycle gangs have invested their money in legitimate businesses. In Corpus Christi, Texas, members of the Bandidos own three nightclubs and a motorcycle shop.

A major law-enforcement concern is being out-armed by the gangs. Street gangs are walking into gun stores and buying whatever they want. "One guy purchased 14 assault rifles," reports LAPD's Detective Roosevelt Joseph.

Police have been confiscating UZI machine guns and AK-47 assault rifles. "The weaponry has created more deaths with less shootings," says Lieutenant Pannell, LAPD.

The most awesome arsenal seized by federal agents belonged to the notorious El Rukn gang out of Chicago. They not only stockpiled submachine guns, but also had an M-72 Army antitank rocket launcher. According to prosecutors at their federal trial, El Rukns had met with Libyan leader Muammar Kaddafi's people "to conspire to solicit $2.5 million from the government of Libya. In return they offered to perform terrorist activities inside the U.S."

The plan was engineered by El Rukn gang leader Jeff Fort from a pay phone in federal prison in Bastrop, Texas, where he was serving a 13-year sentence for narcotics trafficking. Fort has ruled the El Rukns for more than a decade. From prison he maintained daily contact with his gang. In over 1,000 hours of FBI-wiretapped conversations spoken in code, Fort suggested shooting down a commercial airliner to prove to the Libyans the gang meant business.

The El Rukns' federal trial reflects many of the problems faced in prosecuting an organized gang. The use of coded gang slang is almost impossible to translate to a jury. Two gang members were removed from the courtroom for threatening the witness by slowly tracing a finger across their necks. Four jurors received threatening phone calls at their homes, and were dismissed from the panel. The rest of the jury was sequestered to a secret location. In the end, Jeff Fort was sentenced to 80 more years in prison and fined $225,000.

Another judicial problem is that 83% of gang arrests are boys, age 14 to 19, who never make it to an adult courtroom.

"The brains of the operation are kids who are just 18 or 19 years old. These are the people we have difficulty catching," complains Officer Charles Zunker, LAPD. "The gang knows that an arrested juvenile will be treated far less harshly than an adult. The juveniles do most of the work. They laugh at the courts, judges and probation officers."

"The killer squads look like junior-high-school kids. But they're really cold-

A homemaker who designs erotic lingerie and costumes, Hesperia, California's Lori also works as a horse trainer. The 33-year-old dirty dancer likes being watched and photographed; so it makes sense she'd dream of making love to her husband while another man videotapes the encounter.

Oh, what a lucky man Kate's husband is. The 26-year-old Oregon coast homemaker, who spends time waterskiing and reading, fantasizes about watching her hubby get it on with another woman.

WHAT HANDICAP?

Sometime ago I was involved in an auto accident that left me paralyzed from the waist down. With no feeling in my legs and groin, I thought my sex life was over, for who would want to go to bed with a guy who couldn't fuck and was confined to a wheelchair?

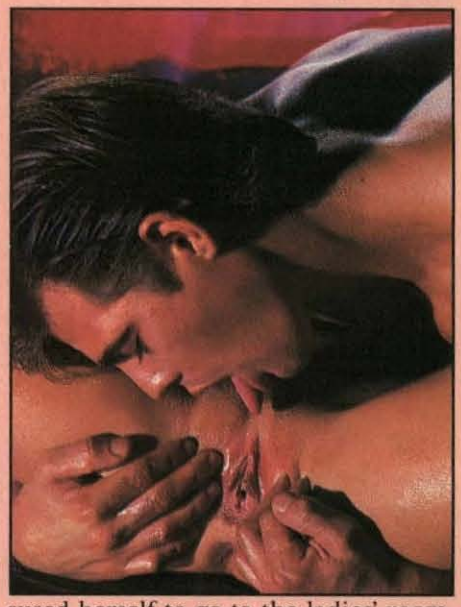
For the past three years I've only fantasized about sex. My favorite physical endeavor was—pre-accident—giving erotic massages and eating pussy. Then, after a three-year hiatus from sexuality of any kind, it happened. Needless to say, my desires had built up to an indescribable level. One day at work a woman called me, requesting an appointment in order to show me a product that would help motivate my sales staff.

On Friday, at 4:00 sharp, she arrived. Entering my office was a beautiful face, a short skirt showcasing a great set of long legs, and a gorgeous smile. The salesperson also wore a blouse with the top two buttons undone. When the young lady bent down to set her briefcase against my desk, she provided me with a perfect view of her ample cleavage.

