Rhonda

How does a well-endowed pretty girl hit the big-time? Some dance, many enter beauty pageants (or at least a wet t-shirt contest at the corner tavern), and scores more send in snapshots with their fingers crossed. Most end up disappointed. And then there are the lucky few who do none of the above and still get to live the dream. Meet Rhonda Baxter. While walking down the street in Anaheim, California, photographer Lance Kincaid first spied the massive blouse, then the pretty face...A business card and some test photos back at his studio paved the way to what is now a robust modeling career for Rhonda.

"At first I thought he [Kincaid] was a crockpot," confided Rhonda, "But now I'm glad he wasn't. I love modeling...It was always my fantasy."

After sitting down and talking to Rhonda in preparation for this pictorial, we were amazed at how genuine she is. Has an ordinary day-job with a company you'd all recognize, her favorite outfit is jeans and a t-shirt, no imported beer—Rhonda tips Buds with the best of them—and a fun-loving personality. She's a photographer's dream shoot. "Rhonda was wonderful to work with," says Tim Hammill, who shot this layout for SCORE. "We went to my office and, quoting Arsenio Hall, she said, 'Let's get busy!' No attitude, no hangups...just a lot of fun." Rhonda is currently shooting her first video in London, England and, as always, you'll get your first crack at it in SCORE. Stay tuned for another layout and videos details.

Honey Moons

INTERVIEW

BY MICHAEL T. UWATE

Honestly, the most difficult part about interviewing Honey Moons was the guilt over actually getting paid for the easiest and most enjoyable two hours of my professional career. Generously endowed and intellectually stimulating, Honey Moons is a genuine rarity in the adult entertainment business. Rather than following the conventional stereotype clubs expect of dancers, Honey Moons prefers to succeed without selling out, and has done so with much success. Yes, the magic has worked for Honey Moons and, after reading her interview, perhaps it will work for you, too. Enjoy!

SCORE: So how'd you get the name?

HONEY: Oh, it takes years of thought! Actually, Bunny Joe Tyler suggested it for me...it's one of the names she considered using for herself and she thought it suited me. The readers don't think my mother was playing a cruel joke, do they?

SCORE: No, most of the readers understand that it's a business.

HONEY: It is a business, and you'd be surprised just how much of a business it is. A lot of dancers treat it solely as work and all they care about is making as much money as possible.

SCORE: Sounds kind of cold?

HONEY: Only if you treat it that way! I understand that dancing is a business, but I guess I just have a lot of fun doing my job, which is more than I can say for most people.

SCORE: So, what's the "fun" part and what's the "business" part?

HONEY: The crowds!

SCORE: It's a love-hate relationship?

HONEY: Each crowd is different and they determine whether the dancer is working or partying. I like a rowdy, mid-20's to mid-30's bunch of guys who aren't looking to get any pussy...they're just out to drink, make a lot of noise and have a good time. If you pull them on stage, they'll dance with you and all of their friends will be cheering them on!

SCORE: Where's the hate part come in?

HONEY: The pervers!

SCORE: You mean the seedy old men with cigars and wagging tongues?

HONEY: Not at all! You'd think that from the stereotype, but pervers come in all ages and shapes. The real perverted crowds are those that can't have fun. You see, the fun crowds you can dance over and bob them on the head with your boobs and they play along because they know they're just becoming part of the fun. The perverted guy will say, "Ohhh, yeah!" and slobber all over you. They think that just because you're a dancer and they've paid the cover charge, that they can treat you like a prostitute and that's bullshit!

SCORE: I think I touched a nerve...you sound really pissed off.

HONEY: It really pisses me off, but that's the business. Not all guys are like that...if they were, I'd quit.

SCORE: What about the magazines?

From partying at San Francisco's sex clubs to her love for healthy cooking, there's a lot more to this little Honey than first meets the eye.

HONEY: They're okay. Some things they do I hate, but they're part of the business too.

SCORE: We've noticed that some magazines fabricate most of their interviews. They must think that because they have a model release from the girl, that they can do anything...

