PELT PERV
"Consuela: Ripe for Plucking" in the July '89 HUSTLER is not only one of the most exotic and beautiful women I've ever been blessed to gaze upon, but her thickly pelted crotch makes fine Russian sable pale in comparison. There are, I'm willing to bet a bundle, a very great number of closet fur worshippers out here biting our collective nails. Finding a natural snatch intact is a world class turn-on to lots of us! A dense, curly out-of-control cooze, or even wild and woolly underarm foliation, have an aura of animal sexuality and make a bold, exhibitionistic "fuck you if you can't take it" statement. Best of all, it takes hours to lick honey or peanut butter from a thicket of wild bush. To be fair, I guess it would also take hours to lick honey or peanut butter out of an 18-inch push broom too. . . but it wouldn't be nearly as much fun. —J.A.
Huntington Beach, California

BLACK TALK
The July '89 issue of HUSTLER is one I won't be sending to my brother once I'm done reading it. Thanks for "Candice: Chocolate Covered," she's great! As a proud black man, let me say it was also nice seeing some black in your Beaver Hunt. More, more, please! —K.N.T.
Silver Spring, Maryland

FLAG WAVER
I noticed in the August '89 issue of HUSTLER that one of the Beaver Hunt models, Trish, the homemaker from Alberta, Canada, was waving the American flag in a disrespectful manner. Who the hell does that Canadian bitch think she is? The least she could have done was to wave her Maple Leaf flag around like it was a piece of confetti, instead of Old Glory. But I shouldn't be too hard on the old bitch. Case in point: The last Canadian I saw was found climbing a tree with his hockey stick. When I inquired about his strange conduct, his reply was that he merely wanted to play with the Leafs. —D.D.
Bismarck, North Dakota

JIZZED OVER JINNY
HUSTLER Magazine is the number one magazine in the world. HUSTLER makes all the other men's titles look amateurish. Your Girls of HUSTLER, Volume One, is excellent. Your cartoons are very funny. I love all your models, though my favorite has to be "Jinny" from the June '89 issue. —J.D.
Shavertown, Pennsylvania

ETHICS, CONSERVATIVE STYLE
One of society's most dangerous mixtures has been the merging of politics and TV evangelism. Having witnessed the death and mourning on national TV of the Ayatollah, you have to wonder if religious fanatics could take over the U.S. Government. An example: Two of these religious/political fanatics sit side by side in your July '89 Asshole roundup—Jerry Falwell and Newt Gingrich. These two guys seem to be in conspiracy to make their own brand of hot air the law of the land. It is also very interesting how these two conservatives can take selective pot shots at the ethics of congressional liberals after eight long years of the unethical Reagan administration! Therefore, it is only fair that magazines like HUSTLER take tough, but fair, shots at the moral and financial dealings of politicians and TV evangelists. If they want to lecture us on our moral behavior, they should be required to pass inspection on theirs! —G.T.
Buffalo, New York

Consuela: Ripe for Plucking

Turn the page. Newt's Asshole of the Month again.

SKINHEADS PRO & CON
The skinhead article ("Skinned Alive" July '89) is very timely, and I found it very interesting. What this is is an obvious case of get back. White people are tired of minority crimes and various other ways of takeover. Look at New York City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Miami, Detroit and Washington, D.C. They are all filthy toilets dominated by tenth-rate Third World rabble. White people tend to think with the organ between their ears. Non-whites tend to think with the organ between their legs. Adolf Hitler was definitely ahead of his time. Long live the skinheads. —C.J.

Los Angeles, California

I read the July '89 article about skinheads ("Skinned Alive"). These "skindicks" are just a bunch of wanna-be Hitler followers with a mass of shit for a brain. Most of their members are high school drop-outs, or had no formal education past high school. To sum it up in one word, they are losers. It is very hard to survive in this country without an education. Many minorities are making it because they are working hard and going to college instead of sitting on their asses and complaining about the American system. If the skindicks or other white supremacists are so unhappy, why don't they go to Iceland (or Germany, since they are so fond of German words, phrases and literature) instead of telling other races to go back to their "mother" country. America is the land of the free, which includes all races.
—C.A.W.
Fresno, California

VOLGA OLGA
Oh, wow! I can't believe it. You guys did it again! "Olga: Gashnost" (June '89) was unbelievable! Those suckable knockers and shapely legs were enough for me to think about defecting to the Soviet Union, but I probably couldn't buy HUSTLER over there, could I?
—A.S.
Erie, Pennsylvania

Not a new one, anyway.

MISSING PARSON FOUND
In the July '89 interview "Hear Him Now: Q&A With Larry Flynt," Larry recalled how HUSTLER brought down the perverted career of Reverend Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, Oklahoma. You might be interested to know that Reverend Billy might be down—but don't count him out. Every Saturday at midnight you can catch him on Largo, Florida's Channel 22, speaking the same right-wing bullshit that's kept Jerry Falwell in shoe leather all these years. I called the station manager there to remind him of Billy's scandal. He knew all about it. —C.K.P.
Pinellas Park, Florida

IS IT SOMETHING WE SAID?
Thank you for the Bits & Pieces item (June '89 HUSTLER) of the little girl gunning down her attacker. I pray this would often be a reality. Our sorry excuse for a justice system has refused to take criminals out of our society so we must protect ourselves from them. I applaud the father who armed his daughter and saved her from a pervert. It appears he was stopped very effectively, as any violent criminal should be. But, it's obvious that HUSTLER has jumped on the anti-gun/pro-criminal bandwagon of uninformed people with this parody. C'mon, wake up and see below the surface. We are controlled by criminals—in and out of government—which is why we will never have mandatory sentences and prosecution. Our system of justice will never attack the criminal or crime—only cosmetic things such as guns. We are echoing the past histories of fallen countries, and this is sad. Today, we are losing our constitutional rights guaranteed by the Second Amendment. Tomorrow we will lose our First Amendment right to free speech. The only bright side to this is that when that happens it will promptly put you out of business and force you to shut the fuck up! —G.B.
Anaheim, California

PORNSTAR INTERVIEWS
Will you start doing monthly interviews on top porn babes like Amber Lynn, Janette Littledove, etc.? I would really like to know more about these two ladies and others as well. —R.B. Jr.
Aurora, Illinois

Although from time to time HUSTLER features interviews with top porn stars (Ginger Lynn, October '85; Amber Lynn, April '86; Taija Rae, August '86; Barbara Dare, September '87—and an upcoming interview with Christy Canyon), for monthly coverage of porn flick femmes your best bet is HUSTLER's Erotic Video Guide.

BEAVER KNOCKER
I have been reading HUSTLER for years, and I've noticed over this period of time that the girls in Beaver Hunt have gone from plain ugly to raunchy and repulsive. No matter how desperate you may be, please, be more selective when choosing those worthy of Beaver Hunt and keep your magazine worth reading. —C.P.
Ocala, Florida

The best way to see your tastes reflected in Beaver Hunt is to get all the beautiful women you know to send in their photos! It's an easy $100 and a chance to win $1,000 more if she's selected to do a HUSTLER layout. Don't just bitch, take some action!

Do you have a comment, suggestion or complaint? We want to hear it. Send your letters (typed or neatly handwritten) to Feedback, HUSTLER, 9171 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. Please include a phone number if you want your letter considered for publication.

BITS and PIECES

ASSHOLE OF THE MONTH

Newt Gingrich

Hemorrhoids and flatulence are a self-perpetuating mix. Foul winds rip through bloody rectal tissues; inflamed clusters of butt-cherries are irritated, raising a swelling mass of filthy gristle that protrudes from the afflicted sphincters just like House Minority Whip Newton Leroy Gingrich (R-Georgia) sticks out from the pile-studded, sleaziest rung of dirtball politics. For being the most prominent pustule extruding from the Capitol Hill bunghole, Newt Gingrich is HUSTLER's October 1989 Asshole of the Month.

To label Gingrich "the Republicans' pit bull" or to term his methodology "attack-dog rhetoric" is to slander the canine family. A hound may lick its own balls, sniff 100 assholes a day and slurp up its own vomit, but even the lowliest cur would be hard put to stomach a diet of rooty-poot Newt's mental gruel.

Having back-burnered his plan to sell shares of outer space, cloacal cavity Gingrich has turned his storm-trooper zeal to eradicating the two-party system from America. Under the guise of reforming Congress, restoring honesty and ethics and reversing hypocrisy, Gingrich has spearheaded an attack on democracy's most vital institution. His is the savagery of a cornered shithouse ferret.

"Congress is threatening our freedom," bays rabid and rancid Newt. What does he mean by "our freedom"?

Perhaps Gingrich wishes to protect his own right to point the stink finger while enriching himself through a fund-raising deal that is based on the same ethically shaky ground as the schemes of deposed House Speaker Jim Wright. Or maybe Gingrich wishes to preserve the Republican privilege of smearing opponents—exemplified by his aide's recent pushing of fag innuendos aimed at new House Speaker Tom Foley—with impunity.

More likely, Newt's ambitions extend beyond becoming the Grinch Who Stole Congress. With his agenda to usurp the legislative checks and balances by increasing the President's power to operate outside the lawmakers' scrutiny, Gingrich seems to have tipped the hand of his future dreams. It's entirely probable that all Newt really wants is to be Hitler.

Congress may in fact be a cauldron of steaming turd stew, but should the task of sanitizing be left to its most noisome nugget? We call upon Gingrich's home constituents in Georgia to do the nation and freedom a service: Flush this Asshole.

TWO HIP!

In Hand Video has planned an extensive promotional campaign for the new Paul Norman Productions release, Joined!, the first X-rated flick depicting Siamese twins in action. Well, we hate to burst any bubbles, but we couldn't resist bringing you this behind-the-scenes look at the fashion in which the "twins," Saber and Racquel, are actually joined. Don't despair, though—the action still promises to be hot and kinky. But if it's genuine freaks you're into, you'll just have to wait for Jo-Jo the Dog-Faced Boy in Bondage to come out.

BOOB TUBE

Ted Turner, eat your heart out. For that matter, every other network's ratings are going to plummet with the introduction of 3-D TIT-TV. No need to keep your finger on the remote—TIT-TV knows what every guy wants, all the time. That's what keeping abreast of the public taste is all about.

I Loved Lucy

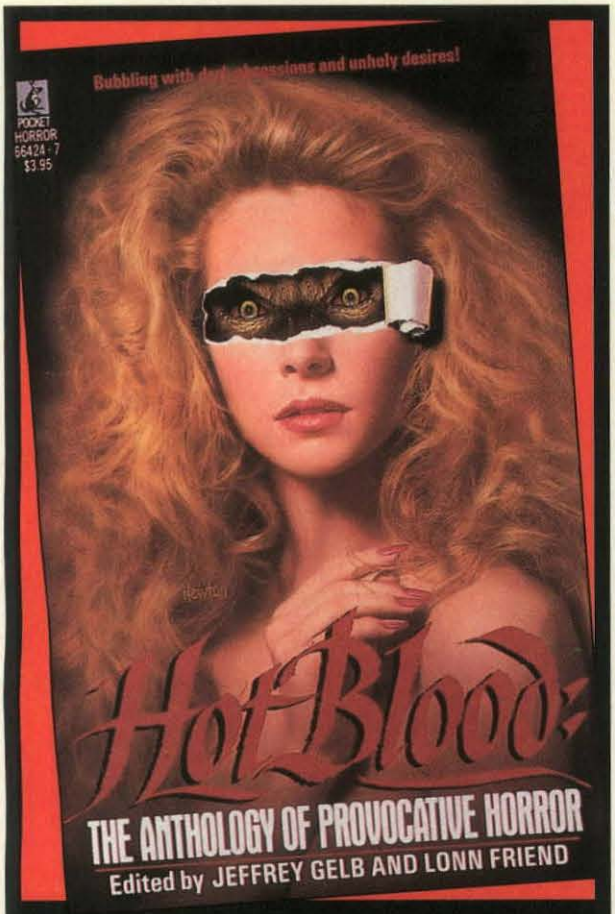

Encouraged by the public outpouring of emotion following Lucille Ball's untimely death at the age of 135 or so, the networks are racing to see who can be the first on the air with a posthumous series. Yes, it's Desi and Lucy together again, and while the jokes may not come as quickly as they once did, the old magic is still there. After all, everyone loved Lucy, from her adoring fans to the hungry worms and maggots currently devouring the last of the bubbly comedienne's brain tissue. . . .

WASH AND WEAR

It was only a matter of time before polymer technology made it possible—the long-awaited reusable condom. These sturdy scumbags are produced from the same vulcanized rubber that goes into the tires of 747s, making repeated wear a breeze, assuming one washes the things from time to time. No more last-minute trips to the drugstore or embarrassing leaks at the wrong time. But do be careful about leaving skid marks.

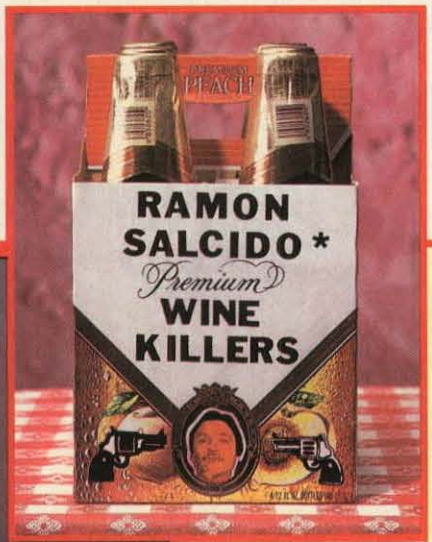

COMING AND GORING

Nothing goes together quite like sex and death. This truism has never been more aptly demonstrated than in Hot Blood, an anthology of erotic horror stories compiled by former HUSTLER entertainment editor Lonn Friend and writer Jeffrey Gelb. Contributors to this creepy collection include Robert Bloch, Harlan Ellison, Theodore Sturgeon, Richard Matheson and many other masters of ickyness. It's definitely not a book to read with the one you love. . . unless you trust her an awful lot.

GREAT MOMENTS IN WASHINGTON

Vice-President Dan Quayle once again proves he's a vital part of the Administration's team. Here he's seen leading a group of kindergarteners in an impromptu Civil Defense drill. "Just pretend you're a giant target," Danny advises the doomed tykes.

A LOAF OF BREAD, A JUG OF WINE, AND POW!

Not surprisingly, alleged wine-country killer Ramon Salcido* has been swamped with merchandising opportunities. But Ramon has his principles; the only product on which he'll put his good name is the new line of wine coolers from Sleazegrams. "They get you plenty fucked up," Ramon explains in the first of his TV commercials, which are clearly intended to rival the homespun charm of the Bartles and Jaymes ads. "After 15 or 20 of them, a man could do just about anything. . . ."

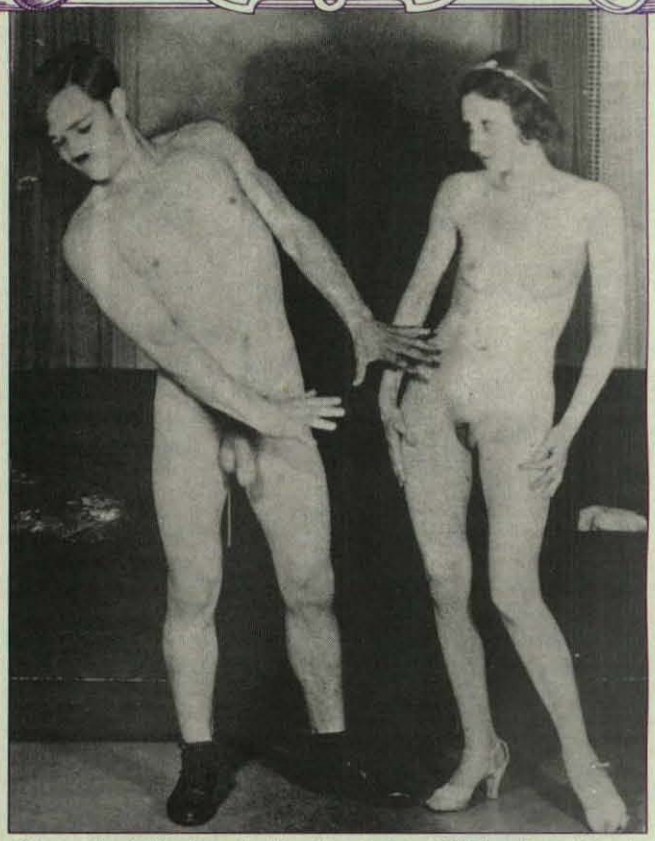

*Parody: Not to be taken seriously.

DESIGNING DEALERS

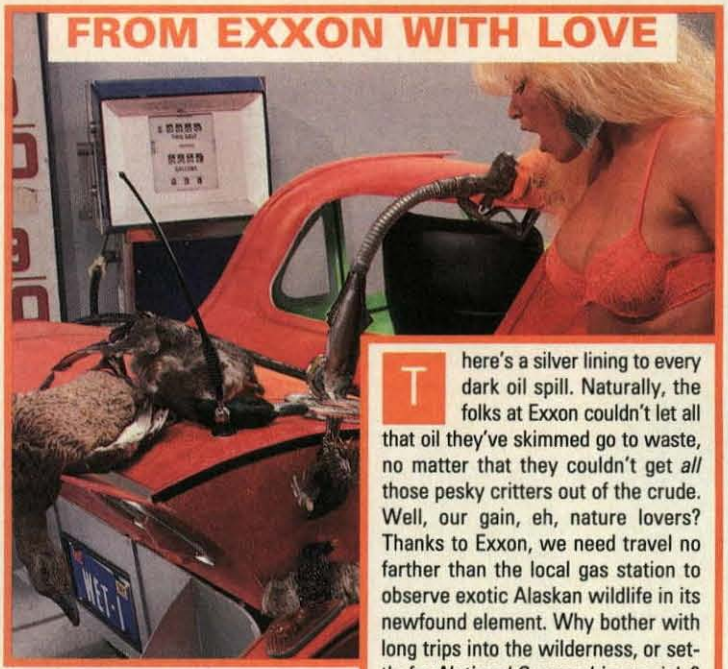

The common misconception is that drug dealers are a bunch of slobs who don't give a damn about the environment they live and work in. Nothing could be further from the truth, as a quick perusal of this popular inner-city publication will prove. Everything from the latest styles in armor plating to the locations of discount bullet-ridden furniture outlets can be found in CHB, the magazine for crack dealers who take pride in their homes.

Porn From the Past

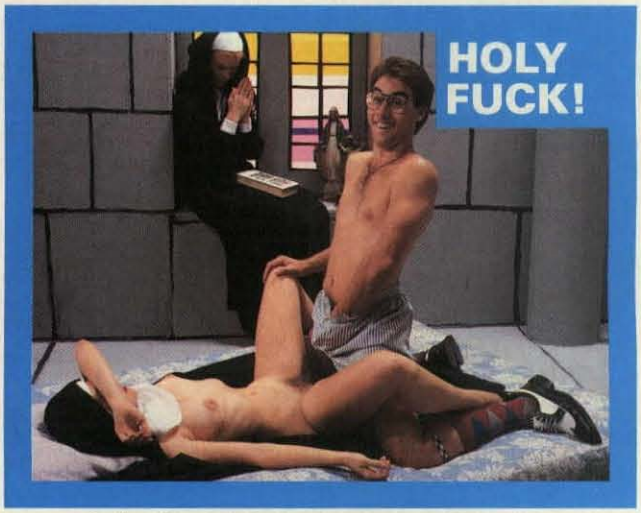

Are you shocked and repulsed by dirty old photos? Well, we're not! Send those vintage snaps to Porn From the Past, HUSTLER Magazine, 9171 Wilshire Blvd., Suite 300, Beverly Hills, CA 90210. You can make a fast $150 by sending us your contribution. Please enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope if you want your pictures returned.

FROM EXXON WITH LOVE

There's a silver lining to every dark oil spill. Naturally, the folks at Exxon couldn't let all that oil they've skimmed go to waste, no matter that they couldn't get all those pesky critters out of the crude. Well, our gain, eh, nature lovers? Thanks to Exxon, we need travel no farther than the local gas station to observe exotic Alaskan wildlife in its newfound element. Why bother with long trips into the wilderness, or settle for National Geographic specials? Fish and game are as close as the unleaded pump.

Parody: Not to be taken seriously.

It's all well and good to devote oneself to a life of prayer, or helping the poor, but these nuns are performing a truly humanitarian service—they're the dedicated sisters of the Holy Order of Mercy Fuckers. At last there's hope for all the geeks and nerds who would otherwise be doomed to die virgins. Of course, it's not an easy task the selfless sisters perform, letting every Tom and hairy dick get into the habit, but most of them find things go smoothly enough if they just close their eyes and think of Jesus.

AIDS Paranoia Takes Fascist Turn

The Surgeon General's report on AIDS must not have been mailed to Josephine County, Oregon, where a petition drive is underway to declare the county an AIDS-free zone. If adopted, the petition calls for mandatory mass AIDS testing. Those testing positive will be expelled and barred from the area. "This county has a high Christian value to it," claims George Heimos, a plumber from Grants Pass who's the organizer of the movement. "AIDS would certainly wipe out a huge portion of the population should it start to spread rapidly." Despite the fearmongering, county officials vow to fight the movement. Commissioner Rebecca Brown labels the petition drive as "much more frightening than any threat of AIDS."

No Wonder He Looked So Relaxed

A new book about Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis reveals that John F. Kennedy prepared for his first debate with then Vice-President Richard Nixon by shutting himself in a hotel room with a woman—not his wife—90 minutes before the confrontation. C. David Heymann, author of A Woman Named Jackie, says that Kennedy was so thrilled with the results of his first encounter that "he insisted we line up a girl for him before each of the debates." And they called Reagan the Great Communicator!

