MORE THAN A MOUTHFUL
What a delightful serving of sensual pleasure was "Linda: Strawberries and Cream" in your February '88 issue. Her full-lipped facial expressions and those huge, real-looking tits were outstanding. Stacked babes in sexy underthings really do it for me, and Linda is truly the cream of the crop. She's the kind of woman I'd hope to meet at a swing convention like the one you covered in that same issue. —R. P.
Dayton, Ohio

RAUNCHING PAD
Clive McLean outdid even himself with his aptly titled "Tanya: The Tight Stuff" centerfold in the January '89 issue of HUSTLER. Her twat and tits seem so real and vivid that my tongue wants to lick the pages forever. —A. R. L.
Indialantic, Florida

RAGING ABOUT STEPHANIE
Once again HUSTLER proves to be the tops in the adult-magazine field! The pictorial on Stephanie Rage in the January '89 edition was spectacular. Like many video fans, I had seen Stephanie before, but never really looked at her. Believe me, when I saw her in your magazine, I took a long, hard look. —J. C.
Raleigh, North Carolina

BAN BOTTLED BRAWN
I agree with HUSTLER's choice for Asshole of the Month (January '89), Ben Johnson. Steroid shitheads like him should be banned from athletics. These cheating artificial humans are a disgrace. The only deserving event for these super freaks is a circus sideshow.
—A Normal Human Being
North Suburban, Illinois

ANIMAL RIGHTS—AND LEFTS
January's Beaver Hunt was fantasy personified. There were eight Beavers that I would love to lick—kneeling in front of Sandy, atop Kathy 69-style, sucking Renee's tan lines off. Is there a man alive who wouldn't love to put his face down in that perfect hot spot? Angel's photo showing pussy and asshole had me wadding up tissue for a real good sexplosion. Thanks to the January Beaver Hunt, I have choked more chicken than Colonel Sanders. —R. W.
New York, New York

Your January Beaver Hunt girl from Boothwyn, Pennsylvania, was a real winner. Mare is one dynamite lady. Can we see more? We're all ready for a spread on her. What a snatch! —S. M.
Wilmington, Delaware

The January '89 Beaver Hunt was a great way to kick off the new year! But the reason for my writing is this: Could Angel from Baldwin Park be the same Beaver featured in the September '88 issue, photographed under the name of Patty? If they are not the same, it really wouldn't matter to me, because Baldwin Park is where I want to be, surrounded by all that beautiful pussy. —A. G.
Sharon, Pennsylvania

Linda: Strawberries and Cream

CUTTING THE SO-CALLED COMPETITION
I got screwed this week when I bought a copy of Gallery; it was nowhere near as impressive as HUSTLER. I'm fantasizing right now about Beaver Hunt's Angel from the January '89 issue. Boy, her husband is one lucky guy. Let's have her in a full layout. —G. C. T. Sr.
Vine Grove, Kentucky

I used to buy the Big Three, HUSTLER, Penthouse and Playboy, for several years. I quit the other two out of boredom and kept on purchasing HUSTLER because I felt it improved year after year. I've never written to you or any other magazine, but the December Beaver Hunt propelled me to, especially Lisa from Northridge, California. With her looks and utterly fantastic body, she has to be considered for an extended photo-feature.
—L. N.
New Albany, Indiana

It's only by accident that I became a subscriber to HUSTLER. I used to read Penthouse, but I became disgusted with its tame photography, and annoyed with page after page of alcohol and tobacco advertisements. By chance, I came across HUSTLER in a book exchange, and wow! This is my type of magazine. I enjoy your bawdy humor, informative and constructive articles, your deliciously provocative ladies, your lack of trashy advertisements, and HUSTLER's firm commitment to our right of free speech. I don't agree with everything you publish, but that is what freedom of speech is all about.

—R. B.
Murwillumbah
New South Wales, Australia

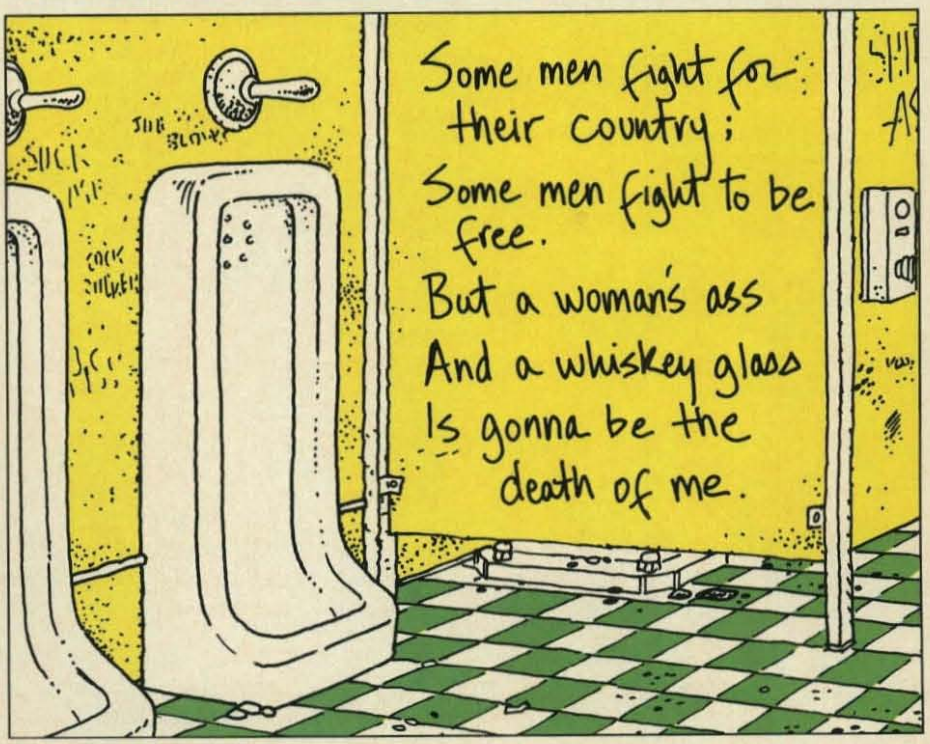
We inmates at the Milan, Michigan, Federal Correctional Institution are very upset. We are left to understand that subscriptions to Playboy and Penthouse magazines are allowed to enter this institution, but not HUSTLER! This is such a blatant violation of our coveted Constitutional rights that I would like to pursue any legal action available to us inmates. Every once in a great while, an old issue of HUSTLER is smuggled in and prized by its beholders, never to be lent, borrowed or stolen.
—J. H. F.
Milan, Michigan

NOT DICKING AROUND
My husband and I are compulsive readers of HUSTLER. We really got off on "Shoot-Out at Slippery Rock" in your December 1988 issue. I'd like to see more of Licking Luann and Luscious Luke. These two are mouth-watering. My husband would love to suck off Luke while I snack on Luann's snatch. Please keep these two coming!
—P. P.
Haverhill, Massachusetts

You guys have confirmed my bisexuality! That beautiful golden-haired, tanned god Luke from "Shoot-Out at Slippery Rock" (December '88 HUSTLER) has the most beautiful male body I've seen in a long time. He can put his gorgeous cock or toes in my mouth anytime.
—Name Withheld
Boston, Massachusetts

MEMORABLE THAIS TO BANGKOK
As a regular visitor to Thailand, I was most interested to read Bill Baker's "Bangkok: Paradise of Corruption" article in the December '88 issue. The attraction of Thailand to the unattached male usually lies in the completely different attitude toward life and sex found in that Asian country. All my visits to Thailand have been memorable, and by exercising common sense, I've avoided being ripped off. To me, Thailand is truly a paradise. Now how about an article on the Philippines?
—W. B. M.
St. Lucia, Australia

GRAFFILTHY



THANKS AND $50 TO MICHAEL F. MANN

READING BETWEEN THE LEGS
I've been reading your magazine for about six years now. The parodies and cartoons are excellent, but recently something else has been gaining my attention: the articles. HUSTLER's story features are awesome. It's to the point now that I don't pay attention to the women. You homeboys are fucking me up. Keep up the good work.
—A. F. J.
Hahn Air Base, West Germany

I have been reading HUSTLER for five years now, and I think it's one of the best. I like reading your articles, which are newsworthy and deserve to be printed. Some of the articles you print would not be printed elsewhere, though they should be. But don't get me wrong, I love to look at the beautiful women. HUSTLER finds some of the most gorgeous women in the world.
—D. B.
Starke, Florida

DEFINITELY DIVERTING
There are too many horrible things in this world of ours, so many that at times we take up distractions like drugs and drink to remove the grim specter of truth from our lives and to give us a taste of well-being. When I wish to escape, I pick up a copy of HUSTLER, and for a while the beautiful women who grace your pages take the edge off my being alone, and your cartoons teach me how to laugh at myself again. Thank you for making this one life a little better with your fine publication. God bless.
—Dr. C. T. B.
San Francisco, California

GOD AS PIMP?
God could take me tomorrow for a chance to be with lovely Tricia (October '88 HUSTLER) for a day. She is one of the most interesting ladies I've ever seen in any magazine. Keep up the good work, HUSTLER, for you have the greatest ladies in the publishing business.
—M. N.
U.S. Army, South Korea

RACHEL'S RETURN
I love HUSTLER; the ladies seem to get better and better. One model I fell for who graced your pages was Penny Morgan. She was featured in the March '87 issue, and I hope she returns very soon.
—E. C.
Zion, Illinois

Penny Morgan now appears as Rachel Ryan, and she will star in the second HUSTLER Hard video feature, to be released soon.

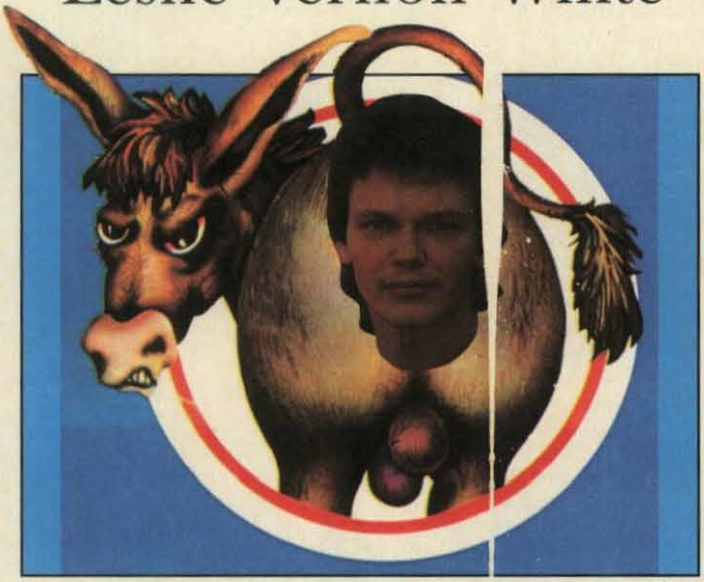
BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

Leslie Vernon White



For being a lying jailhouse fink, Leslie Vernon White is Asshole of the Month.

Sleazy, belly-crawling White has learned how to receive prosecutors' rewards of taxpayer money, weekend furloughs and reduced sentences in return for snitching on fellow inmates. Not surprisingly, this rat lied if necessary to earn favors.

White admits that he lied in at least one major case, but at press time would not name it while trying to get immunity from perjury prosecution. The case is believed to involve a man who came forward as a witness to a murder, but ended up convicted of it and sentenced to 24 years to life in prison. White first tried to win favors from the defense counsel, but ended up selling his cellmate down the river to the DA.

While stinking up jail on a purse-snatching rap in late '88, White demonstrated how he could concoct a confession plausible enough to earn paybacks from the DA's office. In a murder case involving an inmate he'd never met, White used the jail telephone and his bullshit artistry to gather enough details for a believable "overheard" confession.

White's knack for conning the system had previously been spotted by junior DA staffers, whose suspicions of the stool pigeon's reliability were ignored by top brass. In fact, insiders report complaints by two prosecutors, one bridling at being forced to recommend a weekend furlough for the fink, and the other DA, who'd become disenchanted with the lying scumbag, who chafed when "downtown" insisted White still be used.

On a convenience-store job application, that prosecutor was listed as White's former employer, using White as a paralegal, although at the time the snitch was busy rolling over on fellow convicts. White later confessed to robbing that store, but turned in his accomplice, who got five years, while White got a reduced sentence on a lesser charge (he'd been picked up driving a stolen car, which prompted his rendition of the old tune Save My Neck).

The lowlife shithead and his wife, claiming danger from finking on other cons, tapped the Witness Protection Fund for $2,170 by turning in phony rent vouchers for relocation. He says he blew the money on cocaine. The fork-tongued skeeve has also been offered a $10,000 option for movie rights to his telltale tale.

Whatever options this open sewer of lies-for-favors might exercise, he should be glad to get HUSTLER's Asshole treatment rather than the type thousands of prisoners would love to administer.

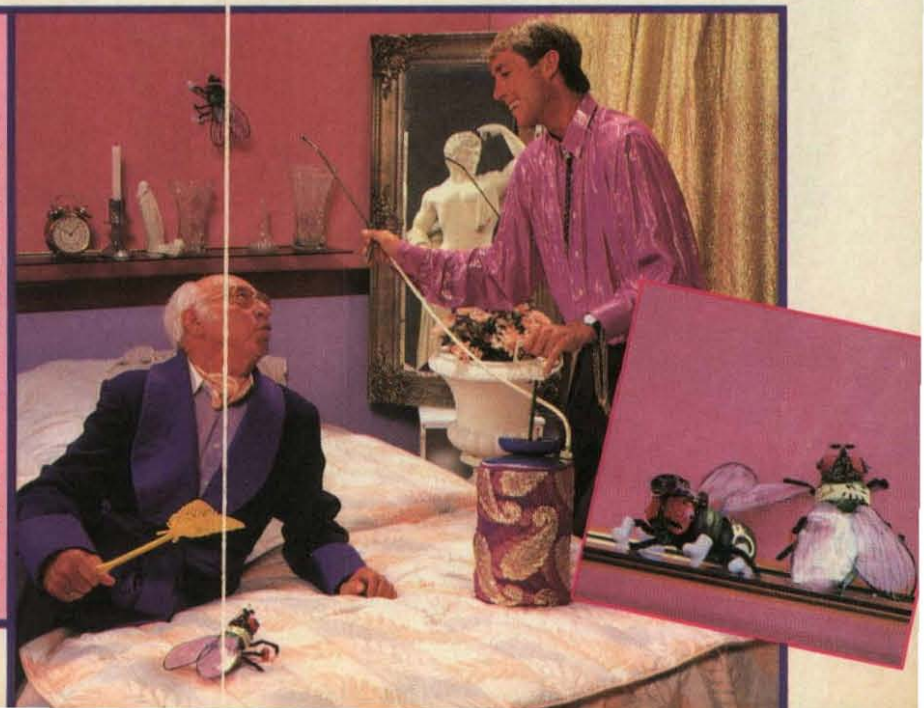
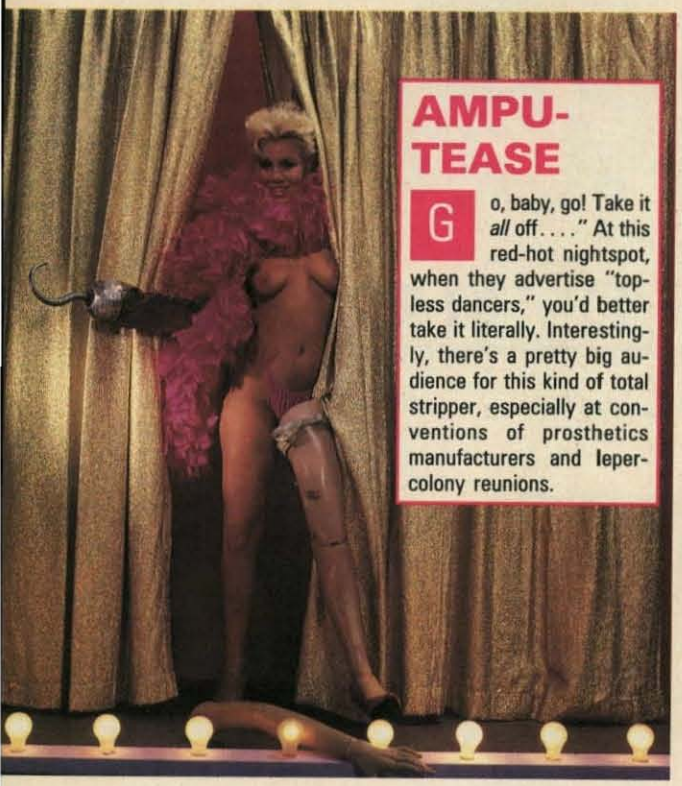
FRUIT FLIES

Ever since these little pests were spotted in a San Francisco boutique, there's been an all-out alert among the swish community. Contrary to popular belief, the fruit flies are not carriers of the deadly AIDS virus, but they can ruin a perfectly good quiche, and when they get into the rough stuff, the buzzing is deafening. So far, strangely enough, the best defense against the buggers has been massive aerial spraying of Cher's new perfume.



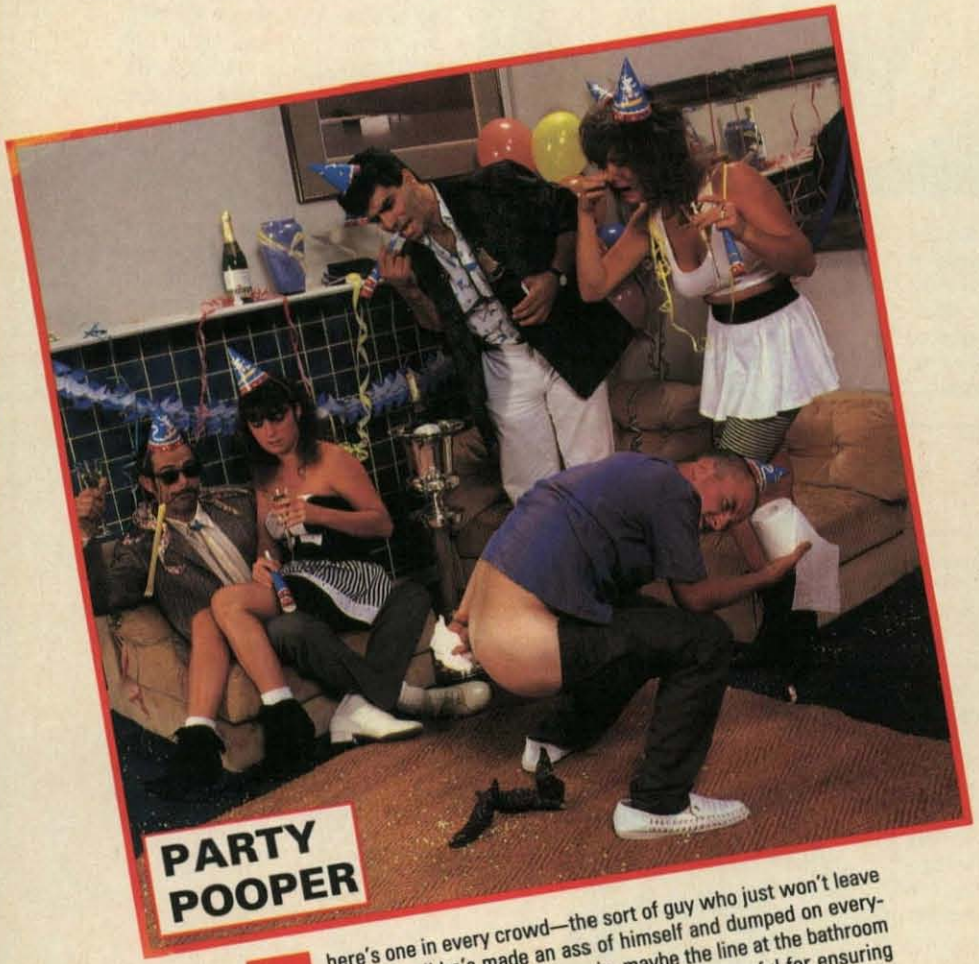


AMPU-TEASE

Go, baby, go! Take it all off...." At this red-hot nightspot, when they advertise "topless dancers," you'd better take it literally. Interestingly, there's a pretty big audience for this kind of total stripper, especially at conventions of prosthetics manufacturers and leper-colony reunions.

Porn From the Past

There's no reason to hoard that vintage porn, not when one of your dirty old photos could net you a quick $150. Send your smut to Porn From the Past, HUSTLER Magazine, 9171 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you want your pictures returned. We'll pay $150 for any we print.



PARTY POOPER

There's one in every crowd—the sort of guy who just won't leave a party until he's made an ass of himself and dumped on everyone else's good time. Then again, maybe the line at the bathroom was simply too long. At any rate, this sort of guest is useful for ensuring that nobody else outstays their welcome.

TOTAL SENSUALITY

If you're into gorgeous women showing pink (and we're guessing you wouldn't be reading this magazine if you weren't), you're going to be left breathless by HUSTLER Most Sensuous Pictorials Volume 2. This special collector's edition is filled from cover to cover with tantalizing full-color layouts from HUSTLER's world-famous shutterbugs. Whether you prefer your Honeys alone or in torrid lesbo or hetero action, you'll find something to turn you on in Most Sensuous. If you can't find it at your local newsstand, send $4.95, plus $1 for postage and handling per copy, to HUSTLER, P.O. Box 67068, Los Angeles, CA 90067. HUSTLER Most Sensuous Pictorials is the next best thing to being there.