HONEY: You know, I shouldn't say this because Juggs Magazine really likes me, but I hate them because they always interview me and never print what I tell them. They said I was really in love with surfer boys and a lot of other weird shit. I didn't even finish reading the article. I understand they have to sell magazines, but the guys would probably buy more if they knew the shit was true!

SCORE: What's wrong with surfer boys?

HONEY: Don't get me wrong, I have nothing against them. I would just like the magazines to print what I say.

SCORE: So, let me get this straight. You're from California, blonde, beautiful and you don't dig surfers?

HONEY: You're a surfer, aren't you?

SCORE: I surf, but I'm not a surfer. There's a difference. Plus, I can't stand the way everybody's a "dude."

HONEY: Don't you hate the way everybody uses that word?

SCORE: So, what characteristic does a "dude" need for you?

HONEY: Eyes!

SCORE: Any particular color?

HONEY: It's what I see behind the eyes. I'm very open-minded and uncritical of everybody. My basic view on life is "do whatever you want as long as you're not hurting anybody," and that also goes for not hurting Mother Earth and all that good conservation stuff. With men, I have to know that they are open-minded and insightful...not overly concerned with being politically correct, but to see that they genuinely care about the things around them! I need to see a gentleness of soul.

SCORE: Why am I picturing you with moonbeams and bellbottoms?

HONEY: No, that's not my thing...maybe combat boots though.

SCORE: It just sounded like you were going to start chanting or something?

HONEY: (Laughing) That's probably because I'm a witch!

SCORE: Are we talking boiling caul-drons and black cats?

HONEY: (Laughing) No...I'm not a satanic witch. I believe that there is a force that unites man with nature and, well, let me show you...

SCORE: Wait a minute! No spells now...

HONEY: Stop it! I was just going to show you my bookcase. Let's see, we have The Sacred Earth, The Art of Magic, Modern Primitive, The Creative Visualization, The Star Herbal, then I have my cookbooks and Twelve Steps...do you know the book, Twelve Steps?

SCORE: Honey, I just finished law school and those books weren't on the reading list.

HONEY: A lawyer, huh? Then you really need to read these kind of books. A.A. preaches Twelve Steps, but it can be applied to everything in life—overeating, relationships, co-dependents, compulsive workers. First you admit you're powerless to a certain character trait or power, then analyze your life and turn it over to God.

SCORE: What kind of cookbooks?

HONEY: Thai food or anything exotic. I'm really into health food and I don't drink or do drugs of any sort.

SCORE: So I guess we can all throw out the "let's get her drunk" tactic?

HONEY: Won't work with me. In fact, I was just looking in my refrigerator and thinking, "Oh my God, I'm out of hamsters!"

SCORE: Okay great Zen-master, what's hamsters?

HONEY: It's an Arabic food, Lebanese actually, and it's my main staple.

SCORE: How can you have such a great body and eat like a goat?

HONEY: You need to keep your body cleansed...I was just cooking up some Chicken Coconut Soup, Green Chicken Curry and fish cakes... should be delicious!

SCORE: Yeah, sounds fabulous! You know, I was just going to lead you into all the trashy sex stuff, when we started talking about the surreal and Chicken Curry!

HONEY: Let's do it!...I was wondering when you were going to ask me the sex questions.

SCORE: We try not to, because the sex part will come out naturally. It's the nature of the business! A lot of our models are surprised to learn that readers are interested in them as people, rather than just sex toys. They read that trashy bullshit in the other magazines, but at SCORE we want to let our models keep their dignity and give our readers something of substance.

HONEY: I used to think they would too, but nobody ever asks me real questions. A few magazines do print what I say, but all they're concerned with is sex. Other magazines just give their readers a huge ration of shit!

SCORE: Good phrase!

HONEY: You like that one?

SCORE: You can never have enough good lines! So, back to the real questions. How do you like fucking? Gave us the twelve steps.

HONEY: (Laughing) Actually, I'm paranoid and into safe sex. Right now I've been dating this woman...

SCORE: You're bisexual?