Sex Facts

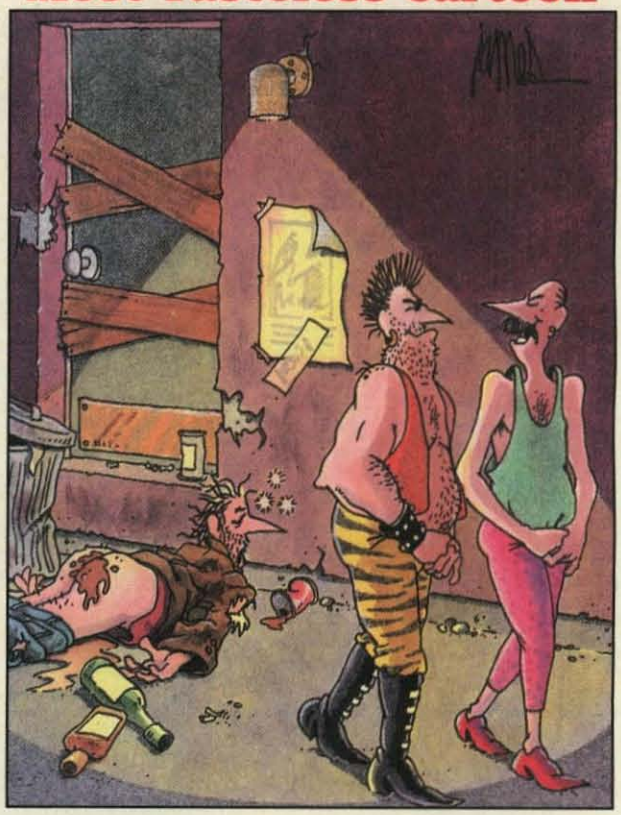

Did you know that....

- A National Institute of Business Management survey found that 10% of the respondents said they'd had an affair with their boss? One out of three said it helped their careers.
- According to a researcher at the Rochester Institute of Technology in New York, more men than women use their looks to get ahead at work partly because women are afraid their good looks will keep them from advancing?
- About 8% of rams in the United States are gay and another 8% are celibate, according to a study of 100 rams at the U.S. Sheep Experimental Station in Dubois, Idaho?
- The brassiere was not invented by a Frenchman named De Brassiere, a common misconception, but instead was created by an American whose name was Otto Titzling?
- Officials of the city of Marquette, Michigan, want to change the city's century-old historical nickname, "Queen City," to "Superior Location" because they're afraid for their menfolks' image?
- Only recently did the Chinese media reveal that the first sex-change operation in that country occurred in 1983 to the son of an officer in the Chinese Army?

Dutch Approve Car Hopping

Though prostitution is legal in some specially zoned areas in Holland, Dutch authorities were still concerned about more virtuous passersby offended by illicit behavior in public. So the powers-that-be did something about it in Utrecht, Holland: They constructed a parking lot strictly for hookers and their clients. With nine spaces for cars and a few smaller ones for bikes and motorcycles, the "porking" lot cubicles are partitioned with screens to give privacy to the prurient and protection for the puritan. Now if you could only get fries and a shake with that drive-in blowjob....

Most Tasteless Cartoon

"Wow! Diarrhea makes a great lubricant."

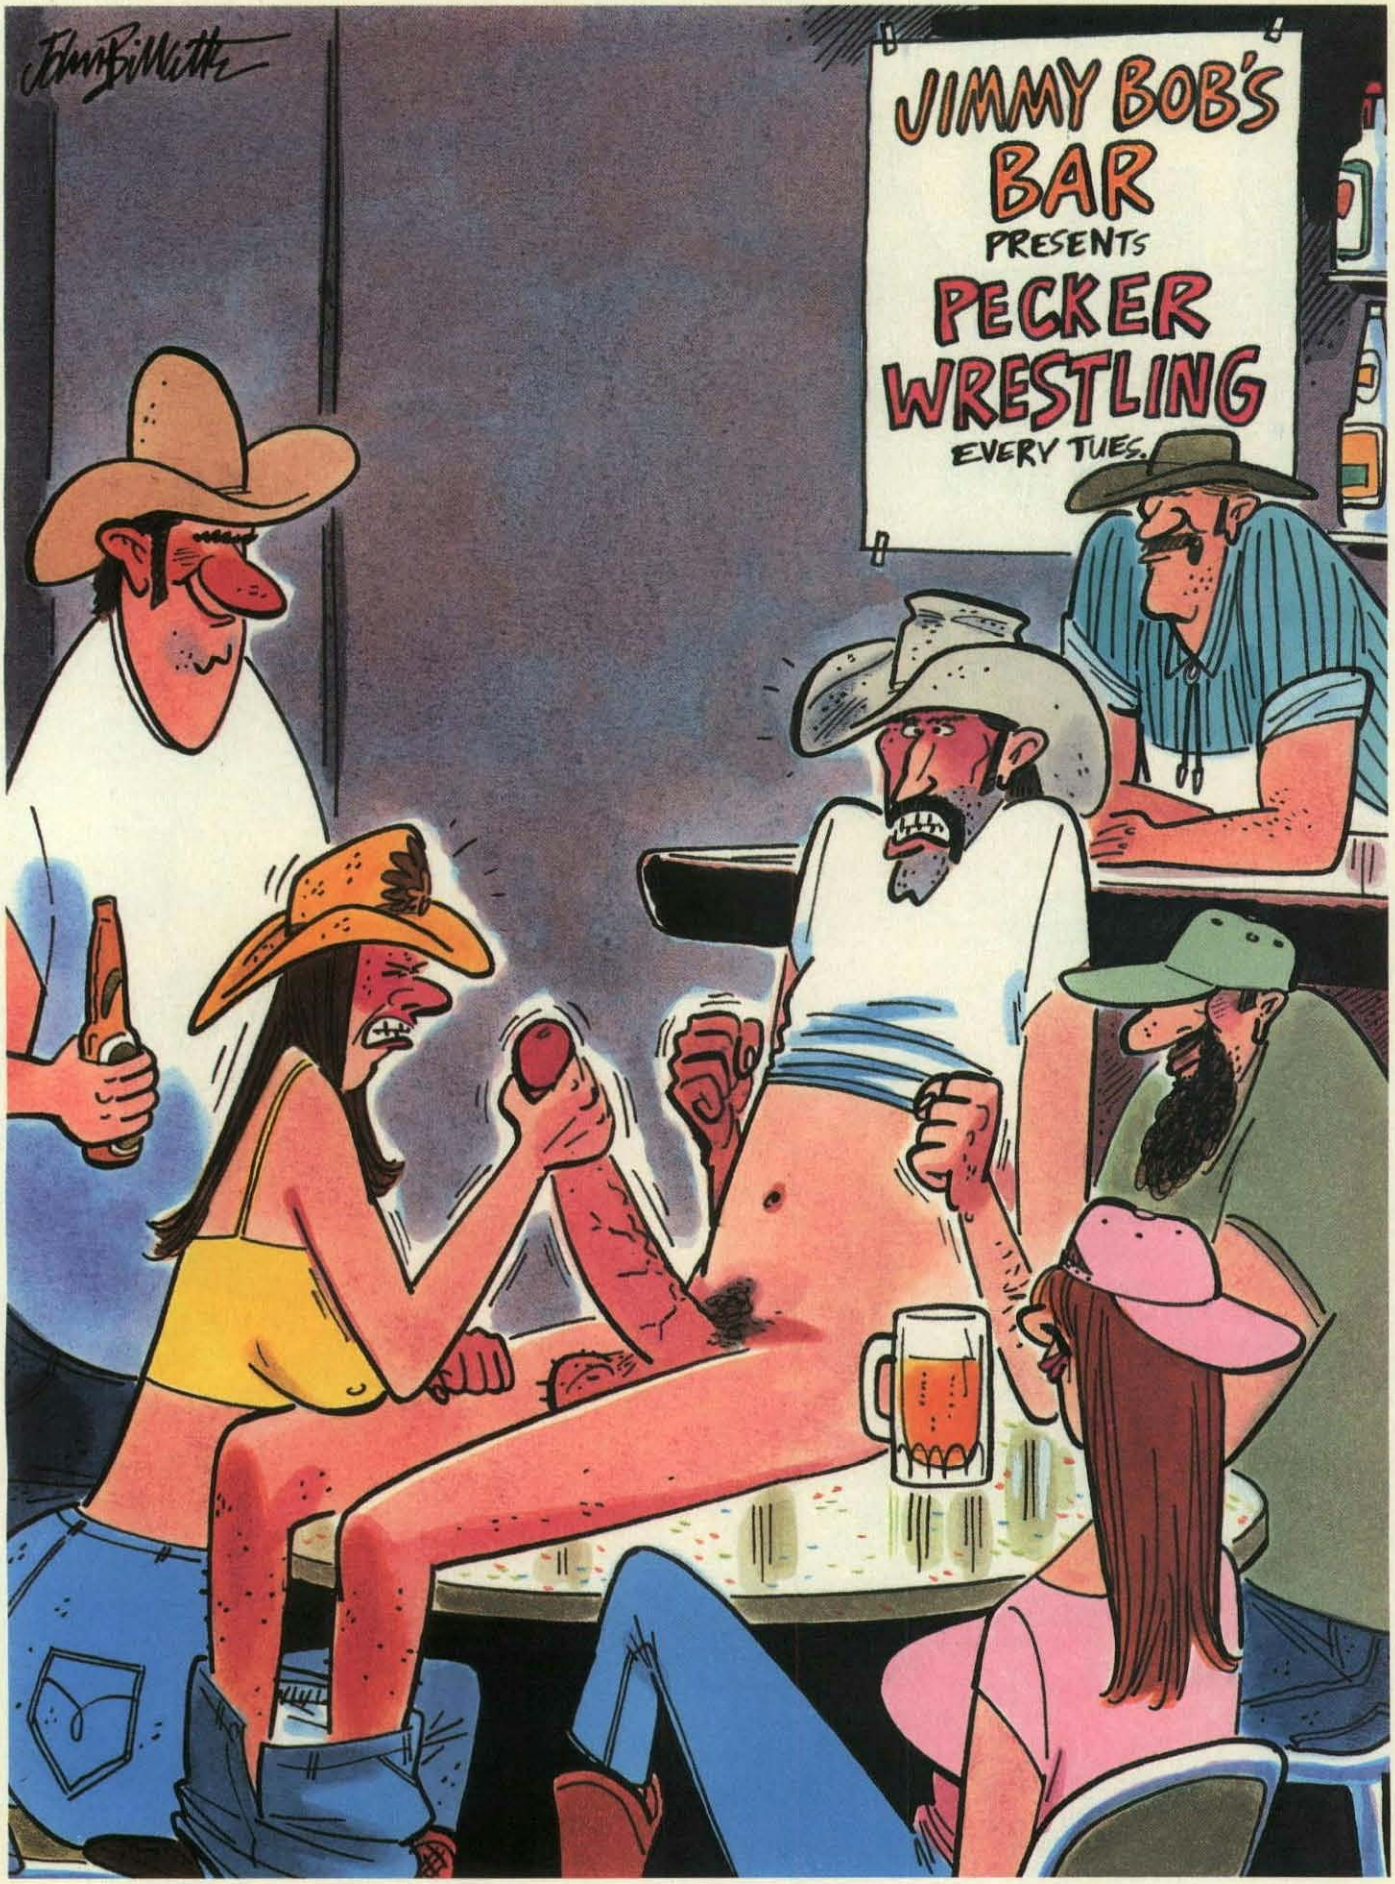

That Old World Charm

Though feminists have made dramatic progress in the U.S., recent incidents elsewhere prove that, for better or worse, it's still a man's world. In Spain, a court acquitted a man for sexually assaulting one of his female employees, but it wasn't for lack of evidence. The judge decided that the victim's mini-skirt was the real offender. According to the ruling, the skirt "tempted" the poor slob until he was "unable to contain himself in her presence." Case closed.

Meanwhile, in Papua, New Guinea, the parliament debated a controversial new law that would abolish wife beating. Most of the cabinet ministers angrily protested the resolution. "Wife-beating is an accepted custom," said Minister William Wi of North Waghi, speaking for the majority. Yet another minister objected to the proposal, saying, "I paid for my wife," thereby claiming complete rights to the woman.

Apparently, Phil Donahue doesn't broadcast everywhere.

EROTIC ENTERTAINMENT

Voodoo Lust: Nina DePonca gives Jon Martin a taste of dat ole black magic.

With more than a thousand hard-core movies being released each year for the home audience, viewers, increasingly confronted by seductive advertising and slick packaging, are often at a loss when it comes to selecting an X-rated tape worth watching. HUSTLER is committed to serious, no-bullshit criticism designed to accurately inform readers of XXX-cinema offerings, and to spur the adult-entertainment industry to better productions. Despite their drastic decline, there will always be adult theaters, and we'd never leave a film buff in the lurch: If a review says a production was shot on film, it's probably playing on a big screen somewhere—all you have to do is find it.

VOODOO LUST: THE POSSESSION

Shot on Video.

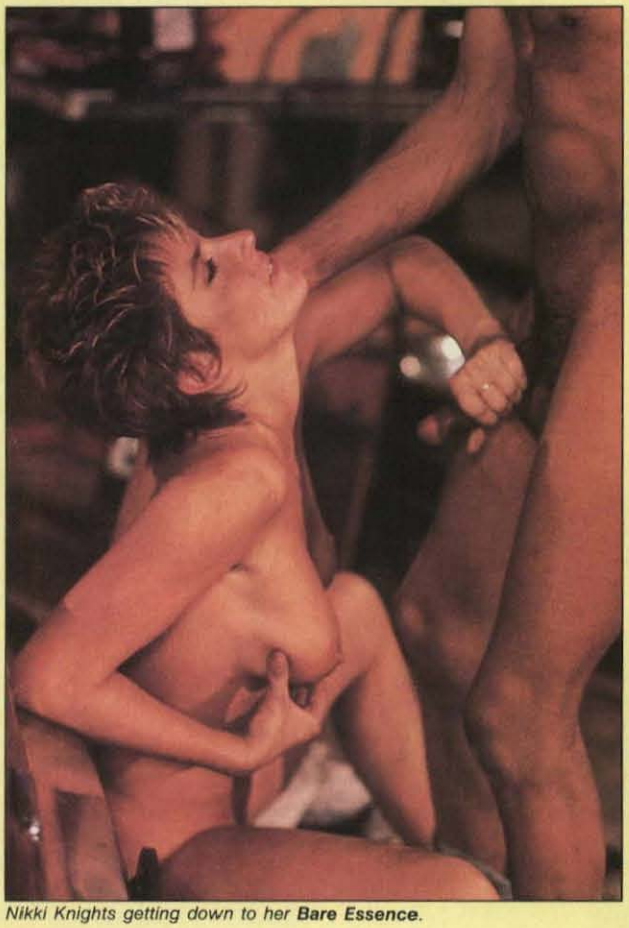

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Peter Davy and Jean-Pierre Ferrand; starring Nina DePonca, Rachel Ryan, Lynn LeMay, Jon Martin, Peter North, Porsche Lynn, Viper, Kassi Nova, Ray Victory, Marc Wallice and Victoria Paris. Videocassette by Pure Class Productions.

There's plenty of first-rate raunch on hand in Voodoo Lust, Volume Two of the HUSTLER Hard series. Nina DePonca's strands of spit glisten from Jon Martin's prick before her perfect poon and pooper poise above his puckered lips; Viper digs two hands and a face into DePonca's pussy as Ray Victory digs his ebony sea slug into the Vipe's snatch; Lynn LeMay coats her entire tonnage of tits with Peter North's load lotion; and Viper and DePonca drape a real live serpent over their tits as Wallice and Victory slither their snakes into Kassi Nova's reptile pits. Unfortunately, The Possession does come with built-in restraints: a disappointing debut by featured player Victoria Paris, who flops on a bed sans penis, dildo or dyke buddy; Viper's screw of Marc Wallice is held to awkward twistings due to efforts to conceal her full-torso tattoo; two of Lust's pivotal porkings clock in at hardly more than one minute combined elapsed time; and at least two truly depraved cum-shots are underexploited. Overall, it's just not up to the standards of Volume One—next time, HUSTLER Hard, give us more of that dirty magic.

X RATED TAPES

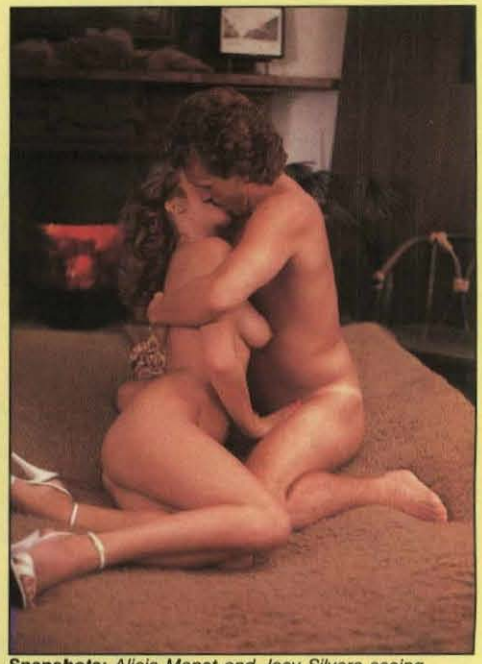

Edited by Mike Ferris

Nikki Knights getting down to her Bare Essence.

SNAPSHOTS
Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Vinnie Rossi; starring Kim Alexis, Alicia Monet, Jessica Longe, Breezy Lane, Joey Silvera, Billy Dee, Ray Victory, F.M. Bradley and Buddy Love. Videocassette by Coast to Coast.

Snapshots: Alicia Monet and Joey Silvera seeing what develops.

A simple six-pack of taped-for-something-else scenes, Snapshots delivers its loops with just enough set-up to send strokers to their stations. Box-cover bimbo, the pallid-but-packed Latina known to some as Kim Acosta and to others as Kim Alexis, is good for a pair of pumpings at the glands of Ray Victory and F.M. Bradley, respectively, and returns at tape's end to self-stimulate her bushy beaver. Pretty, though somewhat pock- and cock-marked Breezy Lane finds a friend in Buddy Love and makes short work of his long pig. Billy Dee dribbles schlong sap onto Jessica Longe's outthrust tongue after the two tussle through a lick-and-screw. The sole single-race ream pits Alicia Monet's slit against Joey Silvera's slut-stuffer for an energetic session of genital-meshin'. None of the poon here, with the possible exception of Monet, approaches the picture-perfect, but it still deserves exposure. —Bill Butler

BARE ESSENCE
Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by John Stagliano; starring Kathleen Jentry, Fallon, Trinity Loren, Brandy Alexandre, Jack Baker, Jeff Golden, Billy Dee, Nikki Knights, Giovanni Menendez and Champagne. Videocassette by Evil Angel Video.

This oh-so-serious attempt to tell the story of a repentant thief (Kathleen Jentry) would be a hoot for its icky earnestness if it weren't for some quality cooze crammings. Topping the poon parade is Nikki Knights, who takes Jack Baker's dark dipstick over a car engine, firing up his jam shaft until he pops his goo gasket on her chest. It's the film's hottest scene, with a tryst between Jentry, jumbo-jugged Trinity Loren and the Latino lovestick of Giovanni Menendez a close runner-up. Carnal cutie Fallon has only a brief three-way lesbo lunch, and Jentry's final fuck with Billy Dee is by rote, but still potent enough to make rods rigid. Some will give Bare Essence points for attempting to do a sincere character piece, and the film does give Jentry a chance to act, but too much of the dialogue sounds trite, even by porn's shallow standards. There's enough groin grappling material, however, to make up for the tepid theatrics, making this Essence worth a whiff. —Sam Lowry

GIRLS WILL BE GIRLS
Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by R.J. Elliott; starring Kimi Gee, Kassi Nova, Tawny Downs, Fallon, Sharon Kane, Sascha, and Susan Mason. Videocassette by Las Vegas Video.

Somebody's got to do it; so it's a good thing that Girls Will Be Girls. When there are no pricks around, judging by this tape, girls will also strap on prosthetic dongs and be men. Wog-womb Kimi Gee (who has bleached her Oriental brunet mane into an approximation of Kascha's blond locks) squeaks, spreads, slurps and invaginates plastic penis in three of Will Be's five all-girl trysts, but the most striking use of orifice occurs in the nether plumbing of Hinduesque Kassi Nova. Sultry and swarthy Nova stands on her head to plug her pussy and pooper with disembodied dorks; when joined by face-squatting Tawny Downs, Nova gulps gash, reaches up with a free hand and grabs the dildo penetrating her anus and plants it with a plunge deep enough to satisfy her Third World turd-packing urge. Girls Will Be Girls and, more importantly, they'll also be sluts. —C.S.

VIDEO of the MONTH

CAUGHT FROM BEHIND 11

Shot on Video.

Fully Erect. Directed by Hal Freeman; starring Lynn LeMay, Kassi Nova, Raven, Renee Morgan, Jerry Butler, Marc Wallice, Ron Jeremy, Blake Palmer and Don Fernando. Videocassette by Hollywood Video.

Modern-day porn offers the striving sex starlet three badges of depravity beyond the call of duty: 1) the anal pummeling; 2) the frothy facial cum-shot; 3) fucking Ron Jeremy. Caught From Behind 11 gives four lucky harlot starlets the opportunity to score this perverse hat trick, and the wildest wanton award goes to Renee Morgan and her extensive nipples. Marc Wallice squeezes his curved cue stick into her tight shitter ring, pulling out to semen-spritz her pointy tittie tips, and she's not done yet: Jeremy joins Wallice, slobbering over Morgan's muff and boobs. Rank Renee twists her face from cock to cock, plugs both her low cavities and takes a two-prick blast on her glowing face. Coffee-colored crazy cooze Kassi Nova twice crams cock in her crapper and proudly wears putz pudding on her sex-mad mug. Black-haired metal tramp Raven opens with a load to her lips, takes Jerry Butler in her butt and finishes off with a wad veneer on her chinny-chin. Lynn LeMay flexes her ass crack as Don Fernando's shit-bound spuzz drips down, every bit as real as the home viewer's jizz trail. —C.S.

STEPHANIE—JUST FOR YOU

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Bill Majors; starring Stephanie Rage, Bionca, Tanya Foxx, Elise, Arcie Miller, Cassandra, Champagne and Lynn LeMay. Videocassette by Bon Vue Video.