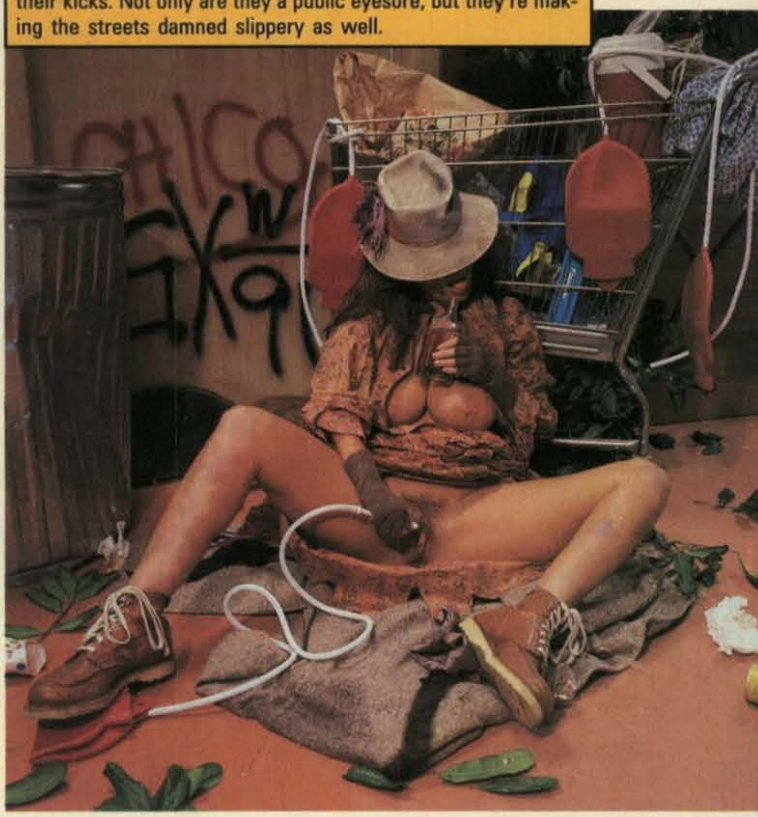
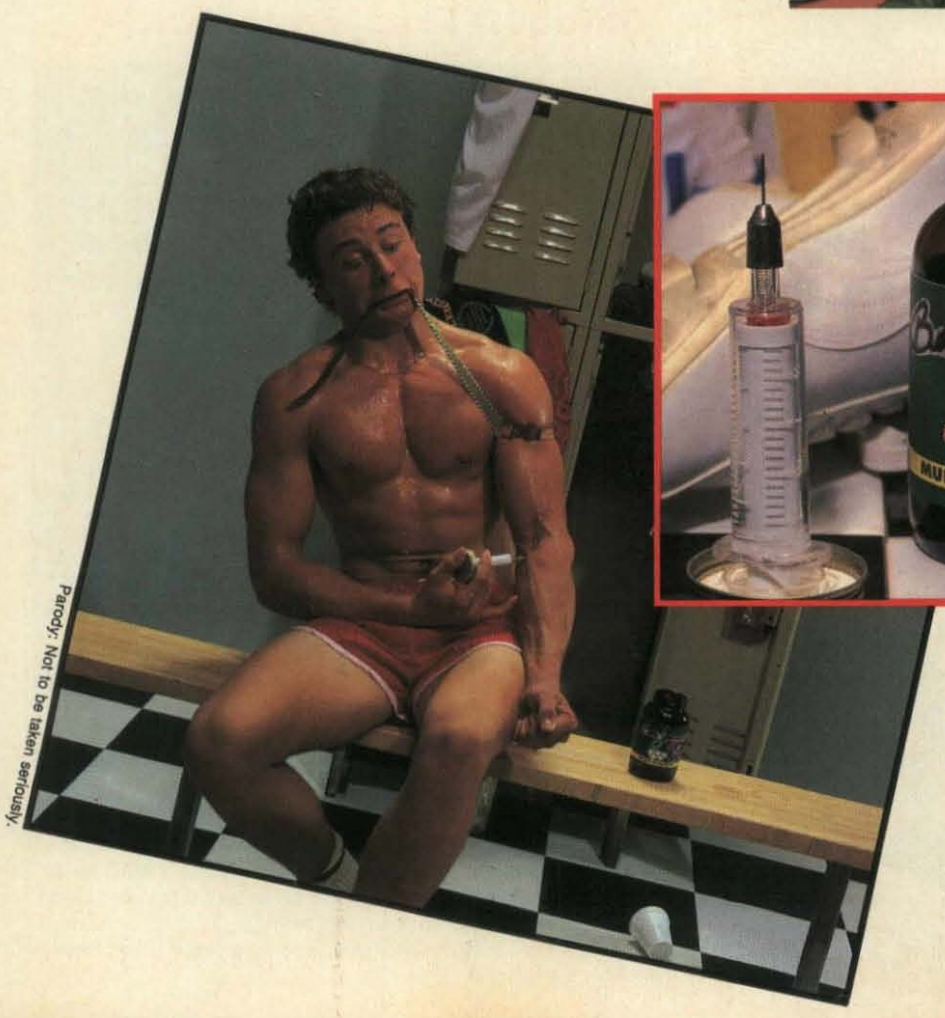
QUIM AND TONIC

The fact is, not every man enjoys eating pussy. One way to make those juices a bit more palatable is to mix them with your favorite drink. Careful not to overdo it, though, or like this poor sap, you may wind up in Cunnilinguists Anonymous.

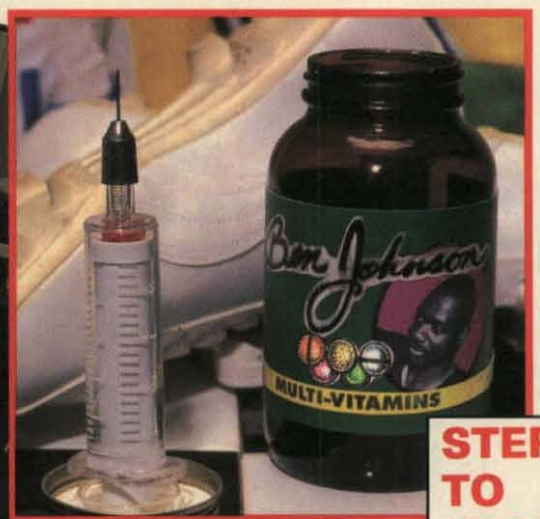
DOUCHEBAG LADY

Can nothing be done about this unsung tragedy of the inner cities? Pity the homeless fetishists who don't even have the privacy of their own bathroom in which to get their kicks. Not only are they a public eyesore, but they're making the streets damned slippery as well.





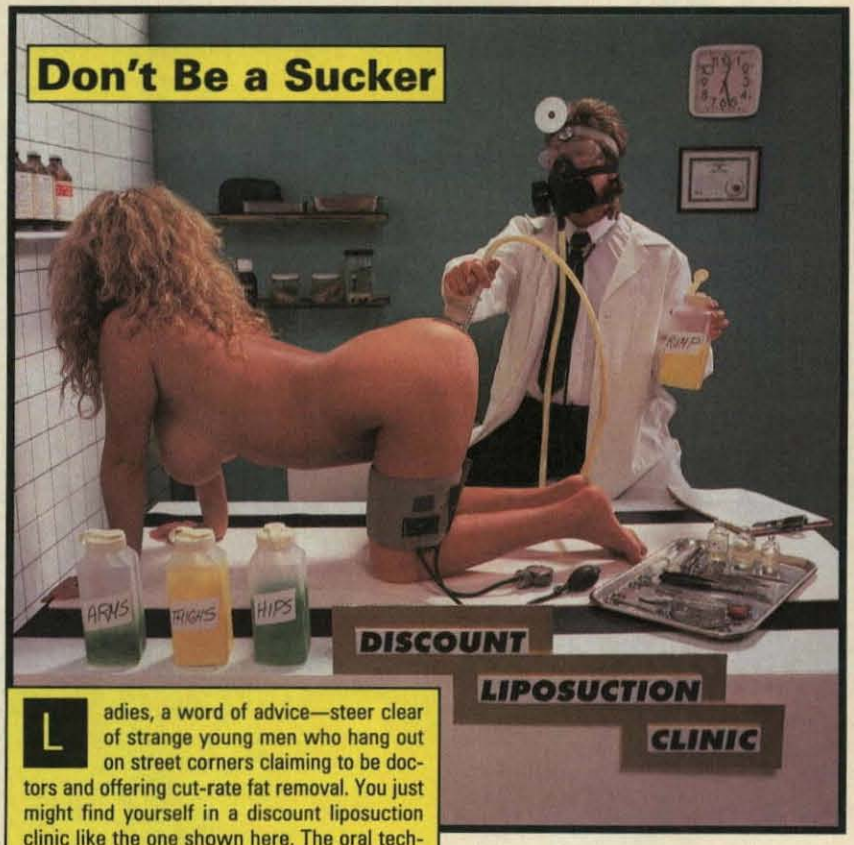
Parody: Not to be taken seriously.



STEROID TO HEAVEN

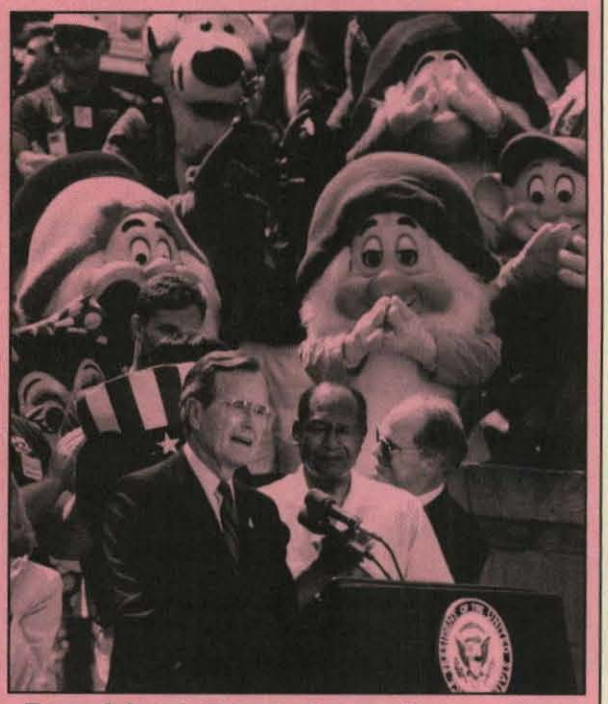
He may have been disgraced as an Olympic athlete, but that doesn't mean runner Ben Johnson isn't entitled to make a buck. His special "vitamin supplements," specially packaged with a childproof safety needle, are guaranteed to turn the wimpiest guy on the block into a muscle-bound freak, practically overnight. Says Ben himself, "They sure beat workin' out, man."

Don't Be a Sucker



Ladies, a word of advice—steer clear of strange young men who hang out on street corners claiming to be doctors and offering cut-rate fat removal. You just might find yourself in a discount liposuction clinic like the one shown here. The oral technique of eliminating cellulite, based on the same principle by which one siphons gasoline, is not a medically approved procedure. We cannot recommend it, unless, of course, you enjoy that sort of thing.

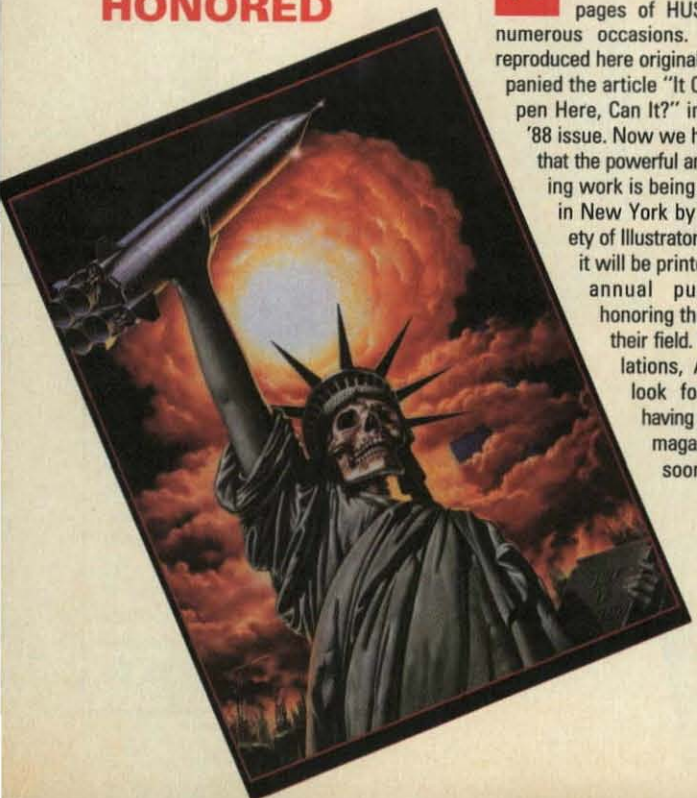
Great Moments With George



President Bush introduces his newly appointed Cabinet to reporters.

Parody: Not be taken seriously. HUSTLER's comments added to news photo.

HUSTLER ARTIST HONORED



Alex Ebel's striking illustrations have graced the pages of HUSTLER on numerous occasions. The one reproduced here originally accompanied the article "It Can't Happen Here, Can It?" in our July '88 issue. Now we have word that the powerful and disturbing work is being displayed in New York by the Society of Illustrators and that it will be printed in their annual publication honoring the finest in their field. Congratulations, Alex! We look forward to having you in the magazine again soon.

Illegal Aliens up in Arms

It had to happen sooner or later. Our pals from south of the border are losing their low-paying jobs to a whole new breed of illegal alien. The country is being overrun by extraterrestrials, who do the work more efficiently and are happy to be paid with vacuum cleaner lint, considered a delicacy on their home planet. You can't blame the displaced maids and migrant workers for being upset, but in America everyone is entitled to be exploited equally, no matter what galaxy they're from.

Sex News Bits

FINAL

Scientists Turning Sex Roles Upside Down

Thanks to two new devices recently developed by scientists, women can now wear condoms and men can breast-feed. That's right, a prophylactic for women has been developed in Denmark, and the early reviews are outstanding. Test results of the revolutionary product say that women prefer it, since it gives them control over their protection and can be inserted long before coition. It's also a stronger, more dependable condom, and improves sensation because it transmits body heat better than the common rubber. According to Mary Ann Leeper of Wisconsin Pharmacal Co., which holds the North American rights to the product, "One hundred percent of those who tried it said they would use it regularly." Another new contraption now on sale is something called the bonding bib. No kidding, it's a device worn on the chest that allows fathers to breast-feed their newborns. Created by Dr. Alfred Goldson, a cancer specialist at Howard University in Washington, the bib is placed on the man's chest, and two bottles of milk formula are put inside where the breasts are. The child then sucks on the bottles' nipples that protrude through openings on the bib. Strange as it sounds, Goldson and his wife have sold 5,000 units of the bibs, which sell for $19.95, and have recently received a U.S. patent. Says Mrs. Goldson, "It's a fun item." Science marches on.

French Condoms Blocking Sewers, Not Disease

Saint-Sixt, France—Mayor Bernard Frackowiak has asked his constituents to cease from flushing their rubbers down the drain, but not because of dangerous waste. Instead, the condoms from the horny community are severely clogging up the sewage-treatment plant. The worried village council has pleaded with the country's authorities to instruct consumers on how to properly dispose of condoms after use. Unfortunately, French prophylactics are apparently fit for the toilet. France's leading consumer organization reports that over one-third of all French condoms tested were ineffective in stopping transmission of the AIDS virus. For the time being, it would be wise to avoid French scumbags of all types.

Most Tasteless Cartoon

Love Doctor News Update

Doctor James C. Burt, the Ohio gynecologist who is accused of performing dozens of operations on unsuspecting women, allegedly to increase their sexual stimulation, has been formally charged by the State Medical Board. Citing 78 violations of provisions in the Medical Practices Act, the board charged Burt with gross immorality, grossly unprofessional conduct and other ethics no-nos. They also claim the doctor has tampered with 33 different patients since 1966. Girls who just want to have fun will be watching this case closely for word on Burt's surgical techniques.

Blowjob Leads to Pregnancy

In the first known case ever, oral sex has caused a pregnancy, though it did occur in a roundabout way. According to The Lancet, a British medical journal, a Zimbabwe woman who has a condition that hinders her from becoming pregnant was giving her boyfriend head when another boyfriend caught them in the act. In a jealous rage, the boyfriend stabbed the woman in the stomach, and nine months later she gave birth to a child. Doctors guess that somehow sperm entered through her wound into her gastrointestinal tract, which then found an egg in her reproductive organs. It may not be as a direct result of the blowjob, but it's the closest thing yet.

Down-Under Hookers Seek Titular Respect

It was Norma Rae meats Xaviera Hollander when the First National Conference of Australian Prostitutes met recently in Melbourne. The hot topic was not safe sex or better fucking techniques, however; rather, most of the debate focused on job description, as the tarts sought to discard the old negatives, like whore and hooker, for the more acceptable "professional sex-industry worker"—as opposed, of course, to the "opportunity sex worker." The event was sponsored by Australia's federal government and backed by a condom manufacturer. If this labor movement catches on, teamster meetings could become the most popular event around.

Typically Timely Reagan AIDS Action

Before revisionists rewrite and whitewash Ronald Reagan's atrocious tenure, we thought we'd dip into our let's-not-forget-what-an-asshole-he-was file. In what they probably viewed as a grand gesture, the Reagan White House declared October '88 as AIDS Awareness Month. Of course, they announced it on November first.

Raided AmVid Firms Seal Doors, Lips

HUSTLER readers trying to contact Den Video, listed in our November '88 article "Homegrown Porn," have already discovered that the firm has closed shop due to a raid by postal inspectors following the article's publication. If you can't reach a featured amateur sexvid company, please let us know. They may have become yet another victim of federal repression.

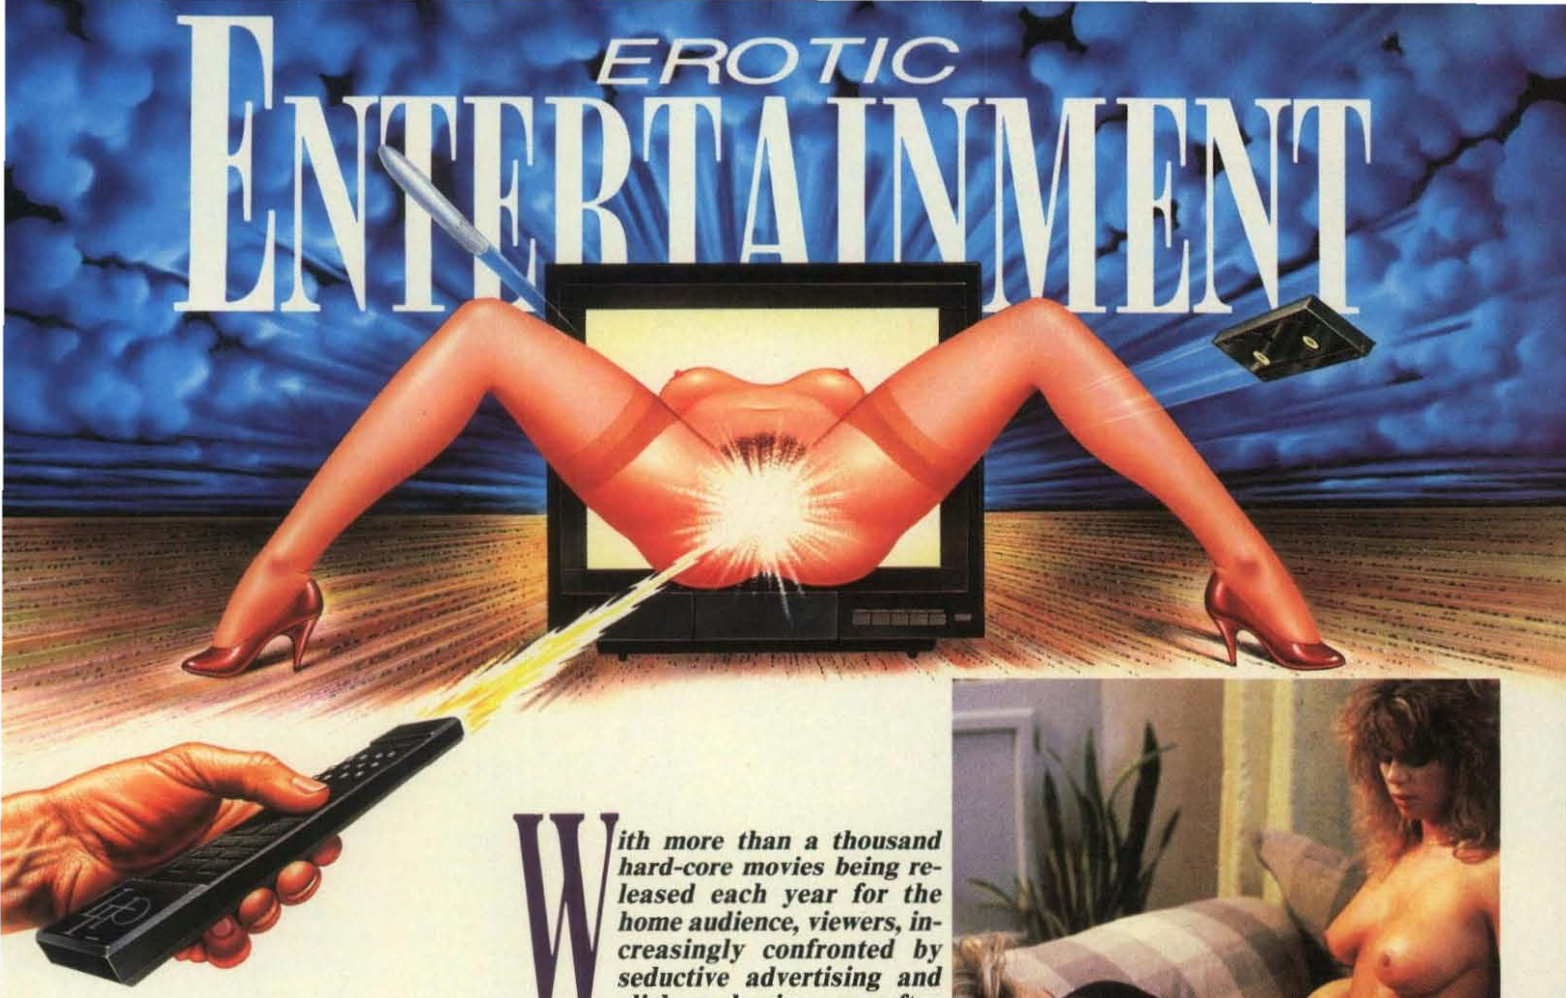
EROTIC ENTERTAINMENT



With more than a thousand hard-core movies being released each year for the home audience, viewers, increasingly confronted by seductive advertising and slick packaging, are often at a loss when it comes to selecting an X-rated tape worth watching.* HUSTLER *is committed to serious, no-bullshit criticism designed to accurately inform readers of XXX-cinema offerings, and to spur the adult-entertainment industry to better productions. Despite their drastic decline, there will always be adult theaters, and we'd never leave a film buff in the lurch: If a review says a production was shot on film, it's probably playing on a big screen somewhere–all you have to do is find it.