Wearing a low-cut bra, the young lady exposed the nicest set of tits I'd ever seen. Daydreaming, I thought about how wonderful it would be to play with those lovely cones, and how I'd run my tongue along the length of those perfect legs. I then noticed my fantasy salesperson was wearing a wedding ring, and all my sexy thoughts flew right out the window.

The young woman then began to tell me about her product, which was something I was interested in. We proceeded to make a deal, and all of sudden it was 5:30, and everyone had filed out. Upon completion of our meeting the young woman stood up, giving me my last view of those luxuriously long, tapered legs, and I started to dream again about how great it would be to have those limbs wrapped around my head.

I was totally shocked when this very lovely woman turned around and said that her husband was out with his buddies for the evening, adding that it would be nice to get acquainted over drinks. I told her I would be honored. We then proceeded to a small, intimate restaurant/bar down the street, and I made record time getting my wheelchair in and out of the car. After some conversation and a few strong drinks, the young woman asked me to dinner; so we ventured into the dining room. But as soon as we sat down, the attractive salesperson excused herself to go to the ladies' room.



Upon her return, I noticed that she was no longer wearing a bra. Her taut nipples were standing out, and another button on her blouse was undone. Sensing heat from this woman, I told her that her husband must be a very lucky young man to make love to such a beautiful and well-built lady like herself.

She appreciated the compliment, then shocked me by asking what I did for sex. Not that the question was too personal, but it was surprising that someone would be so forthright with my handicapped physical status.

I told her that I loved to eat pussy, but that it had been quite a while since I'd sampled any. All she could do was smile. But after dinner, my guest purposely brushed her nipples, making them stand even more erect than they had been. A moment later she moved her chair next to my wheelchair so that she could get to some food in my beard. As she brushed my mustache with her finger, I got the distinct scent of pussy.

She smiled seductively and asked if I liked what I smelled. I nodded yes, to which she responded by putting my hand in her lap. Underneath the restaurant table she hiked up her skirt, and when my hand found its way under her skirt, I found that she was wearing no panties.

After stroking the young woman's clit for a while, she began to squirm in her seat. My dinner guest then asked if I was ready for dessert. I got the bill, paid it quickly, and the two of us made our way to a nearby hotel.

The next thing I knew I was lying in bed being undressed by the sexy saleslady. After completing that task, the young woman began a slow, erotic undressing of herself, methodically removing each garment while caressing every part of her body for our mutual pleasure. My God, what a body she had!

I guessed her bust to be 36, with inch nipples that stuck straight out. Those long, perfect legs came to meet at a nicely trimmed bush. When she turned back around, she began to play with her pussy. She then lay down next to me, and our tongues and mouths met.

Stroking those nipples made the young woman shake with excitement. After having her roll over, my hands sought out her tight buns, where I proceeded to administer an expert massage. Running my tongue down her back, I finally reached her ass. Lathering each cheek and her crack with kisses and licks, I continued farther down each leg and came to rest at her feet. I kissed and massaged her feet for at least 15 minutes, painstakingly concentrating on each and every inch of her feet and lower legs.

I then ran my tongue up the insides of her thighs to where she readily parted her legs so that I could reach her simmering slit. Savoring the taste of her juices, I then swirled my tongue back up her ass. Spreading those tight, beautiful cheeks with my hands allowed my tongue the freedom to dab and lube her asshole. I asked her if she liked that particular anal attention, but all she could do was moan with delight.

I continued to tongue-fuck her anus until she begged me to eat her pussy. Rolling over again, she provided me with a perfect view of that gorgeous gash. With her soft, pretty hands she spread her snatch wide open, providing me with a clear avenue to her clit. The more I flicked my tongue over her love button, the louder she moaned. I then inserted a finger into her hot box a few times until it was soaking wet.

Replacing my finger with my tongue, I slowly inserted the damp digit into her asshole. With my free hand I began to stroke her love button again. With my fingers and tongue all working in sync, I continued to make this lovely young woman moan in absolute ecstasy. When she finally came, I thought for sure that everyone in the hotel had heard her.

She flooded my tongue with her sweet nectar, but I continued to lick her until she begged me to rest. The sexy saleslady said she had never come so much in her life. We then rested awhile and repeated the act twice more that night.