Stephanie Rage, overly garbed in a satiny cha-cha dress, grind-dances onto a makeshift runway stage, bumping and thrusting her pelvis and hips, leering like a slut prototype. She strips, just like she would in a real nightclub, except this is on video, away from a bar full of howling horndogs with their spilled beers, gaping mouths and hanging cigarettes. The only smoke, theoretically at least, rises from the home viewer's hand-stoked dick. Taking a breather from her strenous, rhythmic disrobing, sultry Stephanie pantingly allows that the stroking smut fan might just be the man for her and should come down to one of her live shows and try his luck. Then Lynn LeMay and Champagne abruptly share a girl-girl gash gulp, after which Stephanie trots her stick legs and blimp boobs through another strip routine, followed by a five-girl gang (one bearing an unsettling resemblance to a younger Gloria Steinem) that converges upon Rage for a raunch-riot of cunts whipping pussy slut-to-slut. After which, more dancing, talk and Bionca. So here's Stephanie—Just for You and every other choad-choking chump out there in videoland. —Kurt Blume

HOT SPOT

STACY LORDS

The legally mandated removal from adult-entertainment shelves of all poon product featuring the skin and sin holes of jailbait sensation Traci Lords has created such a vacuum for traces of Traci that even her name, or at least a name that sounds sort of like her name, has become a selling point. Which isn't to say that Stacy Lords is nothing more than a catchy moniker. Stacy (or Staci or Stacey, depending upon which box cover is consulted) has an all-over peaches-and-jism complexion evocative of the first Lords's skin tone, similar big, light-pink nipples and a comparably saucy, impertinent-slut face that just begs to be dick-slapped. Though Traci's histrionic gasping, wheezing and heaving style of on-camera humping will probably never be equalled, Stacy does go through a penis-tingling transformation whenever she gets in the proximity of erect cock—her eyes become more sultry, her lips fill out with insouciance, her cunt drips slime and her asshole clamps in time to her rutting stud's thrusts. Compare Stacy to Traci for yourself in X Dreams, Kisses Don't Lie or Rock 'n' Roll Heaven.

BRIGHT LIGHTS, BIG TITTIES

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Loretta Sterling; starring Trinity Loren, Nikki King, Carla Ferrari, Angel Cruz, Tammy Reynolds, Marc Wallice, Shane Hunter, Jeff Golden, Jimmy Fox and Rod Garetto. Videocassette by Caballero Home Video.

Although the creators of Bright Lights are clearly dim bulbs, the tape does feature ten big titties and five fillies to go with 'em. The male cast members play (very convincingly) a group of dorks out to scam Double-D poon. Top-heavy trollops suckered by the ruse range from busty barnyarders like Nikki King and Carla Ferrari (a pretty name for a pretty... homely wench) to siliconed-but-still-serviceable Tammy Reynolds to hyper-nubile Negress Angel Cruz and the ubiquitous queen of the still-at-it boob-bimbos, Trinity Loren. Ringleader Marc Wallice screws and spews the light and dark loaves of Cruz and King; Loren gets reamed and gobbed by Rod Garetto in the tape's best scene; and Reynolds and Ferrari lick tit and clit before a Brit, Shane Hunter, shows up to stuff Tammy's cunt. Titties' most embarrassing scene (for those of you still capable of that emotion) unfolds as Loren sucks and jug fucks a long-haired and short-dicked yutz to a hard-won wad shot. Of course, large lungs, which this tape undeniably possesses, are the name of the game here. If that's all you crave, you've found a weekend's worth of wanking pleasure. The rest of us will keep looking. —B.B.

This is a bust! Marc Wallice and Trinity Loren in Big Titties.

Sascha manages to look Aroused*, but where's the beef?*

THE AROUSED

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Fox Mailer; starring Sascha, Lynn LeMay, Trinity Loren, Frankie Leigh, Jerry Butler, Marc Wallice and Jeff James. Videocassette by Intropics Video.

The box art and hack hype of The Aroused promise to star Sascha, a newcomer who leaves this introductory tape before she's even met any cock. No one would miss her—the paid, blond fuck-piglet has very little in the way of tits, an ordinary bod and askew face—after Frankie Leigh cunt-bumps her off and out of the picture, except The Aroused has little snatch to spare. Trinity Loren and her surplus milk sacks soak up a direct nip hit of Jerry Butler's prick shot; Lynn LeMay, with her surgical saggers, is porked in a gamut of positions by Butler before wallowing in his gummy gonadal goop; later, LeMay slimes into a double lay with ginch hitters Marc Wallice and Jeff James; and James is sent to the showers with slicked and soaked and soapy Frankie Leigh, who persuades him to help her play with her splayed and sprayed pussy. Lighting, sound and camera focus are all competent and workmanlike, if not Aroused—sort of like the picture as a whole. —C.S.

Eva Allen as Nicole Stanton learns a thing or two from the working girls.

THE NICOLE STANTON STORY, Part II

Shot on Film.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard and Alex DeRenzy; starring Eva Allen, Joey Silvera, Nina Hartley, John Leslie, Scott Irish, Megan Leigh, Kendal Marx and Renee Morgan. Videocassette by Caballero Home Video.

Like any earthly approximation of perfection, Nicole Stanton's luscious, naturally breasted leading lady, Eva Allen, has one outstanding flaw, her voice. A reedy pitch of JAP whine, Allen's piercing diction is the perfect verbal expression for the character she plays, a conniving, manipulative, grubbing, cunt-levering ballbuster. In the process of boffing her way to the top in this excellent, shot-on-film tale of gash and greed, Allen throws a side of pussy to hot-dog butler Scott Irish, feeds her furry crevice to hubby's horny best man Joey Silvera, and acts as a carnal centerpiece in a kinetic brothel orgy that also includes the extruding nipples of fuck-mad Renee Morgan. All hubby John Leslie gets off the bitch is a vengeful eyeful of Allen two-handing her own gland. Supporting fucks include Silvera slipping and sliming on Nina Hartley's proffered buns, and Irish pulling out to spurt on Kendal Marx's racked belly as bitty-tittie Megan Leigh squats her squack on Marx's mug. In Part II Nicole Stanton is on top, on the bottom and on the side. Hopefully, Part III will continue the same quality ride. —C.S.

TAILS OF THE TOWN

Shot on Video.

Half Erect. Directed by Kurt Mann; starring Nina DePonca, Amanda Tyler, Summer Rose, Ray Victory, Buck Adams, Jade East and Tom Byron. Videocassette by Western Visuals.

Sepia slut Nina DePonca is the only thing that keeps this standard stroke 'n' poke from being a yawnfest. The nasty Negress covets cock more than Michael Jordan wants a good slamdunk. DePonca tools and drools on Ray Victory's licorice log until the black stud squirts the white stuff all over her lovely neck and chest. But that's nothing compared to the stuffing she gets from Buck Adams. He makes her pant, choke and drip spit on his spindle, all while she's trying to throat his mighty meat. It's a savory bit of sleaze, easily the best in the flick. Tom Byron's two drillings are bland bonings on the unappetizing Jade East and Summer Rose. Buxom blond bombshell Amanda Tyler closes things out with a semi-hot gash grease with Ray Victory that includes a brief, incomplete journey into her fudge freeway. Overall, a minor effort for miscegenation fans. —S.L.

FROM SWEDEN WITH LOVE
Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Jim Enright; starring Veronica Doll, Keisha, Jerry Butler, Ariel Knight, Erica Boyer, Tom Byron, Buck Adams and Chantelle. Videocassette by Zane Entertainment Group.

The sad things about From Sweden With Love are that Veronica Doll has not been seen sooner on the X-screen and that she will probably not be seen again. Statuesque and stacked, with a full mane of lustrous reddish-brown hair framing a face Ann-Margaret wishes she still had, Doll unveils her voracious venery by making a full-course meal of Erica Boyer's appetizing snatch. Veronica's thighs and crotch put out enough pussy power to bush-bash Boyer flat back on her ass; finally a femme fox dynamic enough to match the bionic Boyer box! After liquidly luxuriating her luscious limbs in the bath, Doll next conquers the cooze of Ariel Knight, whose eyes gleam in anticipation of ginch delights. Knight shares a double dong with Doll's poon, reducing the pair to purring, kissing love kittens. The smooching cooches are interrupted by an uncredited dude, probably Doll's real-life boyfriend, whose obvious anxiety prevents his wood from becoming half as stiff as the sticks in the audience, but With Love has three more fucks hard enough to sweeten Sweden. —C.S.

TALK DIRTY TO ME, PART SIX
Shot on Video.

Three-Quarters Erect. Directed by Henri Pachard; starring Tracey Adams, Randy West, Jamie Gillis, Nina Hartley, Rick Savage, Annette Haven, Lynn LeMay, Ona Zee, Shanna McCullough, Tom Byron and Joey Silvera. Videocassette by Dreamland Home Video.

Talking dirty is as much an art as fucking is, and in Talk Dirty to Me, Part Six, director Henri Pachard has assembled some of the finest carnal-chat craftsmen blabbering on the boff circuit today. Part Six's first password is deviant, as garbage-mouth Ona Zee is seen more than heard lipping off Jamie Gillis, who is stunningly twisted in a fully accessorized set of ladies underwear. Talk Dirty's remaining vocabulary is basically familiar jizz jargon: Legendary harlot Annette Haven stirs bath-water with a behemoth vaguely recognizable as Tracey Adams; Adams goes straight for Randy West's perpendicular segment; Lynn LeMay lays her yoni on Joey Silvera's lingam; Tom Byron tampers with Nina Hartley's patent poon; and Shanna McCullough rouses Rick Savage to a searing, groaning release. The muff-mauling and cock-clenching of Talk Dirty is universally focused and fierce, a picture worth at least 50 dirty words.—Victor Battle

Fear and hypocrisy have repressed sexual awareness, leading to the ignorance that spreads disease and creates violence, in addition to hindering our natural enjoyment of sex. This series opens the door to current sexual knowledge and expression, and improved lovemaking.

EXHIBITIONISM: THE FLASHING FETISH

"Take it off! Take it all off!" roars the boisterous crowd. Slim young red-headed Sally turns, bends over and slowly slides the silky black slip down over her firm, pink buttocks. "I like to make them beg for it," she says later, a wicked smile spreading over her red, lipsticked mouth.

"I'm lucky to be a girl," says Sally, "and attractive. Otherwise I could probably never make a living exhibiting myself. I've been into this since I was a kid. The boys in the neighborhood would ask for a peek—I was happy to oblige. For as long as I can remember, the only thing that could really get me going was to have some boy begging to see and me, slowly but surely, giving him what he wanted—my way. I don't know what I'll do when they don't clamor for my bod anymore. I just pray they come up with a cure for old age by then."

Sally is a true exhibitionist. She gets off strutting her stuff for men who are willing to pay. Most exhibitionists in America aren't so lucky. Although for the most part it's considered okay to show off your body if you're a woman, there are socially and legally prescribed limits. For men, however, there is a far more rigid social and legal code when it comes to public sexual exposure. Although it's okay for men to exhibit how rich they are or how smart or powerful, it has never been acceptable in our culture for men to display their sexual wares.

A desire to display our bodies and a yearning to see others naked is a natural part of being human. Left to our own inclinations, we might all do a lot more showing and a lot more looking, but society makes many of us feel inhibited about these desires. And our legal system makes it downright dangerous to be too comfortable displaying our bodies.

Exhibitionism is defined by Webster's as "the act or practice of behaving so as to attract attention to oneself: extravagant or willfully conspicuous behavior." As long as we get this attention through pursuits like racing, boxing, being a rock star or movie star, everything's okay. According to Masters and Johnson, exhibitionism is "a condition in which a person repeatedly and preferentially exposes the sex organs to unsuspecting strangers to obtain sexual arousal." If it turns you on to show off your genitals (exhibitionism) or to ogle someone else's private parts (scopophilia) you can get in big trouble if you do so outside the privacy of your own home or a legally-sanctioned environment.

Flashers, or men who get sexual release from exhibiting their genitals to unsuspecting women, are a strange fixture in our culture. Often they're a source of comedy—think of any episode of Benny Hill or Laugh-In. But what is the reality of being a male exhibitionist? Just why do flashers do what they do? Why do they get caught so often? And what is it about flashing their dicks to little girls and shocked women that gets them off?

Women almost never get arrested as exhibitionists in the way that men do. You never read about a woman driving around, grinding her nude pussy and sticking her finger in and out of her cunt to shock the guy in the car next to her. And women are never arrested for hanging around in parks and schoolyards flashing their stuff at children. It's one of the few undebatable sexual differences left. It is true that younger women have been getting a lot freer about exhibiting themselves. Every year at spring break time, more and more young women are caught flashing nubile titties or fresh young pussy to crowds of clamoring college boys. But, according to sex researchers, it is rare that a case of female exhibitionism is reported.

"We've got to stop in here some night and see what the hell's going on with the night crew. . . ."

Male exhibitionism, however, is estimated to account for one-third of all sexual offenses in the United States, England and Canada. Exhibitionists run second only to pedophiles in the number of convictions for sexual offenses, and rank first among sexual deviations resulting in imprisonment. Remember, too, that only a fraction of exhibitionistic exposures are reported to the police—and only a small fraction of these result in a jail sentence.

So if all these guys are getting enough of a thrill from flashing to risk jail and public humiliation, it must be a pretty good high, right? According to the experts—the exhibitionists themselves—that's not really true. To most of them, exhibitionism is like an unwanted disease. It often rules as well as ruins their lives. So why do they do it?

Most exhibitionists who are repeatedly arrested and thrown in jail don't want to be exhibitionists—they just are. If it were possible to give an exhibitionist the choice to not be one, the odds are he'd gladly take it, but there doesn't seem to be any choice in the matter.

The elements of shock and punishment seem to be crucial for sexual release. For most exhibitionists, the desire to expose themselves happens when they are feeling powerless, downtrodden...emasculated. If his boss tells him off, the wife gets too bitchy and demanding, or something has happened to put him down, the desire to expose hits him. The desire for genital exposure can induce something like a trance that magically restores his sense of masculinity. If a child or woman seems shocked by the exhibitionist's cock, he feels powerful again. Arrest can be a potent aphrodisiac in itself, an essential part of the "high." Why? Because the exhibitionist is proven to have something dangerous, frightening and thus in a way worthy about him—his dick.

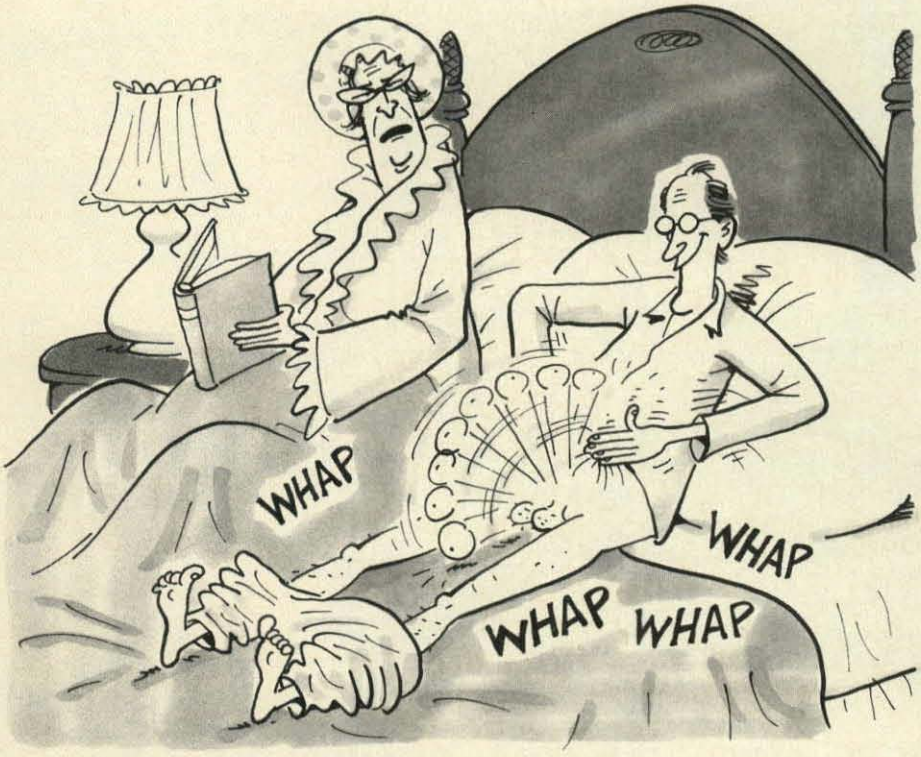

Flashing is the only form of exhibitionism that psychiatrists label a perversion. It is labeled so because men who flash their cocks don't do so in the hopes that some child or horrified woman is going to have sex with them. The act of flashing and being observed is what gets them off—they aren't looking for sex at all. If a man or woman shows off their body or genitals in a way that they hope will lead to sex, or do it to turn someone on, it isn't considered a perversion. When the replacement act gets them off in itself, however, it is labeled a perversion. Exhibitionism is usually an end in itself.

A few years ago, streaking was a faddish way to exhibit. Men and women all over America were suddenly tossing off their duds and flaunting their birthday suits in department stores, concerts, sporting events—everywhere and anywhere that a large crowd could be counted on to react with giggling glee. Most streakers weren't doing it to turn someone on in the crowd, nor were they hunting for sex—it was just a wild and crazy way to let off steam.

High school and college students have long preferred mooning as their exhibitionistic attitude of choice. Although mooning has long been popular among teenage men, young women are just beginning to discover the delights of a fast-moving, butt-up moon tan. And even though mooners and streakers are frequently arrested and charged with a misdemeanor, none but the agonizingly prudish look on such activities as being much of anything other than youthful fun and games.

Many professional strippers and porn stars are, by nature, exhibitionists. The difference is, they get paid for their underlying sexual need to expose themselves. "That's why I got into this business," says one rising female porn star. "I was born to show off this body, and I get more aroused and have a much bigger climax when I'm having sex and know that lots and lots of guys are going to be turned on. I can feel that beyond my partner's turn-on are thousands of eyes and lots and lots of men wanting to reach out and touch me. It's that feeling that really makes me explode. To get off like that and get paid for it is heaven," she says, sighing.

A glance at almost any magazine, newspaper or television commercial reveals just how obsessed our culture is with the human body. We love to look, and more and more of us love to flaunt what we've got. Exhibitionism is practically a national pastime, and why not? Even psychologists admit that observing nudity or sexual activity is relatively acceptable in our society under certain conditions, such as displaying one's body in sexually provocative garb (low cut dresses, open-necked shirts, see-through blouses, tight-fitting pants). If the psychologists are right, and we, as a culture, sublimate our desires to flaunt our bodies by showing off material goods like fancy cars, why not get back to basics and just strut what nature gave us? Bikinis are a lot cheaper than BMWs, after all. Exhibitionism may be one back-to-nature movement everybody can get behind!

"Lamar, what'd I tell you 'bout sticking your sister on the window?!"

AIDS WATCH

THE END OF AIDS?

by Natalie Jenkins

We now have drugs that may be able to sniff out the enemy, HIV, and then radio the troops to expel the virus from the body. We may, and I repeat may, be on to a possible cure," announced Dr. Mark Katz during a recent AIDS medical update in Los Angeles. This news arrived just as most experts were agreeing that a cure for AIDS would be a long time coming. Now a cure may very well be around the corner. And this medicine existed some 2,000 years before AIDS killed its first victim.

Scientists are calling the first of these drugs GLQ223. To AIDS researchers, GLQ223 represents a new class of antiviral plant protein. Most of the other antiviral substances tested against the virus—such as AZT, ribavirin and foscarnet—work by blocking reproduction of the virus, but don't affect the cells that are already infected. The new antiviral proteins are completely different. They are poisons that hunt out and kill only the infected or damaged cells. In the test tube, GLQ223 destroys only cells with the HIV virus, leaving healthy cells alone.

What's especially strange about this breakthrough is that GLQ223 (or Compound Q, as the drug is more commonly known) is a purified version of a substance that has been around for thousands of years. It has long been used in China for three purposes: to induce abortions, to treat respiratory ailments and to treat a rare type of cancer. It is a plant toxin from the root of a type of Chinese cucumber. The brand-new wonder drug is really an ancient folk remedy.

Dr. Michael McGrath, a director of the AIDS research laboratory at San Francisco General Hospital and an assistant professor of medicine at the University of California, San Francisco, explains that his 15-member research team accidentally stumbled upon Compound Q. "It was brought to me by a visitor from China about 2½ years ago, and we happened to test it in a culture just to see whether it would kill macrophages better than other cells. And, lo and behold, we found that it killed HIV infected cells substantially more efficiently than any other class of cell."

According to Martin Delaney, director of the San Francisco Bay Area's Project Inform, "What Compound Q does is so profoundly different from any other drug we have that it raises, at least theoretically, the possibility that the disease could burn out—without a lifelong maintenance program, but with just several injections of the drug. That's something we never even dared talk about before. Although it will be months before Compound Q will be available for AIDS patients, we have never really had the promise of any cure before."

This potential cure works by blocking the virus from infecting new cells as well as by killing cells that have become infected with the AIDS virus. "AZT," explains McGrath, "would have been of substantial benefit if AIDS were a continuous spread of disease throughout the person's body. AZT would block that spread. What we are finding now is that there appear to be billions of cells of the scavenger cell variety, called macrophages, that appear to be a chronic reservoir of virus in the body of an infected person. GLQ223, at least in test tubes, is able to get rid of those infected cells."

Dr. Hin-Wing Yeung of the Chinese University of Hong Kong joined Dr. McGrath in test-tube experiments of the drug. They found that "just one dose of the drug killed all the infected cells." Last January, the team patented the drug. In the late spring of 1989, after two years of animal studies proved Compound Q to be relatively safe, the doctors applied to the Food and Drug Administration for approval to test the drug in human AIDS patients in Phase I trials. Phase I trials test only for toxicity—not whether or not the drug actually does what the researchers hope it will do.

The secrecy and delay over the past 2½ years have made a lot of people wonder why McGrath and Yeung didn't let the public know what they had discovered before now. McGrath denies that it is due to any greedy impulses on his part. He claims his employer, UC San Francisco, will be the one to profit.

Dr. Nathaniel Pier, a New York physician with a large AIDS practice, is very upset about the way the McGrath-Yeung team hid their discovery. He recently told the LA Weekly, a Los Angeles alternative newspaper, that the secrecy was really a matter of money. "The idea that scientists would determine social policy by holding back data is very distressing. Due to financial considerations, McGrath has not shared his data, and he's delayed the development of this drug just now entering human trials. That action could result in the deaths of thousands."

Dr. McGrath disputes this claim, saying he feared "creating an underground market for this drug when it wasn't clear that it was effective, and when many might die by administering it to themselves." Compound Q does appear to be a dangerous substance when not administered correctly, and specialists are worried about desperate AIDS patients attempting to dose themselves with the drug. "We absolutely do not recommend that anyone use this extremely toxic drug," says Dan Solliday of Los Angeles AIDS organization Being Alive. "It can cause strokes, heart attacks and seizures if not administered properly." McGrath adds that "by way of warning: Impure formulations are available in China. The impurities in these preparations are quite deadly, in that they cause the clumping of blood cells. You can imagine if clumping of the blood cells occurred in the brain. You would have strokes. If the clumping occurred in the heart, you could have a heart attack." McGrath went on to explain to CBS News Nightwatch reporter Charlie Rose that the side effects are "worse than severe—it could mean death." That's why those with AIDS must somehow find a way to hang on.