Rachel Ryan delivers lip service to Tracey Adams in RR.

RACHEL RYAN RR

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Starring Rachel Ryan, Tracey Adams, Renee Summers, Jeanna Fine, Kim Alexis, Nikki Knights, Joey Silvera, Peter North, Jerry Butler, Mike Horner, Tom Byron, Randy West and Billy Dee. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

Rachel Ryan's career epitomizes the opportunities for personal growth within the pornography industry, a field of endeavor offering more chances for advancement than any other job imaginable, including the manager-trainee programs at McDonald's and Carl's Jr. Ryan, hungry and willing, began her climb up the ladder of sleaze success as Ingrid Elliott, a bottle-blond, rapacious-faced, white goddess of the trailer court exploiting a penchant for turning up beneath one, three, seven or nine black men, writhing and effervescing like a salted leach beneath torrents of Negro jizz. Hardworking Elliott's dark-dick handling earned a promotion to Penny Morgan, a continuously crapper-packed incarnation, though primarily probed by white wands. Penny, through asshole application and cosmetic surgery, eventually evolved into Rachel Ryan, a top-of-the-slime-heap slut, a class cunt with top billing and an exclusive Western Visuals contract. From there, Ryan retired to fond memories, the glow of goop glory past (and, shortly, a long-awaited comeback). Rachel Ryan, all culled from the Western Visuals days, with its butt-fuck and double penetration, will certainly be a joy during the autumn of Ryan's life.

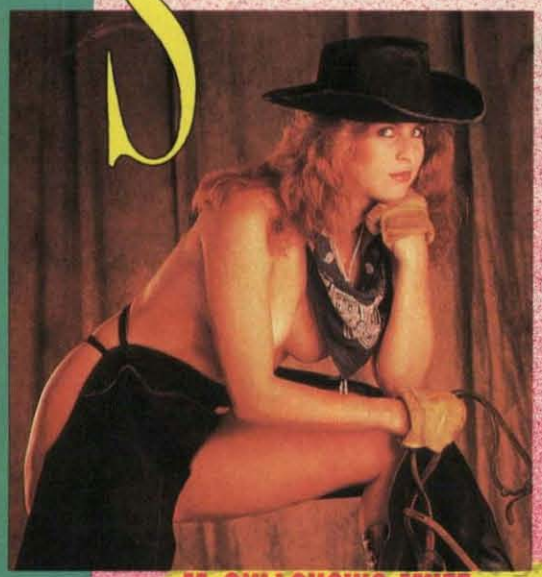
SEX SCENE



McCULLOUGH'S MUFF RIDES INTO THE DUST

Shanna McCullough, redheaded girl-next-door hyper-cunt of uncountable Henri Pachard features, will flay her vaginal folds on video no more, or at least so she claims. McCullough, long recognized as one of the least incompetent actresses in the porn milieu, has big plans to go legit and a backer to help her crossover dreams come true. Rather than hide her sperm-blast past, Shanna's strategy is to capitalize on her experience as an erotician. We wish the talented tart luck, and if things don't pan out, she can always come back for an onscreen fuck.

ALICE IN BLACKLAND

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Duck Dumont and Charles de Santos; starring Angel Kelly, Jeannie Pepper, Renee Morgan, Billy Dee, Don Fernando and Ray Victory. Videocassette by VCA.

Perhaps Duck Dumont and Charles de Santos have some easily believed explanation as to why a total cast of six performers required two directors in Alice in Blackland, some collaborative rationalization along the lines of, "Well, we needed one director to direct the three guys, didn't we, Duck?" "That's right, Chuck. And the other one of us directors directed the three girls, didn't we?" "Sure, I remember now, Duck. I directed the girls. That's how it went." "Right, Chuck, that's how it went, except I was the director who directed the girls, see?" While the creative forces confab, dark divinity of the female form Angel Kelly is phallically worshiped by Ray Victory's ebony totem pole; Jeannie Pepper's blissful gaze and bounteous breasts are liberally splashed with spew de Billy Dee and Don Fernando; off-white, ratted-haired blood-lover Blackland: Decisions, decisions for Jeannie Pepper.

Renee Morgan has her etiolated butt battered and splattered by a throbbing black bludgeon; Angel's slit is slurped by a salivating Renee; Dee pulls his dong out of Kelly's amber-honey hole to shoot on Pepper's heaving, dusky chest; Fernando pounds Morgan with his eager-to-beaver piston. And where were de Santos and Dumont during all this action? Probably out discussing the script, which never made it to Alice's Blackland.

—Aron Cope

THE NAKED STRANGER

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Paul Thomas; starring Barbara Dare, Ariel Knight, Aja, Tom Byron and Louis Paul. Videocassette by Vivid Video.

It takes a special talent to construct a feasibly arousing adult entertainment out of a cast of five slime stars, and Paul Thomas almost has that talent. Using only three cunts and two penises (only one of which is fully functional in more than one appearance), Thomas fashions a tale of feminine deceit and betrayal for bucks. As well as fine, understated acting (particularly Tom Byron's nonhistrionic portrayal in the Jerry Butler role), Naked Stranger has two sex scenes of positive note. Both boffo boffings are of Byron putting hard-driving Barbara Dare through her power-pussy paces. Dare writhes and jerks on Tom's face, his nose quivering ecstatically in the crack of her buttocks; his cock slides pulsating between her perfectly even teeth; her pop-nippled, natural-beauty titties feed his hungry lips; his bulging bone stuffs her starving slit; his thrusts bounce from her buns; and in unison with thousands of VCR owners across America, he pulls out and comes. Director Thomas would have been wise to pitch Byron and Dare together twice more, eliminating Stranger's remaining sex scenes, which have little to recommend them.

—Hakim Whithers

DEBBIE'S LOVE SPELL

Shot on Video.

Totally Limp. Directed by Janus Rainer; starring Christy Robbins, Randy Paul, Susan Mason and Joanna Firestone. Videocassette by Tribeca Video.

New York City seems to have more than its share of negative-image builders—roughshod gentrification; hordes of contentious homeless; such typical citizens as Donald Trump, Ed Koch and Richard Nixon; and now the rank turd that is Debbie's Love Spell from Tribeca Video. Tribeca (from *Tri*angle *Be*low *Ca*nal) is the happening sector of Manhattan these days, a burgeoning center of creative talent and new thinking, none of which is evident in this plopped piece of porn poop. Not only is Debbie's Love Spell stupid in concept and pedestrian in execution (with boring camerawork, hideous sound, murky lighting, unstunning cunts and stunted performances), it contains only two sex scenes, one an ill-lit, laconic three-girl grope, the other a poke by B-level stud Randy Paul (twice misidentified as Randy West) of C-level twat Christy Robbins. No worm, not even a chauvinistic chewer of the Big Apple, is going to stand up for Debbie's Love Spell. —H. W.

The least unappealing of Debbie's girls.

PORN STAR'S DAY OFF

Shot on Video.

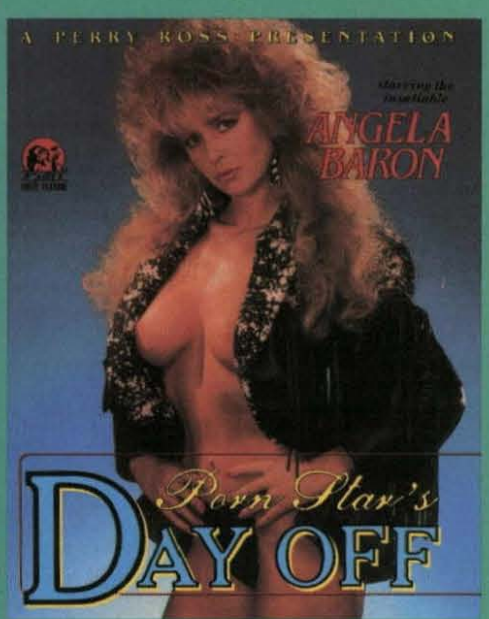
Half Erect. Directed by Carl Belgum; starring Angela Baron, Trinity Loren, Fallon, Niki Pink, Cheri Hill, Dionne Castro, Christi Lane, Tom Byron, Buck Adams, Ray Hardin and Jerry Butler. Videocassette by Fantasy Home Video.

The typical video slut, on her day off, grabs a buddy cunt, and the pair of poons suck Buck Adams's outsized member, lick his tensed scrotum, take a turbulent gash mashing from his turgid, blood-engorged club, then put their heads together to absorb the impact of Buck's streaming and steaming semen spray. Another busy slut is so happy to have a break in her scum schedule that she lies back to catch some shut-eye, her eyelids sealed with thick, well-placed globs of cock cream, schlong sap splashed liberally about her reclining face, from nose to cheeks to lips. That's something she doesn't get enough of at work. And Angela Baron, on her moments away from the set, would be expected to spend quality quim time with hubby/producer Perry Ross, but not so. Angela is out slobbering on the prong of Jerry Butler, who gives the German ginch a grand slam from behind, then jerks off without getting any on her, saying, "You fucking slut." She is, but not enough to make Porn Star's Day Off worth watching on a porn reviewer's day off. —C. S.

HOT SPOT

CHAMPAGNE

With only four fuck flicks under her garter belt as of this writing, Champagne is a genuine newcomer to the grow-up-in-a-hurry world of professional copulation. Connoisseurs may recognize her as Brigett Blue. Under this previous nom de porn, she appeared in such memorable works as Anal Attraction and Breast Stroke. Renamed by Western Visuals in honor of—you guessed it—her bubbly personality, Champagne is currently starring in the first installment of HUSTLER Hard, Dreams in the Forbidden Zone, which snagged her a coveted Best Actress nomination from the Adult Video News, and allowed us yet another opportunity for shameless self-promotion. Her enthusiasm, good looks and air of Midwestern naivete are thus far undiminished by the ravages of porn—the only hindrance to her career at this point is the fact that, like previous monogamous and monomial muffs Blondi and Kascha, Champagne has limited her onscreen hetero couplings to less than electrifying boyfriend Rick Daniels. However, that is likely to change in the near future, when Champagne becomes a household word. (Although, come to think of it, it already is....)



VIDEO OF THE MONTH

Prom Girls: Blake Palmer and Tom Byron offer a free pelvic exam to Dana Lynn.

PROM GIRLS
Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Alex deRenzy; starring Shanna McCullough, Megan Leigh, Eva Allen, Renee Morgan, Aja, Kendal Marx, Dana Lynn, Peter North, Tom Byron, Joey Silvera and Blake Palmer. Videocassette by Caballero Home Video.

Joey Silvera realizes he has a naked girl in front of him, in the form of Eva Allen.

As might be expected from Prom Girls, according to Alex deRenzy, the only dance done is the mattress-back mambo. Lean, cute-nipped cream-dream Megan Leigh commences the fuck-strewn festivities with a tailspin on Tom Byron's face. Goofball Joey Silvera persuades stacked squack Eva Allen to squat her smooth butt on his chin as he nibbles her quim. Dirty white chick Aja jams two fingers into raunchy Renee Morgan's receptive rectal hole while lapping Morgan's labe-lined slot. Aja and Renee slop in on Silvera and Allen, the three sluts squirming on Joey until a jolt of jizz spits out on a belly. Pretty and prim Dana Lynn feigns sleep as she's ravaged by the tongues and tools of Blake Palmer and Tom Byron. The action closes with wanton-next-door Shanna McCullough and hairy-snatched Kendal Marx taking turns on the turkey neck of Peter North, his copious creaming smeared into Marx's magnificent muff. The dialogue and silly antics, like those of most Prom Girls, are totally dispensable, but deRenzy's crammed seven cunts into this picture, which, every stroker will realize immediately, is two more than can be counted on one hand. —Kurt Blume

THE KINK
Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard; starring Porsche Lynn, Robert Bullock, Lynn LeMay, Jasmine, Brandy Alexandre, Renee Morgan, Randy West, Ray Victory and Scott Irish. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

Kink means different things to different people and comes in different degrees. A highly kinky activity to the sensibility of a San Diego, California, zookeeper will hardly raise more than a yawn from an Alabama circuit preacher, while the circuit preacher's mildest kink is enough to melt down the carnal receptors of the most demented men's magazine editor. In The Kink Randy West stars as an insufficiently warped men's magazine editor faced with the dilemma of coming up with some flagrantly kinky stories or losing his job. On the basis of what is shown in the Henri Pachard-directed feature, West lost the job. The Kink goes no further than Porsche Lynn licking a blindfolded strawberry blonde's nylon-encased toes after the slinky tootsies have rubbed the sheer Lynn slot; Ray Victory and Scott Irish treat a slop-fucking ethnic gash to anal/vaginal simultaneous thrusting with an extended asshole bashing, capped with a frothy lathering of her bunghole and butt crack; and Lynn dolled up in leather, vinyl and chains snaps a big bullwhip before whipping an everyday BJ and boff on Randy West. The Kink might put a twist on the carnal perceptions of a lonely zookeeper and his chimp, but it's S.O.P. to the seasoned smut-flick reviewer. —K. B.

THE SLUT
Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard; starring Alicia Monet, Megan Leigh, Joey Silvera, Ona Zee, F. M. Bradley, Renee Morgan, Shanna McCullough, Robert Bullock, Randy Spears, Steve Nolte. Videocassette by Fantasy Home Video.

Alicia Monet turns in one of her hottest performances yet as Lola, the insatiable sex machine who's after any and all cocks and cunts. As the foul-mouthed floozy, Monet makes all four of her sex scenes burst with tool-throbbing tension. Whether it's a wicked threeway with lusty Monet lookalike Shanna McCullough and Robert Bullock trading poles and holes, or an oozing coozing between Monet and Ona Zee, this bitch is on fire. A sizzling fiveway closes out the ball-busting action, with Monet lining up for a creamy facial. The non-Monet scenes pale by comparison, although F. M. Bradley's porking of Renee Morgan ends with a classic line. Having just shared the field marshal's licorice stick, Morgan suggests marriage, to which the black bone-hound replies, "Bitch, don't be fuckin' with my head!" Henri Pachard is firing on almost all cylinders again, and thanks to the volcanic Monet, this is one film that definitely earns its title. —S. L.

Randy West in the throes of yellow fever.

GOOD MORNING, SAIGON

Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Milton Ingley; starring Ron Jeremy, Aja, Ray Victory, Kascha, Francois Papillon, Buck Adams, Randy West, Casey Nova, Lin Shin and Lisa Nuygen. Videocassette by Zane Entertainment Group.

If Ron Jeremy were capable of filling Robin Williams's comedic shoes, even in an imitative production such as Good Morning, Saigon, then he would have a real job, and lovers of video erotica would not suffer the harrowing vision of the Hedgehog's traumatizing physiognomy and hairy belly at every turn of the X-rated roadway. As it is, most modern VCRs come equipped with the fast-forward feature, silencing Jeremy and whipping the action of this Namset sex-fest to Randy West's spit-slick prong sliding in around fake-gook Casey Nova's G-string; new-boobs Kascha opening her blue almond eyes to see Francois Papillon routing between her thighs; Lin Shin's little monkey face applying a saliva glaze to a big Buck Adams bone; Ray Victory slicing dark rod past fake-gook Nova's hairy ass crack as she fondles her hairless vulva; Shin and true-Viet Lisa Nuygen sharing Randy West's cunt pin; and Aja, the tape's star, finally appearing to take a tongue spearing and dong pronging from bloated joke Jeremy. Good Morning, Saigon is a furlough to a good night of R&R. —K. B.

Good Morning Saigon: Francois Papillon damn near fucks Kascha's eyes open.

HOT NUMBERS

Shot on Video.

Totally Limp. Directed by Mike Vidor and Pete Anglich; starring Nikki Knights, Tracey Adams, Nina Hartley, Alexis White, Jon Martin, Billy Dee and Buddy Love. Videocassette by Wet Video.

For what it cost to make Hot Numbers, a wiser person could have bought a Hyundai and a couple years' worth of insurance. Producers/directors Mike Vidor and Pete Anglich chose the foolish route instead and opted to make a porn movie. Simple—no, banal—in concept, plot and execution, Hot Numbers is essentially two extended sex scenes peopled with various performers and photographed so uninterestingly, so tentatively, so ineptly, that three-quarters of the coupling looks simulated, and the other quarter just looks dull. There's nothing hot about this slop except the title. —John Cooper

SURFSIDE SEX

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by John Stagliano; starring Aja, Trinity Loren, Tanya Fox and Peter North. Videocassette by Caballero Home Video.

With the possible exception of Angel, Aja is the most gorgeous gash being plowed in porn today. Her covergirl looks make her appear like she just stepped off the pages of Vogue, while her appetite for dick makes her seem like a 42nd Street cock hound. This nimrod affair showcases the awesome Aja in three of the paltry five sex scenes, and she transforms each one into a ball-burning delight. The tit hair of a story has her as a beach bunny who roams the sands in search of sex, and judging from the way she scores, we've all been hanging out at the wrong beaches. Her long, loving throating of a Mel Gibson lookalike is prime Aja, while a threeway with Trinity Loren and Peter North proves bone-inducing, to say the least. The hot trio ends with Aja taking a long slurp on North's volcanic jizz dispenser, getting more than a mouthful of copious cum. Debits in the film are the incessantly monotonous score and a tendency to let the fuck scenes run way too long, but with Aja grappling your gonads, it turns out to be excessive ecstasy.

—S. L.

Surfside: Peter North in an enviable position between Aja and Trinity Loren.

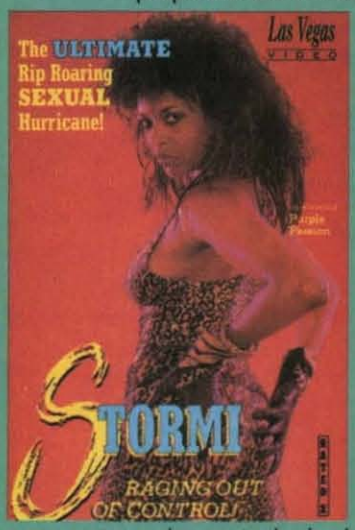
STORMI

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Starring Stormi, Angel Cruz, Nina De Ponca, Purple Passion, Billy Dee, Ray Victory, K. C. Cool and Vic Butler. Videocassette by Las Vegas Video.



Many white people have only limited contact with black people and are therefore ignorant of what the darker race does. Stormi ought to clear up any cloudy conceptions. Black people fuck. They do it a lot, under the slightest pretext, and they do it in front of loaded cameras. In this one video document alone, mounds of dark mammaries avalanche upon a big-bone Eddie Murphy epigone; Purple Passion sits up straight and spreads wide her smoky smooth thighs to watch a male underling's lingual expertise with her stinky under thing; Billy Dee's one-eyed slug spits up upon a set of jasper jumbo jugs; Passion wrenches sweat and semen from bikini-pantied, crowbar-equipped Ray Victory; and Victory pries his solid black tool into the tight cunny crannies of a hincty whorish black chick and perpetual mixed-race light delight, Nina De Ponca, who is hardly on camera long enough to squeeze off a hair trigger. Stormi could have used more turbulence, starting with De Ponca.

AIDS WATCH

THE NUMBERS GAME

by Larry Wichman

In December 1988, every news report on AIDS cited the same chilling statistics: 44,000 dead since 1981, 78,300 total confirmed cases, with an estimated 1.5 to 3 million Americans infected with the virus. What you never hear are the statistics on heterosexual transmission, and how rarely it occurs.

In New York, for example, of the 14,592 AIDS cases diagnosed over the past seven years, as of August 1988 only 359 women and eight men were classified as having contracted the disease through purely heterosexual contact. In San Francisco, only 26 of 4,944 AIDS cases were reportedly due to heterosexual transmission. Furthermore, in none of these 393 cases were investigators certain that high-risk sexual activities could be ruled out.

So why hasn't U.S. Surgeon General C. Everett Koop bothered to tell heterosexuals that it's safe to sleep around again? Because that wouldn't be in keeping with the AIDS establishment's ongoing campaign of fear. The fact is, for years the medical community has been juggling statistics and interpreting findings to suit their own needs. They've been playing a numbers game with the general public. They have straight, middle-class America convinced that AIDS is as much a heterosexual as homosexual disease, and they intend to keep it that way. Their clinical funding—as with their dreams of winning the Nobel Prize—banks on it.

Virologists knew from the very beginning that AIDS was a disease they would need to sell to the masses. Heterosexuals never would have taken AIDS seriously if they'd thought it struck only gay men and junkies. The public had to feel that they were equally at risk so that funds would be made available for cleaning up the blood supply and financing research.

And these weren't just nickel-and-dime grants. In 1988, it was expected that the federal government shell out more than $950 million for AIDS projects. Funding from the private sector was reportedly also quite heavy, but then, so were the profits from drugs like AZT and books on safe sex—not to mention the skyrocketing surge in condom sales. There's a lot of money riding on keeping heterosexuals in the dark.

Some scientists may even be hyping the AIDS scare in an attempt to alter social morals. For example, Major Robert Redfield from the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research spent over three years testing military recruits for AIDS. Redfield found that out of every 1,000 recruits, 1.5 tested positive, which is a high rate for heterosexuals. Thus, he claimed the data meant that AIDS was running rampant through the straight population.