HONEY: Sure...we've been out four times and spent the night, but we How'd you like to be the first man on these moons? Well, make a number, because the list is long. Meet Honey Moons—feature dancer, model and one hell of a good time. While packing gentlemen's clubs across the continent, Honey has acquired a following of faithful fans who swear by her. And, after drooling over this 11-page pictorial and reading Honey's interview, it's easy to see why. Aside from possessing a body worth bronzing, this San Francisco native has an easy-going personality to go along with her "no-bullshit" attitude toward life. Honey is what one devoted fan from Colorado called, "the sweetest 'honey' on this planet!" Who are we to disagree with our readers, especially when they have all been demanding more than a 'bit' of this Honey?

A photograph of a woman's legs from the knees down, wearing black high-heeled shoes. She is sitting on a sofa with a floral patterned cushion. The background is a wall with a large floral pattern. The lighting is soft, highlighting the skin tone and the texture of the fabric.

With a firm ass and killer tanlines, Honey's body is built for giving, as well as getting, making her the ultimate loving doll. And if you have a craving to see this doll in action, don't miss Honey's first feature-length video, Big Boobed Girls Around the World #19. This awesome babe doesn't disappoint! HONEY MOONS INTERVIEW haven't done anything yet. We're still getting to know each other.

SCORE: So, you don't sleep with someone on the first date?

HONEY: Never...I never do! I hate to admit it though because the readers are going to hate me!

SCORE: Nah, they'll probably love you like a little sister?

HONEY: Maybe...

some just want to hear that I'll screw anybody.

SCORE: But most want to hear the truth, not some ration of shit!

HONEY: Good phrase! The truth is...once I get to know someone, let's say you, and we become friends, then, if I'm attracted to you as a person, I start to feel sexual. I see so many men that I can't just look at them, regardless of how fine they are, as sexual objects like some girls can. My roommate is like that...she sees a man she likes and she's panting and saying, "Oh, my God, my pussy's getting wet! Look at that! I have to have him!" With me, I don't even notice a person until I know them, and I won't even think about sex unless I like his personality and see that he respects mine. I'm funny that way. Once I have sex with you and we maintain our friendship, we might just have sex and be friends for years.

SCORE: So, are we still buddies?

HONEY: (Laughing) People think I'm so weird. The thing is, though, you never know how the sex is going to be, but if you already like the person as a friend, then usually the sex is going to be incredible.

SCORE: Maybe I should start eating some bananas?

HONEY: (Laughing) It's not the food! The people I've slept with have been the same tight-knit circle I've been sleeping with for years.

SCORE: So you have a girlfriend, any special guys?

HONEY: Well, I have a husband, and the girl I've been seeing recently is not really my girlfriend...she's a good friend who happens to be a girl.

SCORE: Uh oh, you just said the dreaded "H" word?

HONEY: I know, but I don't hide the fact that I'm married. Other "business" people like to keep it a secret, but I tell anybody who's interested.

SCORE: How does the "H" man feel about your little clique?

HONEY: As long as he feels like he is the priority in my life, he doesn't worry about the other things.

SCORE: What about your fans?

HONEY: They know if they ask, I tell everybody that I'm married. Some girls play that stupid game...how they have never had anybody, and are looking for that special fan to fill their void. I don't because I answer all of my fan mail myself and I'd rather only answer one letter from a guy who was actually interested in knowing me.

That way, when I come to town, I can go out and have fun with him between the shows. It's a lot better than answering 10 letters with a ration of shit and, when I'm at the clubs, I have to fight off a load of guys because they think I'm a horny woman always looking for a good time.

SCORE: You go out with your fans?

HONEY: Sure...I have a lot of fans around the country, and I don't bullshit them, so they don't bullshit me either. During breaks, we talk and, if I have a long break or after shows, we go out to get something to eat. It's nice to have friends...real friends who aren't just looking to score.

SCORE: Good plug, by the way.

HONEY: Hey, I like you guys.

SCORE: You're really the genuine article, aren't you?

HONEY: You sound surprised! I'm not really a genuine anything...I'm just myself. It's tough, though, because that doesn't always make me the best "money" person either. People at the clubs always tell me I should be stupid, act dizzy, and I'll make a lot more money, but I don't like to sell out. I want to be myself and still succeed.

SCORE: It seems like you a lot of crap in the clubs?