Crucial to the survival of AIDS patients until drugs like Compound Q hit the market is the approved and available drug AZT. AZT has been shown in clinical tests to inhibit the virus' ability to spread. Even more exciting are the newly developed sister compounds of AZT, such as DDA and DDI, which are currently being tested. In the first clinical tests, both drugs caused a rise in T-cells, a decline in the spread of the virus as well as increased energy, appetite and weight gain in patients. AIDS patients taking the expensive AZT, on the other hand, have reported severe side effects such as anemia and serious stomach and intestinal problems. These new compounds appear to cause minor side effects—headaches and insomnia.

The other new and promising drug on the horizon is CD4-IgG. No formal reports have yet been issued on the drug, but AIDS expert Dr. Mark Katz says animal tests and circumstantial evidence suggest that CD4 could be as effective as Compound Q in ridding the body of the virus. He explains that "it has a two-pronged mechanism where it seeks out the virus and then attacks it." CD4 is a protein that was first identified in London and Paris more than four years ago as being potentially helpful in the war against AIDS. Since that time, more than half a dozen research groups have gone to work testing its possibilities. In fact, several pharmaceutical companies are presently bickering over who did what first with CD4. A spokesperson for the Smith-Kline Beckman Corporation of Philadelphia—where one version of the drug is being developed—says that CD4 has entered the human clinical trial stage. Genentech of South San Francisco hopes to have its CD4-IgG combination ready for human tests this year.

However, John S. James, publisher of AIDS Treatment News, explains how catastrophic any delay can be. "There have been 50,000 AIDS deaths in the United States so far. No major drugs are likely to come out of the regulatory pipeline for at least another 18 months—during which time an additional 50,000 deaths will occur. Therefore, the cost of any unnecessary 18-month delay, in research or in patient access to whatever treatment turns out to be effective, can be estimated at 50,000 lives."

It seems truly criminal that it takes so long for these drugs to reach the people who so desperately need them. It's especially bad that money seems to be the main factor stalling research. At last, however, there is hope—real hope for a cure for the most frightening and deadly disease in recent history.

HOT LETTERS

SWAYED BY SPADE

I'd like to relate to HUSTLER readers an awesome sex experience I had a few months ago. I'm a single, blond, 27-year-old woman, and I live in the suburbs of Washington, D.C. I am also a certified public accountant, and I run a tax-preparation service from my home.

Until recently, my neighborhood was all white, but in June a very handsome black man named Ron, also single, moved in across the street. We met one Saturday morning when we were both outside doing yard work. It turned out that he was a divorce lawyer with a bustling practice. When he learned I was a CPA, he told me he had some tough tax problems and asked if I could help him out. Considering his great looks and professional status, I was happy to oblige.

Ron came over the next afternoon and for about four hours we worked on his taxes. Toward evening we decided to continue the tax work the next day. Since I had no plans that night, I asked Ron if he'd like to stay for dinner. He replied that he'd love to, but he wanted to go home to shower and change first.

As he was walking back to his house, I couldn't help but notice his firm ass and powerful build. He'd told me he had been a football player in college; he sure walked like an All-American! I've been sexually active since high school, but I had never fucked a black man. I had, however, fantasized about it for years. Sometimes when I masturbate with a dildo, I imagine that a big black stud is pleasuring my pussy. That really turns me on. Every white woman has heard stories about their magnificent cocks and sexual power, and I decided that this night was my chance to enjoy the majesty of a black man's huge rod. As Ron was home changing, I went upstairs and showered. Then, I put on bra and panties and a thin cotton dress. I even squirted a little perfume on my cunt.

Ron came back with two bottles of champagne and a couple of joints of excellent California pot. He apparently had some romantic thoughts of his own. We sat down on the living room couch and smoked the reefer. I hadn't been stoned in a long time, and this stuff was great! The champagne gave it an extra kick.

We were halfway through the second bottle of bubbly when I noticed that Ron's dick was getting hard. There was a tremendous bulge in his jeans. As I stared at it—I couldn't help myself—I felt my love slit growing moist. Forget food, I thought. What I wanted for dinner was black beef. My pussy was ravenous.

I pulled up my dress and flashed him an enticing smile. Then I slid my panties down to my thighs, revealing my thick blond snatch. Ron quickly moved his hand down to caress my pussy. Before long he was fingering my cunt and softly cupping my breasts.

My desire for this built black stud was becoming too much to bear. I took his hand and led him to my bedroom. I told him that I had craved black cock for years, but never had any. I begged him to give me the best fuck of his life. The buzz from the pot only increased my passion for wild sex.

I undid Ron's belt and tugged down his jeans and boxers. And then I saw for myself what white women dream of: a gigantic black cock. It was twice as long and thick as even the biggest white dick I had ever balled. My snatch was dripping at the sight of it. As I stripped naked, my body quivered with lust.

Ron stood by the bed. I knelt down in front of him and took his cock into my mouth and stroked his balls. He moaned softly as I sucked. He put his hands on the back of my head and pushed my eager lips deeper on his rod. I slid a finger into my pussy and fondled my clit. My cunt is very snug, and I knew that I'd have to be well-lubricated if I was going to take the full length of his mega-manhood. And I wanted it all!

Ron's shaft was now riding high and hard. It was well over a foot long. A lot of sex books claim that cock size doesn't make much difference in good sex, but women are the best judges in that department. We want big cock, and this giant black dick was like something out of science fiction.

I lay back on the bed and spread my thighs. Then I pulled my knees back with my hands, opening my pussy wide for him. "Fuck me, you beautiful black stud," I demanded. "Fuck me and talk dirty."

Ron knelt on the bed in front of me, with his hand around his throbbing rod. "I'm gonna fuck your sweet blond pussy, you white slut," he said in his deep baritone voice. "I'm gonna give you the biggest, baddest cock you've ever had."

He went down on my golden triangle. He sucked my swollen clit. His tongue probed deep into my hole. Just the thought that I was about to feel the forbidden fruit of a black lovestick was enough to drive me crazy. I grasped his raging shaft in my hand and guided it firmly into my snatch. I couldn't get it in there fast enough.

As it slid deeper, my body began writhing on the bed. I was out of control, rubbing my tits and thrusting my cunt up for more. "Give it to me!" I cried. "Give me all of your big black cock!"

And did he ever! With a few strong

Gripping my thighs, he spread my pussy even wider to accommodate his fat, ebony wand.

thrusts, Ron rammed his black staff far into my pussy. It felt big and alive, as if a python were inside me. I'm a feminist, but I love being dominated in bed. This black cock was in full control. "Fuck me hard, Ron!" I screamed. "Fuck me like a wild beast." I fondled his muscular chest as his cock roamed in and out of my hungry snatch. Gripping my thighs, he spread my pussy even wider to accommodate his fat, ebony wand. He kept looking down to watch his huge shaft pumping in and out of my pink slit.

He was getting really hot, and I felt myself building up toward a massive climax. I pulled him down on top of me. His big hands reached around to cup my tight round ass, and he held me closer. I wrapped my legs firmly around his back. "Come in me," I moaned. "Give me your cum." With that, I felt his huge penis erupt inside me like a fire hose. My entire body shook with pleasure as my pussy exploded with the most tremendous orgasm I have ever felt.

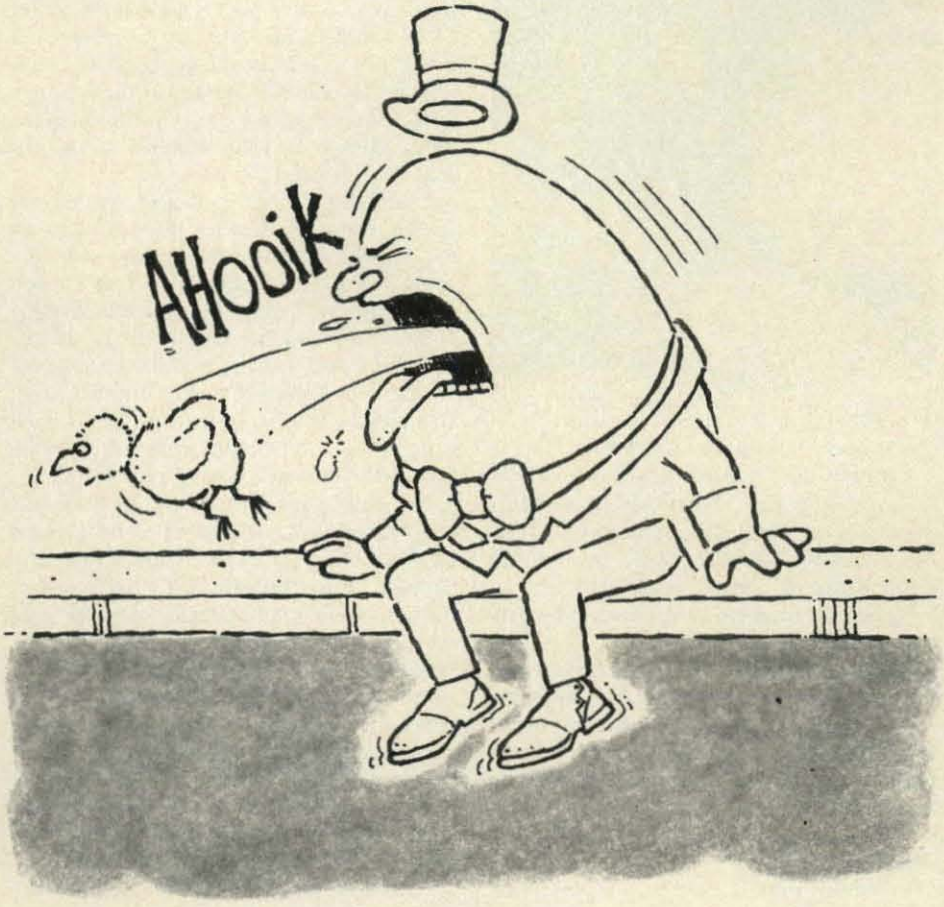

We both lay back on the bed to rest. I closed my eyes to enjoy the waves of pleasure that were washing over me. When I opened them, I could see that Ron was still looking hungrily at my firm white breasts and my thick blond bush. His great black cock was coming back to life, as huge as ever. I had to have more.

I rolled over on my stomach and stuck my ass up in the air. I felt like a dog in heat. "Fuck me from behind like an animal," I begged him. Ron moved around behind me and caressed my glistening fur. I thrilled at the way his well-manicured fingers stroked my cooze. But he had his own ideas.

"I want to fuck your ass, you wild white bitch," he said, slapping my butt. "I want you to feel my black cock all the way up your ass."

I wasn't sure I could take it; I had never allowed any dick to penetrate my bunghole, let alone this monster. But this black stallion was driving me out of my mind with desire. I was willing to do anything he wanted.

I had a tube of K-Y Jelly on the nightstand. I instructed Ron to lube his cock with it. Then, gently, he began to slide that fabulous African spear into my ass. I felt like I was going to be split in two.

But as he pushed in deeper, I found that my shit chute was expanding to accept it. He got that rod all the way in, then started to pump me hard. As he held my hips with his strong hands, pulling me closer, I feverishly fingered my cunt. I was in ecstasy, moaning and wiggling my ass around for this black hunk. In a few minutes, I felt my body explode again in a shattering climax. Ron shot a hot load of juice up my now-slippery asshole. Then he collapsed on top of me and left that fabulous cock in my ass for at least half an hour.

He ended up spending the night. The next morning I woke up as horny as ever, craving more of his gigantic shaft. Ron fucked me several times that morning. The best was when I straddled him and worked my dripping pussy all the way down his pole. The sight of his dark meat stuffing my lush blond cunt was enough to set me on fire.

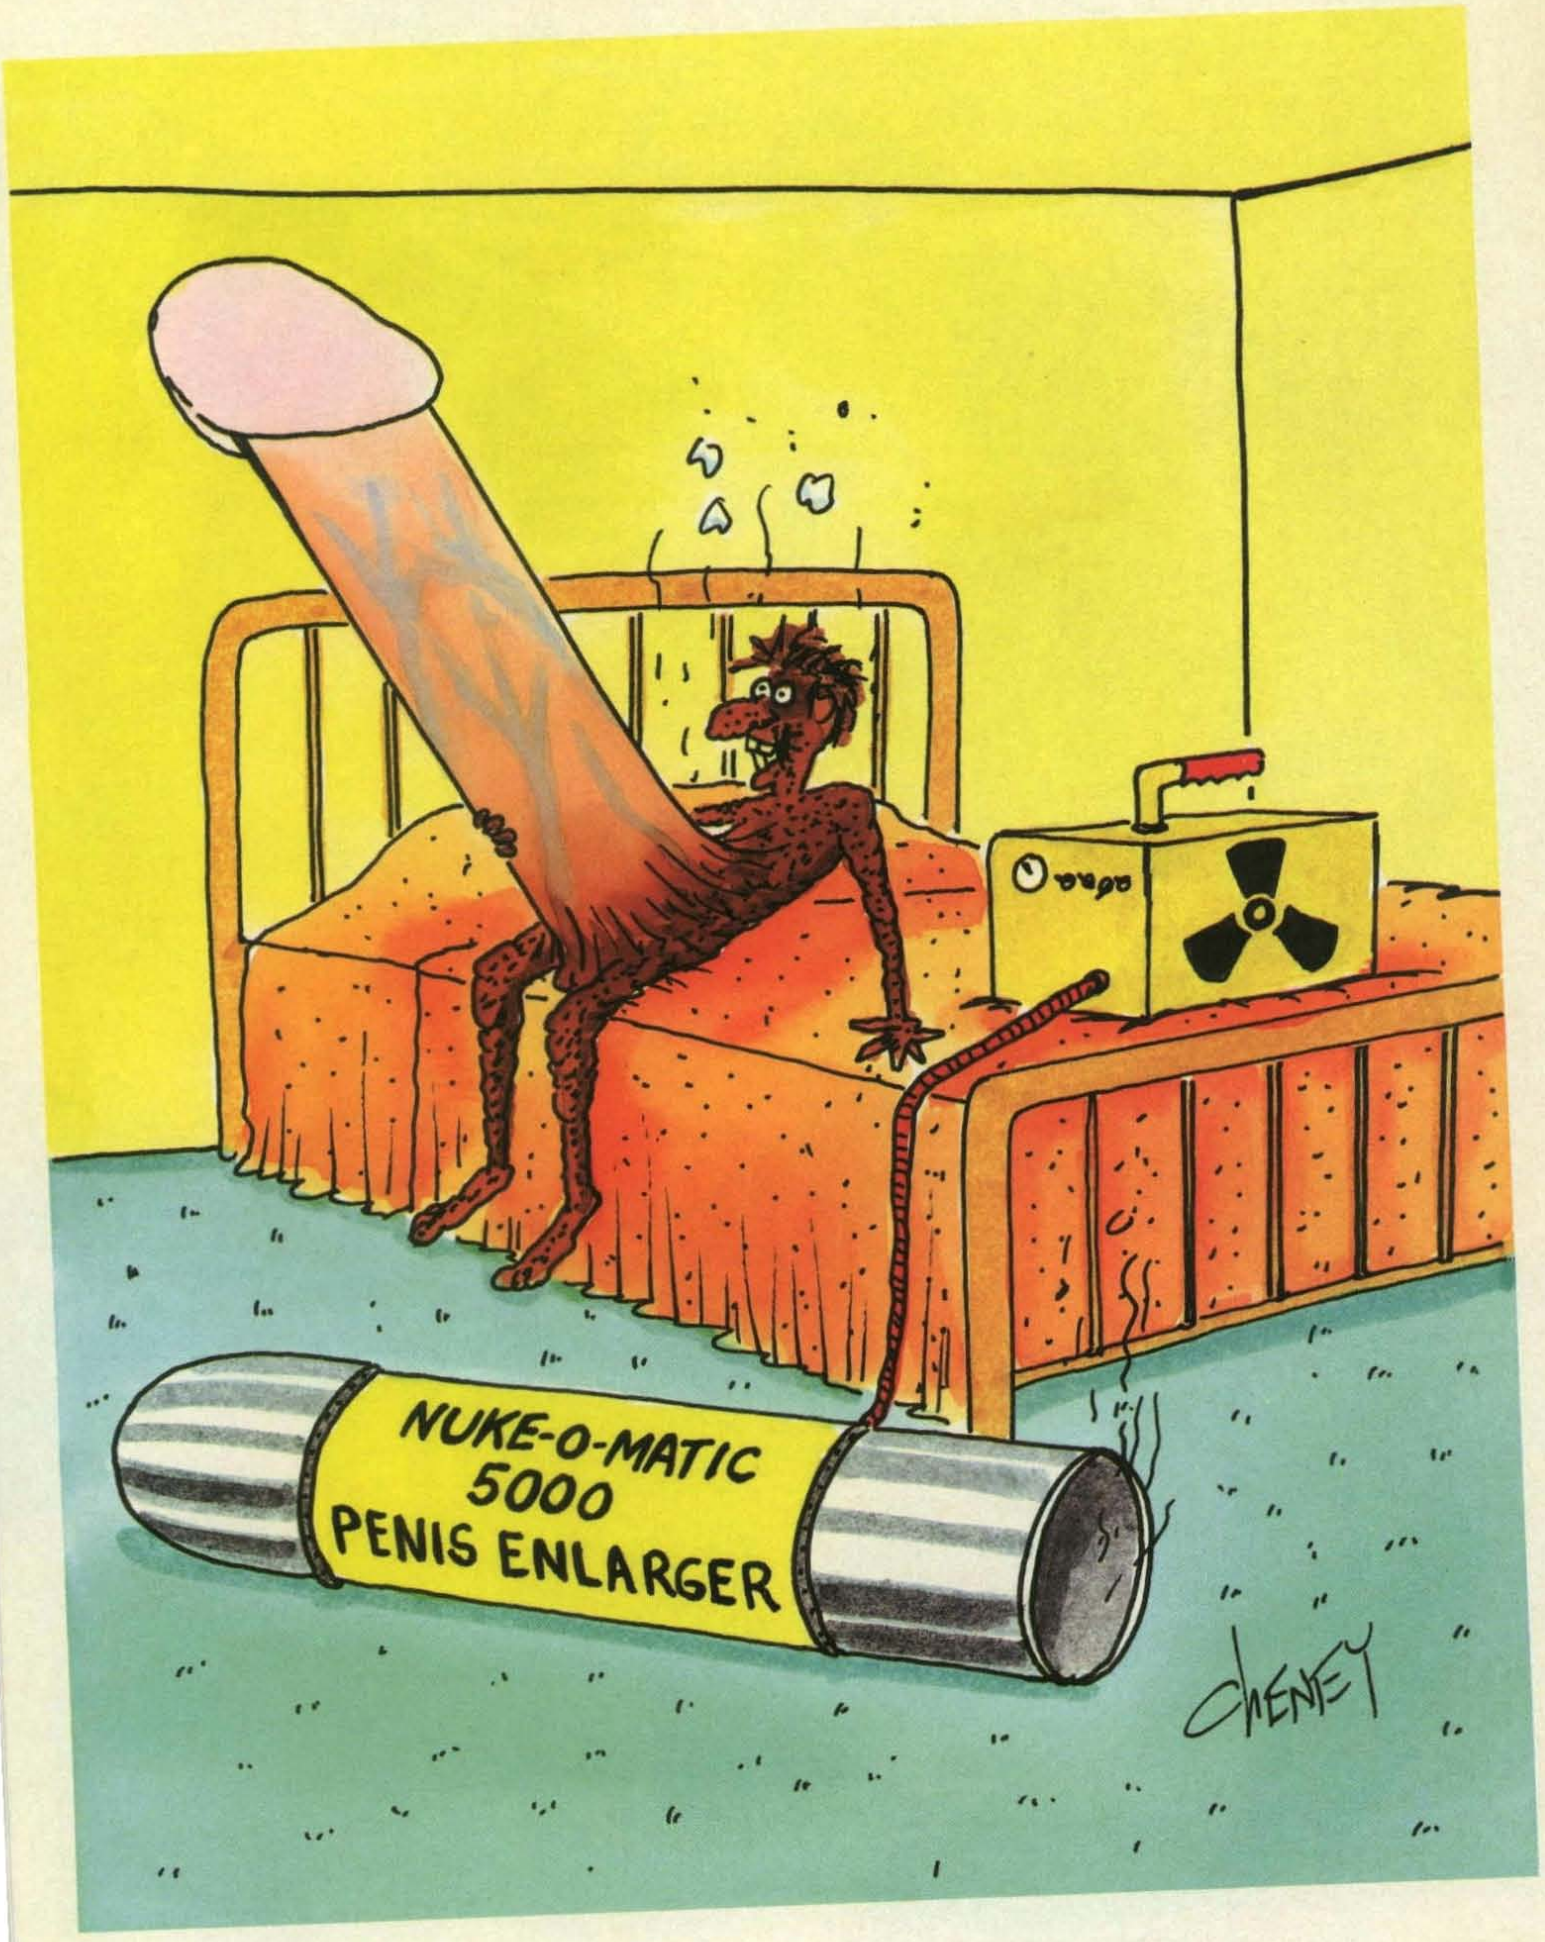

Ever since that first encounter, we have met at least three times a week, usually at my place. One night, after he told me I had been an especially good girl, he brought along a friend, another great-looking black stud. One look at his crotch told me that he was also hung like a horse. We all got really wrecked on some hash and wine, and then we stripped in my bedroom and got down to business.

Ron lay back on the bed and I fondled and sucked his dick while his friend plowed my horny cunt from behind with his massive prick. Then I moved up to straddle Ron and take his shaft in my pussy. I stuck my rear up as high as I could for his friend. His cock was already so slimy with my love juice that he managed to slide it all the way up my ass. Having two black Adonises pumping both my holes simultaneously was paradise. My slender body was totally out of control, thrashing around in unbelievable rapture. Ron came in me first, then his buddy blew his load in my rear. When I reached orgasm, I was delirious.

Between Ron's visits, I find myself unable to concentrate on my work. Just daydreaming about that gorgeous ebony rod is enough to make me drench my panties. I wasn't sure if I should tell my girlfriends about Ron, but one day at the tennis club, after playing a foursome, I decided I had to tell somebody.