However, some suggest Redfield is a right-winger who deliberately set out to prove that AIDS was being transmitted via vaginal intercourse and that much of the blame rested on sexual permissiveness and prostitution. His critics point to the fact that Redfield's observations have come under repeated attack. The New York City Department of Health has even accused him of using "questionable data and unsound epidemiological reasoning."

Illustration by Bill Jaynes

Redfield's argument rests on the assumption that his 4 million military personnel all had low-risk, heterosexual backgrounds. ("Look, I'm in the service, and I'm not a degenerate," he claims, "no more than the average person who joins the service is.") Yet, a follow-up study of 22 New York City armed-forces recruits who'd tested positive for AIDS revealed that 19 of them had lived a high-risk lifestyle.

In fact, it's becoming increasingly apparent that the heterosexual population remains fairly free of AIDS. Researchers believe that as long as heterosexual men refrain from sharing needles, don't engage in anal intercourse with an infected partner, and avoid screwing an AIDS carrier during an outbreak of herpes (the virus can enter through herpes and other lesions), straight men stand very little chance of coming down with the disease. Straight women adhering to the above guidelines will probably be safe also, assuming they ask their partners to don condoms before penetration. Thus, the AIDS establishment has had to rely on a form of "creative bookkeeping" to ensure that heterosexuals continue to feel at risk.

One of the most blatant examples of statistical manipulation was engineered by the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) — the government agency that monitors AIDS. The CDC recently reported that the number of AIDS cases involving heterosexuals had doubled in two years (i.e., gone from 2% of the total AIDS population to 4%).

In reality, however, the agency had simply revamped their heterosexual-transmission category to include African and Haitian immigrants, who'd previously been placed in a separate, high-risk group, which by itself had accounted for 2% of all cases!

The CDC also released a report that estimated that by 1991, the number of heterosexual transmissions would rise to 9%. But here again the agency was guilty of statistical chicanery. In order to generate their findings, the health organization added cases from a third category of AIDS patients on whom risk information was incomplete—meaning that the victims may well have been junkies, bisexuals or homosexuals. Although the CDC later revised its findings and came up with an estimated increase of only 5.3% (which again included Haitians and Africans), the media had long since reported the more sensational 9% figure.

Actually, many CDC statistics are presently coming under fire. Take, for example, their estimate that between 1.5 and 3 million Americans are infected with the human immunodeficiency virus (HIV). Although health officials would like us to believe that AIDS is spreading like wildfire, they've been using essentially this same figure since 1985. They did revise it down to between 945,000 and 1.4 million last fall, admitting that they may have initially overestimated. Yet, some experts believe that even this figure is grossly inflated.

According to Andrew Moss, head of the AIDS Epidemiology Group at San Francisco General Hospital, the figure should be half that. "Our generous estimate is that 500,000 to 800,000 people are infected," he says. "And we really believe it's at the low end of that."

The problem is that the CDC's estimate is based largely upon the assumption that there are approximately 2.5 million gays and 7.5 million bisexual males in America—figures that are turning out to be too high. In July, for example, New York health officials admitted that they had miscalculated the size of the gay population in their city. Instead of 500,000 male homosexuals, they now say only 100,000 to 250,000 queers live in the Big Apple. And that comes just one year after officials in San Francisco revised their estimates of gay residents down from 70,000 to between 55,000 and 42,000.

The truth is that for years health officials have been shamefully exaggerating the statistical impact of AIDS. In January 1987 Otis Bowen, the U.S. Secretary of Health and Human Services, warned that AIDS might soon make the Black Death of 1348 look pale by comparison. Yet, during its first three years, that plague killed 25 million Europeans. Within 50 years it had wiped out 70% of Europe. On the other hand, there have been only 44,000 AIDS-related deaths in the U.S. since 1981!

Compare that with the 150,000 people who annually died of tuberculosis at the end of the 19th century, with the 472,000 Americans who die of cancer each year and with the 950,000 who annually die of heart disease, and it becomes apparent how minor the AIDS "epidemic" actually is—and how manipulative spokesmen for the AIDS establishment have been! The AIDS numbers game is a scam!

Fear and hypocrisy have repressed sexual awareness, leading to the ignorance that spreads disease and creates violence, in addition to hindering our natural enjoyment of sex. This series opens the door to current sexual knowledge and expression, and improved lovemaking.

DIVORCE AND YOUR DICK

by Robert McGarvey

When my wife and I split up, I knew I'd be bedhopping with a vengeance," blurts Culver City, California, schoolteacher Tim M. "During the last year of our marriage, our sex life evaporated. I was one horny dog. But," Tim shrugs, "it took three months after the breakup before I got laid. I'm still not getting it regularly. The girls look like bowwows. I go home alone, and the next morning I get down on myself for not picking up a bitch, any bitch, the night before. Divorce ain't what it's cracked up to be."

The odds are exactly 50-50 that a first marriage will end in divorce. In a second marriage the odds against permanence are even worse: six in ten remarriages end in the courts. Divorce, if it comes, hits men at the prime of their life. The average age of divorcing men is 33 (for women it's 30). Most marriages that end in divorce do so within the first seven years, with the greatest number of splits occurring within the first three years.

Divorce, despite its frequency, is devastating. This is true for the breakup of both marriages and long-term live-in relationships. No matter how much you hate your ex, the "changes wrought by divorce exact a profound effect on sexual functioning," claim Lorna J. Sarrel and Phillip M. Sarrel, authors of Sexual Turning Points. Few marriages dissolve without first maiming the sexual self-image of the partners. "Before the divorce occurs," say the Sarrels, "there may be a sexual problem of some duration. In the face of a deteriorating relationship, a once-adequate sex life may become a problem area."

Some men make a smooth, even ecstatic transition from marriage to being single again. But in one survey 60% of divorced men (and 73% of women) said the first year of single life was so miserable, they thought the divorce was a mistake. Noted sex researcher Morton Hunt puts matters bluntly: "The divorce experience is one of crisis, alienation, transition and recuperation."

The perpetual after-divorce party most men anticipate is rarely achieved. "The introduction to the liberated world of postmarital sex is anxiety-producing to many," observes Hunt.

These refugees from broken marriages often "exhibit an odd combination of sophistication and naivete," offers University of Massachusetts' professor Robert Weiss, author of the landmark Marital Separation. Marriage may leave them with keen insight into women and their sexual needs, but that's all it's left them. "They are unaccustomed to the practice of dating," points out Weiss, "and often uncertain about others' intentions and their own wishes."

bought HUSTLER since the magazine's inception because of its outstanding erotic illustrations.

Her inspiration for creating works appreciative of the body's sensuality, however, stems from an entirely different source. "My pickup truck was parked on a hill, and it began to roll backwards. I was almost crushed," confesses the 36-year-old artist. Miller-Wayne's brush with death proved a catalyst for her passionate imagery.

Working in black-and-white and colored pen-and-ink and pencils, Marsha conducts her efforts at erotic impressions primarily for her own satisfaction, but she has sold 20 works to private collectors. Now New York's Erotics Gallery is interested in staging an exhibit of Marsha's work, to include some selections from this HUSTLER feature. Marsha was also among contributors to the Oklahoma City Art Coalition's annual erotic exhibit, which this past year drew 450 observers, including HUSTLER Art Director Karen Domenico, whose report will be featured in an upcoming issue.

As for the creative atmosphere of the Sooner State, Wayne simply points to her work titled Trapped in the Bible Belt, which reflects the subdued, restrictive and straitlaced mentality of the greater Tulsa area. HUSTLER believes that Marsha Miller-Wayne's exceptional erotic art has helped put some slack in the Bible Belt.

James M.'s experience illustrates a frequent result of that uncertainty: "I was a heavy ladies' man throughout my marriage, but right after the divorce I retreated into a cave," admits James. "Most nights I'd drink a six-pack of beer and watch a movie on the VCR. When I'd meet women, I'd mentally compare them to my ex. They always came out on the losing side; so I wouldn't bother."

One common reaction to divorce, as illustrated by Tim and James, is a temporary loss of interest in sex. According to Hunt, 25% of divorced individuals do not go out on a single date in the year following divorce. Within two years of the divorce, 10% still haven't dated. In the aftermath, notes Dr. Jane Woody, a sex researcher at the University of Nebraska, "some persons lose awareness of themselves as sexual beings and of their sexual needs and avoid all sexual activity."

Loss of interest in sex can be a healthy short-term step. "Abstinence can be a time of learning and growing," opines leading sexuality researcher Dr. Bernie Zilbergeld. "We men simply haven't had much permission to be uninterested and uninvolved in sex. But such times occur for many of us, sometimes lasting months and longer."

Abstinence is only one of many postdivorce reactions. George Caplan, a Washington, D.C., lobbyist, was put through the wringer by another twist. "I had more sex with my ex-wife in the first year after the divorce than I did in the year before. I'd see my son on Saturday, and most Saturday nights I'd spend in the sack with Joanie, my ex. If you'd told me that was going to happen, I'd have said you were nuts."

Doctor Woody relates that "it is not uncommon for partners in the early stages of separation and divorce to have sporadic or even regular contact with each other." This phase rarely lasts more than a year, say the experts, and it ends when one (or both) ventures out into dating. It's unlikely that this phase will lead to a resumption of the marriage. According to research conducted by the University of Colorado, 87% of marital separations end in divorce. Few divorced couples remarry.

Woody notes a third common reaction to divorce: some men "cope by engaging in casual or promiscuous sexual encounters."

AIDS aside, "divorced men have been freed from social and internal constraints upon normal heterosexual behavior that existed a generation ago," corroborates Morton Hunt. In a survey conducted by Hunt, the average number of sex partners in the past year for a divorced male was eight, more than double the two to four women bedded by the typical single man in the survey. PHOTOTRON

GROW ANY PLANT PYRAPONIMETRICALLY

In the laboratory of a major university, Jeffery DeMarco, president and founder of Pyraponic Industries, developed the discrete base concept. This concept and methodology used is called GROWING PLANTS PYRAPONIMETRICALLY. This makes the Phototron the only closed system in the world. To employ the discrete base concept, at least two soil samples must be removed from the base of the Phototron; the first on DAY 45 and the second on DAY 90 of plant growth. A soil analysis for nutrient levels is then performed at Pyraponic Laboratories to develop a standard pattern for the depletion ratio of your plants in your Phototron. There is no leaching of nutrients, because the closed base has no drainage. Chemical levels in your soil can then be maintained by Pyraponic Laboratories through an updated, computer controlled, nutrient supply sent to you after each soil analysis. Wind velocity, carbon dioxide saturation, relative humidity, and temperature are controlled by the design of the Phototron. Vertical lights six inches apart mean that no plant is further than three inches from any three different light sources. Light reflecting from all interior panels super-saturates every leaf top and bottom. Plants do not need to stretch toward their light source, which will reduce the distance between budding and fruiting locations.

recorded more sex partners—four in the past year—than did single women.)

"Right after my wife and I broke up, I fucked anything wet," relates Bob, a Newark, New Jersey, car salesman. "In the first two months there was a married lady, a receptionist at the dealership, three or four customers, a couple of girls I met at bars and a 19-year-old coffee-shop waitress." The 39-year-old pauses to reflect, "Funny thing is, I fucked myself out during that period. After the waitress, who was a doll but a dingbat, I took a couple of weeks off. When I resumed, I was choosier."

Sociologist-professor Robert Weiss elaborates: "Some men emerge from a soured marriage with depleted self-esteem and enough anger toward women to make them careless of women's well-being. If the men are attractive and enterprising, they may initiate a nearly ceaseless sexual hunt that diminishes in intensity only as their need for reassurance lessens. When they eventually establish a firmer sense of themselves, they may have no idea why they were so driven."

A contrasting view of the promiscuity pursued by many men in the wake of divorce is offered by Shirley Gehrke Luthman, codirector of the Family Therapy Institute in San Rafael, California. "It's a kind of emotional adolescence, time to be free just to feel and not worry about involvement in anything permanent." Luthman advocates that recently divorced men experiment with a range of women and relationships.

"I was seeing a shrink when my marriage broke up," intimates 35-year-old Rick. "He encouraged me to start dating teenagers, 18, 19. He said that romantically I was around 21, the age I got married. For a while they were a lot more fun than ladies my own age."

Some recently divorced men desire to bed many women, but lack the ability. In fact, claims Morton Hunt, a significant number of men "are troubled at first by the sexual expectations of their partners and by the lack of self-assurance that is a frequent result of marital failure." Apparently, confidence-shattering bouts with sexual dysfunction—especially premature ejaculation and failure to maintain an erection—are common among divorced men in the months immediately following the breakup.

"I just couldn't get hard," blushes Los Angeles, California, rock journalist Ron P. when he recalls the troubled period after his divorce. "I'd never had problems with my wife; so it was all new. Finally I figured out the problem: the newness of all the women I was bedding. My wife was familiar to me. This strange pussy was something altogether different. I froze up."

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, cabbie Carl A. had the same problems as Ron, but in his case, the causes were different: "I had a voice in my head telling me not to cheat on my wife. We were divorced, but when I hopped in the sack with a new woman, I instantly felt guilty."

Mel Krantzler, founder of New Horizons, a counseling service for the divorced, observes, "Some divorced people indulge in flirtations or affairs during their marriages, but when that protective shield is stripped away, the same behavior takes on frightening overtones."

Zilbergeld offers reassuring advice: "Most women are not as concerned with experience or performance as men think they are." Furthermore, Zilbergeld feels that "it's only logical that people should be uneasy when they have sex with someone new. Because of the tension that so often accompanies first-time experiences, they are often unsatisfactory. Many men do not get or maintain erections in such situations, or ejaculate more quickly than they'd like, and then feel bad about these 'failures.'" To reduce first-time jitters, Zilbergeld counsels, "Get to know her and give her the opportunity to get to know you. Give yourself time to determine if you really want sex with her."

A final step in the healing after a divorce is entry into another serious relationship. Many men delay this phase with prolonged playing of the field. Eventually, however, say the Sarrels, "a serious relationship develops." Is this first postdivorce relationship the real thing? "To the persons involved, to close friends and relatives, this often looks like the beginning of a permanent relationship, but in fact, this relationship ends and is followed by a relationship that does lead to marriage or some other long-term commitment," the Sarrels predict.

Some men see this first, quickie relationship as more proof of their failures with women. The Sarrels say it's "a testing ground" in which the man explores key issues. "Can I really trust someone of the other sex? Can I accommodate my life pattern to a new person? Can I even think about marriage again?" In most cases, the answers to those questions will be positive. According to the U.S. Census Bureau, 80% of divorced persons eventually remarry. The divorced man is the odds on favorite to beat the divorced woman to the altar.

The postdivorce road may be rockier than anticipated, but Morton Hunt offers an optimistic note: The vast majority of men enjoy a satisfying sex life before the first anniversary of the divorce is celebrated. By the end of the second year of the divorce, the number of men who regret it has shrunk to 20% (the number of women with regrets dips to 25%). In fact, says Hunt, "most divorced people find postmarital coitus more pleasurable than marital coitus, at least in that deteriorating phase of marriage. Postmarital coital experiences renew and restore egos, broaden sexual horizons and often reveal selves more sensuous and responsive than they had realized."

THE INS AND OUTS OF MAIL-ORDER Porn

by James Farley

Say you've got a hard-on that won't quit and you've just got to have some of that Grade-X porn to satisfy the urge, but you live out in the no-smut religious-right sticks or are just too chickenshit to visit your local lowlife neighborhood scum emporium. Well, the real fake fuck thing is still available. Just follow a few simple guidelines, and the U.S. Postal Service will deliver the red-hot goods to your doorstep. An informed consumer (one who listens to his head instead of his dick) can purchase almost any sex product imaginable, within current legal regulations, at reasonable prices, with prompt delivery. You really can't ask for more, except maybe some real live pussy.

THE FORBIDDEN ZONE

A myriad of jizz-coaxing fuck mags, sexvids and pleasure devices is available through the mail, but certain kinds of merchandise and deals will never be delivered from any legitimate mail-order porn company.

MAIL-ORDER PORN

In S&M and B&D videos, people paper-clip nipples, torture cocks with whips, etc., to their hards' contents.

Despite what ads may imply, no one will ever receive sexual material through the mail that depicts sex acts, real or simulated, between adults and minors or between minors and minors. This material, commonly referred to as kiddie porn, is highly illegal. Ads that promise "Preteen Cheerleader Fuck Sluts" or "Big Cocks Into Tiny Holes" are not legitimate. They're ripoffs, government stings or the filthy shit of some perverted reprobate sick enough to run the risk of prosecution.

Ditto for bestiality. Bestiality is humans having sex with animals, i.e., women fucking and sucking dogs, jacking off horses, blowing pigs, etc. This material was available some years ago in the U.S. through European outlets. It no longer exists through legitimate sources. Forget any ad that entices with rod-making images of "Barnyard Bangers" or "Mom's Dog Urge." The goods don't exist.

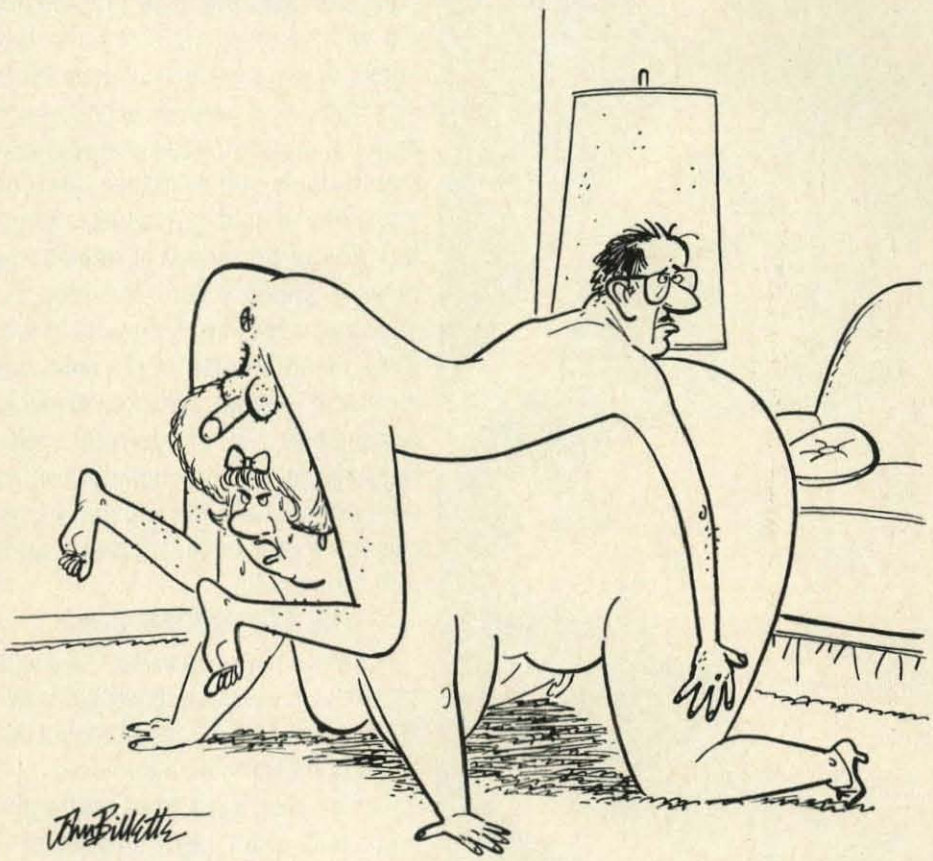
Also, never take that bizarre trip into the odorous netherworld of shitting and pissing material, at least not through the mail from a legitimate company. No mainline porn company even makes the material, much less sells it. A compulsion to watch people piss and shit on one another can be satisfied by a night in the drunk tank.

"Snuff" films are not available from legitimate sources and, hopefully, don't exist.

For S&M (sadism and masochism) and B&D (bondage and discipline) fans, plenty of material is available, but it will not include fucking and sucking. People put paper clips on nipples, hog-tie each other, torture cocks with whips, etc., to their hards' contents, but they will not get it on while doing these acts. It's highly prosecutable to mix sex and this form of "consenting adult" violence.

THE TAPE'S THE THING

The most popular item in the world of mail-order porn as it really exists is the X-rated videotape, or sexvid. An unbelievable array of beautiful (and otherwise) young (and otherwise) women (all of whom are 18 years of age or older) fuck, suck, Hoover, milk, stroke and poke massive cocks and willing pussies in every conceivable combination. These videos come in feature films, compilations and preview tapes.



"I've read about this 69 thing, Howard, and this ain't it!"

The feature film is a movie shot on film or videotape that tells a full (or otherwise) story laced with jizz-splattering sex action. Features run 70 to 100 minutes and cost between $19.95 and $59.95, depending on production values. The most anyone should pay is $49.95. (Price references do not include shipping charges.)

How to tell the good sexvids from the bad—the Full Erections from the Totally Limps—is a matter of experience. Even good mail-order companies and major labels, like VCA, Caballero and Vivid, sell bad sexvids. Video Exclusives, Cal Vista, Western Visuals, Command Video, Coast to Coast and Moonlight Entertainment are also after the mail-order dollar. An underinformed buyer will do well to check a scuzz video's "Stroker's Guide" rating in HUSTLER's Erotic Entertainment section.

Compilation videos usually feature a particular sexual theme or personality, such as oral, anal, interracial, orgiastic, etc. These videos comprise the hottest sex scenes edited from full-length movies and crammed onto one red-hot (hopefully) tape. These jizz vids run from 30 to 90 minutes. Most are 60 minutes and should cost between $14.95 and $29.95. (More than $29.95 is too much; under $14.95 is a big, loud warning. If it's too cheap, it may not contain what you expect.) This genre features only fucking and sucking, with no dumb bimbos or dick heads mumbling mindless dialogue.

Preview tapes are a special item in mail-order porn. Usually 60 minutes long (some are 30 minutes), these tapes collect movie-trailer highlights of a number of X-rated features. It's like watching previews of coming attractions at a neighborhood theater, except there's lots of fucking, cum-shots and flashes of extra-large dicks plunging into warm, willing pussies. Previews are an inexpensive way to find out which X-rated movies are worth owning, and can be jerked off to a good four or five times.