HONEY: Most of the time, but that goes with the territory. You get used to the management bullshit and the fans, on the whole, are wonderful. One thing I really hate, though, is when you meet another dancer, and give her the respect she deserves and treat her the way you would want to be treated...then they play the game by lying to you. It's ridiculous.

SCORE: Is it club pressure, or do the dancers simply feel that's the image?

HONEY: It's not all the feature's fault, because there is this image of them and they tend to get caught up with it. They always hear, "Don't trust the housegirls, just do your job and get out of there." Features take a lot of crap from the housegirls, because they're critical of everything...they look at the features who come in and think, "I'm prettier than her," or "I dance better than her—she's nothing special." They tend to forget, after seeing so many features come and go, that we're people too. I don't blame them, though, because I was a housedancer and I used to do that too. I used to think that because the feature was up there making a lot of money, she must be really concetted. Now, I make an effort to go out and talk to the housegirls.

SCORE: When were you a housegirl?

HONEY: I started a few years ago, in San Francisco. It's funny, because when I feature in San Francisco now, a lot of my regulars from the past come back to see me. It's a lot of fun.

SCORE: What club in San Francisco?

HONEY: The Market Street Cinema!

SCORE: L.A. Bust reviewed Market Street for her Night Moves column. She gave it a rave review.

HONEY: It's my home club! I worked at every club in San Francisco as a housedancer when I was younger and Market Street Cinema was the only club where I stayed more than 30 days. I was fired from every club in San Francisco, except Market Street, because I have a low tolerance for shit!

SCORE: What kind of shit do dancers routinely have to endure at the clubs?

HONEY: How would you feel if somebody came up to you and shoved their finger up you like they were playing a video game or something?

SCORE: I'd probably feel like beating the shit out of him!

HONEY: Me too, but that shit happens all the time. Some men come into the club with the attitude that they can have everyone there. They don't realize that most of the dancers are students by day, or mothers, and they're just there to make a living like everybody else. Sure you have dancers who are really fucked up and will do anything for money, but that's the exception. To just think that because they're in this line of work is a free pass to grab their ass or fuck them is total bullshit! That's the only thing about being a dancer that really makes me mad.

HONEY MOONS INTERVIEW

SCORE: Did I forget to mention how much I respect and admire women?

HONEY: Too late! (Laughing) But that's okay, everybody's different and we can all be cool. The problem is, some men and women aren't SCORE: What you're telling me is it's a hard road into your pants?

HONEY: It really is...I hate to admit it because your readers probably don't want to hear that stuff, but I really need more than physical attraction.

SCORE: Physically then...aside from the eyes, what is appealing to you about men?

HONEY: Physically...I don't like my men muscular. I slept with a man who had muscles once and it wasn't very comfortable. I like guys who are just naturally big-men who don't work out but are still strong. They still have to be a little soft...they should have that little tumany from drinking a few too many beers.

SCORE: That's a first...the soft bodies!

HONEY: It's true! I'll tell the world because I don't care if a lot of overweight men come and see me dance...if you have a beer belly, you know how to have a good time!

SCORE: You realize our readers are all going to show up with their new SCORE looking for autographs!

HONEY: I hope so! Just tell them to bring some Xanax!

SCORE: What about videos? Have you done any XXX to speak of?

HONEY: I just finished doing one with Goldie Licks!

SCORE: Another great name!

HONEY: She's great to work with! I only do hardcore with girls...no guys!

SCORE: Any particular reason?

HONEY: My husband! He doesn't want me to do hardcore with other men, and I can see his point because I'd feel the same way if our roles were reversed. Plus, it's harder to transmit the AIDS virus between women.

SCORE: That's the second time you have mentioned safe sex...you're worried about AIDS, aren't you?

HONEY: Hell yeah! People think I'm weird. When I'm on the road, I have a safe sex show where I make the dee-jay give a lecture about safe sex, and people think I'm so far out of it. They don't know! I'm from San Francisco and I've seen plenty of people die. Maybe if you turned around and saw your doctor die, your boss die, or your friends die, you'd get the point. I had a close friend who I would pal around with. He'd sleep over in my bed, but we never had sex. After one of my longer tours, I came home and he was a living skeleton. It's just frightening that it can happen to anybody. You probably think I'm paranoid or weird too.