My partners, Susan, Glenda and Sandy, were all ears as I described the size of his organ. It turned out that all of them had fucked black studs in college. "I still fantasize about having a black man between my legs," Sandy related. "It was the greatest fuck I've ever had. My boyfriend has a good-size dick, but it's no match for one of those black cocks." I feel possessive about Ron, but I promised Sandy that

Life's Rosy for Great Athletes . . . Until They Face Real Life

Professional athletes have always made good copy, but these days their names seem to be appearing almost as often on arrest warrants as in the sports pages. Hardly a week goes by without at least one prominent sports figure being busted for cocaine, rape, assault, fraud or even murder. For many, it's a second offense.

When star hurler Denny McLain was thrown out of baseball for betting on games in the late 1960s, it became the scandal of the decade—in fact, it was virtually the only scandal of the decade. Yet, so many sports stars have been busted in the 1980s that when 1988 American League MVP Jose Canseco found himself bouncing in and out of jail on traffic violations and weapons charges last spring, sportscasters treated it like a joke.

Many sports insiders, such as Richard Lapchick, director of the Center for the Study of Sport at Boston's Northeastern University, believe the present situation is due primarily to the increased commerciality of sports and to the celebrity status—and huge paychecks—of star athletes.

According to Lapchick, the success of sports programs has become so important to high schools and colleges that coaches at these levels frequently cut academic corners in order to ensure a winning season. By doing so, they deny student athletes a proper education and a chance to prepare for a life outside of sports, which seems shortsighted, given that only one in 10,000 high-school athletes makes it to the pros. "Only one in 100 even gets to the college level," Lapchick adds, "and an estimated 30% of the other 99 leave high school functionally illiterate."

JOCKS IN TROUBLE

Charged with child molestation, in all likelihood the offense won't even go on Septien's record.

Conversely, the successful athletes, often equally unschooled, are handed the world on a platter. From the day they make the high school varsity team until the day they retire from the pros, they're pampered, protected and treated like gods. Teachers are pressured into giving them passing grades. Local cops routinely let them off with a warning when they're pulled over for speeding or drunk driving. They grow up as teen celebrities. They date the cheerleaders and the prom queens. As long as they produce, they get just about anything they want.

AARON EMANUEL—MISDEMEANOR ASSAULT

Some athletes never learn to handle their star status. They let it go to their heads. When someone in the real world fails to recognize how truly sweet their shit supposedly smells, they lash out. At least that's what USC tailback Aaron Emanuel apparently did when chicks failed to appreciate his macho pickup style.

Emanuel is responsible for at least two assaults on women. The first occurred in December 1986, when the 220-pound sophomore, who rushed for almost 500 yards in each of his first two seasons with the Trojans, struck a 23-year-old USC coed in a Los Angeles bar.

The victim claimed that Emanuel had been harassing her for several months. When he tried to speak to her that night, she told him she wasn't interested, and he slapped her face.

The second incident occurred the following May during a party held for USC athletes at the home of Hilton Green—chairman of an advisory committee on athletics at USC and a close friend of USC athletic director Mike McGee. The woman Emanuel punched out that night was 23-year-old track star Sharon Hatfield, an attractive and successful athlete, a showpiece for the USC athletic program. Hatfield is a two-time All-American who holds the national high school and national junior records in the heptathlon. She also served as Mariel Hemingway's athletic double in the movie Personal Best.

According to the track star, at about 2 a.m. Emanuel began coming on to her and pinching her ass. She asked the black athlete to stop, but when he wouldn't, she finally threw beer in his face. He retaliated by knocking her out.

Hatfield's story was substantiated by a number of eyewitnesses, one of whom told the Los Angeles Times that he rushed to Hatfield's aid after seeing the tailback throw the punch. "Emanuel just hit her, and she was out," the unidentified athlete said. "She was unconscious for several seconds. I was holding her up, and she couldn't stand. She was in a daze, crying and stuff."

Emanuel was subsequently convicted of misdemeanor battery and given 15 days in jail and three years probation. He was also suspended from USC for a year, pending completion of 100 hours of community service with victims of violence and a series of monthly psychiatric treatments. Yet, by suspending Emanuel from classes as well as from football, USC ensured that the tailback still had two full years of eligibility when he returned to the lineup in 1988 as a junior.

RAFAEL SEPTIEN—SEXUAL CHILD ABUSE

When jocks see their peers receiving a slap on the wrist for an offense that would send one of their fans to rot in jail, it sends a signal: Sports figures are above the law.

In January 1988, for example, Dallas Cowboys placekicker Rafael Septien, the team's all-time leading scorer with 874 points, was charged with sexually molesting the ten-year-old daughter of his Denton County, Texas, neighbor.

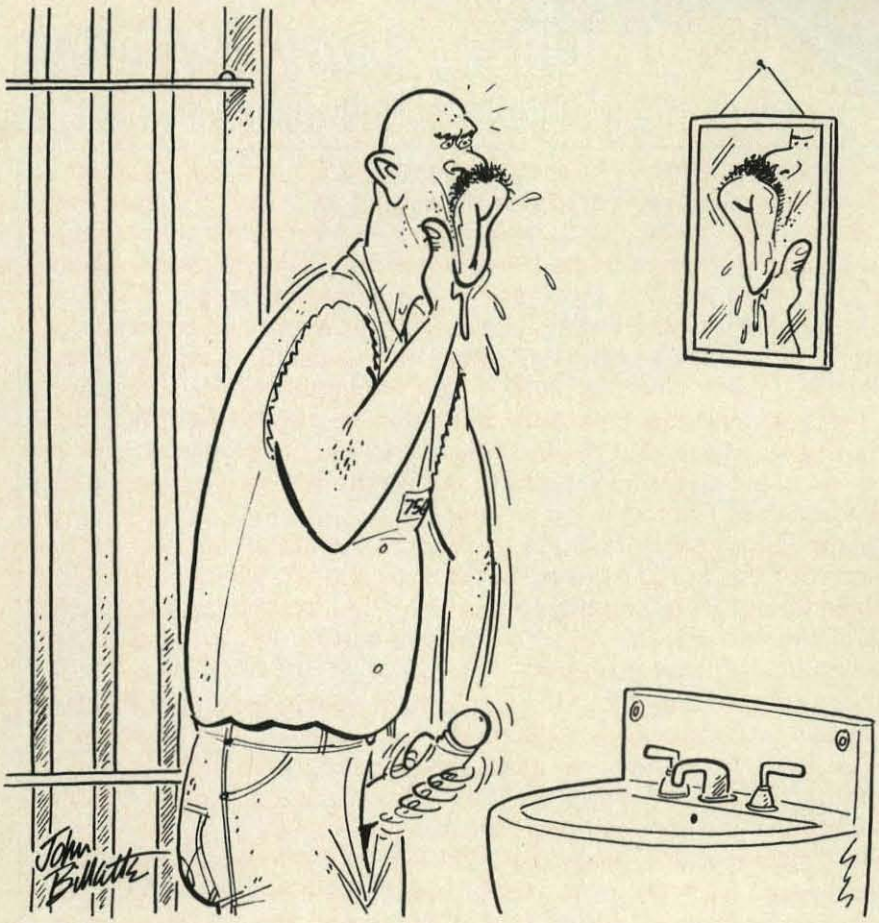

Initially, Septien entered a plea of not guilty. Yet, while the crime carries a sentence of up to life imprisonment in Texas, when the case came to trial, Septien was allowed to plead guilty to the lesser charge of indecency with a child. He was sentenced to only ten years deferred probation and fined $2,000. In all likelihood, the offense won't even go on his record.

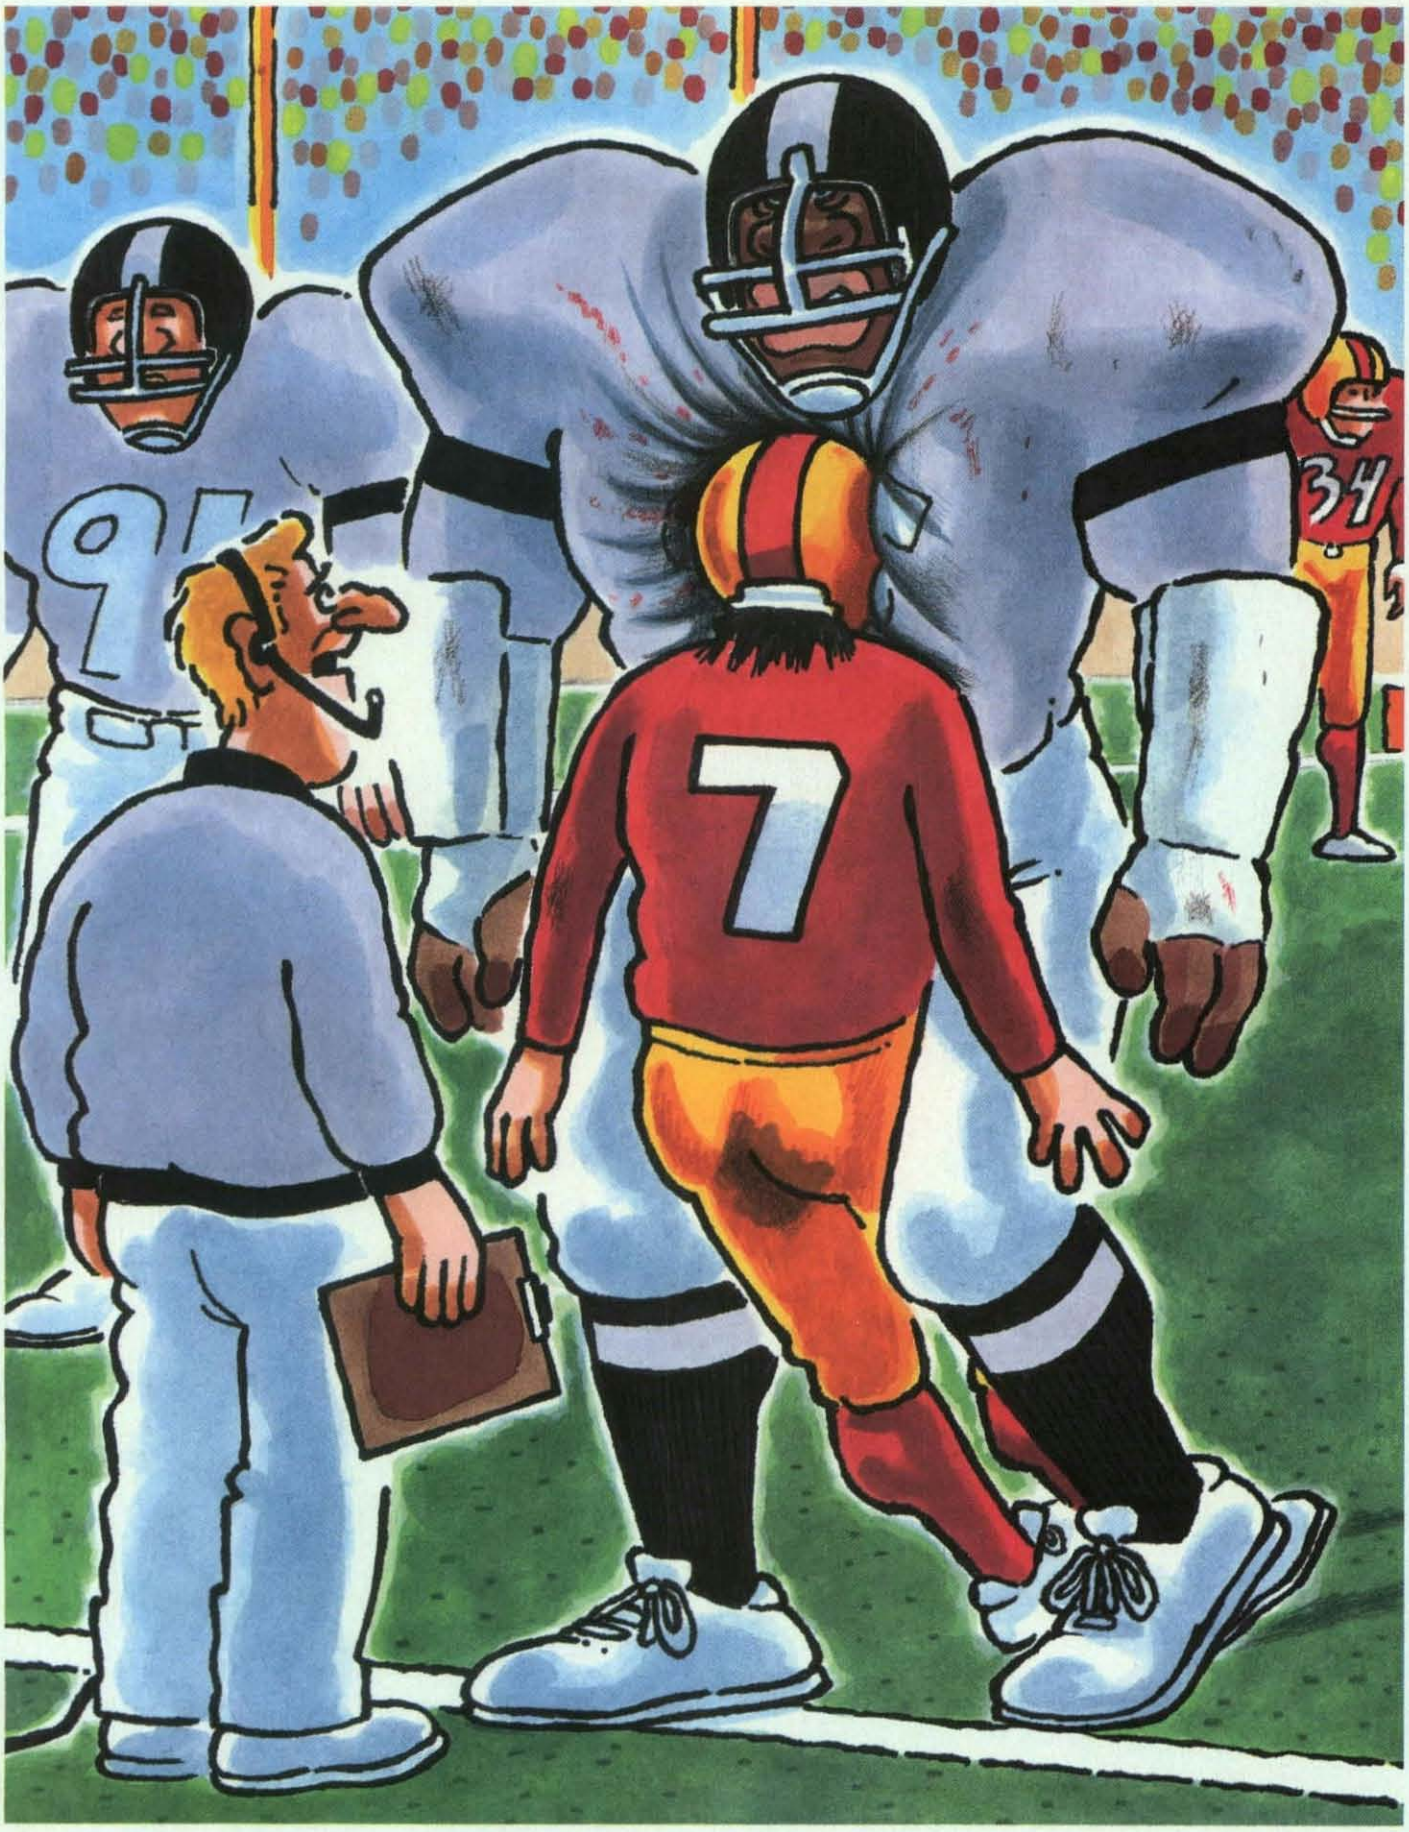

UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA FOOTBALL SQUAD—GANG-RAPE, ASSAULT AND DRUG SALES

"There are different sets of laws for different sets of people," Oklahoma's ex-head football coach Barry Switzer once said. Switzer should know. He let his Sooners run wild both on the field and off for years. The lack of discipline caught up with them, however, and ultimately contributed to Switzer's resignation.

In December 1988 the Oklahoma football program was placed on probation by the NCAA for major recruiting violations. In its decision, the NCAA Committee on Infractions noted that for "at least several years, the university has failed to exercise appropriate institutional control" over its football program. One more violation in the next five years and the Sooners will receive the NCAA's death penalty.

"You can come in my mouth or come in my pussy," Serena says as she peels her clothes off. Legs wide, slit glistening, Serena waits for your decision. Choose her mouth and she'll suck your hot jizz down her throat and keep sucking until you're hard again. Push your stick in her snatch and you blow your wad in ecstasy as her twat-muscles grip and release, grip and release. Still deciding? She may just turn over and give you a third choice: her tight bunghole. Now you've really got a dilemma. "Sometimes I'll let a guy do all three," she reveals, "but I like to see what his first choice is." Don't think too long; you might come just looking at her.

Authorities believe Kusayanagi raped eight women, first covering their eyes or mouths with duct tape.

Shortly thereafter, the players themselves began to self-destruct. On January 13, 1989, Oklahoma cornerback Jerry Parks shot lineman Zarak Peters in the chest in a late-night confrontation over a borrowed cassette tape. Afterward, Parks reportedly tried to shoot himself in the head, but the gun misfired.

Luckily, the .22-caliber slug missed Peters's heart by three inches, and in May Parks pleaded no contest to charges of shooting with intent to injure. He was given a 2½-month jail sentence and ordered to pay Peters's medical bills.

About a week after the shooting, Sooners Glen Bell, Nigel Clay and Bernard Hall allegedly gang-raped a 20-year-old woman in their Bud Wilkinson House dorm room. The victim was reportedly on a blind date with Clay and had been drinking with the trio. At one point the men doused the lights while she was in the bathroom. When she returned, they attacked her.

"She was grabbed by an unknown suspect and forced into the adjoining bedroom," the police report states. "She fought, but was thrown onto the floor. When she began screaming, the suspect placed his hands over her mouth." The woman was then stripped of her clothes and brutally raped four times.

A subsequent search of the premises produced the victim's earring and a blood-stained rug, as well as 35 rounds of ammunition. The trial has been set for early September.

But the losing streak wasn't over. Three weeks later, starting sophomore quarterback and team leader Charles Thompson was arrested for selling 17 grams of cocaine to an undercover FBI agent. He subsequently pleaded guilty and faces a potential prison term of 20 years and $1 million in fines.

According to one unidentified resident of the athletic dorms, such lawless behavior is nothing new. "The attitude is: We're Sooners. This is the way we party," he says. "As freshmen, they're all excited and a bunch of neat guys. As the year progresses, they change. They become more callous to discipline as they find they can get away with more. The older guys show them around, show them the attitude."

"Okay, but don't stay out too late after the gang rape. . . ."

It's an attitude Barry Switzer did little to change. "We don't inhibit, muzzle or restrict our players," he's said in the past. "You can't manage kids that way. I don't want to be managed that way."

THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO BUFFALOS—RAPE, ASSAULT, CRIMINAL TRESPASSING AND KIDNAPPING

The Sooners have nothing on the University of Colorado football team. Since February 1986 more than two dozen UC athletes have been charged with everything from assault to burglary to serial rape.

It's gotten so ridiculous, in fact, that campus police often use football programs as mug books. "It saves you time," says Detective Tim DeLaria. "Instead of having a victim go through the mug book, you just take out your program and say, 'Is he in here?' "

Police made one of their most disturbing arrests early this year when they picked up Miles Kusayanagi, a linebacker for the Buffalos in 1984 and '85, charging him with kidnapping and rape. Authorities believe Kusayanagi may be the Duct Tape Rapist, who sexually assaulted eight women in the Boulder area in 1986, covering their eyes or mouths with duct tape before raping them. Kusayanagi's bail was set at $500,000.

That same month, five current UC players also had run-ins with the law, among them freshman running back Marcus Reliford, who was charged with sexual assault and burglary. At 2 a.m. on January 20, Reliford allegedly broke into a women's dorm room and put the make on one of its two occupants. When she told him to get lost, he reportedly bit her on the neck and raped her.