As she dressed, the young woman told me, in all her naked splendor, that she'd take a man in a wheelchair with a hard tongue over any self-centered guy with a hard cock. She now calls me daily, saying she can't wait until her husband has another night out with the guys so that we can get together. Every time she calls she reminds me that it took three days for her legs to work right. All I can say is that all ladies should remember us men in wheelchairs, as we will always give our full attention to satisfying their needs while not worrying about getting off ourselves. —Name and Address Withheld by Request

BEAVER HUNT HUMP

After seeing HUSTLER for the very first time, I knew I had to pose for Beaver Hunt. It was a strange destiny of sorts: Posing nude had always been one of my fantasies. My boyfriend Joe is a professional photographer who says he buys HUSTLER because the photography is the best among all the men's titles.

So when I suggested my foray into amateur pink photography, he was as turned on as I was. While discussing exactly how I would pose, my pussy began getting wetter and wetter. Joe knows how excited I get when he spreads my legs wide and looks at my cunt with pure passion written all over his face. I love showing it off. A moment later Joe was setting up his photo equipment, and I was in the bathroom fixing my hair.

Thinking about what we were about to do, I started rubbing my clit. I became so excited that I came almost instantly. My fantasy was about to come true!

Joe had me lie down on the bed. Placing a pillow under my ass, he raised my knees and spread my legs. I knew my pussy was swollen, wet and totally exposed. The thought made me so hot, I wanted a big dick in me in the worst way. I pleaded with Joe, but he said, "No, not until we're done." Begging for him turned me on even more, for it was something I had never had to do before.

I couldn't wait any longer; so I slid one finger, then another, into my cunt. Rubbing my clit with my other hand, I masturbated my muff furiously. Joe had never seen me play with myself, but at this point I didn't care.

Pumping away at my pussy, I completely forgot about Joe and his camera. I heard an intense, deep moan and realized it was me. My whole body was pins and needles from the erotic exhiliration of masturbation, plus the impending photo-shoot. I came—wave after wave—and then felt totally spent.

It was a few minutes before I noticed the clicking sound. Still too exhausted to open my eyes, I tried to block out the noise so the flow from my pussy would never end. But then I realized that Joe had photographed everything—each move, every rub of my clit, the pinching and twisting of my nipples—everything.

Joe laughed when he saw my startled face and said, "It was outrageous. You were so totally into your diddling that a bomb could have gone off next door and you wouldn't have heard it." My boyfriend was stroking his enormous hard-on; so in response I spread my legs and smiled luridly at him.

"Now let's fuck," I breathed.

"Not yet," Joe responded. "I have another idea." My amateur photographer tied me spread-eagle on the bed. Then he blindfolded me with a black bandanna. The only thing I heard was the camera clicking away. Then suddenly the whole room went quiet. Soon I felt Joe's hot breath between my legs.

Close-ups! That's what Joe was doing between my tightly bound, wide-spread legs. His camera was only inches from my cunt. My juices were running down my wide-open crack, gushing out of me. In fact, I had never felt so fully aroused and wet in my life. I wanted to touch my cum, to lick it, to taste it, but I couldn't, since my hands were bound.

A minute later Joe spread my pussy lips and plunged his tongue deep inside. My whole body was throbbing from the licking he was laying on my labes. I was one big cunt on fire, reduced to begging for Joe to fuck me. My need for his beefy dick had never been greater, but Joe ignored my pleas and instead thrust three fingers into my dripping box.

As Joe thrust his fingers in and out of my hot hole, I desperately tried to lift my ass as high as I could. Then, a few minutes later, I felt Joe's whole hand inside of me, slowly penetrating my pussy, stretching it like never before. Once his hand went in, Joe would move it around. I thought I would pop out of my skin, and I was totally out of control. His fist-fucking was becoming more deliberate. Joe was now pushing his fist in sideways. In response my cunt was flexing and gripping his wrist and lower arm.

When Joe finally pinched my clit, I exploded, coming so many times I nearly fainted. I then delightedly licked his hand, wrist and arm clean. I was still so hot and grateful that I allowed my Beaver Hunt photographer to fuck me in the ass for the first time.

When Joe's cock started entering my virgin asshole, I thought he'd split me open. My little pink hole was so tight, but once his cock was in me, I went wild with desire. Being fucked in the ass was exquisite. Joe's joint went so far up my shitter that his balls were slapping my ass cheeks as he banged me.