SCORE: If you're crazy, then I have to be committed!

HONEY: I just don't buy the myths about AIDS, but it really doesn't matter. This is how it's been all through time. Mother Nature probably realizes that the world's polluted and overpopulated, and that it's time to wipe half of us out and start again.

SCORE: Just like the lemmings?

HONEY: Exactly! The worst thing is, the more they try to screw that virus with technology, the more it will mutate and get worse. If everybody would just get back to the basics...I mean healthwise and in tune with themselves and their role in the environment, half this shit wouldn't happen. Can't fuck with Mother Nature!

SCORE: Soot of like cloning dinosaurs, huh?

HONEY: You got it. Mother Nature will just munch you up if you try to screw with her!

SCORE: Are most people so AIDS conscious in San Francisco?

HONEY: They're aware of it more than other parts of the country.

SCORE: And all I thought they had to worry about were earthquakes?

HONEY: Those scare the hell out of me too! During that World Series quake, I was running around downtown San Francisco in a "t-bar."

SCORE: I'm getting a new vocabulary...what's a "t-bar"?

HONEY: It means I had nothing on but my panties.

SCORE: I have to move out west!

HONEY: I was working, silly. Everything started shaking so we all ran out into the street so the building wouldn't crash on our heads.

SCORE: Maybe I won't move out there.

HONEY: But, we do have public sex clubs in San Francisco!

SCORE: We don't have those in Miami. Enlighten us!

HONEY: It's a bar where you pay $10 to get in and, once you're in, the rule is "anything goes." Any person that's there you can approach and try to have sex with and there are all kinds of different rooms-like bondage rooms, oral sex rooms...

SCORE: Kind of kills your AIDS theory, don't you think?

HONEY: Did I forget to mention the only rule in the house is safe sex?

SCORE: Still, how do you have oral sex?

HONEY: Bust out that Saran Wrap!

SCORE: With a rubber?

HONEY: Yeah, I know it's not much of a guarantee, but I would never suck anybody's dick without a condom. Even with a rubber, I sometimes have second thoughts.

SCORE: I'd have second thoughts period, but with a rubber...

HONEY: (Laughing) You can't think like that...you have to stay open-minded about everything!

SCORE: Bullshit! I like my horizons very narrow!

HONEY: I feel a spell coming on... (laughing) just kidding? I'd like to lay down in a public sex club and let everybody lube me up and massage my whole body. That shit's great, it's safe, and it's more sensual. I like to think I'm a very sensual person and I'm really into massages.

SCORE: I guess your ideal evening would involve a long erotic massage.

HONEY: Naturally!

LEGENDS
KELI STEWART

These photos, shot in May 1978 (left) and July 1983 (below), show Keli as big-bust fans remember her...divinely beautiful. Keli retired from nude modeling shortly after these '83 photos were taken, and currently owns a florist boutique in Rome. Is there anything more perfect than a rose? We think so... thanks for the memories Keli.

One of the most desirable models in history, Keli Stewart continues to enchant fans long after she covered up her luscious body and crossed over to the Italian fashion scene. A natural, Keli was the toast of Europe, mesmerizing all with the sparkling eyes and sultry elegance Americans already adored.

You don't need to fancy 'Brown Sugar Babes' to have a lusty hard-on for Keli Stewart. If you're an old fan, or, after getting off on this 'legend,' are a new recruit, you can't afford to miss Keli's performance in her 'Brown Sugar Babes' video. Look to the right... you won't be disappointed!

Letha Weapons literally busts out of your screen in Howard Seern's 3D video, "Butt Bongo Fiesta." The Viscount of Venom had nailed great ratings for his TV hour by hiring such knockouts with knockers as Chesty Love, Kayla Kleavage and, of course, Letha to play spokesmodel of the week until the plug was suddenly pulled on the much ballyhooed video.

MTV and several thousand fun and sun worshippers believe that Daytona is the hottest gathering spot for the world's best bikini beach bunnies. Their "Queen of the Beach '93" title went to Tiffany Cara of Lauderdale, Florida. Tiffany had to beat out a lineup of formidable contenders that included Deanna Bell of Altamonte Springs, Florida, Jennifer O'Brien of Daytona and Bonnie Takazy of Detroit. Congratulations, girls.