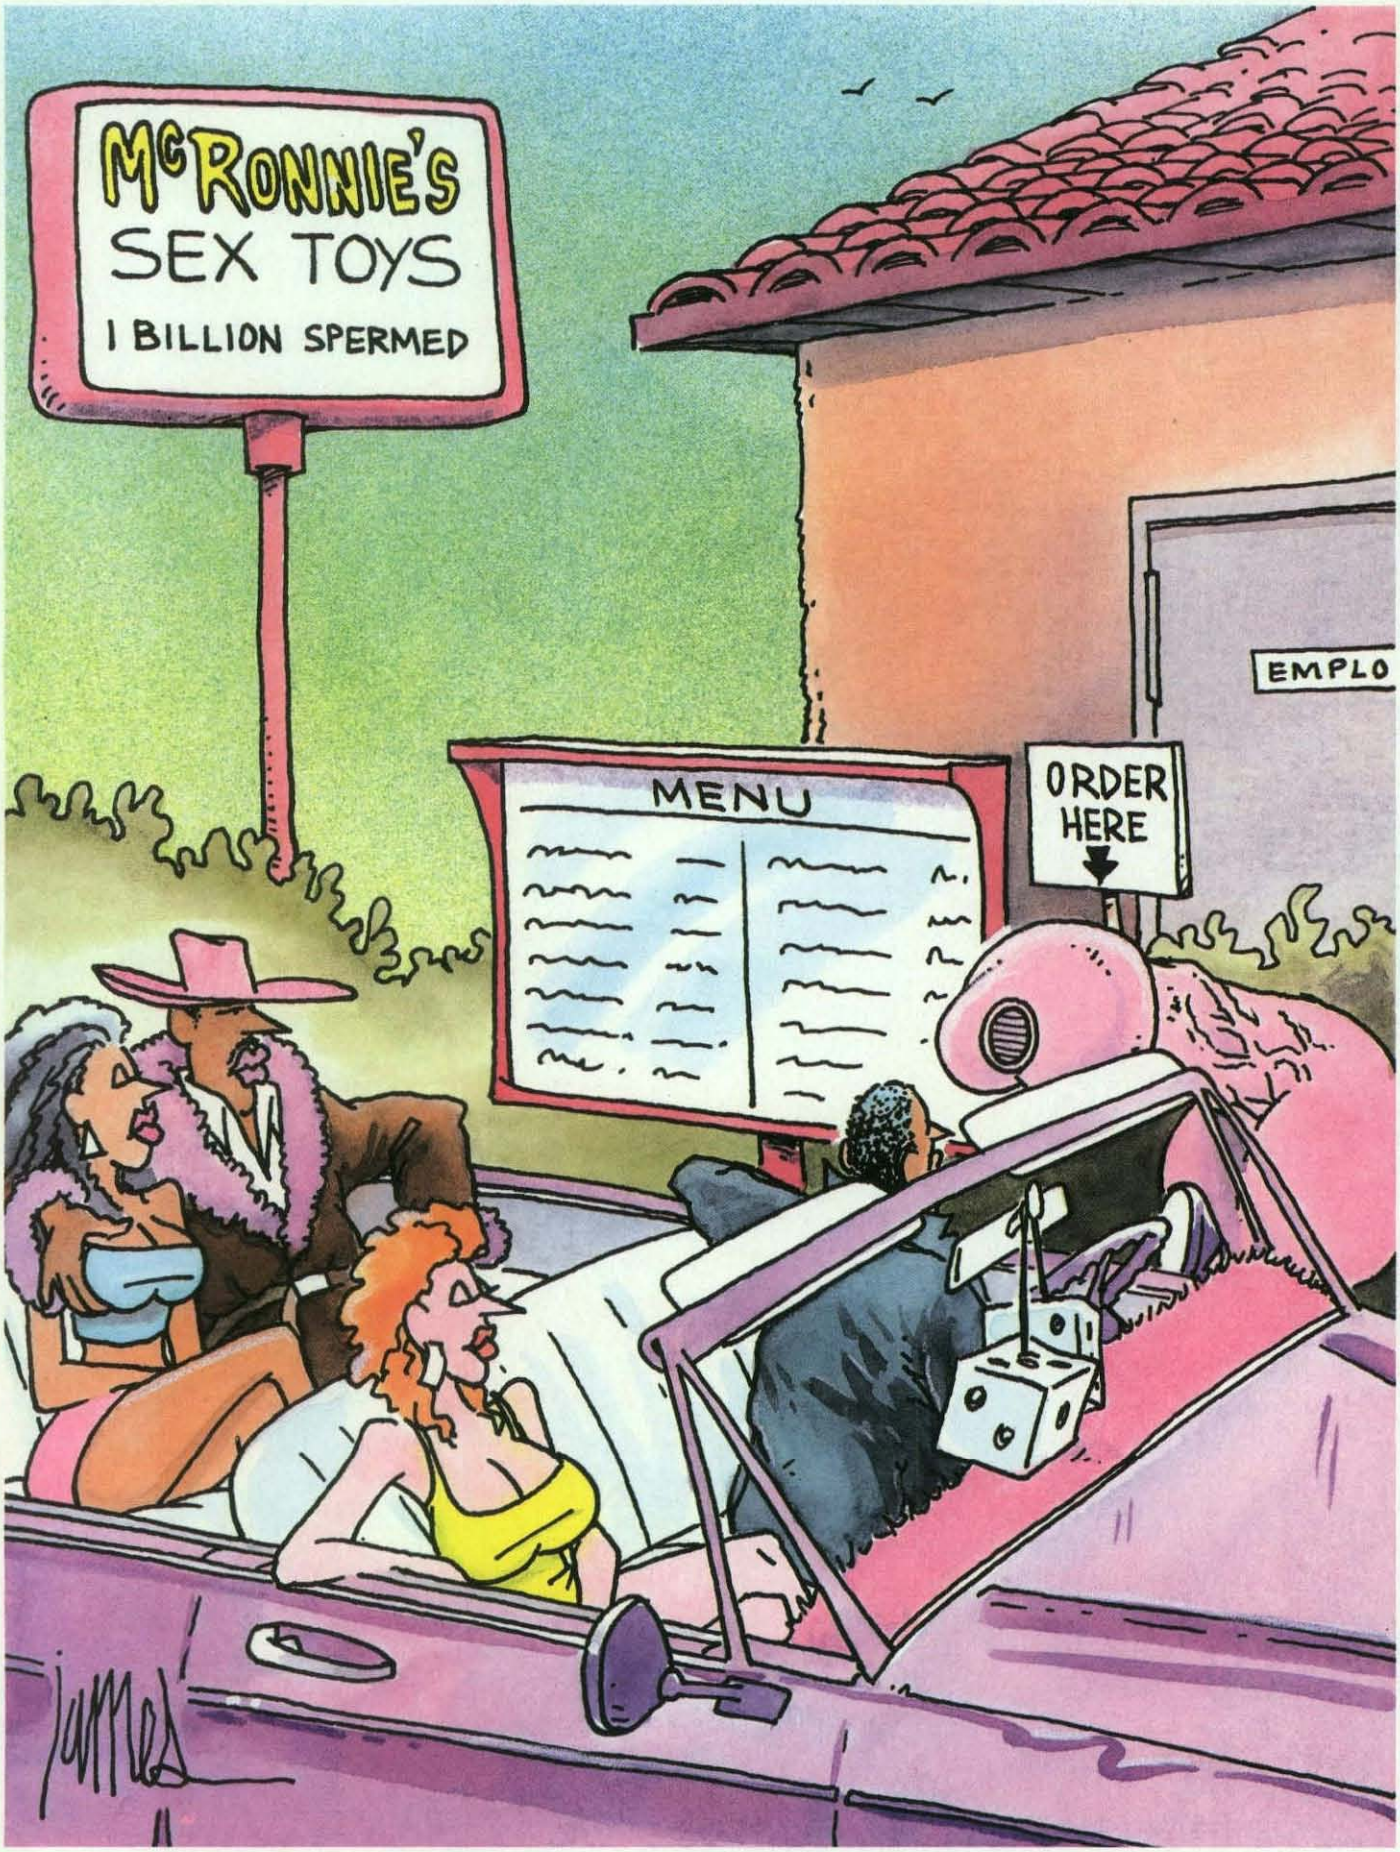

In response to the negative publicity, UC head coach Bill McCartney set up a mandatory, 1½-hour date-rape seminar for his athletes.

JAMES LOFTON, EDDIE LEE IVERY, MOSSY CADE, CHARLES MARTIN—SEXUAL ASSAULT

UC players aren't the only ones ever to stick their dick where it wasn't wanted. Sexual assault charges have been filed against so many Green Bay Packers in recent years that Wisconsin Attorney General Donald Hanaway joked that the state ought to choose Green Bay as the location for its new prison "so that the Packers can walk to work"!

The series of sexual indiscretions began in October 1984 when then-Packer teammates James Lofton and Eddie Lee Ivery were accused of sexually assaulting an 18-year-old Milwaukee nightclub dancer

Leslie loves to watch her Girl Friday fetch and carry. Friday is a good companion . . . a great companion when her head is settled firmly between Leslie's thighs. This simple life of tropical beauty and constant cunnilingus is just what Leslie sought when she dropped out of the rat race and escaped to the islands.

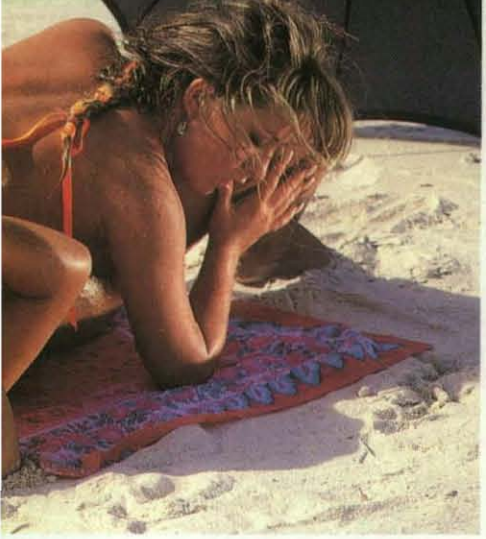

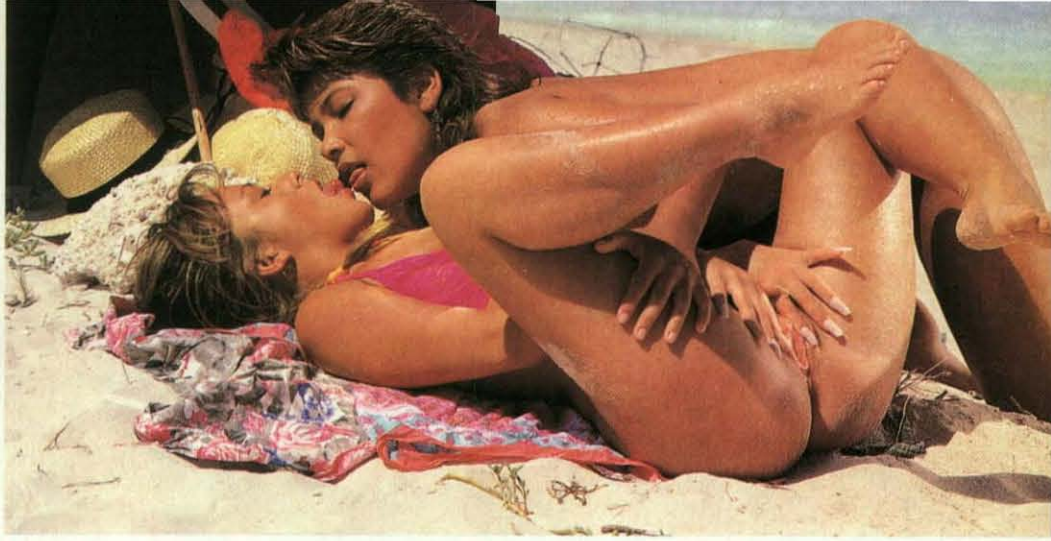

Homesick? Get real. Slipping her fingers into Friday's damp conch, Leslie's probing started her companion moaning and squirming, and soon the shore played home to more than the sound of lapping waves.

in her dressing room. At the time, Milwaukee County DA E. Michael McCann refused to issue criminal charges against the pair, citing a lack of evidence. However, the dancer has since filed a $5.5-million civil suit against Lofton and Ivery.

In November 1985, 23-year-old Packer defensive back Mossy Cade was charged with three counts of second-degree sexual assault for allegedly raping a 42-year-old Houston woman in his De Pere, Wisconsin, home. The victim claimed that Cade, whom she'd known for more than 20 years, raped her three times in one night, and that at one point, she'd feared for her life.

In June, Cade was found guilty on two of the counts. He was sentenced to two years in the Wisconsin State Prison and fined $15,000.

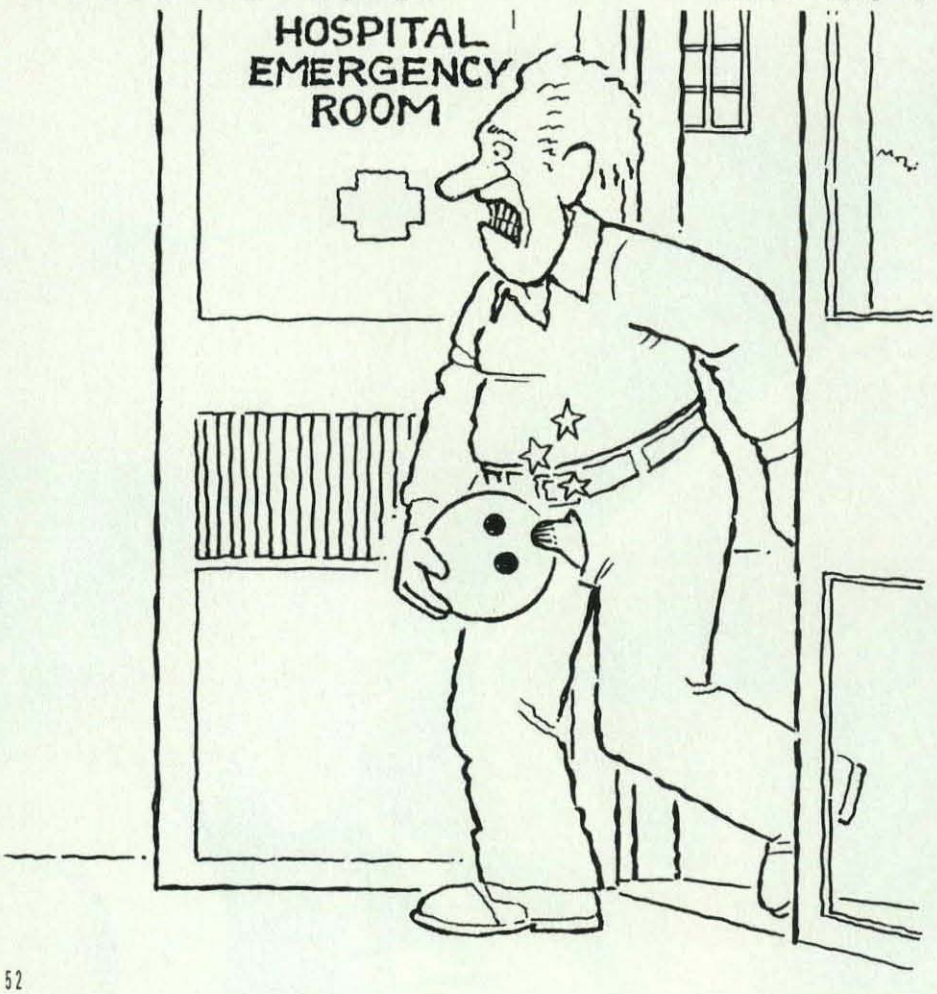

Defensive lineman Charles Martin was the fourth Packer to be charged with forcing his affections upon a lady. He was accused of grabbing a 26-year-old woman at a Green Bay singles bar in October 1986. However, the case never went to trial. Martin settled out of court by giving the woman a check for $500 and offering her an apology.

Next, it was Lofton's turn again. This time authorities charged that the celebrated wide receiver, who is married and a father, picked up a 30-year-old Michigan woman at a Green Bay singles bar in December 1987 and, just as the bar was closing, allegedly took her into a stairwell and forced her to give him a blowjob.

The incident was the final straw for the people of Green Bay. They tried to laugh off the team's problems, joking about bringing Doctor Ruth in as the next head coach. Yet, inside they felt betrayed by the athletes they looked up to as role models. After all, it was common knowledge that team members could find willing young groupies ("Pack" Rats) to ball at almost any bar in town.

Sensing Green Bay's growing resentment toward players like Lofton, the Packers made a surprise move just weeks before this trial. They traded (read unloaded) the wide receiver to the Raiders for a third-round draft choice. But Lofton was then found innocent of all charges and, al-

THE STEROID CONNECTION

Epidemic levels of steroid use among athletes may well be one of the reasons so many jocks are presently being accused of assault.

Steroids enable athletes to increase body strength and physical performance, but they also increase the level of the user's testosterone (the "aggression" hormone). Thus, according to Bob Goldman, M.D., steroid researcher and author of Death in the Locker Room (Price Stern Sloan), these dangerous, often addictive drugs can completely alter an athlete's personality.

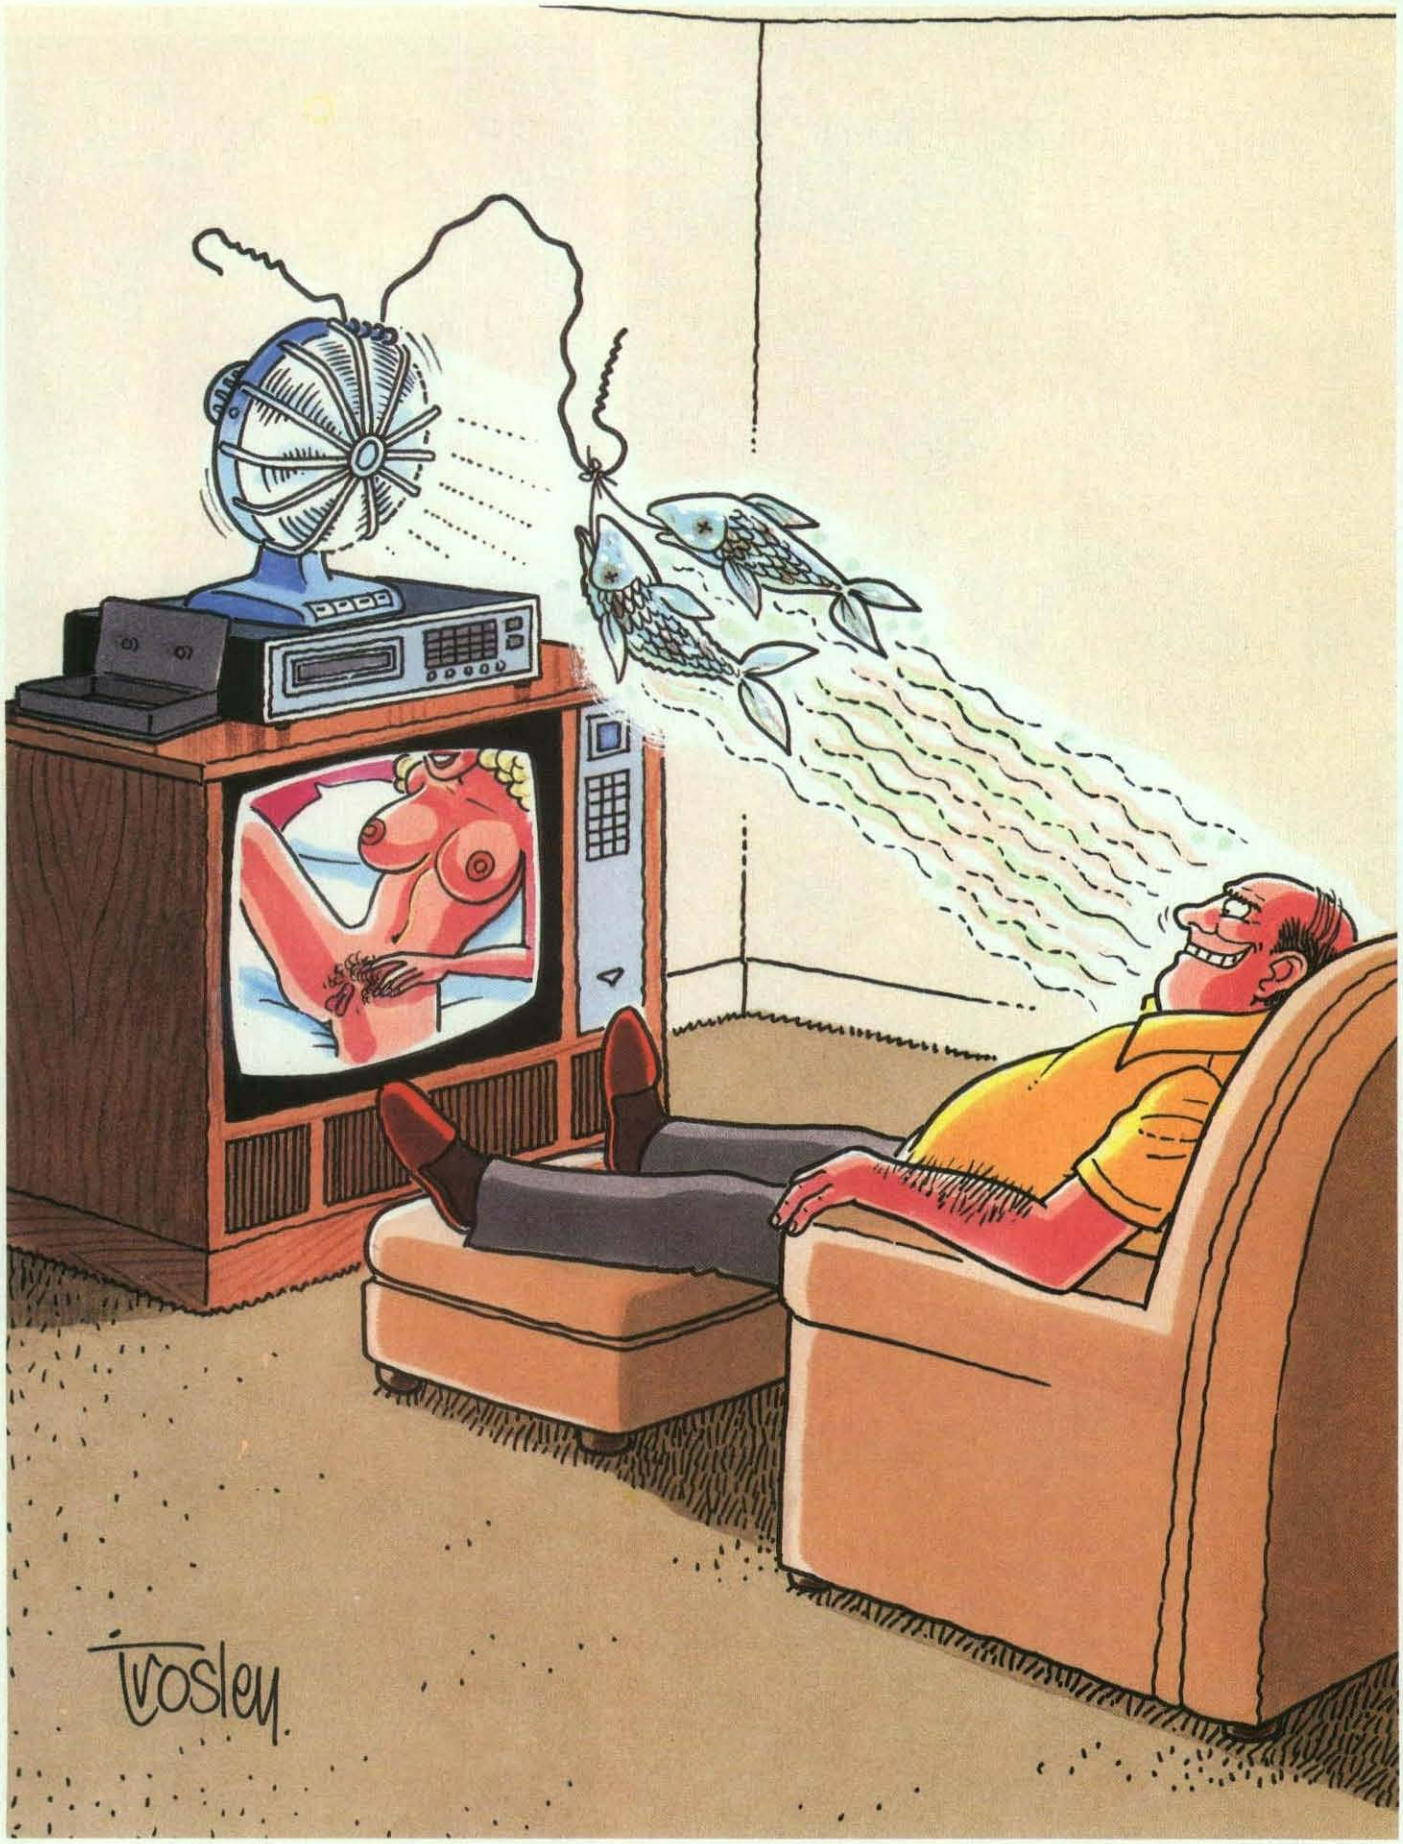

"Steroid users have been known to become extremely violent over things that normally wouldn't bother them," Goldman says. "They become wife beaters. Their behavior becomes erratic. In one instance, an athlete who had a spotless record began taking androgen steroids and he went on a robbery spree. He robbed six homes. He burned three of them to the ground."