The best part of losing my anal cherry was when Joe came. His throbbing dick spurting up my ass felt great. I had no idea how pleasurable anal sex could be, denying it to Joe for all the years we'd been seeing each other. After shooting his wad in my tight rearend, the two of us collapsed on the bed, unable to move.

We never finished our photo-session, but we certainly plan on rescheduling.

blooded. You get the drugs on consignment. If you don't pay, they cancel you, and possibly your family," shrugs Jamaican gang member Trevor.

"The filing for gang murders can dampen the enthusiasm of any but the most committed detectives. To file a case, you must have evidence, witnesses or suspects' statements that are sufficient to convince a jury. There's an expression used by homicide detectives: 'Crummy cases have crummy witnesses,' " spews Richard R. Rogers, a retired homicide detective from the L.A. County Sheriff Department. "Would you believe a friend of a dead gang-banger who has a long history of gang-related offenses against the suspect's gang?"

In an excerpt from a bugged holding room in an L.A. police station where several gang members were placed after being arrested on suspicion of murder, a leader advises them on how to act: "Just say no to everything. They're just tripping you out. Just do your time and don't say nothin', nigger. You all right. They ain't got no evidence! You hear? The evidence is you, fool! If they got a witness, you be sittin' in county [jail] now! They ain't got no fingerprints; they don't know who did it. You trippin'! You trippin'!"

"I ain't panicking, man!" responds a shaky-voiced gang member.

"Then quit looking like you're panicking, nigger!" The gang leader warns the others not to reveal his real name to the cops because he's on probation. Most gang members use nicknames like Snoopy, Spider, Loco, Cool Earl, Sleepy or Lil' Dracula, which makes it difficult for the police to identify them. A recent computer printout showed approximately 50 Snoopys in various gangs.

Prosecuting a gang case is dangerous work. Linda Bloxsom, L.A. deputy district attorney, opened her door one night and found two gang members pointing a gun up her nose. Their message was to lay off Arturo Barela, 39, who she was prosecuting for a gang-related rape and kidnapping. She didn't. He got 52 years in prison, and the two men who threatened her—Arturo's brother, Richard Barela, and Joaquin Serna-Vera—received 4- and 8-year trips, respectively.

The Compton courthouse, located in gang-infested South Los Angeles, has been dubbed Fort Compton. After bullets aimed at testifying witnesses shattered courtroom windows, the frames were fitted with bullet-resistant glass. A metal detector and X-ray machine were put in at the door. About 140 knives and one or two guns are confiscated each won, generally trades at around 750 on the dollar—although it has been fluctuating and may not stabilize during the Olympics. Since Ken and I were right around the corner from the strip, and since we already had won and dollars both, we went right to work in search of talent.

"Good sucky, young granddaughter," the halmoni stage-whispered. "You come all the time."

As we walked toward the Sportsman's, a chill wind blew down at us. The street was crowded even in the cold, and a constant hustle and hawking went on as we passed. A particularly persistent halmoni tugged and hissed gutturally at Ken's shirttail for a few blocks, until the poor guy was almost reduced to panic. "Good sucky, young granddaughter," the woman stage-whispered. "You come all the time." We finally gave in and followed her diminutive form to a back alleyway. We were left in a room and waited for more than 20 minutes. I didn't like any of this, and when I saw the girl, I liked it even less. She was too young.

"How old?" I asked her mama-san.

"Eighteen," she answered, wise in the scruples of the West.

The girl looked 14, and she had just awoke from a nap, still in her crumpled school uniform. Her breath was atrocious, like a little bit of northern New Jersey smogging up the little room. Ken, of course, was all for it, but I nixed the idea. I didn't want to use her in the video, and there were plenty of other women out there. "If her breath is that bad, imagine what her cunt smells like," I told Ken, and we left, forcefully blocking the old woman from following us out the door.

At Sportsman's we hit pay dirt. We walked into the bar at the same time as two young, built, lookalike beauties—both named Kim, it turned out. (If you forget a woman's name in Korea and call her Kim, nine times out of ten you will be right.) They were perfect: huge hooters pushing out of their form-fitting tops; big-lipped, toothy smiles that made you immediately think blowjob; a full-figured sensuality all around. Plus, they could be passed off as twins in the video, for a little added kink. We didn't even stop to have a drink, but headed back to the Crown with our twin trophies.

I was well into my story about doing a video for my friend at sea when I realized the two Kims didn't need any convincing. They would be happy to pose, they said. "Sure thing," Kim One said.