In El Paso, Texas, on the Rio Grande, where the women are women and the men are proud of it, the place to be is The Naked Harem. This totally nude B.Y.O.B. club was opened 13 years ago by Phyllis Woodall and Jeannine Coutta, greatly respected for their hospitality and integrity by clientele, staff and visiting feature acts. The club prides itself on their elaborate stage setups which include trapezes, plexiglass tubs, sofas, video and silhouette screens, swings and special lighting and smoke systems. It all helps to keep the Harem's showgirls creative and the audiences appreciative, unlike most clubs that offer little to their performers but a hardwood floor and a spotlight.

The Naked Harem has been the location for the Miss Nude El Paso and Miss Nude Texas contests for the past seven years. This year's Miss El Paso was the traffic stopping Christina, a lovely dancer with a perfect body. "We place an emphasis on contests for all the showgirls because we believe competition is good for them. It gives them a more realistic perspective on themselves and their level of professionalism," said Phyllis.

With a physique built for stripping, statuesque Cindy is one of the Harem's star attractions. A Miss Nude El Paso, Nude Texas and Nude North America contest winner, the buxom brunette combines polished dance skills with acrobatics to create pulse-pounding performances that generate enough bio-electrical energy to light up all of El Paso. "Her trapeze act is spectacular," adds Phyllis. Cindy, Christina and all of the Naked Harem's shapely strip-pleasers feel they work in a happy atmosphere where they can have fun and make money at the same time, doing what they love to do. "We love our club and we love our business." You can't ask for more than that in life.

Trading cards have finally grown up. Michael J. Peters' superchain of Pure Platinum/Solid Gold clubs has released a set of cards depicting dancers like Kaylee Louise and Cari Medik in a variety of elegantly photographed poses. Some girls are totally buffed, others are semi-clad in their favorite stage outfits. Each pack contains 10 cards, chewing gum not included. The flip side includes each girl's hometown, height, weight, vital measurements and favorite fantasy. (Kaylee's is to "Make more money than Ross Perot.") Like a dope, I threw away baseball cards that are now worth hundreds of dollars, but I never would have tossed these cards out.

Meanwhile, Pioneer Trading Cards is producing an 80 page set of leggy Las Vegas showgirls photographed by veteran lensman Robert Scott Hooper. Each card will contain vital stats and career info. USA cable hostess Rhonda and entering fitness contests. They're becoming strippers and taking their clothes off for the camera. Lacey, of TV's American Gladiators, is extremely popular on the striptease circuit. Fillow has dipped a toe into exotic dancing by performing at P.J.'s in Alaska and is a hit with those who like their gals beautiful and mega-muscular.

Possessing the huge breasts that have placed her on the Bea's Christmas list, Lacey Legends has a strong weight-training background yet is toned and firm without having bulging muscles. How many strippers today are training with weights? We want to know.

Busty Heart frequently headlines at Frank's Chicken House in Manville, New Jersey, where you can get your chicken and eat it too. We've been buzzed that Busty, one of the hottest features in the business, has zero interest in magazine modeling. The Heart That Launched a Thousand Tips is repped by Wide World Entertainment (who didn't even have a publicity photo of the star to supply for this month's column.) Unless the Swedish Bikini Team drops by for a beer, run, don't walk, if Busty's at a club near you. Reportedly, one club patron dropped dead from cardiac arrest at first sight of Heart's uncovered 80-something MMM mountains. It was hell of a way to attract a dancer's eye. Most of us just say we're secret agents.

Doing Rude Things is a colorful new book that examines the history of the English exploitation film from 1957 to its fadeout in 1981. Author David McGillivray is an authority on these movies and his knowledge of the people who worked in the British sex film industry is profound. Hardcore is illegal in censorious Britain, so the films remained only nudie, soft-lease affairs. The sex stars of pictures like Naked As Nature Intended and Confessions of a Sex Maniac included Fiona Richmond, Luan Peters, Pamela Green ("The Betty Page of England") and Ava Cadell. Gorgeous, well-endowed Ava now lives in America and acted in Hard Handed, the latest entry in the "Malibu" series of movies about voluptuous naked spies who pack big, uh, guns. Rude is published by Sun Tavern Fields, P.O. Box 962, London E19BQ England. It should have a U.S. distributor by the time you read this.