Preview tapes range in price from $9.95 to free! Recently a couple of legitimate mail-order porn ads offered preview tapes for free, plus the cost of shipping charges. Others offer preview tapes free with several full-priced purchases from the ad. But free is the dirtiest word in mail-order porn. Stick with the big companies on "free."

Gay and bisexual movies are a category unto themselves. They cost more (up to $69.95 for new releases), and many mail-order companies won't ship them to states that find them obscene: Utah, Virginia, Tennessee, Florida or Georgia. If you live in one of these states, open a P.O. box in a bordering state, or have the material shipped to a friend in another state.

Gay and bisexual movies are the rage for middle-class women, who love to watch sleek, hard Adonis types get it on without using or degrading a single woman, sort of like men getting off on lesbo footage. The hot mail-order tip of the year is to buy a gay tape and spring it on a lady friend at an unsuspecting moment for a fast-flowing coating of pussy juice.

MAIL-ORDER PORN

Hot tip: Buy a gay tape and spring it on a lady friend for a fast-flowing coating of pussy juice.

Gay features also have their good and bad varieties, with compilation and preview tapes. Catalina Video (which has its own mail-order outlet) is recognized far and away as the best producer of gay and bisexual films. H.I.S. Video and In Hand Video are also good bets.

MAG-O-RAMA

In years past fuck mags ruled the mail-order porn business, along with 8mm movies. But with the explosion of video machines in the U.S., magazine sales and prices have fallen off drastically. Anyone paying more than $9.95 for a 32-page, full-color, 8½" × 11" hard-core magazine has been had. Hard-core magazine titles are usually rude and have little to do with the pictures inside. "Jizz-Coated Fuck Sluts" sounds nasty, but the action is likely a dick or two spreading a quaking cooze, plus a couple of cum-splats to the face.

Think with your head, not your dick. In the magazine market, buy size (how big is the magazine in inches?), thickness (how many pages is it?), color (is it full-color, a combination of color and black-and-white or only black-and-white with a color cover) and price (no more than $9.95 for a 32-page color mag and $19.95 for the thick 75- to 100-page specials). If the ad or brochure doesn't give this information, don't order.

JACKOFF DEVICES

The deep, probing pleasures of sex toys, also known as marital aids, are available through the mail at prices cheaper than adult-book stores or high-end sex shops.

The myriad of jackoff devices available for solo strokers is equaled only by an endless array of vibrating, probing and clit-tickling devices designed to bring a bedmate to the outer limits of passion. Uncle Sam will carry the goods to your doorstep, with no telling a salesperson face-to-face, "I'd like a vibrating-egg set and a nine-inch vibrator with clit stim, please."

The most commonly used toys, and their prices, are as follows:

1. The love doll—optimally an inflatable life-size doll of soft rubber with a rubber fuckhole and sometimes additional holes for the mouth and asshole. (What a bonanza!) Rub some lube on your steely hardness and fuck the doll until she's too full to accept another drop of screaze. Love dolls have big tits, and hair in a variety of colors. As advertised, they truly "never say no!" Pay at least $29.95 for a love doll that doesn't pop apart at the seams when you pop your load. The most to pay is $49.95. Some feel more real and softer than others; none feel like the real thing. Buy from a reputable firm whenever spending this much money.

2. The pocket pal or pocket pussy—a soft rubber device with a hole that looks like a pussy (many even have simulated pubes), attached to a long hollow shaft strategically placed to accept manly thrusts. One variety looks like a butthole, for anal fans. Pay from $9.95 to $14.95 for a nonvibrating model and around $14.95 to $19.95 for a vibrating version. Take it anywhere; no one will know.

3. The autosuck device—simulated-blowjob device plugs into an automobile's DC cigarette-lighter outlet and pulsates and sucks as you plow your manhood home. Pay between $19.95 and $29.95 for this versatile item designed for the man on the move. Warning: Do not use the autosuck while driving. It could prove embarrassing to be pulled from the wreck with the autosuck lodged on your dick.

FEMALE ORGASM TOYS: GOOD VIBRATIONS

1. The vibrator—the age-old standby for female orgasm. Drive her crazy with one of these buzz bombs applied to the right spots! They come in an endless selection of styles, shapes and costs.

The traditional, simple plastic vibe has been replaced in popularity by "feel of flesh" latex models. A lifelike latex model with a variable-speed control runs about $9.95 to $11.95, depending on size. Remember, there's lots of sex-toy junk out there: the $2.95 vibe is probably just that. Vibrators also make great gifts. Women love 'em on those lonely nights when no turgid tool is available.

Vibes with pulsating pumps, clit stims, an additional anal probe, wild Day-Glo colors, etc., cost more. Be sure to see a picture of the actual vibrators and vibrator attachments offered before ordering.

The traditional plastic vibe can use a variety of slip-on sleeves to create untold sensations. Sleeves are made for every imaginable purpose: vaginal ticklers, anal probers, twisters. They should cost between $1.95 and $3.95. Cheaper sleeves usually tear on the first or second use.

2. Ben-wa balls—an ancient Oriental pleasuremaker time-tested through thousands of years, these smooth-plated metal balls (usually about ½" to ¾" in diameter) are used in sets of two, one of which is heavier than the other. The balls are inserted into the pussy, and while the woman walks, wiggles her ass, sits or dances, the heavy ball rolls against the lighter one, unleashing pleasure in her love nest. Pay anywhere from $5.95 to $14.95 for the real McCoy—don't get the cheap plastic models. There's also no need to get the gold-plated versions. She'll come just as hard on chrome balls.

3. Vibrating eggs—similar to Ben-wa balls, the vibrating eggs are usually oval-shaped, and come with one or two eggs attached to a battery-powered vibrating unit. Once the eggs are inserted into the goo-box, flip on the switch, dial up the level of vibration desired and watch her wiggle! Prices range from $9.95 to $19.95. The higher-priced models may have additional items attached, such as the vibrating anal tee. Insert the anal tee in the bunghole while egging it up. She'll love you for it. Again, there's some real junk out there, so make sure you see a picture of the actual item and deal only with reputable mail-order companies.

4. Joanie's magic butterfly—the most intense, surefire female orgasm-maker on the market. A specially shaped vibrating tingler fits directly on the clit while held firmly inside her spread pussy lips with elastic straps. She'll love to use it with or without a partner. A quality item will cost anywhere from $14.95 to $24.95.

PENIS ENLARGERS, HARD-ON MAKERS, CLIMAX DELAYERS, FORMULAS AND PILLS

This stuff is all bogus. Stay away from it. Love lubes and gels, however, are available in various flavors and feels and are both fun and affordable. They should cost no more than $3.95 per jar or tube, even brands producing warm sensations.

Items such as penis-enlarging pumps and formulas, hard-on formulas, etc., are all a waste of money. They don't work.

Keep this in mind: There is no such thing as Spanish fly for sale anywhere in the U.S. If you answer an ad for Spanish fly, kiss your money goodbye.

The closest thing to a real penis enlarger is the strap-on prosthetic cock, or P.P.A. Firm plastic slips over your cock and straps on with an elastic band. Choose from the life-sized six-inch model to the immodest ten-inch destroyer. They cost between $5.95 and $9.95. For a problem with erection or size, this item is the ticket.

AVOIDING SCAMS

Just what is a reputable firm? In mail-order porn the most to be hoped for is an order filled within a short period of time, with the goods received being the items ordered. Additionally, better firms treat customers courteously and have competitive prices. Due to space limitations, not all ads include all of the following guidelines, but look for one or more before ordering.

1. The best assurance is a company that has a direct telephone line and a published street address. The phone line is most important. Some legitimate companies—like any business receiving tons of mail—use a P.O.-box mailing address. A scam company will not use a street address; so a real street address is a good sign. But to call direct and talk to a real person is the best guideline for avoiding ripoffs.

2. Does the company accept credit cards as payment? Customers who have been ripped off can charge-back their credit-card purchases. Scam operators obviously cannot accept credit cards.

3. Do the ads and brochures show the actual video covers, the actual sex toys, etc., or do they show only hot photos of major pork action? If they're afraid to show the merchandise, then it doesn't exist or it's junk. Legitimate companies usually show exactly what they are selling.

4. Is there a published guarantee? Some guarantees are better than others. The skimpiest guarantee should promise that the products will be free of defects. The customer should be able to return any items that are different from what was ordered. A very few companies actually guarantee satisfaction: if a buyer isn't completely pleased, he can return the product for exchange or refund. But that's difficult to offer. Too many mooches want something for nothing and take advantage of such a broad guarantee. A guarantee or money-back provision is a good sign.

5. The most reliable indicator is word of mouth. Pud-pounding porn buddies pass along the names of good firms.

6. A legitimate jizz-bizz company will state when an order will be shipped and arrive. They offer a choice of UPS delivery or first-class mail. (UPS cannot deliver to P.O. boxes. First-class postage sometimes costs extra.) There are several classes of UPS shipment. Most mail-order porn ships by UPS "ground." UPS ground takes anywhere from one to seven working days, depending on distance. It's reliable and costs the least. UPS "blue" guarantees two-day shipping. UPS "red" arrives the very next day. Both blue and red cost considerably more than ground.

GINA
MOLLED TO THE MOB

Photography by James Baes

In a mob clan, everybody has a job to do, even Gina "Three Fingers" Clamizzi. "Hey, sugar, youse stay here, get nice and brown, and keep dem pussy lips open. We'll be back to fuck youse eyes out later," were Tony's final words before leaving for the big hit. Keeping the sluice juiced for Sicilian salami was an order this moll couldn't refuse. The big guns don't like to waste time moistening clit—splattering deadbeats who don't pay debts can get a triggerman pretty horny. So Gina makes sure her dago driveway is always open for traffic, and every killer cock from the don to the driver is welcome in this slut's slit. It's no wonder that the boys in Gina's illicit family are known as the gang with the chafed rods, but as this Wopette's slimy suitors like to say, as they wipe their dicks, "Hey, youse guys. Crime pays!"

That free love doll, the "solid model, not inflatable," is nothing more than a poster of a nude woman.

But be forewarned: There are ripoffs aplenty out there. All the scam ads promise something too good to be true. Biting on promises of a truckload of forbidden porn for free or illegal kiddie porn or donkey-fucking material leads only to a ripoff—every time. The only legitimate free offers in more than 14 years are the current ads for free preview tapes.

Most scam ads don't ship real porn. One scam company sends out films of a woman walking a dog on a leash in response to ads that seem to offer dog-fucking. And that free love doll, the "new, solid model, not inflatable," is nothing more than a poster of a nude woman. And those mags for under a buck? They're three inches by four inches, black-and-white and barely show a naked tit, much less hard meat sliding into dripping slit.

Beware of ads that offer 148 videos for a few cents each. The sucker receives 148 scenes crammed onto one cassette, usually of terrible quality. The key word in these ads is videos. Videos are no more than short scenes, just like rock videos. If the ad does not promise videotapes or videocassettes, you're about to become a sucker.

A FEW OTHER TIP-OFFS OF A SCAM AD

If the words like these are used to describe the products, it's a ripoff. Like these allows the pornster to substitute anything he chooses. If the ad says in quantity next to the advertised price, it's usually either misleading or an outright ripoff.

If the ad asks for extra bucks for same-day service, it's a scam. The only thing they do the same day is bank the money.

Regardless of the company involved, never send cash through the mail. With a scam company, cash is history. An equal source of missing cash are those wonderful civil servants. Uncle Sam polices his postal people very well, but the cash is history even when the crooks are caught.

After answering a scam-company ad, the chump's name is entered into their "back end." The chump will be mailed endless explanations as to why his order has not arrived, or why he didn't get what he'd expected. Each explanation will include a request for additional money.

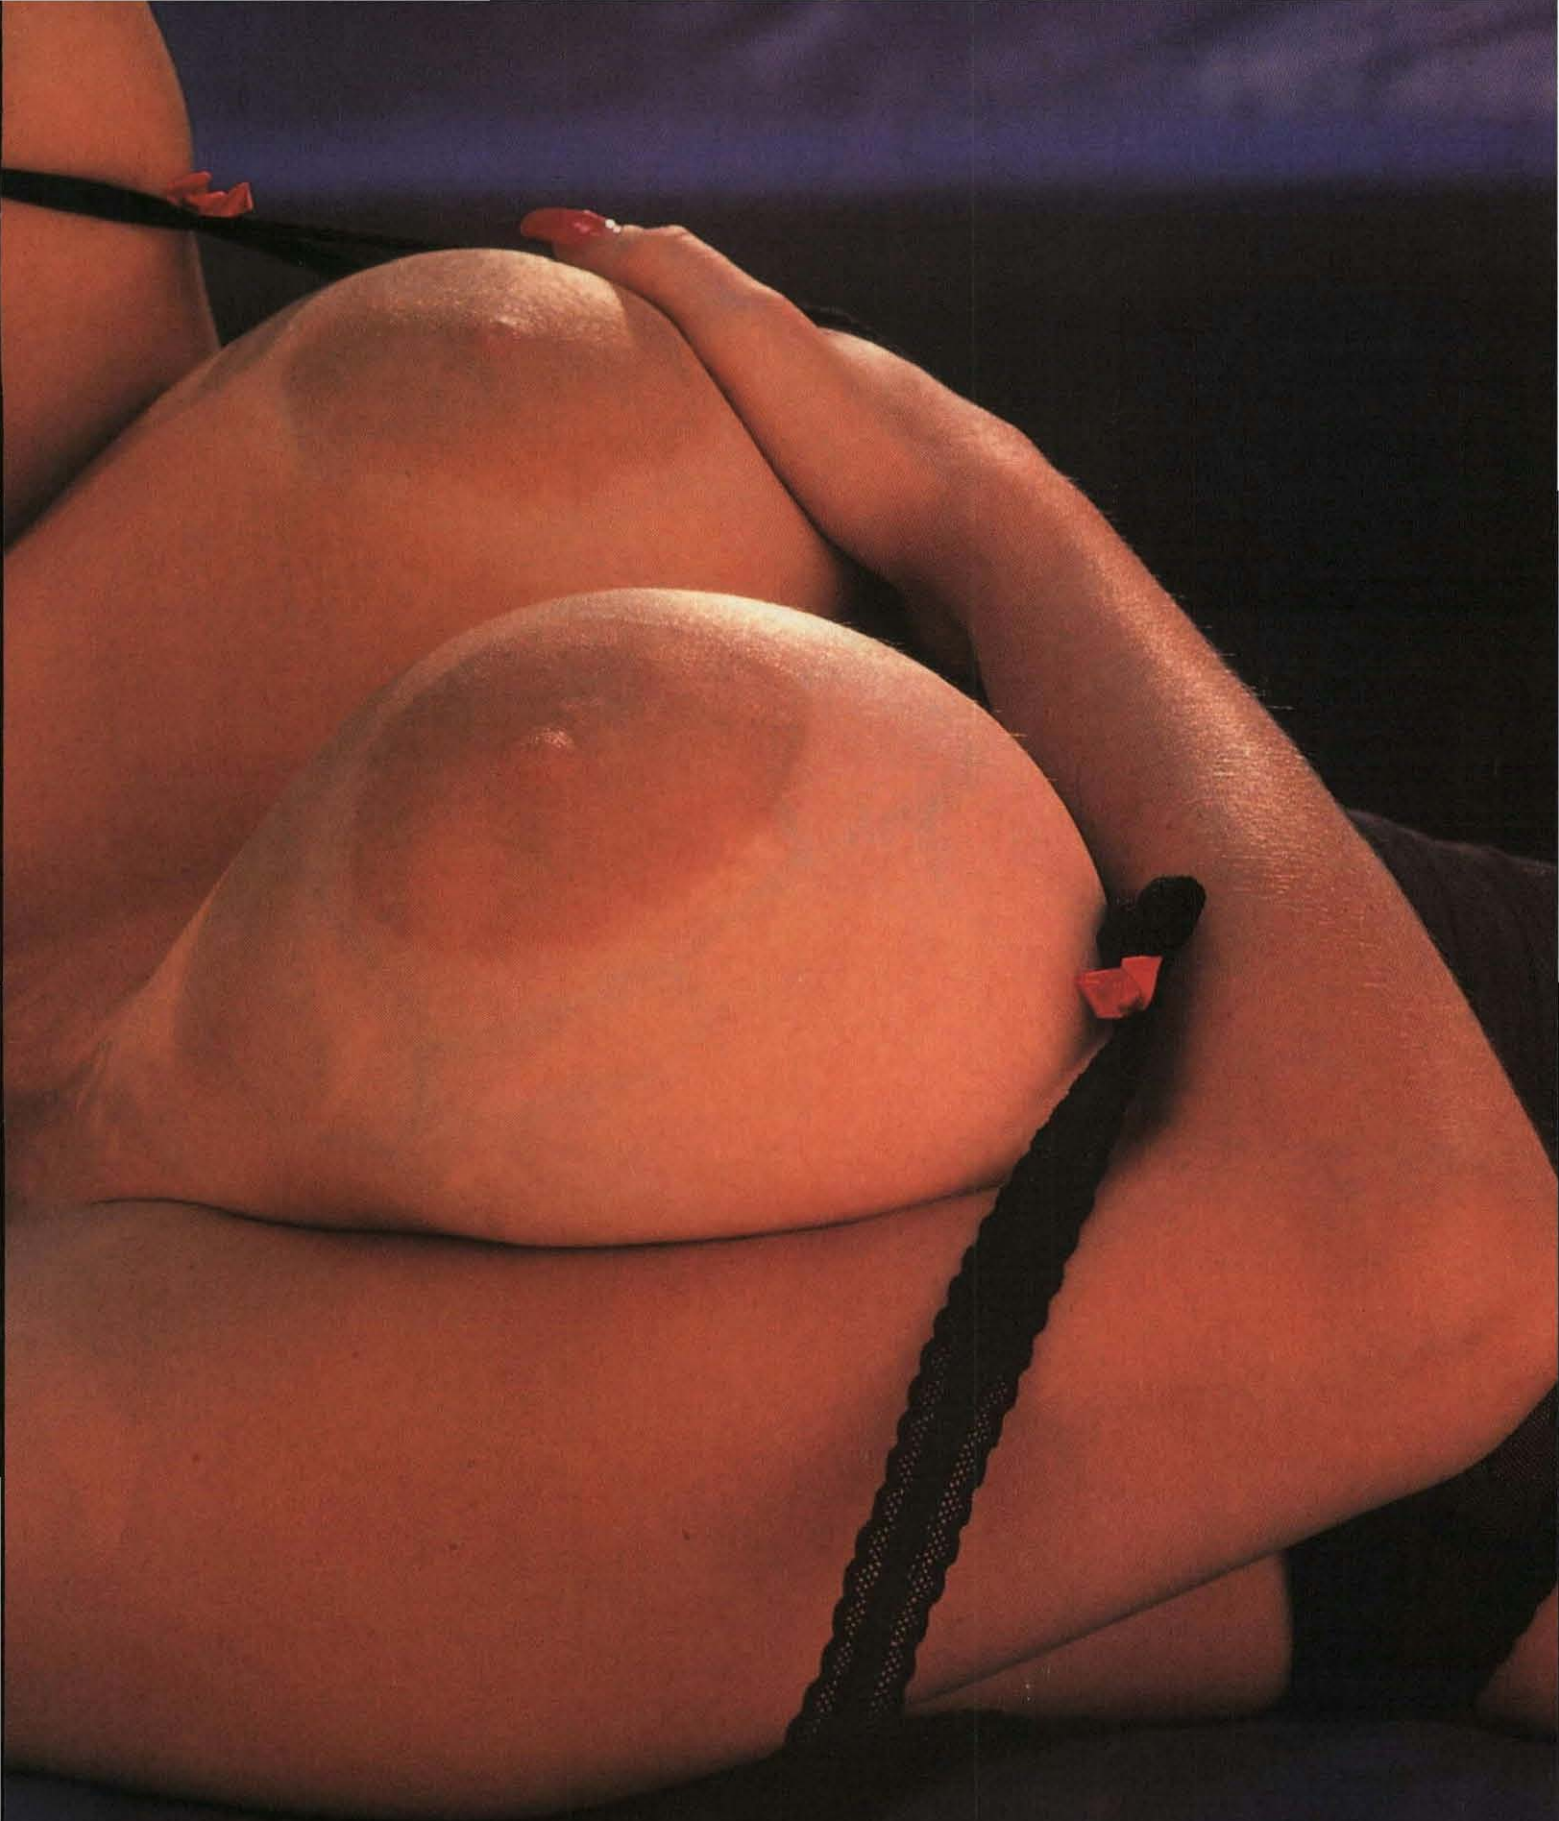
FUCKIN' HUGE!

Photography by James Baes



Go ahead, wipe the sweat off your dick and gawk at our centerfold. That's right, it's a beautiful platinum blonde with a nice tight ass, gorgeous gams, tight trim and . . . tits bigger than your head! Meet Toppsy Curvey and her humongous hooters, whoppers, giant jugs, megabreasts—whatever you want to call them. Titanic Toppsy is a hugely popular exotic dancer who tempts turgid tools to tango from coast to coast, and when she's not throwing weights around or shoving her nuclear melons into some lucky lush's face, she gets off talking about her tits.

"I love to tease men," says the babe with the bionic bust. But this Beantown boob machine with the jiggling 55DDs does more than just strut and jut. "I like them stimulated, caressed, rubbed," coos the queen of cleavage. "Those poor little girls who don't have tits like mine can't do some of the things I do." Do it to us, Toppsy. YOW!

Come bury yourself
in my bod, boys.

HUSTLER HUMOR

Two hunters were off on their annual trip to the Canadian wilderness to bag moose. As the seaplane landed on a lake in a remote area, the pilot said, "I'll be back in one week to pick you up. But only one moose, please."

When he returned to the lake, he found the hunters proudly standing beside two moose. "I told you guys only one moose!" the furious flier screamed. "There's no way the plane can take off with that much weight!"

"You're just a chicken pilot," one hunter said. "We killed two moose last year, and that pilot wasn't afraid to take off."