"We have fun," Kim Two chirped.

We quickly settled on a price: W25,000, or about $35, for each of them. Generally, you can get a complete cock cleaning in Seoul for half that, with prices ranging from W10,000 to W15,000 for half-and-half. With the video posing and the all-night gig, I offered them more, and still felt I got a bargain.

I didn't realize what a bargain it was until the two slowly, agonizingly stripped for us. Ken, as usual, was useless, messing his pants immediately from a quick lap-dance by Kim Two. Or was it Kim One? Part of the overbearing sexuality of the evening came from the tasty confusion between the two girls, and the optical illusion of having one Kim wrapped around my pole as the other dragged her skeeze across my face.

I laboriously explained that I would have to "test them" before we shot the video, but again, no explanations were necessary. Part of the appeal of Korean women is that there is absolutely no bullshit about them when it comes to fucking. They are take-charge type of women, ready for anything. "Don't turn out the lights," Kim One said. "How about I open my legs as wide as I can?" said her double. "Let me put my legs behind my neck." You get weary of saying yes, yes, okay to all their splendid suggestions, and just drift along on the sexual tide.

I had to marvel at Korea. After about an hour or so, I took a break, vaguely attempting to set up the cameras. Ken hid in the darkness of the bathroom, voyeuristically peering out and working his dink as Kim and Kim continued "auditioning." They set up a hot lesbo duo, mirror images of cute, young Korean models, tonguing and fingering each other with gusto. They delighted in opening the orifices of each other's body for our inspection, cramming their hands up each other's can and yanking it wide. They did not get giggly and shy like the hookers of Manila or Thailand; they were all sweet business.

"Look, Jun, look! You like this?" Kim One was fist-reaming Kim Two, who looked pouty because she was unable to think up something to top it. "Do I get gold medal? Gold medal?" That gold-medal line has become a running joke among Korean girls prepping for the Olympic tourist invasion. Whatever goes on in those stadiums across the river, I thought, this is where the real Olympics are going down.

"Yeah, Kim," I told her, my dick slowly hardening once more, "you get the gold medal. And I'll throw in the bronze and silver too."

"Beat it, dude. This egg's on our turf!"

"There is a perception that a life lost in South L.A. does not measure up to a life lost somewhere else."

month. An average of three people a month are booked on weapons charges.

"A lot of people's statement is, 'I'd rather be caught with it than without it,' " grumbles Judge Mackey.

"Everyone smiles when a judge gets assigned to Fort Compton. They recommend that you get your car armored and equipped with bullet-proof glass," chuckles Superior Court Judge Nancy Brown. "Also, get a gun and learn how to use it."

L.A. Police Chief Gates admits he has "underestimated the sophistication of the street-gang narcotic tie-in." He created a new post in LAPD, an "antigang czar."

"We're going to arrest them to death," promises the new czar, Deputy Police Chief Glenn A. Levant. "These guys can't hurt the law-abiding public if they're in jail." Levant expects to arrest at least 100 gang members a month until "there is no more blatant drug dealing by gang members on the street."

Unfortunately, the L.A. county jail is already staggering under the burden of more than 700 members of the two major rival black gangs, the Crips and the Bloods, who are housed in isolated quarters at the jail—at a yearly housing tab of $11,000 each.

Prison for a gang member is like going away to college. Prison gangs offer Ph.D.-level instruction in mayhem. A gang member, certified by the hellfires of incarceration, returns to the gang a hard-core hero.

In a twisted fashion, the media glamorizes violence and justifies the gang's reality. "These guys are constantly referring to how their crimes would have been done on Miami Vice," says James Brown, a special agent for the Miami Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. "I know one who actually videotapes the TV news after a gang-bang."

When society puts a $25,000 reward on the head of the gang member who murdered Karen Toshima in Westwood, they inadvertently enhance the entire gang's self-esteem: One of their members is actually worth $25,000!

"Death has different values," says Richard R. Rogers. "We don't identify with gang members, and we don't sympathize with their deaths. When an innocent young woman is gunned down in their madness, we sit up and take notice."

"There is a perception that a life lost in South L.A. does not measure up to a life lost elsewhere," orates city councilman Robert Farrell, who represents that gang-infested area. "On behalf of my constituents, I think it's an insult."

"Getting tough with gangs can be a problem. We have political and civil-rights leaders who want the police to approach the problem as if they were negotiating a business contract rather than trying to apprehend criminals," says Richard Rogers. "The people who protest the most about police crackdowns on gang members don't live in the gang areas, and they haven't been touched yet by gang violence."