A Current Affair. Peeling it off are Monroe, Cher, Dolly Parton, Farrah, Jackie Kennedy and others. Jackie O? ACA's reporter asked a Cher super-fan about this novel, if not new gimmick. "Bleh!" he said. The first Monroe impersonator-stripper was Dixie Evans in the 50's. Now, billed as the Monroe of the '90's, 18-year-old SaRenna Lee has the look to become a top feature dancer with big things ahead of her.

Hard Copy focused on Victoria Alexander, 27, an English professor at Hunter College in New York who specializes in readin', writin' and writin'. "It's great dancing naked. It's really a lot of fun," said Victoria, as the camera followed her from the classroom to an unidentified club where the clothes are shed faster than you can spell ecodysias. The attractive blonde solution to the dropout problem said she started stripping during her undergraduate days and has kept it up and off since then. The college had no objection to her sec-of loyal fans as 42DD striptease star and nude model Annie Ample, has been diagnosed with multiple sclerosis. "When the doctors told me I had MS, I wasn't upset. As a stripper you get an education that makes you better able to deal with bad news because you get so much of it," said Annie, 42, now struggling with the devastating impact of MS.

After retiring four years ago, Annie, who has Chickasaw Indian ancestry, opened the Medicine Man Store in Lathrop Wells, Nevada. Her book, The Bare Facts (Bantam), was published in Canada but not in the States. Containing allegations about certain elements within Canada's burlesque industry, Ample had to leave Canada after threats from goons made life unpleasant.

Courageously, she plans on educating people about this disabling illness. "I found there is a misconception about the disease among the public. I'm hoping I can use the Annie Ample persona to help others who may be depressed because their lives aren't going well at the moment."

and occupation or to the Hard Copy exposure. Even in these so-called enlightened times, teach had to have courage to go on national TV. Sorry, we couldn't obtain a photo of Victoria for those of you interested in academia.

The fantastic Victoria Frost is Miss Nude World for '93. The first runner-up was Barbie Doll Benson and the second runner-up and winner of the Most Unique Show was Anastasia. Fabulous Les Leigh Powers aniked the World's Hottest Legs, the Fanciest Fanny belonged to cheeky Charlie Champagne, and the Hottest Body is the property of Porscha Lee, who took the third runner-up position as well as the Nude Gymnast award. Taking a deep breath, Brittany Scott proved she has the Most Luscious Lungs. For the third straight year Shyla Fox won for Most Beautiful Face and also scored in the Masters Division. The Lifetime Burlesque Achievement honor was presented to Jane Jones for her outstanding accomplishments. Congratulations to the winners and to all the contestants who give so much of themselves for their audience's pleasure.

You know who Julia Roberts and Demi Moore are. Shelley Michelle, Amy Rochelle, Catherine Bell and friends want you to know who they are too. They're body doubles who display those portions of their anatomy that the stars don't want to reveal on the screen in nude scenes. And they're organizing in search of more recognition and better pay. Although it's doubtful if awards will ever be given for best supporting body parts, we wish them all the best. Stripper-turned-actress Grace "Bambi, Jr." Morley definitely needs no body double. Grace appears in the R-rated film Sex Crimes as a topless dancer/undercover cop with a vocabulary from the Andrew Dice Clay school of public speaking. She's bait for a rapist/killer of exotic entertainers, an all too familiar theme in violent movies and TV shows. Grace was great though.

Is America's obsession with big breasts getting out of hand? It depends on how big your hands are. Anyway, that was a Richard Bey Show topic with Zoryna Dreams and erotic-TV hostess Sky debating gals who don't have careers based on beauty and erotic talent. We sided with Zoryna and Sky. Anything else would be treason.

Comings and goings on the dance circuit: Montana (above) has given up featuring and returned home to Minnesota. Colt 45 (below left) and Jay Milo (below right) are newcomers you'll be seeing a lot more of in future issues.