Stung by the suggestion of cowardice, the pilot reconsidered. "All right, if you did it last year, I guess we can try it."

So they loaded up, and the pilot taxied to the far end of the lake to begin his takeoff. The plane bounced across the water as it strained to get airborne, but the overloaded aircraft finally ran out of space and crashed into the trees.

Some time later, the hunters regained consciousness. "Where are we?" one asked.

His friend looked around at the scattered debris, then back at the edge of the lake, and replied, "Oh, I guess about 100 yards farther than last year."

Question: How many teamsters does it take to change a lightbulb?
Answer: Five. You gotta problem with that?

A hillbilly visited his son about a week after the boy got married. "Well, Son," he said, "how do you like married life?"

"Ain't married no more, Pa," the boy answered. "I killed her on our wedding night. I shot her dead."

"Why in the hell did you do that?" the old man asked.

"Well, Daddy, I found out she was a virgin, and I figured if she wasn't good enough for her own family, she wasn't good enough for ours."

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines forbidden fruit as: homosexuals with AIDS.

A traveler was surprised to see spaghetti and meatballs offered at a small-town restaurant in Mexico. He ordered the dish and was especially delighted with the meatballs. Before leaving, he went to the kitchen to congratulate the chef and, if possible, get the recipe. The chef was reluctant to part with the recipe, but after much coaxing, he admitted that his brother ran the local bullring and that he used the male portions of the defeated bulls for his ingredients.

Months later the traveler revisited the town and once again ordered the spaghetti and meatballs. This time the meatballs' quality was not nearly as good as the first, and the traveler complained to the chef. Embarrassed, the cook scuffed his feet and said, "Senor, you must understand, sometimes the bull wins too."

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines miracle whip as: successful masturbation by a 90-year-old man.

A rabbi and a priest were seated together on a cross-country flight. When an attractive flight attendant asked them if they would like cocktails, the rabbi said, "Yes, I'd like a manhattan, please."

"No, thank you," the priest said, turning to explain to his seatmate. "As a priest, I can't drink or fornicate."

"Wait a second," the rabbi said, standing and waving at the flight attendant. "I didn't know I had a choice."

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines pedophilia as: minor offensives.

A doctor was examining a luscious 16-year-old girl.

"My breasts hurt," she complained to him.

He examined and fondled her small but firm boobs. "That's only natural," he told her. "They're just growing. They'll get bigger."

"Something else bothers me. I'm getting hair under my arms."

The doc looked and answered, "That's natural," then took off his shirt and showed her his bushy underarms. "You'll get more hair, like me."

"But I'm also getting hair here," whispered the girl, shyly pointing to her crotch.

"Let me see," said the doc as he washed his hands.

She dropped her panties and said, "See."

The doc looked, felt and huskily said, "That's only natural. Your hair will grow thicker, like mine." He then dropped his pants and pointed to his crotch.

The girl saw his throbbing erection and exclaimed, "And when am I gonna get one of those?"

"Just as soon as I pull down the shades."

ONE-RING
Circus
THE LOW BLOW BY BLOW OF BOXING PROMOTERS
by Ron Chepesiuk

ONE-RING CIRCUS

In the recent Spinks-Tyson extravaganza, King wheedled $3 million without having to throw or take a punch.

Another fight of the century had just ended. On April 6, 1987, Marvelous Marvin Hagler plodded after Sugar Ray Leonard, who danced, feinted, clutched and mocked the world's undisputed middleweight champion through 12 rounds of exciting action. While the ring and the crowd buzzed in anticipation of the referee's decision, a familiar figure with a shock of black-gray hair and a gleaming smile, bedizened in jewelry, jostled through the crowd toward Sugar Ray's corner.

Don King was just a spectator at the fight, but he was heading for Leonard's corner, where television would beam the thrill of victory—and King's face—to countless millions worldwide.

No way, asshole. Bob Arum, the spectacle's promoter and King's longtime rival as pugilism's top Barnum and Bailey, spotted the trademark spiked Afro bobbing toward the spotlight. Arum caught the pretender from behind at the stairs to the ring. Tugging at the jacket of his tuxedo, tearing a pocket, Arum got King down the steps. Security guards separated the two, and no punches were thrown.

King pointed to his pocket after they were pulled apart. "See what I got here?"

Arum claimed King was pointing to a handgun, which, he said, the security guards had taken.

In a rivalry that has surpassed all others in boxing, for nearly 15 years Don King and Bob Arum have tried outdoing each other by promoting some of the greatest fights in history. Beginning in 1974 with the George Foreman-Ken Norton match in Caracas, Venezuela, King has put on such extravaganzas as Ali-Foreman (Rumble in the Jungle), Ali-Frazier (Thrilla in Manila) and Larry Holmes-Gerry Cooney (The Pride and the Glory). In addition to Leonard-Hagler, Arum has staged an Ali-Frazier, Hagler-Hearns, the first Leonard-Duran fight and several of Muhammad Ali's early fights.

"They are definitely the top promoters in boxing today," says Daniel Goosen, President of Ten-Goose Boxing, a promotional company.

Al Bernstein, a boxing analyst with ESPN television network, adds, "They have promoted fights in the way they haven't been promoted before."

For much of boxing's history, promotions were largely limited to a mere staging of an event. Bouts were arranged from the cramped and smoke-filled offices of Madison Square Garden. The money came from the live gates.

In the 1970s King and Arum saw big money in television's power to reach the largest number of people possible. A revolution followed.

Nigel Collins, editor in chief of The Ring magazine, contends that Arum and King have definitely changed the sport: "I would call them packagers, not promoters."

Others say the King-Arum legacy has been profiteering, exploitation, conflict of interest and financial mismanagement. While fighters put their lives on the line, Arum and King sit out of harm's way and make millions. In the recent Spinks-Tyson extravaganza much was made of the $22-million and $13.5-million purses made by Tyson and Spinks. King got $3 million without having to throw or take a punch. The big winner may have been King, given the chance to weasel closer to Tyson.

King turned the Spinks-Tyson fight into a King-directed soap opera starring Tyson, manager Bill Cayton, wife Robin Givens and mother-in-law. Charges and countercharges out of the Tyson camp spun heads. Cayton accused King of trying to steal Tyson. King called Cayton "an inveterate liar," "an evil man" and a "hypocrite of the first order." Behind the smoke screen, in the month before the fight, King had tried to persuade Tyson to sign a promotional contract without Cayton's knowledge.

Aspiring P. T. Barnums are trying to follow the King-Arum climb to boxing riches. Promoters clawing their way up the promotional heap include Butch Lewis, promoter and manager of Michael Spinks; Main Events Promotions, a company run by Lou Duva, his son Dan Duva (the promoter of record) and adviser Shelley Finkel; English promoter Mickey Duff; and Josephine Abercrombie, the aristocratic belle from Texas.

Still, it's no contest. The real slugfest for boxing's big money occurs in two New York City offices mere minutes apart: Don King in his 69th Street suite of offices, Bob Arum in his tenth-floor office at 919 Third Avenue.

Two men at the top of their field have seldom been so different in style and background. "Don King is flamboyant and colorful and likes to be in the spotlight," says Daniel Goosen. "Arum likes to work quietly behind the scenes."

The 6-3, 250-pound King has one of boxing's biggest egos. He refers to himself as the "world's greatest promoter,"

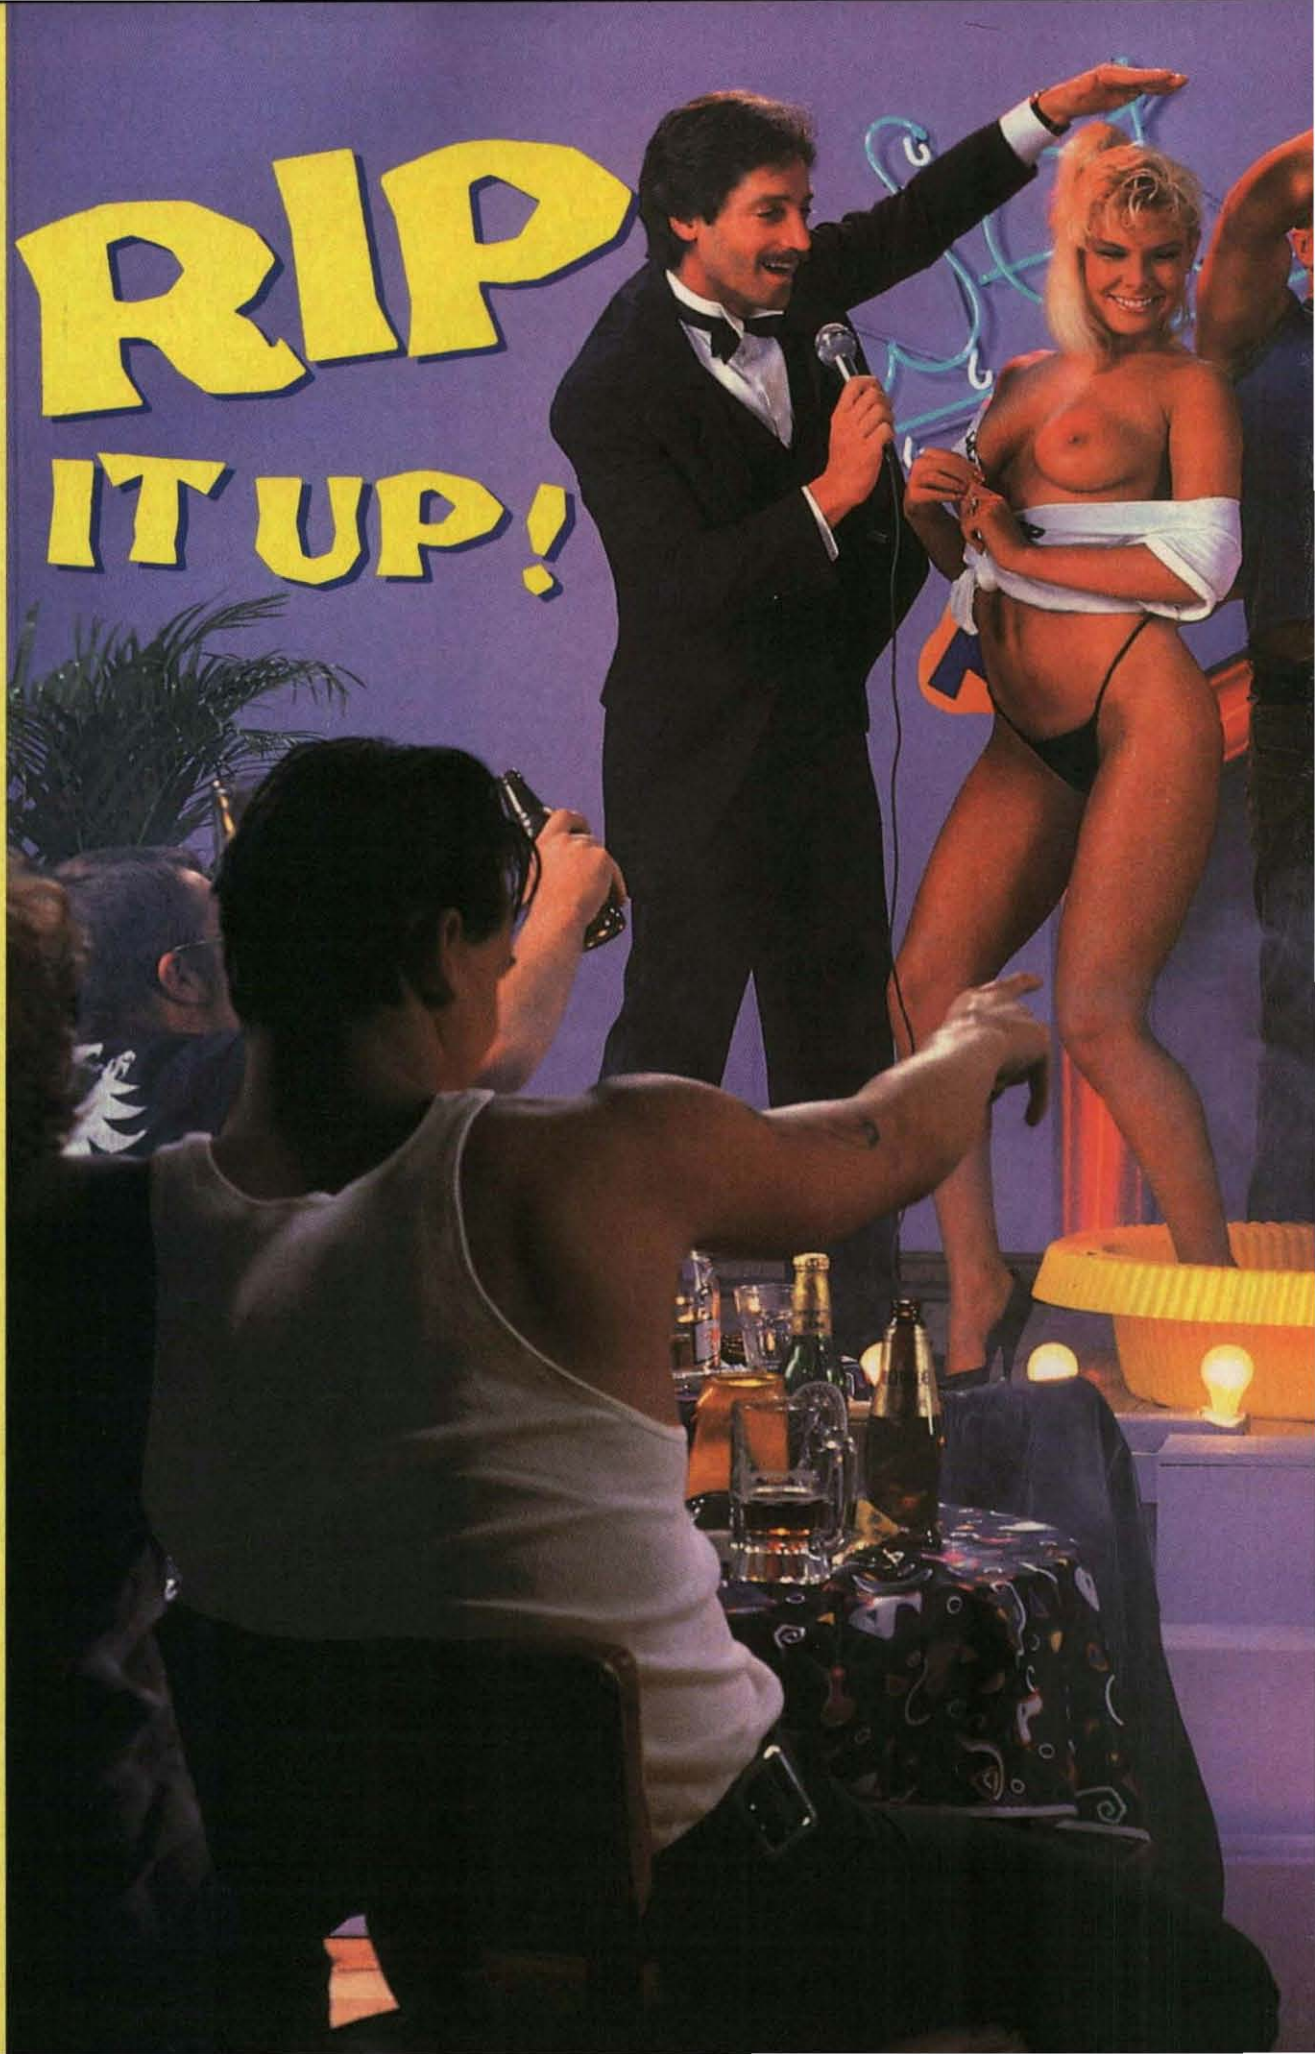
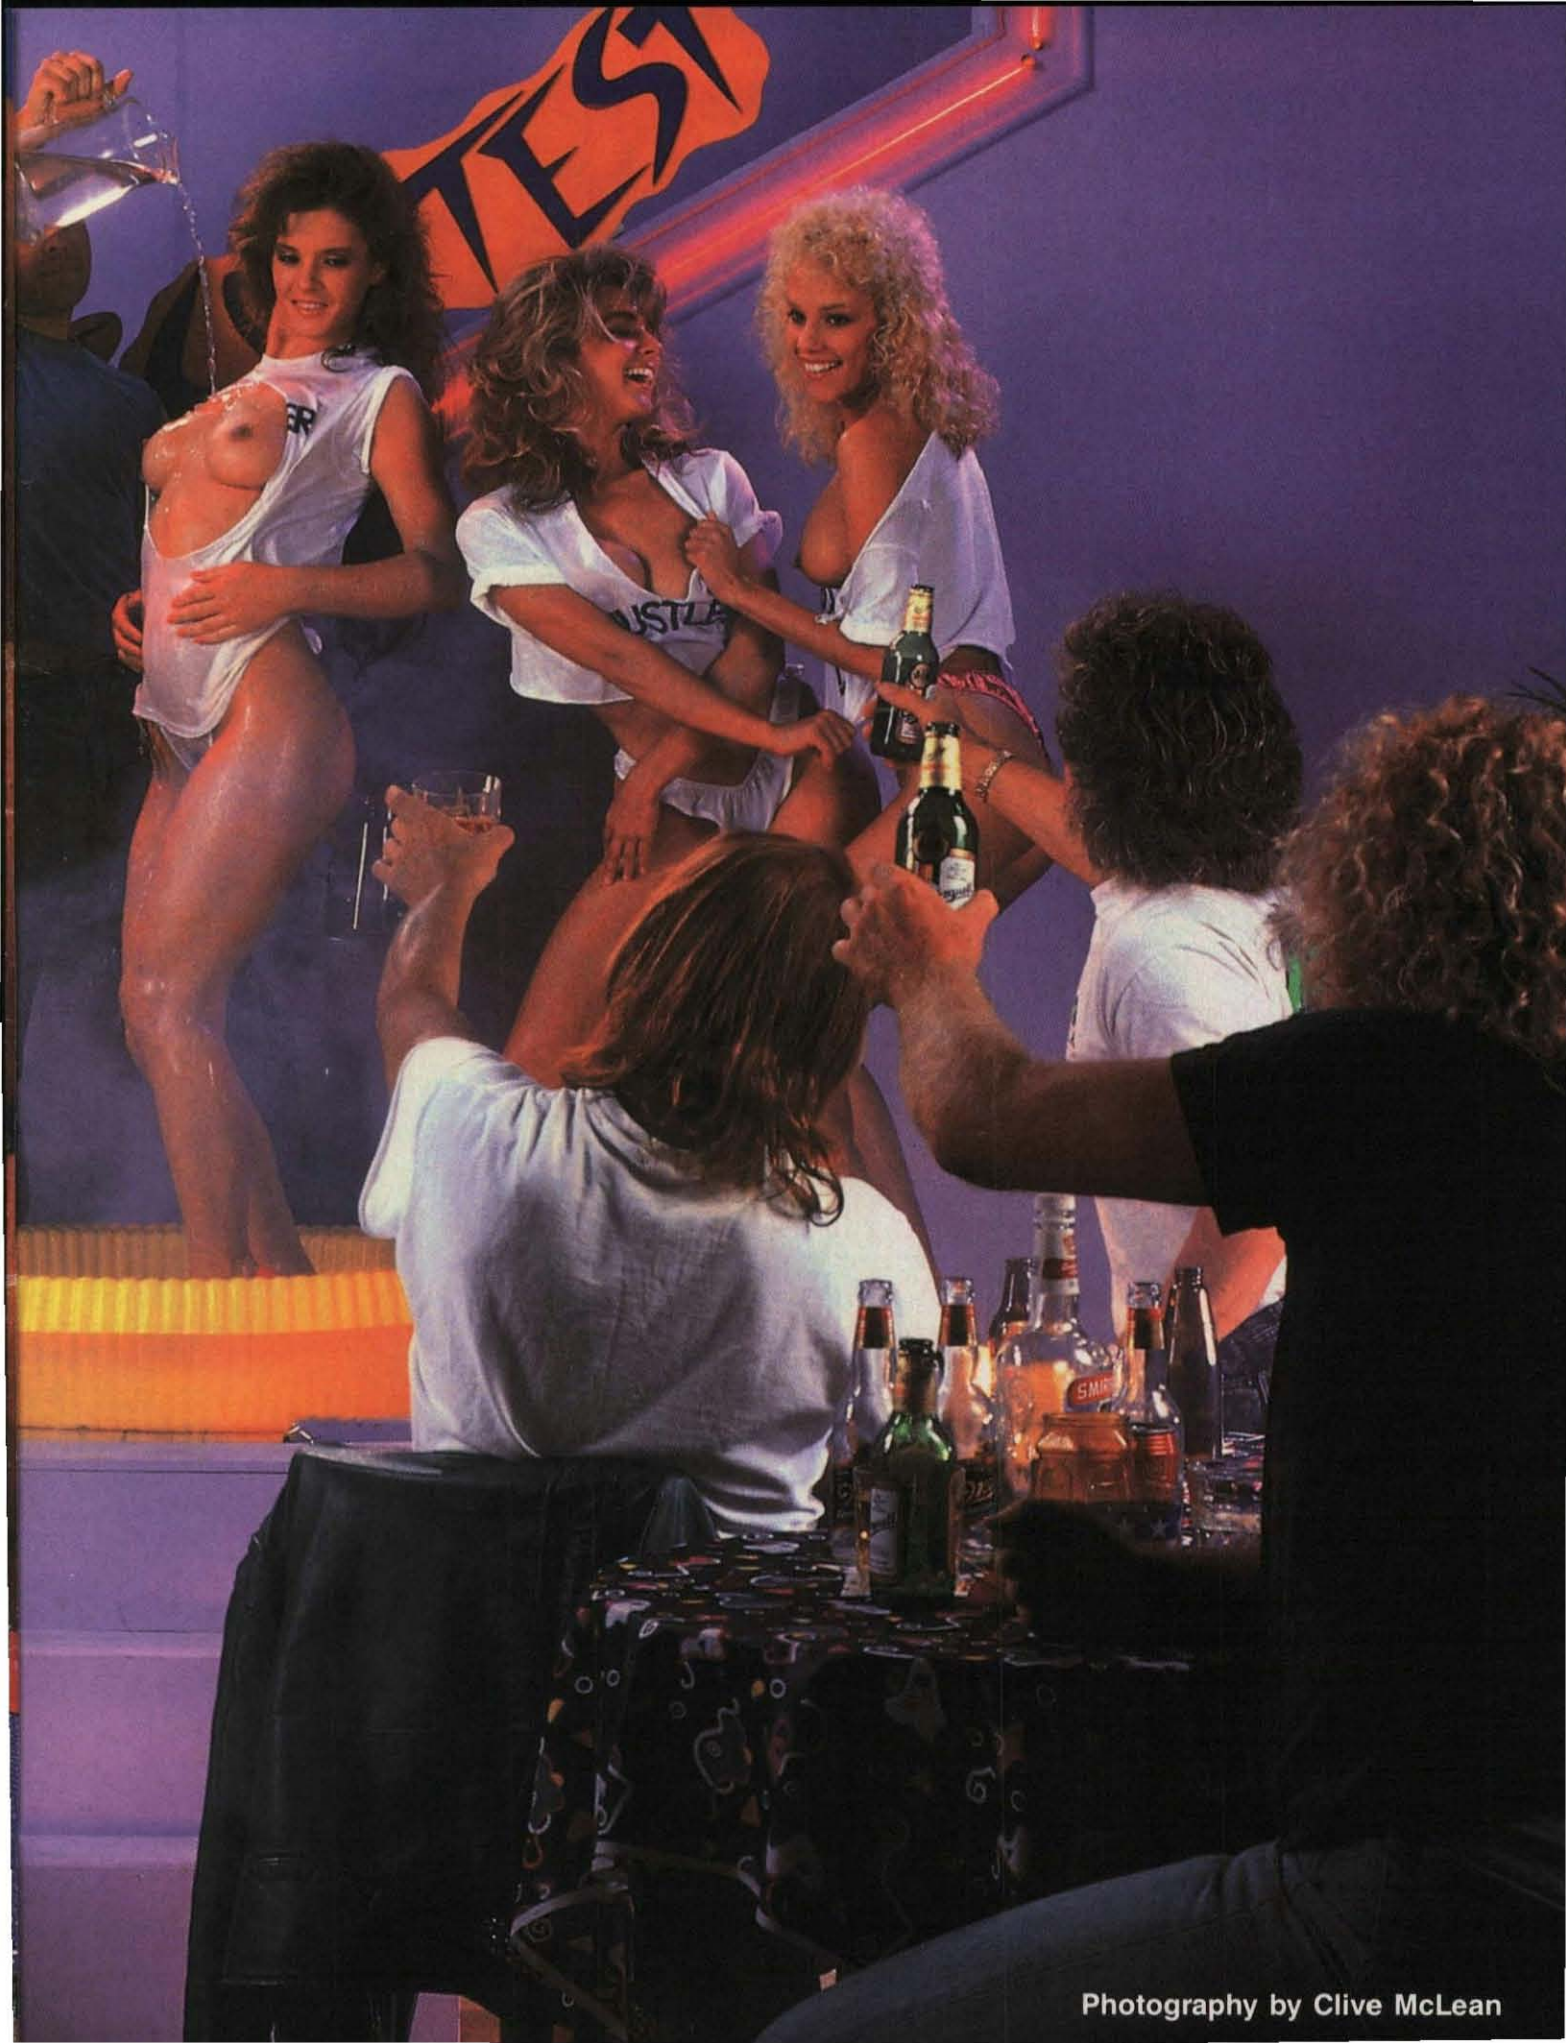
HUSTLER HOSES DOWN SOME HOT BODS