Some citizens took action against an apartmentful of dealers in their building by calling the cops, who made a buy and busted the gang. "It was incredible," one officer remembers. "They were on the balconies and in the doorways clapping."

"You feel like the only effective way to deal with street gangs is with a flamethrower," spouts DA Ira Reiners. "After you get that off your chest, you have to get back to reality."

"The long-term solution is not in law enforcement; it is in prevention," insists Tony Massengale of Community Youth Gang Services. "That means dealing with the conditions that create gang members, that create drug users, that find these kids without economic opportunity and without much hope."

"These are not kids who have gone astray," avers Lieutenant Ruchhoft. "These are bad people. They will rob you, kill you and burglarize your homes."

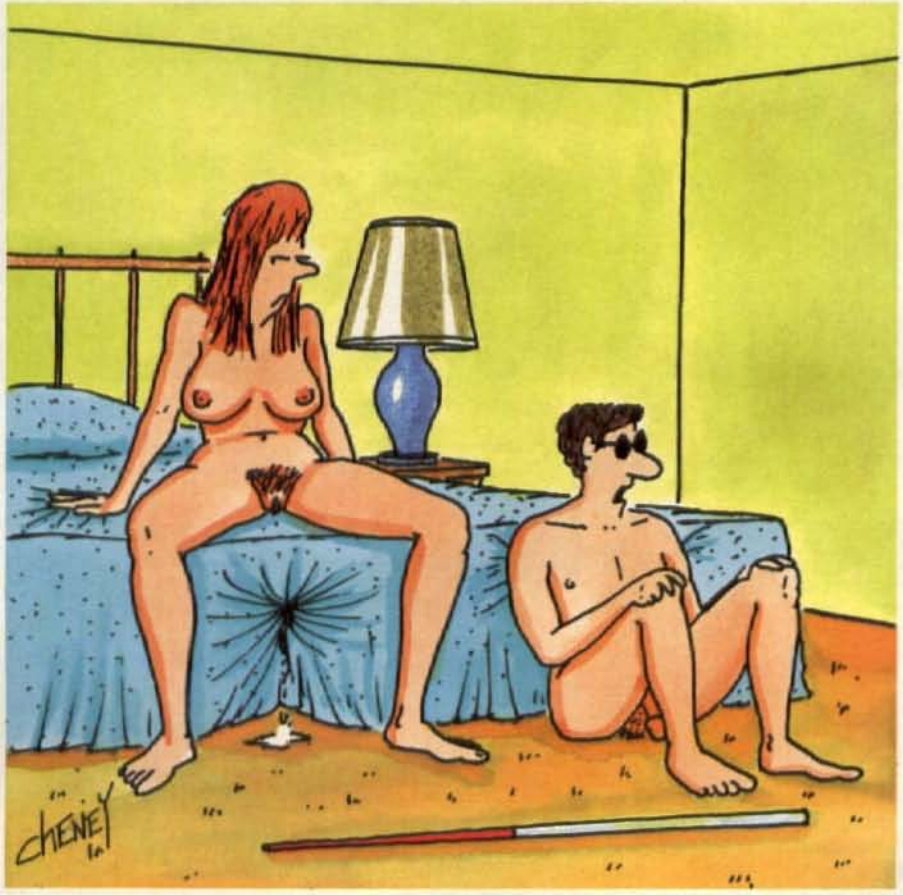
DA Reiner admits his priority is not rehabilitation, but "putting every one of these little murderous hoodlums in jail for as long as [he] can."

"For every gang member you put in jail, there are three replacements waiting in line to take his place," counters Commander Lorne C. Kramer, LAPD. "We have to deal with the social dynamics."

"No one wants to put enough money into prevention," declares V. G. Guinses of SEY YES, a community-based gang-prevention agency. "The kids haven't been reached at the bottom. We've got to tell kids they should be good citizens."

"In order to curb gang violence, the social ills that fester and prompt gang violence must be addressed—such as homelessness, joblessness, the welfare mentality. We must touch people at an early age," pontificates community leader Reverend Charles Mims.

"We've lost the war with gangs" laments Deputy DA Michael Knight. "We can't project any rosy picture. One does not exist in the future, not the near future."



"It was good, Emily, but you were kinda dry!"