The contestants in Jerry Springer's "International Stripper Contest" were Bunny Glamazon (U.S.A.), Candee Apples (Ukrainian born), Phoenix-Princess of Fire (Apache Indian), Stephanie Evans (Canada) and Natasha Rostova (Russia). Fire-eater Phoenix was impressive, Stephanie's acrobatics were superb, Bunny was funny as a dominatrix and Candee was electric. Jerry's judges, aided by their seeing-eye dogs no doubt, gave the award to Natasha, who just wasn't quite in the same league as her competitors. (Hey, it's a talk show, not the "Stripper of the Year contest.") They took part in a brief Q&A, with one lady in the audience striking the wrong chord with Candee with harsh, unfair comments about cosmetic surgery. Responding passionately, Candee's eyes blazed for a brief moment. Overall, it was a good show, one of Springer's best, with some dynamic, lovely professionals.

Okay, friends, gotta go-go-go. We're outta here with a rocket in our pocket and wings on our heels. See you next time with more SCORE scoops from the best beat around—The Boob Beat. ☑

Like many of you, we were curious about that outrageous outfit Tappsy is wearing, but she assures us it's simply the norm. "This is one of my favorite dancing costumes," the blonde with the bombs tells us. "A lot of people get a kick out of it, but I wear stuff like this all the time when I'm not dancing... you'd all be real surprised at some of the stuff in my closet!"

aren't the only thing that rise.*

Is there anything more tantalizing than a huge pair of tits? Girlish charm, perhaps? Nice tan? What about a seductive English accent? To most tit-men, you can trash the other stuff as long as the hangers are there. But, for those more discriminating types who are forever searching for the perfect package, Jeannine Oldfield has it all. Of course, Jeannine's not a new discovery, but the cherry on top of the cake this month is that you can also get this pendulous natural beauty in a rare-and we do mean rare-hardcore performance. Jeannine's our Hump of the Month and, if you think Jeannine looks delicious on these pages, grab the Kleenex guys-you ain't seen nuthin' yet!

Many SCORE readers have questioned how a model becomes the Hump of the Month? It's not a tough formula. First, they have to be a babe...that's a given. Second, they have to hump with the best of them. It also helps to be one of the publisher's favorites. "When you're looking for all-natural beauty that oozes sex appeal, Jeannine's definitely the one!" states SCORE publisher Sam Lessner, who also believes Jeannine is the nicest model in the business. Unfortunately, the business is going to have to get along without this buxom beauty. Yes, Jeannine Oldfield recently retired, at the not too ripe age of 25, but she leaves with few regrets. "I accomplished what most girls only dream of," says Jeannine from her flat in a London suburb, "and now I'm going after another dream of mine...to raise a family and live happily ever after." Sweet dreams, Jeannine.

Valerie

How fine can we get 'em? Take a good look at Valerie Fields...she's as close to the 'slim and stacked' ideal as you'll ever find. A feature dancer—like you hadn't figured that one out—Valerie has been pecking them in at gentlemen's clubs across the continent and, with a perfectly proportioned body like this, it's not hard to see why. Heavenly boobies with big, dusky areolae...absolutely no waist...drop-dead good looks...and legs long enough to dust any willing fan...I know what you're thinking—"How do I get one of these?" If you ever find the answer, write us at SCORE...we're not desperate, but who needs to be with a piece of art like Valerie!

For those of you wondering, yes, the bras belong to Valerie! Each month we get well over a thousand SCORE-CARD letters pleading for more poses with the lingerie playing an active role. The model's don't mind. "I think it's neat that men are fascinated by the bras we wear," states Valerie, who admits her body forces her to mix and match at Victoria Secrets. "Women put a lot of effort and thought into choosing sensual leggings and bras...a lot of men are only concerned with what's underneath, so it's great to know that some men appreciate all of the hard work women go through to make themselves attractive and sexy," states Valerie, who now incorporates lingerie into her dance act.

If you have a favorite pose, need a particular model, or simply feel your Congressman isn't listening, drop us a line on the SCORECARD. We're committed to our readers, and, yes, we do give a damn about our readers' concerns and criticisms. You have helped produce the best big-bust magazine on the market, so keep those letters coming!