Photography by Clive McLean

When HUSTLER goes to a wet-T-shirt contest, you can expect things to get a little out of hand. What surprised most of the strokers in attendance was that it was the busty contestants who lost control. At the urgings of the rowdy, drooling crowd, the girls ripped their shirts off to expose wondrous torsos that made several audience members come in their beers.

The insatiable, bouncing boob patrol went for the nearest pecker and tore the tux off the announcer, who had no choice but to go bobbing for tits. Talk about wet: Every crotch, every mouth, every inch of flesh and stage was dripping with some kind of tasty liquid. It took no coaxing to get the cum-stained customers to help lick up the mess. As for the winner of the contest? Who cares!

Convicted of manslaughter for killing an employee, King was Inmate No. 125734 from 1967 to 1971.

boasting that "there ain't no others like me." Such braggadocio is alien to Arum, who admitted that it took him several years to tell his mother he was a boxing promoter.

The notorious Arum and King feud began in 1973, when Arum garnished the purse of the King-promoted Shavers-Quarry fight to ensure payment of a small debt and ignored King's bid for rights to the second Ali-Frazier fight.

The King-Arum bond is more complex than has been described in the media. "It's a love-hate relationship," says Steve Farhood, senior writer for KO magazine.

The two promoting goliaths got together for one fight: the first Duran-Leonard match, in 1980. "It can happen again," believes Collins of The Ring magazine. "When there's big money involved, they can become friends awfully quickly."

King may hog the public spotlight, but it's a different story behind the scenes. "It's easier to get to Reagan than it is to King," says Collins. "Arum is the opposite. He's very accessible. He'll pick up the telephone and call you."

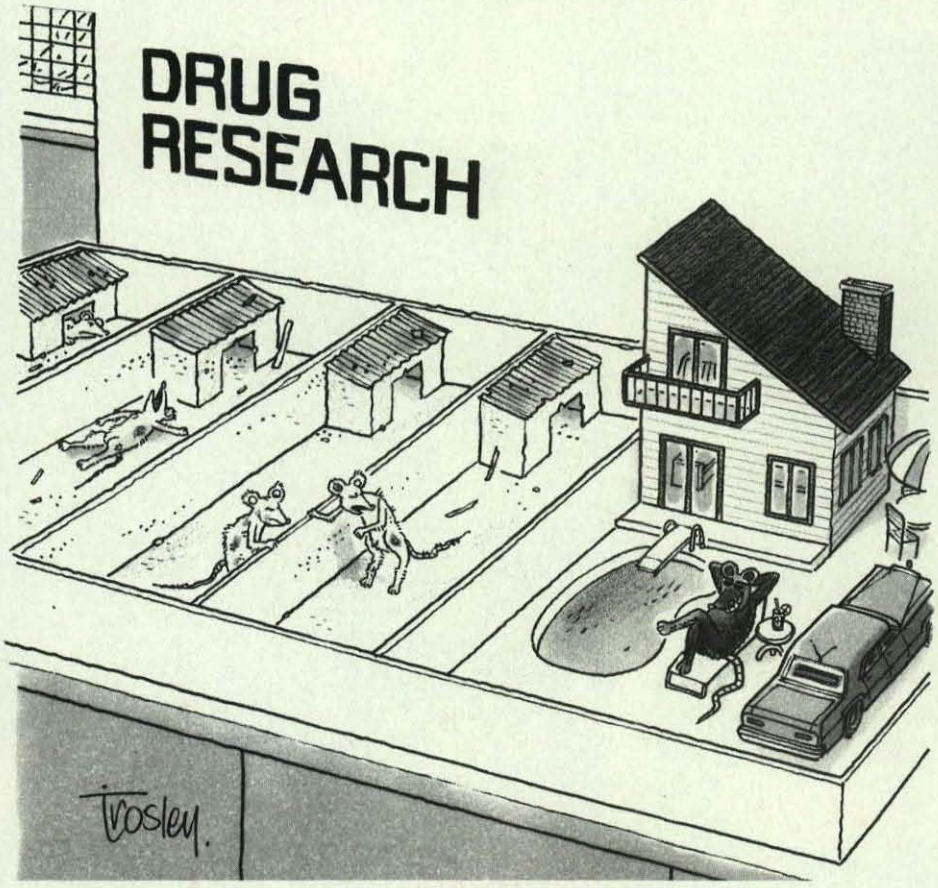
"Don King would not do that. Someone else in his office will," confirms Vince Giantomasi, editor of Boxing Beat.

Born in the Cleveland ghetto in 1932, King's hustling career began as a teenage numbers runner during summer vacations. King killed an employee in a street fight and, convicted of manslaughter, was Inmate No. 125734 from 1967 to 1971 at the Marion Correctional Institution in Ohio.

King's association with boxing began soon after his release from prison. He talked Ali into boxing a series of exhibition matches to benefit a black hospital in Cleveland.

King liked his fling with boxing promotion. He used his silver tongue to wheedle the managers of George Foreman and Ken Norton into allowing him to stage their heavyweight bout, the first between two Americans held outside the U.S.

In 1974, King laid claim to the title of boxing's biggest promoter when he arranged the Ali-Foreman bout in Zaire, Africa, with an unheard-of purse of $5 million for each fighter. Ali knocked out Foreman in eight rounds, and King made millions by staging six more of the Greatest's title fights.



"Damn pusher!"

"Ali, Herbert Muhammad [Ali's manager] and I formed the triumvirate that truly shocked the world," King boasted. "It behooved my white counterparts to try to break this chain because as it grew in strength and vibrancy, it became symbolic."

"He went to Ali and Foreman and said, 'You ought to give me the opportunity because I'm black,'" says Charles Spaziani, Larry Holmes's adviser/lawyer. "He's never been put down because he's black. He's been given opportunities because he's black."

Since his Zaire coup, King's promotional wheelings and dealings have engendered one controversy after another. He may boast, "I've totally eradicated failure from my vocabulary. I never cease to amaze myself." But he's fallen flat on his face more than once.

King, contracted with ABC, launched the U.S. Boxing Championships on January 16, 1977, on the flight deck of the United States aircraft carrier Lexington, anchored off Pensacola, Florida. ABC scrapped the tournament after charges of kickbacks, fixed bouts and misleading contender credentials. A federal grand jury castigated King for "a good deal of unethical behavior." King lashed back, charging racism.

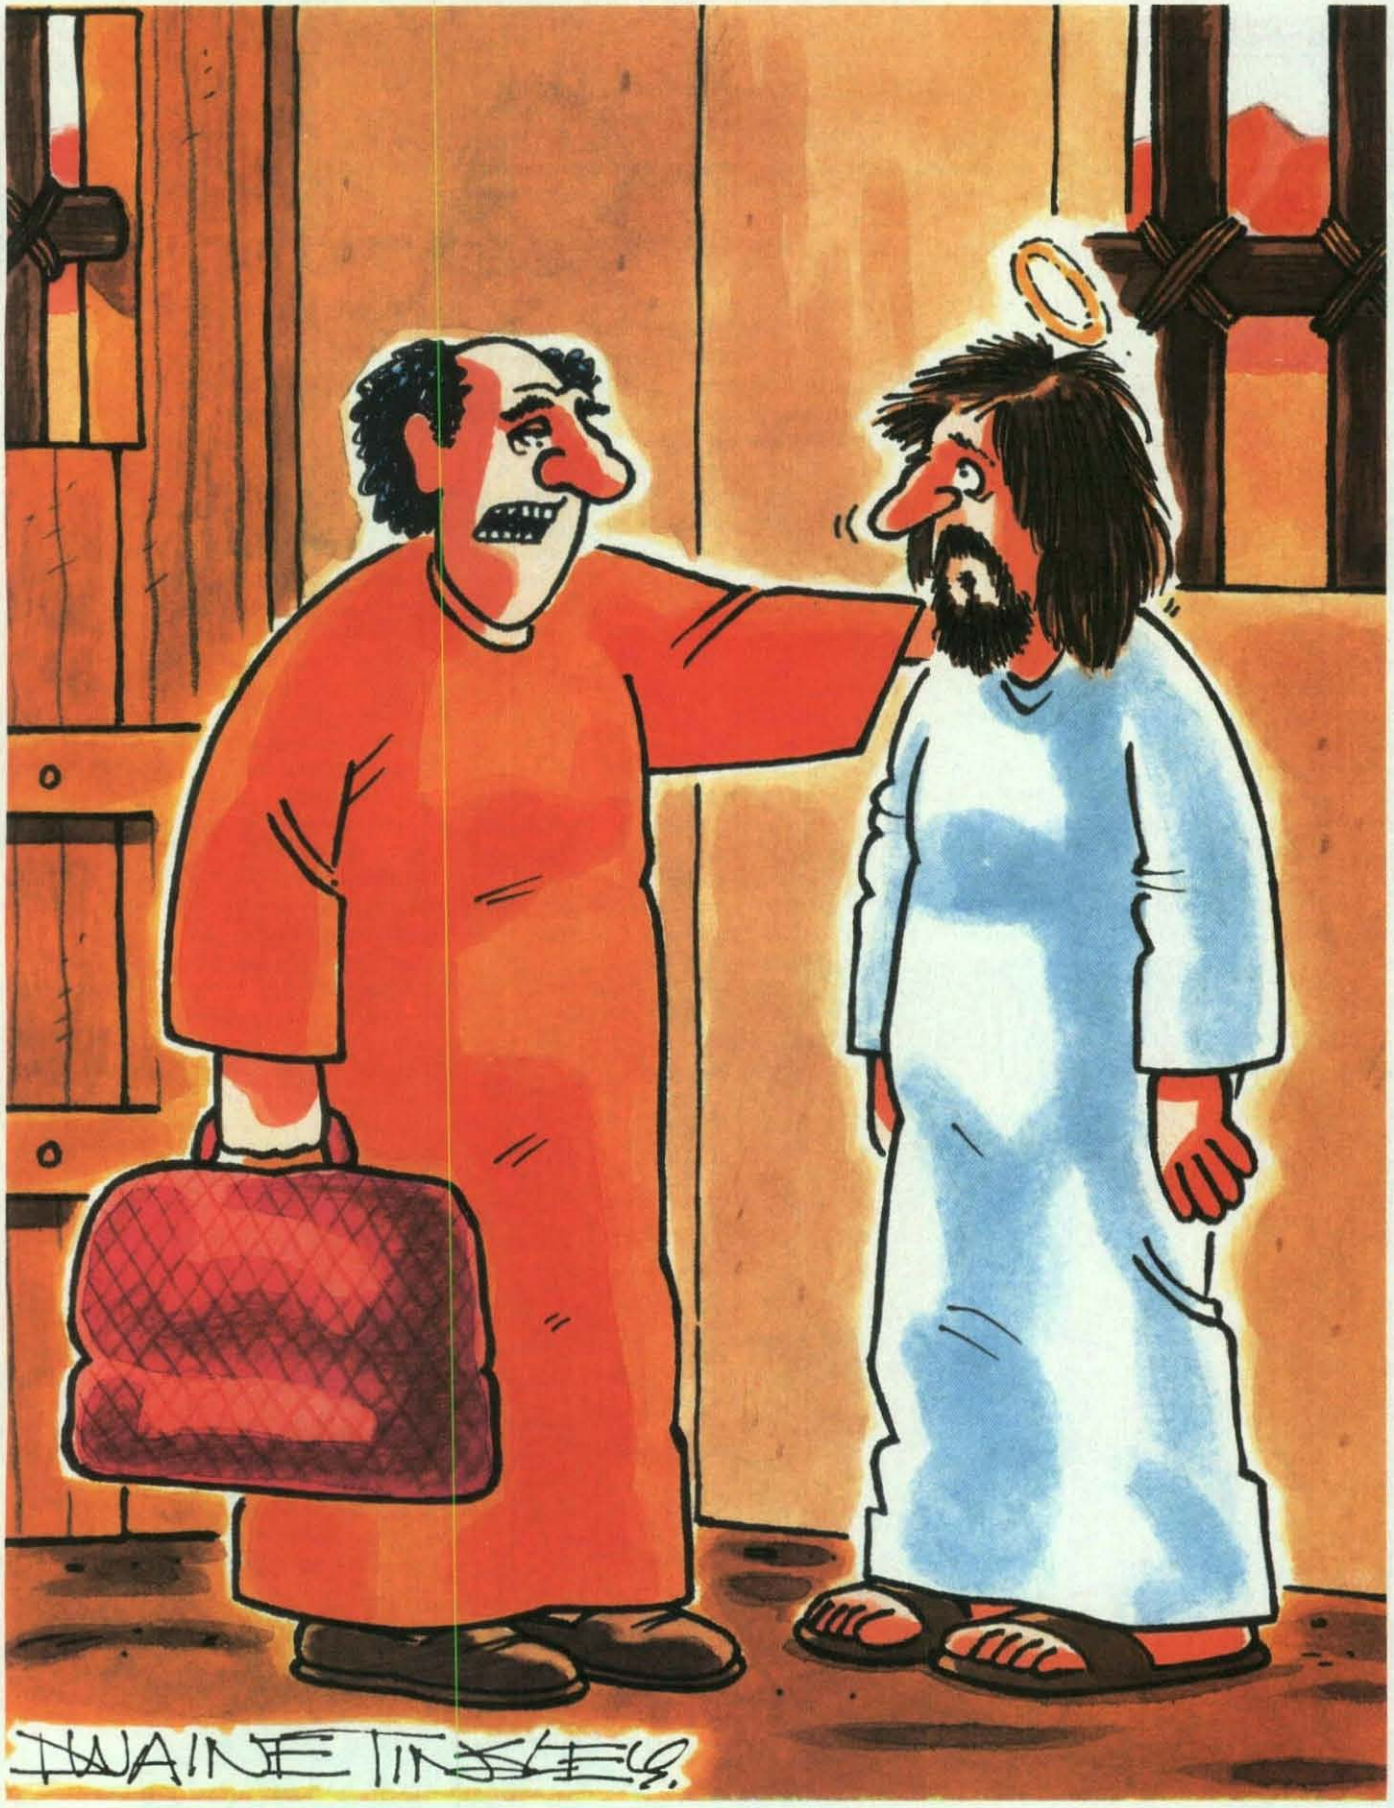
King's questionable dealings have made him the target of numerous probes of boxing corruption and links to organized crime. In 1984 he was indicted on 23 federal charges of income-tax evasion, filing fraudulent tax returns and conspiracy. He was charged, along with Constance Harper, his longtime secretary, with skimming $1 million from his financial empire between 1978 and 1981. He faced 46 years in prison and $65,000 in fines. Harper was convicted of three counts of attempted tax evasion, but King beat the rap, saying, after his acquittal, "Only in America."

"Don King has to be an intelligent man," says Collins. "The government has spent a lot of money hauling him into court, but they haven't been able to prove anything yet."

Many boxing people complain of close ties between Don King and Jose Sulaiman, head of the World Boxing Council (WBC). "King's fighters tend to be rated much higher in the WBC," says Steve Farhood. "Take the case of former heavyweight champ Tim Witherspoon, one of the world's five best heavyweights. He moved to No. 21 in the WBC ratings after saying he was going to sue King for $25 million."

Arum has sway with other ratings organizations, admittedly paying Pepe Cordero, a Puerto Rican promoter with close ties to the World Boxing Association (WBA), approximately $250,000 to get Ray Mancini a lightweight title shot.

Boxing expert Steve Farhood believes



"Sorry, kid, they turned down the plea bargain. These guys really want to nail you. . . ."

ONE-RING CIRCUS

Carl King, Don's son, takes 37-50% of the purse, giving the Kings two cuts, as promoter and manager.

such collusion leads to mismatches. "The networks shouldn't televise championship fights that involve fighters who don't deserve a shot at the title. How could King or Arum make money? How could their fighters make money?"

In contrast to King, Bob Arum's early career contains little to qualify him as a boxing promoter. The 56-year-old Brooklyn-born son of Orthodox Jewish parents graduated cum laude from Harvard Law School and earned a law degree from New York University. Arum worked for the U.S. Attorney General's office, where he was responsible for decisions against the likes of Standard Oil and Con Edison. In addition, Arum headed the Justice Department taxation group that held up the purse of the first Patterson-Liston fight due to rumored irregularities by one of the bout's promoters.

While still practicing law, Arum represented a closed-circuit television company broadcasting the Patterson-Chuvalo bout. Football great Jim Brown introduced Arum to Ali.

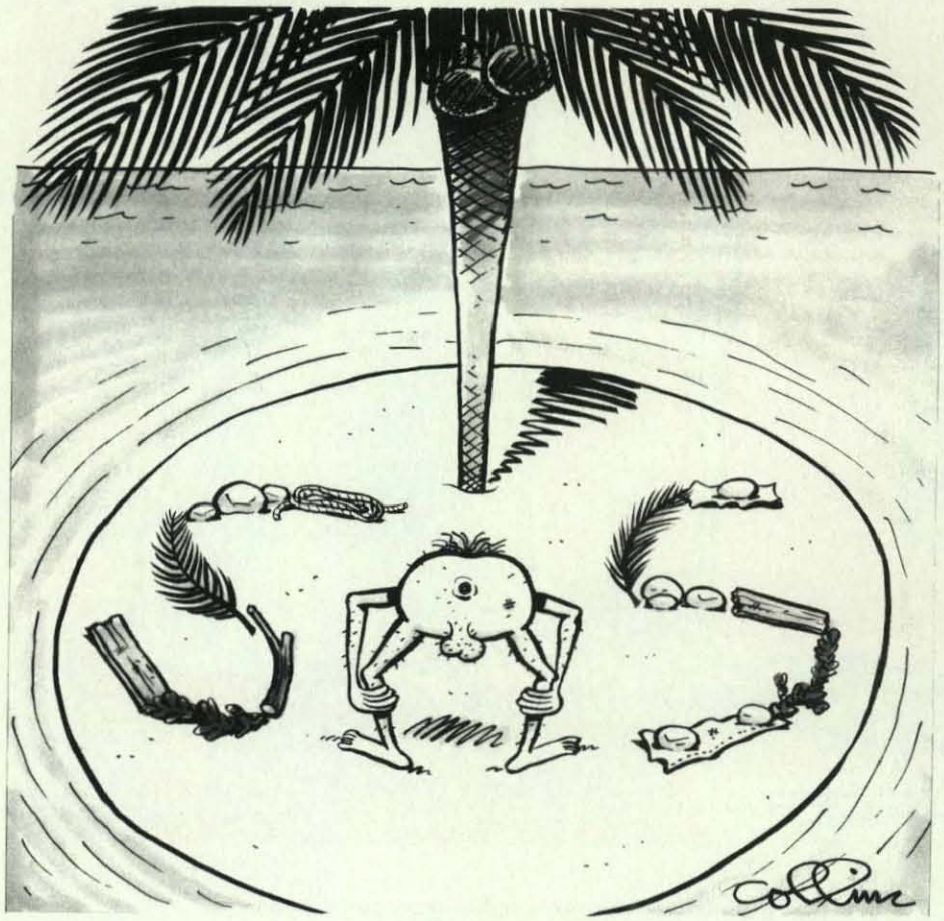
"Both Arum and King got their break from their association with Ali," says Farhood. "They both used Ali to achieve their status in boxing."