When the case went to trial, the judge found the athlete not guilty, citing the defense's claim that steroids had induced a temporary psychotic episode. It was a classic example of what some call "the steroid defense," which proposes that the defendant was being driven crazy by the hormonal high the drugs created.

In another steroid-related case, a woman in the Midwest was charged with murdering her husband, a 250-pound bodybuilder who beat her up every time he went on a steroid cycle. One night when he attacked her, she blew him away with a shotgun.

Although even the occasional use of steroids can induce psychotic behavior, according to Goldman many athletes have begun taking them year-round. "Normally, steroids are used on a six- to ten-week cycle [six weeks on, six weeks off]," he explains. "But the perpetual users become real nut cases—like bouncers who throw people through windows instead of escorting them to the door!"

Goldman claims that drug education for student athletes remains little to nonexistant and that most coaches don't know how harmful these drugs can be. To make matters worse, steroids are readily available on the black market and, while authorities are moving to reclassify them as a dangerous substance, if a jock presently gets caught with steroids, the police take the drugs away, and that's the end of it. —L.W.

Hungrier'n shit, a guy plopped down at the lunch counter next to a young man who had a steaming bowl of chili in front of him. When the waitress came to take his order, the man said, "That chili smells pretty good. Lemme have a bowl of that." The waitress brought his order right away, and the man scarfed it down as fast as he could shovel it in. Still hungry, he noticed that the young man beside him hadn't touched his bowl. "Hey, man," he asked, "you gonna eat that?"

"Nope."

"Ya mind if I have at it, then?"

The young man shrugged and said, "Fuck, go ahead." The man thanked him, slid the bowl over and dug in. He was almost through when he looked down and noticed a greasy dog turd lying in the bottom of the bowl. Gagging, he power-puked his meal back up into the bowl. The young man next to him glanced over and said, "Yeah, that's as far as I got, too."

Question: What's 14 inches long and hangs in front of an asshole?
Answer: Dan Quayle's tie.

The HUSTLER Dictionary defines K-Y Jelly as: logjam.

Three bank robbers were talking in their hideout. "You know," one said, "I can put eight beer cans on my cock when it's hard."

"Big deal," the second said. "I can lay ten silver dollars along mine when it's hard."

"Twelve crows can perch on mine when it's hard," boasted the third.

Just then, the police opened fire. A barrage of bullets whizzed overhead and tear gas rounds exploded all around. "I gotta tell the truth," the first terrified crook shouted above the din. "I can only put three beer cans on my cock when it's hard."

"To be honest," the second admitted, "I can only lay three silver dollars along mine when it's hard."

"Okay, okay," the third screamed after another thunderous volley, "the twelfth crow has to stand on one foot!"

A man walked into a Baltimore bar and asked the bartender if he could bring his cocker spaniel in to watch the baseball game, since it loved to watch the Orioles play. Business was slow and the bartender liked dogs, so he agreed to let the dog sit on the bar near the TV set. In the fifth inning, the Orioles scored a run on a double and a long single. The dog jumped around in circles and yapped excitedly. In the eighth, they scored another run after two walks and a bloop single. Once again, the dog went wild. "Man, he really gets excited," the bartender said after the Orioles blew the game three to two. "What in the world does he do when the Orioles win?"

"I don't know," the owner replied. "I've only had him for two years."

Question: Why is a clitoris like Antarctica?
Answer: Most men know it's there, but few men really care.

A man arrived home early to find his wife in the arms of his best friend. To calm the shocked husband, the friend suggested they play gin rummy. "If I win," he said, "you have to get a divorce so I can marry her. If you win, I promise never to see her again."

"Okay," agreed the husband, "but how about a penny a point to make it interesting?"

An old man checked into a retirement hotel that had six women for every man staying there. He was approached by a woman in her mid-seventies. "So, are you married?" asked the old woman.

"I was married once," the man replied. "I killed my wife with an axe and spread her body parts all over town. I got caught and went to jail for a long time. In jail I killed another convict and shot a guard while trying to escape. I finally got out after 55 years. In fact, I was just released yesterday."

"Oh, so you're single," she cooed.

A pilot and a blind man went up in an airplane. The pilot had a heart attack and died. The blind man radioed, "Mayday, Mayday!" to the tower. "We have a dead pilot, I'm blind, and we're flying upside down!" he screamed.

"How do you know you're upside down if you're blind?" the tower asked.

"Because the shit's running down my collar!"

Question: What do you get when you cross a woman who has PMS with a woman who has ESP?

SEX DREAMS

Dream experts say we have some of our best sex while we're asleep. Maybe that's why we hate to get up in the morning.

Ted gazed through clouds of cigarette smoke at the woman singing onstage. She was tall and attractive, with blond streaks running through her auburn hair. Her wide, well-formed hips moved in suggestive circles as she sang, beckoning Ted to the stage.

He approached the bandstand as the group's final chord mixed with scattered applause. The singer stepped from the stage and motioned toward a long, dimly lit hallway. Ted followed her mesmerizing ass down the hall. They walked through the doorway of her dressing room. As Ted turned to shut the door, he heard female voices. What he saw next made him stagger. The singer stood before him with her sequined shirt open to the waist. Her large, firm breasts were being fondled and licked by a woman Ted had seen earlier on the dance floor. He had often fantasized about having sex with two women. If this was a dream, he didn't want to wake up.

SEX DREAMS

"I often wonder if the dream was just so real that I think I had an orgasm."

As he began to kiss and suck the singer's tits, he heard her moan softly. Her friend undid Ted's pants. Standing behind him, she grabbed his rigid cock in one hand and his balls with the other. Ted's hands made their way to the singer's damp pussy, and he felt a climax welling up inside him. As he gave over to his uncontrollable orgasm, he heard a faint buzzing sound. Shit, he thought, the break must be over. The buzzing grew louder. As the image of breasts and pussy faded, Ted opened his eyes, reached for the alarm clock and realized that if he didn't get a move on, he was going to be late for work.

Five or six times a night, every night of our lives, imagination kidnaps our libidos and runs wild. Fantasy turns into reality, fact becomes fiction and, quite literally, the sky is the limit.

With the exception of some hyperactive sexual athletes, we experience more physical arousal while we sleep than during waking hours. It may interest women who compare notes on men's sexual prowess that when heads hit the pillow, all men rise to the occasion—they maintain full erections for an average of 100 lustful minutes a night. Not to be outdone, women experience increased vaginal blood flow, the female equivalent of an erection, for the same period of time.

Long before the advent of penile-strain gauges, vaginal probes and electroencephalographs (EEGs), Freud saw penises represented in dreams by everything from cucumbers and bananas to baseball bats and the tails of animals. Similarly, an interest in female breasts and genitals was indicated by apples, roses, boxes and cabbages. Often, however, sexual symbols are much more to the point.

"Sometimes," explains Terry, a pretty 33-year-old nurse, "and this happens mostly when I haven't been sexually active, I really do think I reach an orgasm. I'll be dreaming about fucking, and suddenly I'll reach this consciousness or awareness that seems a lot more real than a dream—and I'll feel like I'm actually coming. The feeling is very real and I really do think that it happens—although I often wonder if the dream was just so real that I think I had an orgasm. In the end it doesn't matter, though, because the feeling is so good."

Scientists are still a long way from understanding the mechanics of dreaming, but research has shown that people rarely dream of current events or world affairs. Even in clinical lab situations, most dreams involve personal and emotional issues that need to be resolved. Often the dreamer finds himself in situations he would only dream of—cast in the leading role of one-act plays that reveal physical desires, needs and fears. Sex is one of the most common forms of dream pleasure, and imagined situations can be as tender as the most sensuous erotica or as forceful as a raunchy porn tape.

All of our sensory perceptions—color, temperature, taste, smell and sexual gratification—can be experienced as vividly in dreams as in waking life. While we lie motionless in bed, our minds conjure emotions that can actually culminate in real, physiological orgasms in women and men.

"The physical part of it is very real," Terry adds with a smile. "It's not like sitting back and watching. I take an active part in my dreams. I do not always reach orgasm, but sometimes I wake up feeling really good, and I just know I've had this wonderful sexual experience—even though it was a dream."

Do the plays in our dream theater reflect secret desires or, as Freud theorized, are they merely a safety valve—outlets for desires unacceptable to our waking mind?

A college professor dreams he is in his office with an attractive young coed. She sits innocently across the desk from him. While discussing a recent exam, she spreads her legs and slowly begins sliding her skirt up her thighs. Finally she reveals a pair of white lace panties. She stands, slides her panties off and walks toward him. Turning her back, she pulls her dress up to her waist and bends over the desk, waiting. He enters her, comes and wakes the next morning with a parchmentlike circle of dried semen on his pajamas.

"A lot of dreams indicate things people don't have the chance to act on in real life," says Dr. Larry Reich, a Los Angeles sex therapist. "Dreams can be a safe way of doing something you've thought about but would never do in reality, or a way of expressing real desires that were not fulfilled because of fear or lack of opportunity."

Looking at the same dream in symbolic terms offers a different appraisal. "It doesn't have to be interpreted as just an erotic dream," suggests Dr. Steven Dreyer, a psychologist who utilizes dreams as part of his therapy. "If a male has a highly sexual dream, the female in the dream corresponds to the female part of himself. If you interact with that side of yourself in a highly sexual way, it can create a sense of unity or wholeness in yourself. On a symbolic level, it's like making love to yourself—as opposed to being hostile. Who you choose to symbolize that you are making love to says something about where you are with yourself.

"Sadomasochistic dreams, another example, can symbolize internal conflict. Part of the dreamer wants to be intimate and close with himself; another part is really tortured on some level."

Similarly, according to Dreyer, dreaming about a homosexual encounter doesn't necessarily mean the dreamer is homosexual. "Homosexual dreams are more common than people realize. They are fairly common at some point in everyone's life. These dreams might be addressing a relationship with a certain part of yourself. Of course, they could also be pointing to conflict. If a person has denied his or her homosexual tendencies, this may come out in a dream."

For the past year, a 30-year-old woman frustrated by unrequited love and a string of one-night stands has had recurring sexual dreams with partners whose faces she never sees. "The positions are conventional—either I'm on top or vice versa," she says. "The dreams are loving and tender sexual episodes, and they always result in orgasm. They are incredibly exciting and sensuous, but equally frustrating. I try to see their faces, but I never can. I wake up with a sense of longing, reaching for someone to hold."

The symbols in this dream—faceless sex partners—Dreyer interprets as a part of this woman she doesn't know yet, that she's reaching out to get to know. "Another angle," he says, "would be anonymity in sexual activity, a way of making sexuality nonintimate. A lot of people want to keep sex at that level."

New York City sex therapist Shirley Zussman explains that sexual dreams often have a therapeutic value. "They're a good sign to many people who are concerned about loss of interest in sex or about their erotic feelings at a particular moment in time. If they are having sexual dreams, it's a reassurance that it hasn't all gone down the drain. They may not be acting on it in their conscious life, but there is some reassurance derived from their dreams."

Sexual fantasies occupy a special place in our waking thoughts. Particularly when we are sexually inactive, dreams kick in to provide realistic replays of memorable loves as well as adventurous experiences with dream lovers. Women appear to be more aware of their dreams and consequently remember more of them than men, but men tend to report more sexual dreams than women. Romantic dreams involving kissing and foreplay are reported with the same frequency by both sexes. Long sleepers, whose dreams are more primitive than those of short sleepers, recall their dreams easily. Although the dream life of people who sleep longer includes more sex and aggression, their waking life contains less.

Interestingly, nocturnal emissions are not always the product of sexual dreams, and those ejaculations do not necessarily coincide with a dream orgasm. Laboratory studies have shown that when male subjects were awakened following a wet dream, they were often surprised to find the content of the dream was not sexual.

Erotic dreams represent only about 7% of our total dreams, but they stand out because they are the most exciting and activate the most senses. This nightly debauchery takes place in the sleep state called rapid eye movement sleep, or REM, characterized by visible movement of the eyes.

REM is a little-understood phenomenon. While our minds rummage through memories, sort out past experiences and work through day-to-day problems, REM actually paralyzes nearly every voluntary muscle in our bodies. At the same time, it envelopes us in a continuous state of sexual arousal.

Dr. Rosalind Cartwright, a leader in dream research since the 1960s and director of the Sleep Disorder Service and Research Center at Rush-Presbyterian-St. Luke's Medical Center in Chicago, explains that scientists refer to REM as the third state of being.

"There's waking, sleeping and REM," Cartwright says. "It's different from the other two states in any way you want to measure it. REM shares some characteristics of both, but it is a unique state in that you have these wild hallucinations that you don't choose and can't remember very well. It is as aroused as waking, but just as unconscious, in terms of processing the outside world, as sleep."

Brain-wave patterns during REM are nearly identical to that of a fully alert mind and, according to Cartwright, REM sleep is a state of "heightened activity equivalent to an equal period of jogging."

REM sleep, and consequently our dreams, lasts from a few minutes at the outset of the night to as much as 40 minutes at night's end. Our last dream is the longest, usually the most bizarre and the one that lingers in our memory when we wake. Periods of REM sleep occur every 90 minutes at the conclusion of each sleep cycle.

Women often dream about sex with people they wouldn't normally have sex with.

Genie, a 28-year-old stuntwoman, had a recurring dream over a period of about six weeks. The dream was so intense that she would wake up in the middle of the night in a sweat. She had never experienced a dream that was so real—possibly because it followed a credible scenario—or that repeated itself so often.

"While working on a film, I sustained a minor injury," she recalls. "I went to a doctor, and for some reason he turned out to be a gynecologist. Every time I got in the position for a pelvic exam, I would dream that, in fact, he wasn't examining me, but fucking me on the table.

"At first I was scared. I didn't know why this was happening or how to stop it. After a while, I not only began to like it, but returned to his office with perceived symptoms at every opportunity so we could reenact the dream.

"He would come in and instruct me to open buttons that would expose my breasts. After examining each breast closely, we would end up in different positions on the examining table. The dream was very satisfying. I could almost feel his cock inside of me."

Genie's dream scenario is a fairly common one, according to Dr. Reich. "Women relate to doctors all the time. They see doctors in gynecological exams as a mixed bag. Sometimes it's viewed as the most intimate thing a man can do to a woman other than his wife. It can be a very sacred or personal time. People either hate their gynecologists or are infatuated with them.

"Women often dream about sex with people they wouldn't normally have sex with—judges, policemen, priests," Reich adds. "With some women, it might translate into a figure of authority or simply anyone who wears a uniform. Many times it does not have direct linkage, so it's not that easy to figure out."

Some women are unsure whether their dream orgasms are real. Others find them so enjoyable they don't seem to care. According to Cartwright, there's no need to worry or wonder about the authenticity of a dream climax.

"If they dreamed they had an orgasm, it was most likely a physiological event. Women have reported waking up and actually experiencing contractions and breathing heavily. Although the number of orgasms we collect in the lab is low, when you talk to subjects about their home dreams, you do get real attained climaxes in both males and females."

Studies at Baylor and Stanford universities using vaginal probes to measure vaginal muscle activity, pulse and blood flow have all indicated that dream orgasms correspond in almost every way to waking orgasms. Respiration rate and heart rate were also identical.

If that news makes you want to take an afternoon siesta, the findings from Dr. Stephen LaBerge's Lucidity Institute (P.O. Box 2364, Stanford, CA 94305) may make you want to contract sleeping sickness.

Lucid dreaming is a unique dream state in which you are actually "awake" in your dreams. You are aware that what you are experiencing is being created by your mind, and you have the ability to make conscious decisions within your dreams.

"What you experience in a lucid dream becomes just as strong a memory as what you do while awake," says Lucidity Institute Executive Vice-President Michael LaPoint.

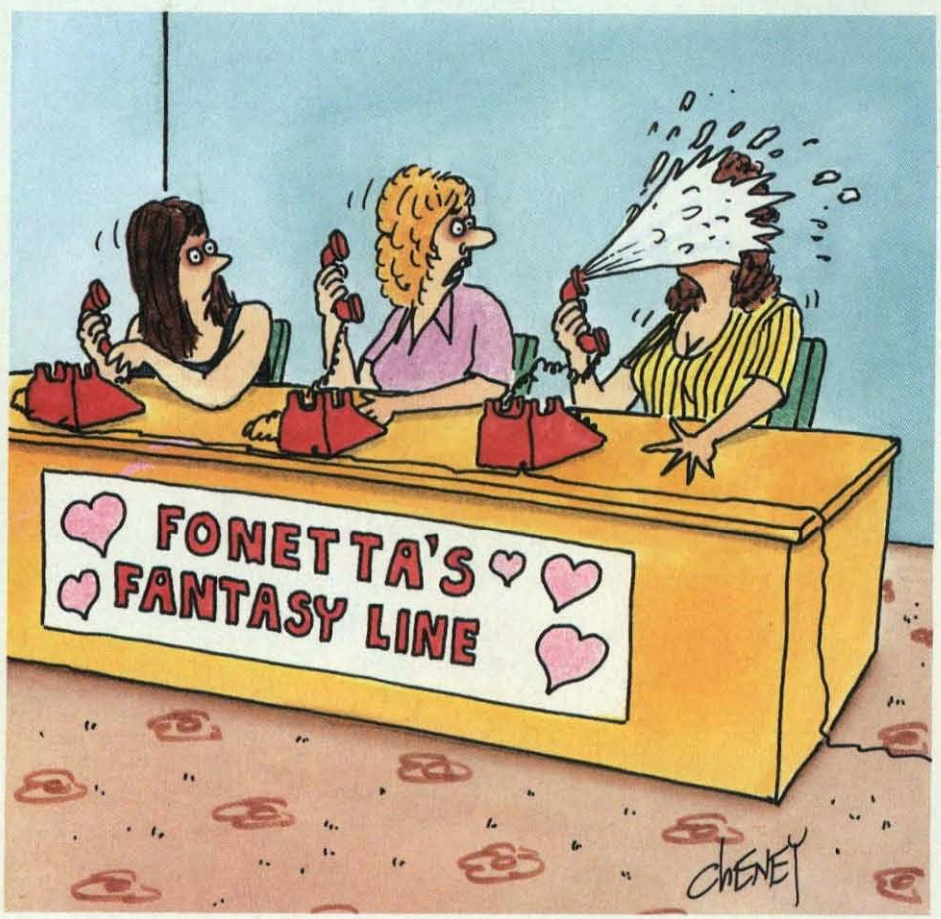

"Lucid dreams are typically more vivid," he adds. "There are more sensory modalities involved because you can make conscious decisions, like feeling the wind against your skin or smelling a Christmas tree. When you have an erotic encounter in a lucid dream, it feels just as real to you as having one while you're awake."

LaPoint says an erotic encounter in a lucid dream is quite a bit different than one in a nonlucid dream. "When you're lucid, you're free to do whatever it is you want. Because you're conscious, you can seek out whomever you want—or several people at once—and have a sexual experience with them. You can even decide to fly to Hollywood and have a great erotic encounter with the woman of your dreams, so to speak."

LaPoint uses the 1984 film Dreamscape as an illustration of what a lucid dream can be like. Dennis Quaid's steamy dream encounter with Kate Capshaw is an example of the realism lucid dreams can offer. LaPoint stresses, however, that unlike the movie, you cannot enter another person's dreams.

LaBerge's work with lucid dreaming has been called the most valuable work being done since Freud and has far-reaching applications in areas like sex therapy,

Analysts and researchers agree that it is not a good idea to share all your sexual dreams with your partner.

creative problem-solving and overcoming addictive behavior. Lucid dreaming also has been offered as an alternative explanation for astral traveling.

"We've had quite a few letters from people who can't have waking sexual experiences," LaPoint says. "They say they can reach orgasm and that it feels just as real as it did before they had the accident or problem.

"With a nonlucid dream you may wake up and say, 'Shit, that wasn't real.' But when you're consciously doing whatever it is—including sex—it is real to you because what you're experiencing, even when you're awake, is actually in your brain. Your brain is the thing saying this feels good."

LaPoint speaks from experience. About five years ago he was in an automobile accident that left him without his sense of smell. "Although I will never smell anything again, in a lucid dream I can smell things that, to me, are just as real as smelling things while I'm awake."

Not everyone shares LaPoint's enthusiasm for lucid dreams. "I've worked with that whole concept," says Cartwright, "in fact, before LaBerge did. He picked up where my work left off. I gave up on it because it's something that's not easy to do on a general basis. It takes a lot of training and an unusual person.

"I'm convinced he's not a charlatan," she adds, "and that he really can do it. I've seen enough of his records and I believe them. But I think it's a highly unusual skill that he has and that it's just not very common."

LaPoint agrees that lucid dreaming is an art that takes practice. "Something like one in 20 people have them once a week," he says. "We do think that probably half the population has lucid dreams once a year, but other than that, people don't have them."

One of the goals of LaBerge's research program at Stanford University is to teach people how to have lucid dreams. LaPoint explains that lucid dreaming is the only dream-working method that allows researchers and subjects to work together while the dream is in progress. All other methods involve recalling the experience after waking. "It's an experience, rather than reflecting on something that happened when you weren't conscious. That's why it's so much more powerful as a learning tool."

LaPoint also says that lucid dreaming has been shown to be the most effective cure for the recurring nightmares of Vietnam veterans' post-traumatic stress disorder.

Analysts and psychologists have long recognized that correctly interpreted dreams can not only help us understand what's troubling us, but point the way to a solution. San Francisco psychiatrist Dr. Loma Flowers says that making sense of dreams has been known to cure headaches and relieve stress. And it's not necessary to consult a therapist for guidance in figuring out dreams. You can do it yourself. The main problem is simply remembering what you've dreamed.