ENLARGE YOUR PENIS TO IT'S MAXIMUM!
Have Erect Measurements of 9, 10 Even 12 Full Inches!

The TITAN is the only PENIS DEVELOPER you will ever need!

Is the size of your penis bringing you down? Sure, the medical authorities say the size doesn't count, but as long as women have a need to be filled, they will demand the full measure of devotion. And no amount of psychological reassurance will fill the gap between expectation and reality.

Now, with a simple device you can follow in the footsteps of thousands of men who have proven that there is a way to INCREASE PENIS SIZE and THICKNESS! The device is called the TITAN ELECTRIC VACUUM ENLARGER. A safe and proven natural way to add inches to penis length and thickness. With the TITAN you will see yourself grow to dimension you never thought possible.

HOW CAN THE TITAN ELECTRIC VACUUM ENLARGER INCREASE PENIS LENGTH & THICKNESS?

Your erection is caused by blood flowing into hollow caverns inside your penis. The caverns fill with blood and your penis grows in size and thickness and becomes stiffer and stiffer until the caverns are filled with all the blood they can hold. BUT, IF YOU INCREASE THE CAPACITY OF THE CAVERNS BY MAKING THEM BIGGER, THEY HOLD MORE BLOOD and you have a correspondingly longer, thicker penis. Regular use of the TITAN gently urges the caverns to expand . . . expand . . . expand. You'll see the astonishing results the first time you use your TITAN. Your penis will grow inside the clear, picture window sleeve. Immediately you will see just how really BIG. . . how really FAT. . . how LONG . . .how HARD and STIFF your penis can get! And after regular sessions with the TITAN you'll probably find as do most men that these size gains don't go away! They become a part of you to thrill and excite her!

THE TITAN IS SIMPLY THE MOST POWERFUL ENLARGEMENT SYSTEM YOU CAN PURCHASE ANYWHERE! AT ANY PRICE!

This powerful, totally electric unit (U.L. approved) is equipped to plug into any wall outlet to give you continuous, even sucking power until you shut it off! Unlike noisy electric vacuum enlargers costing upwards of $100 — the TITAN is "quite as a whisper".

This sophisticated instrument is by far the state of the art in penis enhancing machinery. It has taken time, money and first class engineering to produce what many have called the "Rolls Royce" of vacuum enlargers. The TITAN is a finely crafted precision instrument designed to create the vacuum needed to make the male organ LONG and THICKER. If you are truly serious about penis enlargement — the TITAN will do the job for you!

HUSTLER

November edition on sale September 20, 1988

WETTING YOUR WHISTLE

Girls like a guy who can hold his breath for minutes, but our scuba siren doesn't have to worry about how long she goes down. The stocking-clad HUSTLER Honey gets a leg up—well, a pair of legs up—on the competition's less-gaping gatefolds. A pair of pert partiers glue their gashes in a tropical setting that gives new meaning to glazed Mexican tiles. Not wet enough? Then take a river raft trip with a his-and-hers team that's got more than an oar in the water.

BIG BONES FOR SMALL-TIME SMUT

The video camera not only revolutionized big-business adult-entertainment, but opened opportunities in the form of amateur sex tapes. HUSTLER critic Christian Shapiro unveils a surprisingly large, well-produced crop in "Homegrown Porn," where the titillation is as much in watching "real people" do it as in what they are doing.

REAL EXPLOITATION OF THE FLESH

Did body-snatching ghouls disappear with silk top hats and medical experiments in castles? Not according to journalist Larry Wichman, who sheds light on "Modern-Day Grave Robbers."

CONTAGIOUS PARANOIA

Despite various proclamations to the contrary, too many people still feel in danger of merely being in close proximity to AIDS sufferers. Felt most keenly in the workplace, the rank and file are divided on whether workers deserve protection or whether people with AIDS have a right to earn a living. The latest real info in AIDSWatch.

BLOOD SIMPLE

Whenever we think we've come a long way, we need only look at our past to find the truth. Bruce Evans' look at "Menstrual Myths" in Sex Play explores cruel, primitive rituals connected with female puberty, then contrasts those to some of today's ridiculous myths.

ROUND, FIRM, FULLY PACKED

There's still more, as we share raunchy reader experiences in Hot Letters, chuckle over sick sight gags in Bits & Pieces, rate new flesh frames in HUSTLER Erotic Entertainment, split our sides over HUSTLER Humor and stroke our good fortune looking at Beaver Hunt.