Forming a promotion company, Arum promoted closed-circuit broadcasts of Ali fights. When they proved successful, he devoted all his time to boxing.

The plum of Arum's career was landing the World Middleweight Championship between Marvelous Marvin Hagler and Sugar Ray Leonard. It was a risky promotion for Arum. Hagler was guaranteed at least $12 million (a million per round), while Leonard got $11 million. Until the Tyson-Spinks fight, the combined $23-million purse was the biggest in history.

Arum has become one of boxing's two top promoters with little success in the heavyweight division. Outside of his early ties with Ali, Arum has had a strong connection with only one other heavyweight: John Tate. "He [Arum] predicted Tate would be the Ali of the '80s, but he fell apart," explains Farhood. "Arum has never made a dent in the heavyweight division. He's still managed to make a lot of money."

Arum suffered setbacks recently when Hagler and Donald Curry, fighters with whom he had strong promotional ties, suffered devastating and unexpected defeats. "He had two of the game's biggest stars," explains Farhood. "He was envisioning a Hagler-Curry match and a tremendous promotion. But Hagler lost to Leonard, and Curry was knocked out both by [Lloyd] Honyghan and Michael McCollum."



Arum, like King, has made a lot of enemies climbing the boxing ladder. Jose Torres, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission and a former light heavyweight champ, tells an anecdote that illustrates the point: "Sports Illustrated once interviewed Cus D'Amato [the late trainer of Mike Tyson]. Cus was going on about how much Bob Arum cheated the fighters. The reporter asked, 'Well, what about Don King?' Cus replied, 'I haven't negotiated with King. But I don't think God can make the same mistake twice.'"

"Arum was lucky to put together the Hagler-Leonard fight," reveals Farhood. "Ray's manager, Mike Trainer, didn't want anything to do with Arum." Sources say that Bill Cayton, the manager of boxing's biggest star, Mike Tyson, won't negotiate with Arum.

Bad blood has also spilled between Arum and Butch Lewis. Lewis had signed Michael Spinks for Bob Arum's Top Rank, Inc. But Lewis clashed with Arum, and they had a bitter parting. Spinks wanted to go with Lewis and told Arum that if he couldn't be released from his contract, he wouldn't fight again. This explains why King, not Arum, was center stage in boxing's biggest money fight.

King has also managed to anger some of boxing's top fighters. Tim Witherspoon is suing King for $25 million for allegedly skimming purses. Witherspoon, like other fighters, has complained of being coerced into signing with King's son Carl to manage. Carl King then takes 37% to 50% of the fighter's purse, giving the Kings two cuts, as promoter and manager. King defends himself by saying a father wouldn't be worth his salt if he didn't help out his son.

Larry Holmes, who has fought for King, is now fighting against him: "When I see Don King, I see the devil. That's why his hair stands up—to hide the horns."

King promoted Holmes's first 13 defenses, but relations soured in December 1984. Holmes took King's offer of $2.5 million for a mandatory defense against number-one contender Greg Page as an insult. Holmes declared his freedom. "Throughout the 15 years I've boxed," Holmes said, "I've always wanted to do one year for Larry Holmes. Now I'm the guy with the frizzy hair."

Unlike Arum, who doesn't keep a lot of fighters under contract, King frustrates

"We will not allow Don King to abuse Michael [Tyson] and control him," says Robin Givens.

many fighters by signing them to options while they're challengers. If a challenger wins a title shot, he's contracted to defend his title for the promoter (usually two or three defenses). If unwilling to sign such a contract, the fighter wallows in the top ten.

Hector "Macho Man" Camacho, currently seeking his third world title as a junior welterweight contender, will have nothing to do with Don King. "Hector has had such bad experiences with King that he has cut his ties with him," reveals Pat Flannery, a close friend of Camacho. "He especially didn't like being tied up by King for several fights. That's the kind of contract he had, but the contract was valid only if Camacho fought at 135 pounds. Camacho is now fighting at a higher weight, and that's how he was able to get out of it." Other fighters haven't been so lucky.

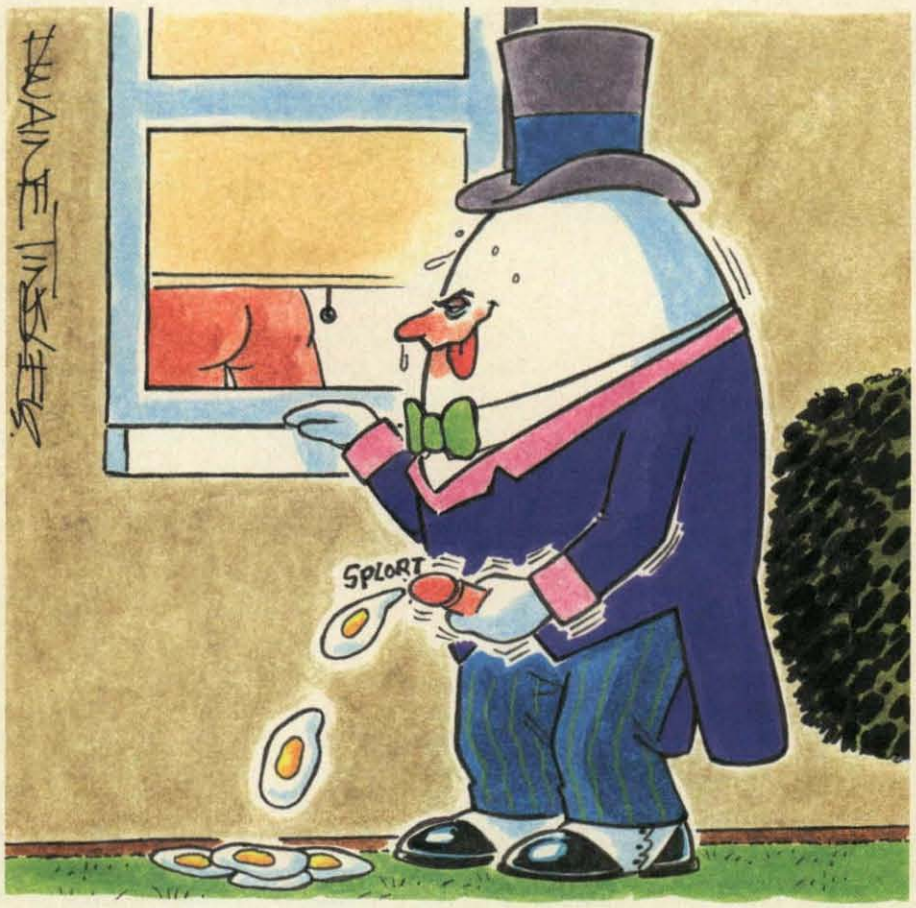
The most serious challenger to the Arum and King reign is the Duva family's Main Events Promotions. Lou Duva is constantly in the limelight. Television viewers see the quick-talking, foul-mouthed, bulldoggish Lou leading his fighters into the ring. The Duvas started in north Jersey with small club shows. They got their break promoting the second Duran-Leonard fight, gaining credibility and name recognition.

"They are easy to work with," Collins reveals. "They are cooperative and very professional. They treat boxers well. You never hear about trouble between Main Events and their fighters like you do about King and his fighters."

But Main Events' close association with its fighters often makes for lousy matchups. "Their fortunes are tied to specific fighters," explains Bernstein. "They are looking for wins for their fighters."

The man who would be king of the promoters is egocentric maverick Butch Lewis, who wears his tuxedos sans shirt. The Lewis-Michael Spinks duo is like Martin and Lewis or Abbott and Costello.

Butch Lewis, with a little help from Dennis Rappaport, Gerry Cooney's manager, defeated Home Box Office (HBO), the cable-television colossus that thought it had the heavyweight division tied up. Lewis matched Michael Spinks against Gerry Cooney in a bout that circumvented HBO's heavyweight unification series.



An angry HBO said that the bout would violate its agreement with Spinks and Lewis, and the broadcaster got an injunction. Lewis appealed, and Spinks KO'd the Great White Hope in the fifth round.

There is no love between Lewis and King. Greg Page was Lewis's fighter, until King stepped in. Page's father died; King paid for the funeral and contributed $1,000 to the election campaign of Page's lawyer. King signed Page and Lewis sued. King settled out of court with Lewis for a reported $200,000.

Giantomasi, who worked for Lewis, describes his former boss as "rough around the edges. At times he is hard to work with because he is a perfectionist. He gets involved with everything in a promotion—from tickets to the type of bucket that is used in the corner."

Boxing people rave about Lewis's handling of Spinks, keeping him undefeated, making him the first light heavyweight to win the heavyweight championship, making a pile of dough.

Others describe Lewis as a one-trick pony. "When Spinks finally leaves the fight game, Lewis will also be gone," predicts Bernstein. "Lewis has burned a lot of bridges. Lewis better enjoy his paydays while he can."

Two other prominent promoters are Mickey Duff and Josephine Abercrombie. Wily veteran Duff has been around as long as Arum and King, working also as a manager and trainer. Duff promotes such British pugilists as John Mugabi, Frank Bruno and Lloyd Honyghan.

Abercrombie, a sixtyish heiress trying to muscle into a macho boxing world, has invested lavishly in the Houston Boxing Association. She built a gym in Houston and a 6,000-acre training camp in Gonzales, Texas. Fighters tied to Abercrombie include middleweight champion Frank Tate, heavyweight Tony Tucker and junior welterweight Joe Louis Manley.

In the months leading up to the Tyson-Spinks fight, boxing people speculated that the King-Arum era might be over. Many thought Mike Tyson to be the most powerful man in boxing. With managers Jimmy Jacobs and Bill Cayton calling Iron Mike's shots, other managers closely watched Tyson's guided development. Maybe they too could break the blood-pimp power of the Kings and Arums.

That all changed when Jimmy Jacobs died and King won the promotional rights to the fight. Does the 22-year-old Tyson have the moxie and street smarts to break any web King might weave?

"We will not allow Don King to abuse Michael and control him," says Robin Givens. "That will not happen."

Only time will tell.

PORNSTER'S POP-OFF

My wife Diane and I decided to go in with Red and Kim on the purchase of a video camera. Since neither couple wanted to shell out 1,000 clams, nor did we need the camera all the time, it seemed like a perfect solution.

Soon after we bought it, we had Red and Kim over for dinner. We were laughing and drinking wine when the subject of our camera came up. Diane said, "We should really make our first video something special."

Kim then added, "Yeah, like make it X-rated." This got a big laugh, but to my surprise, we all ended up agreeing to the idea. Red and Kim would take the camera home for a couple of days and make an X-rated video; then we would make one. The following week we would get together and watch them.

Diane and I decided our first X-rated scene would be a striptease. I held the camera while Diane slowly peeled her red evening dress down over her statuesque body. My wife smiled wickedly at the camera as she lifted her D-cup brassiere above her tits. She then lowered her red panties and ran her hand furiously over her cunt.

Next it was my turn. I tried to get a laugh by doing a mock striptease, but by the time I got down to my underwear, I had a hard-on that a cat couldn't scratch.

We set the camera on the edge of our night table, pointing straight at my glistening seven-inch prick. Diane got down on her knees and began to give my hanging balls a tongue bath. She worked gently over, under and around my tender sac. My better half then slowly, firmly ran her tantalizing tongue up along the underside of my cock until she got to the head, which she popped into her mouth like an oversized Popsicle.

Soon Diane was sucking and jerking my cock furiously. She could sense I was about to come and held my stiff rod over the top of her extended tongue. I let fly with a thick, hot stream of jizz. Some of the cum splashed across her upper lip like a moustache. Dramatically, Diane turned toward the camera and licked it off like a seasoned sex-cinema starlet.

Then we taped a fuck scene. Diane stood up and spread her legs apart, reached down and grabbed her ankles as I approached her from the rear. I shoved my fuck flesh into her quim hard and almost knocked Diane off her feet. I fucked her savagely, holding on to her hips as I rammed my cock in and out. Somehow she managed to maintain her grip on her ankles until I pulled my prick out and shot a huge load on her ass. Seeing my jizz spray over those gorgeous globes, I felt like a real porn star.

Finally, video couples night arrived. We watched ours first, and I kept glancing at Kim to see her reaction. Her eyes were glued to the TV, as were Red's. When it was over, I felt proud of my performance, and got really anxious as Red slid their video into the VCR.

The first scene was Red doing his ape imitation. The second was Kim playing with their dog. Where was the sex!?! Red and Kim sheepishly admitted that they never thought we'd go through with it and they didn't want to look like chumps. Despite our embarrassment, we all got a good laugh out of it.

Red and Kim left quickly, taking the camera with them. Our video was so hot, they said they were inspired to really make their own. Next week we're going to get together to view their first effort, and after that, all four of us are going to make a video together! I can't wait. Maybe HUSTLER will review it. —T. K.

Baltimore, Maryland

FOREIGN AID

I met Amadeo while working at a welfare agency. He was a Salvadoran refugee who flashed a winning smile. Amadeo always came by the agency with other refugees to ask for help with his rent or a handout to buy a taco.

I remember the first night we went out together. I had to work late at the office, and when I told Amadeo I had to lock up, he offered to walk me home. Since I hadn't had any supper, I invited him out to eat and, later, to a movie of his choice. Before this evening I had never considered Amadeo a potential sex partner, but all that changed when we went to see this movie called Natalie.

Although Amadeo told me he had already seen the movie, he insisted that we go in. "I don't remember half of it," he said. Now I think he suggested the film with a purpose in mind. When we settled down to watch, I discovered the movie was about this sexy French broad who gets laid by several well-endowed guys. Needless to say, this film was very erotic and arousing. Amadeo was sitting passively at my side, seemingly oblivious to my mounting passion; so I decided to take things into my own hands. I slid my right hand over to his left leg and moved it slowly toward his crotch. He remained unmoved by my advances, but when I touched his groin area, I found Amadeo had a full erection.

I could now feel his dick pressing against his polyster pants. Since he still didn't respond, I began to massage it gently. That's when he turned to me and said in his own quaint Salvadoran jargon, "I going to give you a good stepping on." This is a very familiar farm expression used in El Salvador to mean, "I'm going to fuck you like the rooster fucks a chicken." I immediately understood, being a country girl myself.

He got up, and I followed him out of the theater. Before long we were walking under a romantic, starry night. Suddenly Amadeo stopped me and kissed me long and hard. All I wanted then was to get to a hotel and get fucked by this impulsive guy with the lovely green eyes.

I knew of a sleazy hotel nearby, a rat trap, but I couldn't afford to be seen with a client in the ritzier part of town.

Amadeo wasn't much for formalities. As soon as we entered the room, he simply came up to me and started unzipping my blouse from the back. As he did so, he pushed his cock against my ass cheeks. Oh, it felt so good to have a man want me with such desperation! While kissing my back, he slipped off my blouse and bra. When he turned me around and started sucking on my boobs, I went for his zipper.

Amadeo pushed me onto the bed and yanked off my soaking panties. He then dove right into my cunt, massaging my clit while poking his long tongue into my love cavity.

Amadeo wasn't much for words or long on foreplay. Suddenly he was lying on his back and motioning for me to climb on top of him. Naturally, I was going to sit on his cock facing him, but Amadeo instructed me to sit on his cock facing his feet, and then to lie back on him. Although this seemed like an unusual position, I eased myself down on his quivering cock. When it reached the portals of my pussy, I began to savor every thick, wonderful inch till I had taken all ten in.

I thought to myself, I could fall in love with this act every day of my life. Before long he was positioning my legs in such a way that his thrusts hit their mark every time. I was oozing pleasure that dripped down onto the bed in puddles.

His hands worked on my nipples while his thick lips swallowed my mouth whole. Before long I sensed that he was reaching his peak. We worked like two well-lubricated machines, in and out, in and out, till I could hold back no longer. Amadeo must have sensed this, because he quickly threw me on my side and began thrusting deeper and harder.

I screamed as I showered him with my love juices. He kissed me harder than ever and let forth a series of pleasure-filled grunts. A moment later I tried to get up, but Amadeo held me tightly and whispered that he wanted me again . . . and again. —G. R.

would like to see more Hot Letters in future issues. We enjoy acting them out after reading them together. —He and I Maryland

Subscribe to HUSTLER LETTERS Magazine (see the coupon on page 113) and get plenty of descriptive action to follow through with at home. Active subscribers like you might want to stock up on lubricants and sexy friends to join the action, as LETTERS covers everything from good old raunchy sex to group gropes, peepers and flashers, and even dips into the kink bag.

HUSTLER SAVES

I really enjoy your magazine, not just the pictures of gorgeous women, but also the writers, who are first-rate with wit and humor. I wrote to say that HUSTLER once saved my life. While in Florida job-hunting, I went to a 7-11 to buy a HUSTLER and a six-pack of beer. As I left the store, a guy with a gun told me to stop, drop the bag and put my hands in the air. When he saw I only had five bucks in my wallet, the robber said, "What's in the bag?" I showed him the beer and the magazine. The robber then threw me back my wallet—with the fiver still in it—and began to run backwards while flipping through the centerfold, gun in hand. So, HUSTLER, thank you. You saved my life. —E. R.
Shelton, Washington

DOWN SIX YEARS; LOOKING UP

I'm doing hard time in prison. I'm incarcerated at the Indiana Youth Center on a battery charge. I've been down here for six years and until recently hadn't seen a copy of HUSTLER. I read your August '88 issue from cover to cover, and now I know that HUSTLER is the best magazine in the world! —M. G.
Plainfield, Indiana

CARNAL CONSUMER

Let me begin by just saying that I enjoy HUSTLER very much. I am considering placing an order for some videos from one of the December issue's ads. But, from what I've heard about mail-order ripoffs, I'm not sure I'll receive what I order. Can you recommend a company? —S. J.
Stillwater, Oklahoma

HIGH ON HEELS

I've been buying HUSTLER since 1985. I enjoy looking at models who wear black 5½-inch stiletto-heeled pumps. Please show more models in this type of footwear. —M. J.
Jacksonville, Florida

CENSOR-FREE HOME VIDEO

Where could I get four Super 8 movie cartridges processed? I cannot send them to just any photo lab because they're of me and my lady having sex. I've lost one cartridge at the photo lab already, and they will not process them because of their censorship. —E. A.
Austin, Texas

Our HUSTLER sexvid expert suggests you purchase a video camera so that you won't have to send out your film again.

LOST LEATHER LORE

I am looking for a magazine or catalog titled Centurian. It features leatherwear, gags, masks and whips. I would be most grateful if you can help me find this publication. —M. P.
Harbor, Oregon

Centurian no longer publishes a catalog line, but you might check sex tabloids for advertisers who handle end-of-stock or bulk leftovers of magazines no longer published or generally available.

A REAL LETTER, REALLY

Too much falsely presented as true letters! We know; we realize the truth. "Nipple-hard nymphette"!??! Really. The letters column is contrived.

NEXT MONTH IN HUSTLER

May edition on sale March 21, 1989

MOIST, SUCCULENT PUSSY—AND PLENTY OF I

The May HUSTLER is a stroker's bible of beautiful bush, starting with a crimson-haired coquette with drool-inspiring tits and a snatch made in heaven. Then take a ride with a leathery biker who trades his scooter for hooters, as he straddles a super-busty babe who has more dangerous curves than a West Virginia highway; graze with a couple of clit-licking lesbos who enjoy an afternoon poon picnic; and slick your dick for our horny centerfold, a beached blonde in search of hard cock, maybe yours. She's got a fine ass and a tight slit, and best of all, she likes to show off her bod. Come and get it, next month in HUSTLER.

CHALKING A NEW STICK

Yuppies have begun invading the sacred pool hall, and though the BMW crowd may be fouling the atmosphere, their interest is sparking possible big-time sponsorship and creating a new breed of player. Keep your eye on the eight ball in Allan MacDonell's "Turning the Tables on the Old Sport of Billiards," as he takes you to the International Billiard Tournament in Cleveland.

SEX SELLS SUCCESS

Advertisers are peddling wares with images and outright sex more often these days, and in a variety of ways. But will the new hard-on sell affect the national intimacy level? Find out what the professionals and the critics think in a report by Jim Schmaltz as he asks, "What's Wrong With Sex in Advertising?"

AIDSWATCH: THEY LIVE

Next month take a break from the usual horror stories of the AIDS virus and read about the "Survivors," people who have managed to overcome or keep the deadly disease in control. Writer Jeff Jackson tells who they are, how they did it and what programs and methods are available to give hope to other victims.

FEATURES THAT WON'T LET YOU DOWN!

Screw around with Rick Woods next month as he lays down the new track rules for extramarital fucking in May's Sex Play, "Adultery Now!" Find out how modern "back-door Charlies" deal with sexual disease and complicated divorce legalese in their pursuit of fresh pussy. Then you can satisy your craving for deep-dish hair pie as Beaver Hunt returns for another month of splayed goodies. Also, check out the newest in fuck films and fuck dolls in HUSTLER Erotic Entertainment, howl at the hysterical humor of the outrageous Bits & Pieces, and make a mess with fellow readers as they describe their favorite fucks in Hot Letters. The May HUSTLER is a guaranteed cock pleaser.