Using a few simple methods, it is possible to condition your mind to remember dreams. With a little practice, even those who claim they don't dream at all have been able to recall a number of dreams each night.

Before you go to sleep, give yourself a specific program. Tell yourself you want to remember your dreams and plant the idea that when you wake up, you will remember. A visual stimulus, like a paper and pen on your nightstand, will help.

If possible, sleep later and wake up without an alarm. Any external arousal stimulus takes you away from your inner world very quickly. Once you are awake, lie absolutely still and go over the dream in your head. Jot down images that come to mind. If you can get one image down, it is likely you can reconstruct the entire dream.

Start keeping a daily dream log and set aside time to work through your dreams. A good friend can often connect symbols and references that may escape or be blocked by the dreamer. A recurring dream usually warrants special attention and indicates a signal from the unconscious that will repeat until the message is recognized.

"Sometimes," says Dreyer, "just remembering a dream may be as constructive as trying to work through it."

After working with your dreams for a while, you should be able to recall more than one dream a night. "That," explains Cartwright, "is when you can really benefit from your dreams. Trying to analyze the last dream of the night is like only reading the final chapter of a novel and then attempting to reconstruct the entire plot."

One thing analysts and researchers agree on is that it is not a good idea to share all your sexual dreams or fantasies with your partner. A little good judgment can go a long way.

Bethea was arrested for assaulting his wife and for stealing his mother's life savings.

though the trade had helped the Packers clean up their image, it was Lofton and the Raiders who came out smelling like roses.

BRIAN SPENCER—PREMEDITATED MURDER

That Lofton was convicted by the people of Green Bay long before his trial points out how vulnerable athletes are to stereotypical images. We see them as arrogant assholes, or as dumb jocks or goons. We figure that if there's trouble, they'll find it—and if they're arrested, we assume they're guilty until proven innocent.

Take Brian Spencer, an ex-NHL hockey player from the backwoods of Canada, who was charged with the 1982 murder of Michael Dalfo in Palm Beach Gardens, Florida. Dalfo was a 29-year-old ex-restaurateur who reportedly spent excessive amounts of money on cocaine and prostitutes. He was found in a ditch with two bullets in his head. Spencer was an easy target.

Police made their arrest based on the testimony of Diane De Lena, a callgirl who was living with Spencer in 1982. De Lena visited Dalfo professionally just hours before he was killed. She claims that Dalfo had been too coked up to get it on and that he'd given her a hard time. As a result, Spencer supposedly abducted the john two hours later and, after driving them both to the outskirts of town, shot the man.

Although De Lena never heard gunshots or saw the shooting—she allegedly walked away from the auto—the grand jury found her testimony damaging enough to indict Spencer on charges of premeditated murder.

Only one piece of physical evidence, the footprint of a woman's shoe, backs up De Lena's allegations. The murder weapon was never found and Spencer's car was never properly searched. In fact, for 4½ years, De Lena refused to implicate Spencer. Then she got married, had two kids and got scared. When called in for questioning in late 1986, she abruptly changed her story.

It's possible that De Lena was finally telling the truth. But it's just as likely that she chose to finger Spencer in order to protect her new family. The decadent Dalfo could have had plenty of lowlife enemies—the sort who frown upon squealers and who wouldn't hesitate to kill again. And Spencer, his friends contend, was incapable of killing even once.

Spencer's background certainly didn't help him. Hockey is a violent sport and most Americans assume that all hockey players are thugs. Plus, Spencer had grown up in a house that had no running water, no heating, and dirt floors. He was accustomed to scratching out an existence. Because he didn't have a permanent address at the time of his arrest he looked just that much guiltier to investigators.

But the truth will never be known. On the night of June 2, 1988—before Brian ever had a chance to face his accusers in court—he was gunned down in Riviera Beach, Florida. Authorities were unable to determine if it was a drug deal gone bad, or, as Bob McKenzie from the Hockey News suggests, "a simple robbery and Brian just said, 'Fuck you!' "

LARRY BETHEA—ARMED ROBBERY, THEFT AND SUICIDE

One of the most tragic sports stories in the past few years is that of ex-Dallas Cowboy Larry Bethea, who, like many professional athletes, found himself unable to cope with life once his pro career was over.

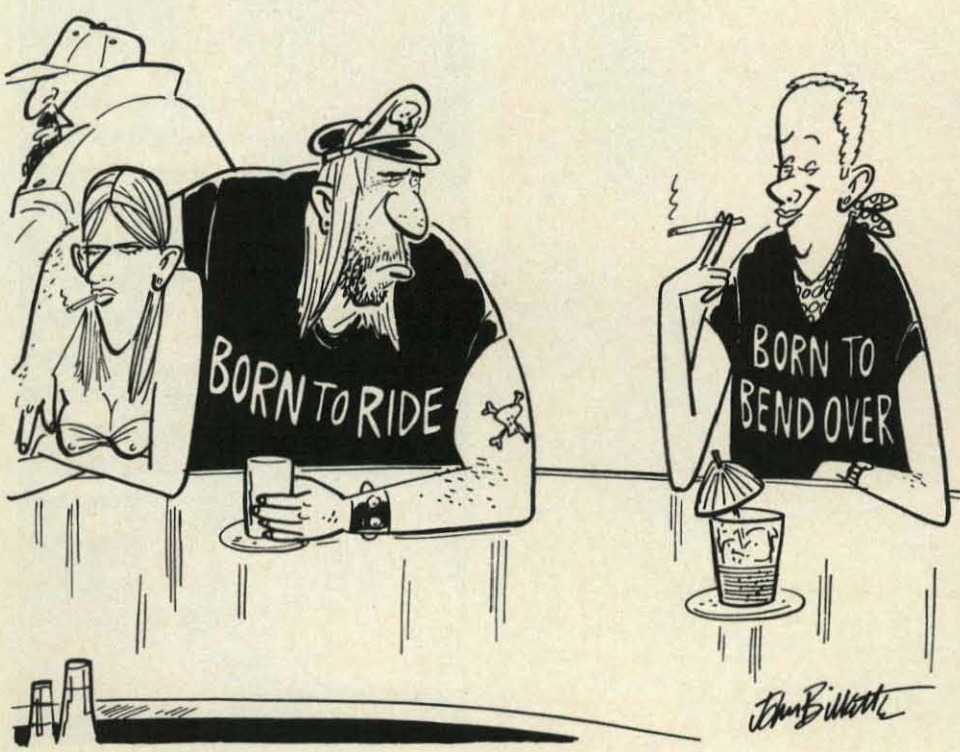

On the night of April 22, 1987, Bethea allegedly held up a pair of side-by-side convenience stores in his Newport News, Virginia, neighborhood, where he was known both by name and by sight. Two hours later, he took the same .38-caliber semiautomatic pistol used in the robberies, put it to his head and pulled the trigger.

Larry Bethea was dead at age 30.

The news of Bethea's suicide was a shock to almost everyone who'd known him as an athlete. "It's hard to believe that a player who was as congenial and as happy as Larry seemed to be would end his life in this manner," then-Cowboys coach Tom Landry said. But Landry had known Bethea during the jock's heyday as a pro, when he was still married to his high school sweetheart, Gloria, and still able to help his mother, Alice, buy a house.

Larry Bethea grew up in Newport News. By the time he'd become the Cowboys' first-round draft pick in 1978, he was already a hometown hero. In high school he'd been a star student as well as a star athlete. He'd been inducted into the National Honor Society, and he'd led his Ferguson High School football team to a district championship. While on a scholarship at Michigan State University, he was voted the Big Ten conference's most valuable player.

The celebrated defensive end starred with the Cowboys from 1978 to 1983. In 1984 he jumped to the USFL and played for the Michigan Panthers and Houston Gamblers. In 1985, the year Bethea left pro sports, his life began to fall apart.

He was charged with setting fires in Mount Rainier National Park. He pleaded guilty to all three counts and paid $1,000 to cover the cost of extinguishing the blazes. Then, in 1986, his wife left him, and Bethea was arrested for assaulting Gloria and for stealing his mother's life savings of $64,000.

Alice Bethea didn't know the money had been stolen from her attic safe until Larry was arrested for beating up Gloria. When Dallas police busted him in his hotel room, they found $61,375. The next day, Alice reported the money missing.

Although Gloria contends that the money belonged to Larry all along, and that he was illegally trying to keep it from becoming a part of the divorce settlement, Bethea pleaded guilty to stealing the cash when the case came to trial. The judge accepted his plea and gave him a four-year suspended sentence. "I got a little confused in the big picture, and I hurt my family," Bethea told the court. "I didn't mean to hurt them."

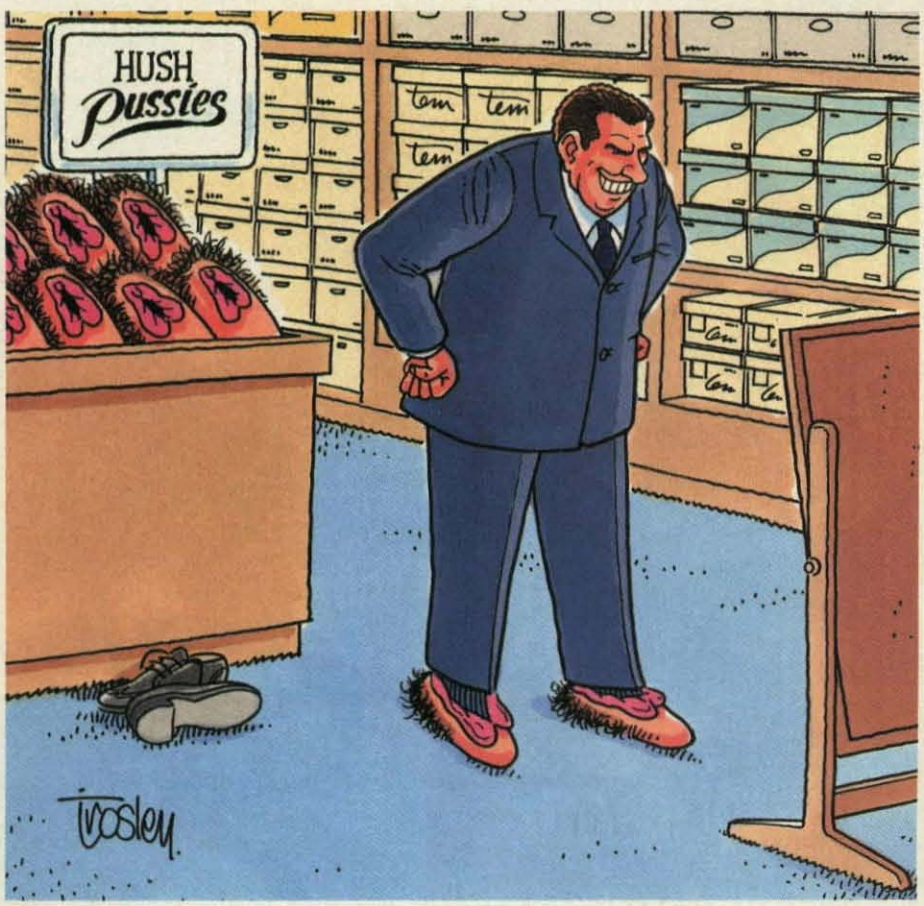

A few months later, he was dead.

Bethea's body was found in the backyard of a friend's rooming house in an area of town known for its illicit-drug activity. In 1983 Larry was reported to be one of five Cowboys "offered" a mandatory drug rehab program in lieu of federal charges of cocaine use. Many people speculate that his death was due to drugs.

To others, Larry's problems seemed to run much deeper. When Newport News patrolman J. M. Gibson, who'd been a teammate of Bethea's in high school, served a warrant on Larry in connection with the stolen money, he saw how Bethea had changed. "He didn't even remember me," Gibson told the Associated Press. "He had a look in his eye. He should never have come back here."

Yet, given the lack of real-life preparation afforded most athletes at the collegiate and pro levels, perhaps Michigan State coach Darryl Rogers's statement was the most ironic: "The thing I remember most about Larry is that he always had a big smile on his face. When he was with us, we saw nothing in his lifestyle that would indicate problems ahead for him."

But, of course, that had been when Larry Bethea was still a productive member of the sports world.

A dream involving a previous lover may hurt or offend a partner, even though it may have a completely different connection and does not necessarily indicate an erotic wish. However, couples who feel comfortable sharing their dreams with one another tend to be rewarded. Sexual dreams can be a floodgate for improving their waking sexuality. They also can be an invitation for people to open up. Many times that is what the dreams are saying—that you are living life with too many inhibitions.

On the drive home from a party, a couple sat in silence. Fifteen years of marriage had drained the excitement from Paul and Brenda's relationship. Like many couples, they were still in love, but everything, including sex, had fallen into a comfortable but boring routine.

During the past few months, Brenda had been having a dream about a high-school boyfriend who had introduced her to, among other things, car sex. Another dull evening with Paul convinced her to relate the dream to him: She is being driven home from a high-school date. It's a starry summer night, and a cool breeze stirs up an earthy scent. Her date eases the car off the road through a wooded area into a clearing. They sit talking on the hood of the car. They begin touching and caressing. Suddenly she finds herself lying on her back, naked on the warm car hood. He kisses and licks her body, and she guides his head between her legs. The dream ends with the feeling of orgasm within her reach and the vision of the night sky dotted with stars.

Paul responded with jealous accusations. Brenda told him to pull the car into a vacant lot near their house. She coaxed him out of the car and tried to explain that it was not the boyfriend she missed but the excitement. She pushed him back on the car hood and fumbled with his pants. Gripping the waistband, Brenda tugged Paul's jeans to his ankles, her mouth close behind, licking and sucking his cock with years of pent-up enthusiasm. She made sure he shot his cum all over her heaving breasts.

The experience not only taught Paul and Brenda a marriage-saving lesson, but opened the door to a new avenue of expression.

Dreams are triggered by a number of different feelings, desires and physical influences. Not all bear analyzing. It may be best to save the analysis for dreams that puzzle or upset you, and just enjoy your sex dreams for what they are: free, arousing, convenient and mind-blowing.

It had been so long since I tasted his cum that I made sure he came in my mouth.

I'd share him with her—but only once. I think she's creaming her pussy just thinking about it.

I think that in the future, once racial barriers break down, white women are going to be fighting for all the black cock they can get. White men, look out! As the old adage goes, once a lady's had black, she never goes back! —Mary B.
Washington, D.C.

TUBE STEAK FOR ONE

I was pissed. Every time Ted and I wanted to get in some good fucking lately, something got in the way. First it was his job. His firm's new housing development kept him working late five nights in a row. Then I was sick for a few days. Then his sister arrived unexpectedly for a visit.

So here we were, in our favorite restaurant. It was over two weeks since we'd fucked and both of us were horny as hell. Ted said he had to go back to the office—a last-minute adjustment in a house sale meant a few hundred extra for him. And celibacy for us. Yeah, I was truly pissed.

As I played with my salad, all I could think of was Ted's big cock, swollen and purple with a drop of jizz plugging its eye. I wanted that prick so much it hurt, but I wasn't even going to see it. Ted was going right back to the office after dinner.

I'd had enough. Reaching under the tablecloth, I placed my palm on his crotch. Sure enough, he was hard—like an iron rod.

He jumped, looked sharply at me and started to say something. Whatever it was, it was lost in a yelp of pleasure as I began kneading his cock.

"This is not the place," he grumbled between pants.

"It's going to be the place," I said, sliding off the banquette and under the tablecloth to the floor. I kneeled between his legs.

I unzipped his pants, reached in and worked his large member through the slit in his boxers, pulling it forward and down. Ted was so stiff with passion that it took a real effort to bend his prick.

I grasped his cock head with my hand, massaging it with palm and fingers. The fat, bulbous tip pushed and shuddered against the smooth skin of my palm. I could hear Ted panting rapidly above me.

My mouth was level with his cock. Licking my lips and leaning forward, I ran the tip of my tongue up and across his balls and along the prick's length to the head. The taste of his flesh shot a ribbon of fire through my cunt. My clit pulsed to the throbbing of his dick. I licked up, over and around the whole head. The tip of my tongue traced the cleavage dividing the underside of the glans. I relished the taste of cock flesh and musky sweat. It made my cunt wet and slick. I could feel my snatch becoming soaked with my lust juices. With my free hand, I pushed aside my panties and felt for my clit. It was slippery-wet with cunt juice, and as I rolled it between my fingers, waves of passion washed from cunt to brain.

I encircled the cock head with my lips, and as I opened my mouth, Ted thrust forward, plunging half his cock-length into my mouth. I pulled my head back and nibbled at the shaft. First shaft, then head. He groaned. I breathed heavily through my nose as his meat stuffed my mouth. Ted began thrusting more forcefully. I moved my head to the rhythm of those thrusts. The dick slid back and forth, filling my mouth, distending my cheeks with its movement. I wanted to take its whole length into my mouth, down my throat, feel it in my stomach. It had been so long since I tasted Ted's cum that I was going to make sure he came in my mouth.

Frigging myself furiously, I fondled his taut nuts with my free hand while bobbing my head up and down the slick length of his shaft.

With a loud moan, he blasted warm, salty jizz into my mouth. It flooded so fast that I couldn't swallow quickly enough. Some of it gushed around his cock and my mouth, through my lips and down my chin.

The blast of jism and my clit-diddling fingers triggered an intense climax. My cunt contracted and I quaked with the violence of release.

"Your main course, sir." The voice of our waiter drifted down to me.

I heard the clatter of plates and then retreating footsteps. I slipped back up and onto the banquette, wiped my chin and began to eat my medium-rare steak. It was good, but not as good as Ted's raw meat. —E. G.

ENLARGE YOUR PENIS TO IT'S MAXIMUM! HAVE ERECT MEASUREMENTS OF 9, 10 EVEN 12 FULL INCHES!

The TAURUS-TEN is the ONLY Penis Developer you will ever need!

Is the size of your penis bringing you down? Sure, the medical authorities say the size doesn't count, but as long as women have a need to be filled, they will demand the full measure of devotion. And no amount of psychological reassurance will fill the gap between expectation and reality.

Now, with a simple device you can follow in the footsteps of thousands of men who have proven that there is a way to INCREASE PENIS SIZE and THICKNESS! The device is called the TAURUS-TEN ELECTRIC VACUUM ENLARGER. A safe and proven natural way to add inches to penis length and thickness. With the TAURUS-TEN, you will see yourself grow to dimensions you never thought possible.

HOW CAN THE TAURUS-TEN ELECTRIC VACUUM ENLARGER INCREASE PENIS LENGTH & THICKNESS?

Your erection is caused by blood flowing into hollow caverns inside your penis. The caverns fill with blood and your penis grows in size and thickness and becomes stiffer and stiffer until the caverns are filled with all the blood they can hold. BUT, IF YOU INCREASE THE CAPACITY OF THE CAVERNS BY MAKING THEM BIGGER, THEY HOLD MORE BLOOD and you have a correspondingly longer, thicker penis. Regular use of the TAURUS-TEN gently urges the caverns to expand . . . expand . . . expand. You'll see the astonishing results the first time you use your TAURUS-TEN. Your penis will grow inside the clear, picture window sleeve. Immediately you'll see just how really BIG . . . how really FAT . . . how LONG . . . how HARD and STIFF your own penis can get! And after regular sessions with the TAURUS-TEN you'll probably find as do most men that these size gains don't go away! They become a part of you to thrill and excite her!

THE TAURUS-TEN IS SIMPLY THE MOST POWERFUL ENLARGEMENT SYSTEM YOU CAN PURCHASE ANYWHERE! AT ANY PRICE!

This powerful, totally electric unit (U.L. approved) is equipped to plug into any wall outlet to give you continuous, even sucking power until you shut it off! Unlike noisy electric vacuum enlargers costing upwards of $100 —the TAURUS-TEN is "quite as a whisper." This sophisticated instrument is by far the state of the art in penis enhancing machinery. It has taken time, money and first-class engineering to produce what many have called the "Rolls Royce" of vacuum enlargers. The TAURUS-TEN is a finely crafted precision instrument designed to create the vacuum needed to make the male organ LONG and THICKER. If you are truly serious about penis enlargement — the TAURUS-TEN will do the job for you!

Imagine this addition when you are erect and up to 3 inches even when you are soft. Penetrate and thrill every opening of your partner deeper than ever before.

You will achieve these additions to your penis size without pumps, straps or strenuous exercise.

HUSTLER

November HUSTLER on sale September 19, 1989

HUSTLER TAKES YOU THERE

What could be better than spending next month poolside on a warm, sunny afternoon? How about doing it with Kascha? Her giant tits, taut booty and seductive face have never looked hotter. Then put a stranglehold on your hard-on when HUSTLER stages a tag-team wrestling match between the studs and the twats where anything goes—and everyone comes. Meet a pair of lustful lesbians who could give any man lessons in labe-licking and titty twisting; and you'll measure your cum in quarts when an auburn-haired harlot in heat begs for your thick stick. She needs it; you want it. Only next month's HUSTLER can bring you together.

BEST OF BOTH WORLDS

Meet Kitty, a voluptuous beauty who measures 38-26-38—not counting the seven inches of hard dick between her legs! Kitty is a top transsexual callgirl, much in demand by a growing heterosexual clientele. Discover what it's like to have all that equipment, and learn how she satisfies her kinky clients in this exclusive interview.

HEAD GAMES

Are you brainwashed? Don't answer until you read "They're Fucking With Your Mind," as writer Robert McGarvey uncovers startling evidence of how the American public is assaulted by corporations and media well-versed in the art of mind control. Don't touch that dial; you may be shaking hands with Big Brother.

HYPOCRITIC OATHS

While the medical community derides the general public for its AIDS paranoia, many doctors, paramedics and other health-care chickenshits are running scared from the virus. Next month's AIDS-Watch examines the medical industry's own hysteria and gives some alarming statistics on the shortage of physicians willing to treat people with AIDS.

HUSTLER: IT'S GOOD FOR YOU

Fuck chicken soup; you're better off getting laid. That's the word from researchers and scientists who explain why a fuck a day keeps the doctor away in November's Sex Play, "Sex—The Best Medicine." Then check out our health benefits, including the high-octane, orgasmic orations of Hot Letters; Beaver Hunt, where we do all the hunting, and you get all the trophies; Erotic Entertainment, a fantasy-filled forum for fuck-film fanatics; and Bits & Pieces, a hilarious, twisted place where deranged, disgusting and dirty become high praise. The November HUSTLER is the perfect cure-all for whatever ails you.
